— The Massachusetts Horticultural Society will hold its Spring exhibition at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on April 1, 2, 3, for which great preparations are being made. If nothing unforseen turns up to interfere with the arrangements it will be one of the best exhibitions the Society have ever given.

— Rev. L. Thompson's first vernal visit to the JOURNAL office is ordinarily simultaneous with the first song of the robbin—a little before the annual Fast Day—and is as welcome. He came yesterday morning. He was looking well and appeared to be as upright in form and as elastic in step as men a good deal younger.

— Mr. Schwartz, whose rooms are those formerly occupied by Frye in Wade Block, is one of the best upholsterers in the country. He was born and bred to the business and understands every part of it. The public ought to patronize him in good shape for he is a firstclass workman and charges reasonable prices.

— Chairman W. F. Kenney of the Woburn School Board feels a good deal elated over the fact that many High Schools are adopting the reform in graduation exercises which he suggested when first called to the Board and which, after persistent efforts, he succeeded in having adopted for Class '91 of the High School in this city.

— Garry Barker is able to get around once more with the aid of crutches. He was badly injured some time ago by being caught between two moving sleighs, but his father, Mr. E. G. Barker, the extensive and successful lumber dealer in this city, says the lad will, he hopes, soon be able to cast aside his crutches and appear out as good as new once more.

— On the 22d of April grand Opera Il Trovatore is to be given in this city by Charles Adams and other distinguished Boston artists, with Miss Mabel Davis, the popular contralto of Woburn, and a full chorus of firstclass vocalists, which will be something worthy of a generous patronage. The entertainment is to be given for the benefit of Miss Davis, which fact will surely bring out a full house.

— The Lynn teachers have remonstrated against the conventional graduation exercises. There are many who will agree with them when they say that "the present method of conducting the exercises of graduation in the high schools of Lynn is productive of serious dissipation of time and energy on the part of both pupils and teachers." The young ladies and gentlemen of Class '91 of the Woburn High School set the ball of reform in motion a few months ago and now Lynn has caught the spirit of it and there is no sort of doubt but that High Schools all over the State will soon fall into line and adopt Woburn's new style of graduation exercises. The school authorities of this city are fairly entitled to the motto: "Dirigo."

— On Monday, March 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Conn will recognize the 25th anniversary of their wedding in (it is said) a small way. But if their host of friends have their say about it, it will not be in a very small way, either.

— The following are the newly elected officers of the Merrimac Club, one of the livest and most prosperous literary and social organizations in this city. It is composed chiefly of employees of the Merrimac Chemical Co. at North Woburn, which Co. furnish a fine hall for the Club: President, Joseph S. Robinson; Vice President, Frank Graham; Secretary, William Ward; Janitor, Edward Montgomery.

— The Boston dailies of last Wednesday contained startling yarns concerning the disappearance of a couple of Woburn young women—Miss Burke and Miss Kelley. They'll turn up—never fear about that. They know where they are and what they are doing, and have probably been there before. The worst part of the story is the fears of the other young woman who lent her best gown and things to the Kelley girl to go to Boston in. "Great cry and little wool."

— The Boston Traveller of last Tuesday contained the following item: "In the Supreme Court this forenoon, Judge William Allen granted an injunction restraining the Odd Fellows Association of Stoneham from emptying sewerage into Sweetwater brook in Stoneham, and also enjoined John P. Marshall of Brookline and Burt C. Golden of Woburn from entering sewerage into Abijonah river. Both streams constitute a part of the water supply of Boston."

— Mrs. Jennings has got in a stock of baseballs which will do the hearts of the boys good to look at. They are the best article of a ball for the price that has ever been offered for sale in this city—indeed, they are worth and have always sold for a larger price than she has put on them. They are thoroughly made of the best of material, and the lads who buy their baseballs of Mrs. Jennings won't miss it a bit. She has also other desirable spring goods, some of which are enumerated in her card in this paper.

— The time approaches when the Managers of the Home for Aged Women will hold their Annual Reception and Sale, and it is hoped that all who have hitherto helped to make their sales a success will generously contribute to this year's call, and if any one who has the welfare of this noble charity at heart has been overlooked by the solicitors they are invited to consider this a personal appeal to send any donations not otherwise promised to Music Hall on the days of the Bazaar, April 15 and 16.

— We are the grateful recipients of a most excellent epistle from our esteemed friend and late fellow citizen, W. E. Blodgett, Esq., from which we select for publication the following paragraphs which have the ring of true metal in them: "While I am temporarily forced to ostracize myself from the delights of Woburn society and politics, yet I feel that I am not totally miserable, for have I not the weekly visits of the JOURNAL to tell me what is what in my own town? I shall be very glad if the time will soon again come when I may once more have the honor of contributing to the tennis column of your paper, or consult with you as to what shall be done to keep the Democrats out in the cold."

— There was a very pleasant party at the residence of Mrs. Jennie Upton, No. 6 Myrtle street, last Friday evening. A large company joined in the dance and "tripped," etc., to the best of music to well towards morning. A fine collation wrs provided and greatly enjoyed. Among those present were: Mrs. Sarah Kyle, Maggie Hammond, Frank Bowers, John Hennessy, John Bradley, Edgar Christie, James Livingston, George Livingston, John Livingston, John McKane, Lizzie Elliot, Lizzie Nagle, Polly Upton, Mr. Osbourne, Maggie Kyle, John Graham, Owen McDevitt, Julia Murphy, Miss Davis, Miss Brittan, Miss Smith, Miss Close, Miss McHugh, Miss Burke, John R. Hammond, Wm. Fountain, Hugh McDonald, Alex. McIsaac, John Ferguson, Fred Kyle, John Scally, Robert Hammond, James Sweden, Bartly Mullen, Miss Roach, Miss Kate Murphy, Miss Nichols, Marian Torry, Wm. Hammond, Mrs. J. R. Hammond and Harry Kyle.

— Miss Emma Fosdick's Banjo, Guitar and Mandolin concert at Lyceum Hall on Last Thursday evening, March 19, deserved more of a notice than we were able to give it in our last issue therefore we will devote a small bit of space to-day to touching on a few of its chief points of excellence. The energy, enterprise and business push displayed by Miss Fosdick in giving the public such an admirable musical treat were worthy of all commendation, and to these also were largely due the most numerous audience that has been seen here at a concert this season, although we would by no means attempt to disparage the drawing power of the talent engaged in it and the very fine programme arranged for the delectation of the public ear. There was an immense audience and it was composed of people who know how to appreciate a good thing in music when they meet it. It is needless to say that there was no fault found with the concert, but rather that it was enjoyed immensely from beginning to end. The assisting artists were Miss Annabelle Clarke of Medford, Soprano Soloist; Mr. W. S. Battis of Waterville, Maine, Reader; Mr. W. L. Rice of Winchester, Violinist; Royal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club of Lowell; with Miss Mertena L. Bancroft as Accompanist. These people are all well known in music and literary society and occupy enviable positions in the same. The Royal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club of Lowell gave the audience a deal of genuine pleasure by their performances on the several instruments employed and the verdict of competent judges was that the Club's productions were of the highest order of merit and richly deserved the rounds of enthusiastic applause which they received from a whole houseful of appreciative listeners. Truly, the Lowell performers added very much to the pleasure of the musical entertainment. Other performers acquitted themselves handsomely and everyone warmly praised Miss Fosdick for collecting such an array of rare talent to aid in the annual concert of her pupils. The opinion of the JOURNAL'S musical critic concerning Miss Mertena Bancroft as a pianist and accompanist is too well known to require of him an elaborate setting forth of her most excellent work at this concert. Suffice it to say she did her best and everyone was delighted with her. Miss Fosdick's pupils acquitted themselves finely. They did credit to themselves and their highly cultivated teacher. The solo by Angie M. Tripp, only 6 years old, was as pretty as anything could be, besides being a really marvellous performance for a child so young. She was cheered to the echo. The reading and impersonations by Mr. Battis afforded great pleasure to the audience whose work was received with hearty applause. He is a natural elocutionist, thoroughly cultivated, with a fine voice, handsome presence on the stage, a face the expression of which changes with every succeeding emotion, and his selections were of the best, most judicious and appropriate. Miss Fosdick made no mistake when she secured Mr. Battis for the reader for her concert. His part added greatly to the pleasures of the occasion. Miss Clarke was of course a favorite with the audience, as she always is, and Mr. Rice gave pleasure every time the horsehair and catgut met in his hands. On the whole Miss Fosdick has the best of reasons for feeling very proud of the success of her concert both musically and financially.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a meeting on Thursday evening of last week at which all the members were present and over which Mayor Bean presided.

The resignation of policeman James H. Connolly was received.——Communications from the Mayor were read and tabled appointing Arthur E Gage Registrar of Voters in place of Thomas D. Hevey, resigned; Elisha Hayward Registrar of Voters for three years; John P. Delaney, Park Commissioner.——The appointment of Clarence E. Littlefield as Surveyor of Lumber and Measurer of Wood and Bark was confirmed.

The following were granted licenses as common victuallers: John Maloney, John F. Scalley, Thomas H. McGovern, Thomas G. Merriam, James H. Connolly, Anthony A. Doherty, Rafferty & Martin, Michael Reddy, Thomas Moore, Patrick O'Rourke, Patrick H. Greaney, Peter Kenney, John Shinkwin, Michael Clancy, Patrick Kerrigan, McNulty & McLaughlin, Silas W. Gordon.

Mr. Patrick E. Tenney was granted an Innholder's license.——Charles W. Ames was chosen Assistant Engineer of Fire Department.——Francis P. Curran was elected City Solicitor in non-concurrence.

The order from the Common Council in relation to securing an amendment to the City Charter that would provide for the appointment of Sewer Commissioners was taken up and concurred in by the Board.——The order for electric lights at North Woburn failed to pass over the Mayor's veto. The vote stood: Aldermen Fowle, Finn, Walsh and Dearborn voted in the affirmative, and Aldermen Davis, Ham and Pushee in the negative. The necessary two-thirds vote to secure passage was not obtained.

A hearing on Ald. Dearborn's motion for a police officer at North Woburn was voted for March 24.

How Her Hubby Put It.

"I am willing to work and work hard for my husband and children, but oh! I do so hate needless work which does not show the time and strength put into it. How I have washed and wrung out, and then washed again, all because the soap was one of those cheap resin affairs and did not cleanse. Now I use Brussels soap, and as hubby would put it, I save a hundred per cent in time and labor." Thus said Mrs. B. a firm friend of Brussels soap.

A Big Meeting.

Not so very big in numbers was the meeting of the Woburn Tariff Reform Club in Dow Block last Wednesday night, but big in big Mugwump and Democratic "big guns." There was a knot of them from Boston, Cambridge, etc., and they were eloquently welcomed, as indeed was everybody else, by President William F. Davis of the Club. Mr. Samuel Mendum, the gigantic Interrogation Point, was a conspicuous figure at the gathering.

Mayor George F. Bean's speech was cheered until the rafters trembled, and a letter from the great "Industrious Penman," as the Record calls Grover Cleveland, was received with thunders of applause. George Freddie Williams was warmly greeted, and he was the main spokesman of the evening.

Gov. Russell sent the following letter, which was read amid deafening shouts of applause:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
BOSTON, March 24, 1891.

Mr. William F. Kenney, Boston Daily Globe:

MY DEAR MR. KENNEY—It is a great disappointment to me to be unable to attend the Woburn Tariff Reform Association dinner on Wednesday. I should enjoy exceedingly meeting its members and discussing with them the principles and questions for which they have gallantly fought, and helped in the achievement of great and glorious victories.

The fight for tariff reform calls for our most earnest efforts. Its victory is not won until taxes on the necessaries of life, selfishly laid for the benefit of the few, have been reduced or removed, and the raw material of our great industries is made free. Then will the people rejoice to find that they are free from some of the burdens of taxation, and our industries will prosper as never before.

Kindly express to the members of the association my appreciation of their kindness in inviting me, my regrets that I cannot be with them, and my best wishes for their successful and happy reunion.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM E. RUSSELL.

A good many distinguished Mugwumps and Democratic Tariff Reform orators and statesmen were conspicuous by their absence, and some faces were wanting and some tongues silent at the grand affair which (I. P.) Mr. Mendum and President Davis had fondly hoped to see and hear.

The supper was all that the heart could desire, but the speeches on the whole, were "stale and unprofitable," and some of them wishy-washy.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Aldermanic Hearing.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held last Tuesday evening, in order to give a hearing to citizens of Ward 6, upon the petition of Fred E. Perkins and others, for a regular officer in that locality.

Previous to going into Committee, the application of Timothy C. Keating for a junk license was referred to the Police Committee, and the following licenses were granted: Common Victualler, John B. Dever, Bernard McHugh, John J. Beatty, John H. Garvey, Thomas G. Meriam, William E. Mooney, Richard Reynolds, John C. Meehan.

Innholders, James Meehan and Hugh Maguire as partners, and Samuel D. Thompson.

The following was read: We, the undersigned, citizens of Woburn, Ward 6, are of the opinion that there is no occasion for the employment of a regular officer in said Ward, and we are opposed to the appointment of such officer. This was signed by William McGrath, James Murray, Richard Morgan, Henry Rooney, John J. Queenan, John Rooney, Thomas J. McFeeley, Edward Duffy, John McGrath, Andrew Dorrington, Frank J. Collins, Daniel P. O'Brien, Edward Doherty, Enoch H. Curtis, Joseph Mosher, Patrick O'Brien, P. Morgan. Referred to Committee of the Whole.

A petition was received for a crossing on Warren street, near Lawrence street; sent to the Highway Committee.

The Board then went into Committee of the whole, when Alderman Dearborn of Ward 6 said he had taken Alderman Davis at his word and brought citizens of that Ward to be heard in the matter of a regular night officer in Ward 6. There had appeared both those who signed the petition and others. He introduced Rev. W. J. Murphy, who addressed the Board at length. He said all parts of the city should be treated alike. He had no personal ends to serve. It was not right to deprive the Ward of what other sections had been granted. He said a necessity existed for an officer on account of the hoodlums, and also because property was not secure. There was trouble upon the arrival of the late steam and street cars. He said what the Ward got by the fire, water, school and other departments was a small proportion compared with what it contributed in taxes. Regarding the remonstrants, he said some of them had been convicted of crime and were the worst class in the city, and want to cover up crime. They do not own real estate.

William McGrath said he was a signer of the remonstrance and was not a criminal. The Ward was in a deplorable condition and growing smaller every day. Four of the remonstrants were real estate owners. He thought he knew what Ward 6 needed as well as a man who had just come to it; he had lived there twenty years. There was no necessity for a regular officer to get some friend a fat office and pay him $800 a year. Mr. Murphy had said there were no sidewalks in the Ward, and the speaker thought they were more needed than an officer. There had been breaks in buildings years ago when there was more loss than the recent one. The Ward was as quiet as a cemetery and after 7.30 P. M. few people could be found out.

Dr. Josiah P. Bixby said he was about the streets of the Ward a good deal and thought better public protection was needed. There were a good man persons on the streets evenings. In reply to Alderman Davis he said he had seen a good deal of disorder.

Alderman Davis said he had never seen an officer in the locality where he resided and that was Ward 1. The Chief of Police says officer Tarr, who has been on duty three or four hours three nights in the week, made but three arrests last year, and one of these was on a warrant. He liked to see spirit manifested by citizens as had been in Ward 6. It was not what we liked to do, but could the city afford this? The arrests in the Ward had costs $200 each.

Alderman Dearborn said that those arrests did not cover all work done by the special officer.

E. H. Perley said he lived in the new section which wasn't very well lighted. There was more or less trouble on the arrival of the late trains from Boston.

Walter A. Hanson was in favor of an officer.

Moses W. True said he had lived in Ward 6 for many years and was well disposed to the place. He now lived in the lower part of the Ward. He was not asked to sign the petition and had he been he would have refused. He did not think a regular officer necessary. He knew of no village where the people were more orderly, and he had had good opportunities to see what was going on. He was frequently on the late cars and could speak a good word for conduct in them.

James Murray had lived in Ward 6 for 44 years and never saw a disturbance to amount to anything. He said there nothing to protect, except a church and a small store.

This closed the hearing.

A reader asks: "What is the meaning of "E Pluribus Unum?" The modern definition is, "Use Brussels soap. It's economical."

Dedication of Mechanic Hall.

Liberty Council 38, Order United American Mechanics, dedicated their fine, large Hall in Mechanics' building, Woburn, Wednesday evening.

After an inspection of it, the company assembled to listen to the exercises.

The Order of Mechanics and Liberty Council, Daughters of Pocahontas, an Auxiliary body, numbering nearly 600 persons, and with about 200 relatives and friends, were present.

The exercises consisted of the singing of "America," followed by Councillor James E. Furlong, who made a nice address of welcome. John M. Portell, Prof. Elmore A. Pierce, Capt. Horace N. Conn and William A. Mullett spoke for the good of the Order.

Joseph N. Simonds of Boston congratulated the Council on its success in securing their valuable property.

The committee in charge of the affair were William A. Mullett, Irving H. Jackman and Horace N. Conn.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Easter Sunday.

Day after to-morrow is Easter Sunday, a religious holiday which of late years, more than formerly, has come to be observed quite generally by churches of nearly all denominations, and especially by the Sunday Schools connected with them. It is within the memory of middle aged people when such was not the practice, the observance of the day being almost entirely confined to Catholic and Episcopalian churches, but of late years things have grown to be different.

Flowers and music are for Easter and are employed abundantly in celebrating the day. Easter lilies hold the post of honor in the floral decorations of churches, but other flowers, ferns, palms and the like are employed with much advantage in them. Special music is looked for from the organist and choir as a part of the proper religious observance of the day, and the Easter Sunday School concert fails of complete success unless the exercises are well interspersed with sweet Easter songs, and hymns of Easter praise. Without the flowers and the music an Easter celebration could hardly be made to afford the pleasure to old and young that it now does.

And so the choir, the Sunday School, and the friends of each and all join heartily in striving to make Easter Sunday a day of innocent, rational pleasure, a profitable season for old and young, and a religious holiday whose annual return will always be hailed with delight.

The churches in this city, as a general thing, will observe Easter with appropriate sermons by their pastors and music in the morning and Easter Sunday School concerts in the afternoon and evening. At the Unitarian church Organist Buck will offer a fine musical programme, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon a Sunday School concert will be given for which special music will be provided.

Director P. E. Bancroft has arranged something unusually fine for the Easter morning services at the First Baptist church next Sabbath, March 29, as will be seen by the following PROGRAMME.

Organ Voluntary. Whiting.
Easter Anthem. "Christ the Lord is risen." Shelley.
Solo and Chorus. "Shout ye high Heavens." Dow.
Song. Easter Day. Mrs. Partridge.
Anthem. "He is risen." Clare.
Easter Triumph Anthem.
"Behold! I tell you a mystery." Holden.
Organ Postlude.

The First Congregational and St. Charles Churches have musical and floral treats in store for the attendants at each.

Y. M. C. A.

Prayer service at 3.30 for men.

The Woman's Auxiliary's regular meeting next Tuesday.

Rev. J. L. Munhall will commence his services here either the 12th or 19th of April.

To-morrow afternoon at 4, Rev. J. W. Murphy will give an exposition of the S. S. Lesson in Concert Hall. All invited.

Rev. John A. McElwain, Dr. A. J. Gordon's assistant at Clarindon street Baptist Church, Boston, will speak to the men, Sunday, at 4 o'clock, P. M. Don't fail to hear him.

Boys, do you want an Easter Card? Those who are present during the Boys' meeting Sunday at 3 P. M. will receive one. They will be addressed by one who they never saw or heard of before. Be sure you are present.

Are you planing to be present next Monday evening at the entertainment by the Woman's Auxiliary, consisting of reading by Prof. Curtis, vocal and instrumental solos, Platter Drill under direction of Capt. H. N. Conn, with other entertaining selections? Admission 25 cents.

Tuesday evening, April 31, the Junior Branch are to give an entertainment, to which all are invited. Members of the Junior Department admitted on their membership ticket, others will be charged 10 cents. The boys have invited the Junior Department of Winchester and Stoneham to be present. The entertainment will consist of Views of the late War, Magician's work by Master Sam Bailey of Cambridge, who is only 15 years old, beside other amusing selections.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, March 21, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Miss Dorcas Barrey, Mrs. P. Devenny, in care of Mrs. Murry, Baby Hill, Mrs. Geo. Kline, 11 Highland St., Mrs. L. E. Walton, Mr. Wm. Young.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Woman's Club.

Mrs. Martha Sewall Curtis lectured before the Woburn Woman's Club on Friday, March 20, the subject of her discourse being "Woman in the next Century." Mrs. Curtis is a valued member of the Club, and many people assembled to listen to the speaker's eloquent words, and to learn her opinions concerning the ideal woman of the fast approaching twentieth century. We were glad to be told that the ideal coming woman is to lose none of her truly noble womanly qualities, but that her physical, mental and moral nature is to reach a full development. There will be business women, professional women, women devoted to the Arts and Sciences, women of culture interested in society in its best and truest sense.

Mrs. Curtis does not desire the coming woman to disregard home life, its duties and pleasures; she knows it is utterly impossible for a womanly woman to regard slightingly her home and family—these must ever hold the dearest place in affection. Simple ways of living, a regard for sanitary laws, a broadening education for both men and women, a better development of their spiritual nature, will enable men and women each to live noble lives of mutual co-operation and equal value.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall on Friday, April 3, at 3 P. M., when Miss Sybella Bailey of Boston will give "The History of Music."

G. M. B.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: Show us the Father and sufficeth us. Easter Sunday School Concert at 4 p. m.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m preaching by pastor. Subject: "Resurrection." Epworth League Meeting at 6 p. m. Easter Concert at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Class meeting Friday evening.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Easter Morning" Sunday School Easter Concert at 6 p. m. Wednesday evening the usual prayer meeting. Friday evening, Christian Endeavor Convention.

BAPTIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: The great Easter Message. Easter Concert by the Sunday School at 3 p. m. Christian Endeavor Society meeting at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Church Covenant meeting Friday evening.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, March 21, Mrs. Abby Taylor, aged 69 years, 10 months.

In this city, March 23, Isabella Kyle, aged 26 years, 7 months.

In this city, March 24, William S. Adlington, aged 72 years, 11 months.

In Burlington, March 21, George Skelton, aged 65 years, 7 months, 28 days.

In Millbury, Mass., March 23, 1891, Mrs. William Bryson, formerly of Woburn.

March
April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves the aid of a reliable medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to serve this purpose. It increases in popularity every year, for it is the ideal spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"My health was very poor last spring and seeing an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla I thought I would try it. It has worked wonders for me as it has built my system up I have taken four bottles and am on the fifth I recommend it to my acquaintances." JOHN MATTHEWS, Oswego, N. Y.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good

LOOK

— AT OUR —

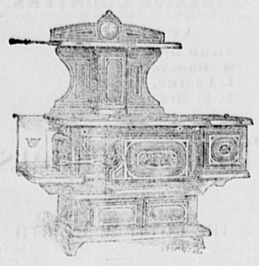
LLMA CLOTH,

A new fabric, 30 inches wide and only 10 cents a yard.

Also at our large assortment of FLOWER SEEDS, at 3 cents a paper now on hand.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Y. M. C. A. Reception.

So far as ceremony was concerned it was quite an informal affair and for that reason all the pleasanter for the 200 people who came there to enjoy the generous hospitality and excellent entertainment tendered by the W. Y. M. C. A. at their hall and rooms in Bank block on last Monday evening to as many as they could accommodate of the good friends and well-wishers of the Y. M. C. A. everywhere and of the great work it is doing for humanity —epecially, the humanity who are down in the ditch and need help to rise up again—the poor, unfortunate, friendless souls who are two often passed by and left to perish by the careless and indifferent—the victims of appetite, slaves to habit, and what is left of sinful lives.

The 200 guests of the Association were about equally divided as to sex and that they were ladies and gentlemen of importance in the community was plain enough to be seen without artificial aid. The fact was that they were among the foremost people in community and generally from the upper walks of social life.

President William W. Hill of the Association and Mrs. Emma T. Dow of the Woman's Auxiliary received and welcomed the guests in a graceful, hearty manner which made everyone feel entirely at home at once and had much to do with the subsequent pleasures of the very enjoyable occasion. By the kind attentions of these officers the visitors were made to feel that their presence was desired and their welcome sincere.

At a seasonable hour a dainty repast was laid on the tables to which the company, without any ceremony whatever, helped themselves as desire dictated. It consisted of many palatable delicacies which were keenly enjoyed.

The literary and musical entertainment given during the evening was of the most pleasing and satisfactory character. Capt. E. K. Hood of Lynn was the reader, and the selection of him was a happy one. He added greatly to the pleasure of the reception by his masterly recital of several choice selections and made many admirers by the exercise of his fine talents as an elocutionist. When he finished "Light on the Range" there was scarsely a dry eye in the audience.

The company were spellbound every time Miss May Bosley of Boston sang, and her fair accompanist on the pianoforte, the beautiful Miss Williams also of Boston, was a recipient of a generous share of the applause which greeted the delightful musical essays of the enchanting duet. The voice of the former was full, sweet and melodious, showing perfect cultivation, thorough knowledge, and natural qualities of a high order, and her splendid efforts were charming to the last degree. Beauty of face and person coupled with such rare musical gifts could not fail to impart great pleasure to a cultivated and appreciative audience.

The execution of Miss Williams's piano solos were exhibitions of high art in instrumental music, and they were enthusiastically received by the delighted company. The lady was captivating in manners and style as well as beautiful in face and form, and her playing has never been excelled, if equalled, in Concert Hall. Both ladies made many warm friends here.

Everything passed off in fine style and Presidents Hill and Dow had reason to congratulate themselves on the marked success of their reception.

Buckle's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

The wool hat manufacturers of the United States, with one exception, have entered into a combination.

Fire Sale!

Fire Sale!

COMMENCING

Saturday Morning

AT 8 O'CLOCK.

The Great House of H. B. Claflin & Co. of New York had a fire in their Storehouse last Wednesday.

$350,000 worth of Goods

WERE DAMAGED BY WATER.

These goods were placed on sale Monday morning in New York.

I was there and bought.

YOU get the benefit.

C. Willard Smith

Dry Goods and Carpets, 399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

"For Christ and the Church."

Middlesex County Y. P. S. C. E.

The Second Annual Convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Middlesex County will be held at Woburn, Fast Day, April 2, 1891, afternoon and evening. The afternoon session will be held in the Baptist church, Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor, at 2 30 P. M., and the evening session in the Congregational church, Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor, at 7 30.

An interesting and helpful programme is being arranged, and well known Christian Endeavor workers will be in attendance. Among those who will speak are

Rev. Lawrence Phelps, President Mass. State Union, Y. P. S. C. E.

Rev. A. E. Dunning, D. D., Editor of the Congregationalist

Rev. E. P. Farnham, Vice President Mass. State Union, Y. P. S. C. E.

Mr. J. W. Baer, Secretary United Society, Y. P. S. C. E.

Rev. S. C. Bushnell of Arlington.

Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon, Cor. Secretary, Mass. W. C. T. U.

Mr. W. L. Colby of Newton.

Miss L. Adelaide Wallingford of Lowell.

Mrs. Philip Emerson of Waltham, and others.

Active preparations are being made by the Woburn societies to make the Convention a success, the four societies in that city uniting heartily and cordially to that end.

Supper will be furnished by them to all delegates between the afternoon and evening sessions. All members of societies will be considered as delegates, but in order that preparation may be made, those intending to be present are requested to register, and wear their society badges.

A general invitation is extended to all pastors, church officers and all others interested in Christian Endeavor, to attend this Convention. Presidents and secretaries of societies are earnestly requested to call the attention of the members of their societies to this meeting, and to urge as many as possible to attend.

The singing will be aided by a large chorus, and will be under the general direction of Mr. T. Wallace Travis, of Wellesley Hills.

The churches in Woburn are near each other and the station, and can be quickly and easily reached.

Trains for Woburn leave Boston at 11 A. M., 12 10, 1 07, 2, 3 10, 4 05, 4 45, 5 35, 5 55, and 6 15 P. M. Trains leave Woburn for Boston at 5 12, 6 05, 8 59, 9 15 and 10 10 P. M. For Lowell at 6 42 and 10 28 P. M.

HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, District Secretary.

North Woburn.

Mr. Charles Eaton has placed a whistle on his factory on Pearl street. Blow it long and loud, Mr. Eaton, and wake the people up.

The Chocolate party given in the vestry of the Congregational church on Thursday evening, March 26, was a very enjoyable affair and also a financial success.

On Thursday, March 26, Mrs. A. R. Linscott started for New York, from which place she will sail for Europe where she intends to spend a few months in travelling.

Mr. Hart Tarr has improved the appearance of his estate on School St. a great deal by cutting down some old apple trees. Others should profit by the example as some of the trees on that street stand almost directly in the sidewalk.

The following is the programme for the Easter Concert by the Sunday School of the North Congregational church at No. Woburn on Sunday evening, March 29:

Anthem by Choir.
Scripture Reading by Superintendent.
Prayer by Pastor.
Response by Choir.
Responsive Reading.
Singing by School and Choir.
Exercises by Primary Department.
Responsive Reading.
Recitation by Lena French.
Singing by Choir.
Reading by Mr. O. T. Curtis.
Recitations by Mrs. Dearborn's Class.
Singing by School and Choir.
Reading by Mr. J. W. Clark.
Responsive Reading.
Singing by Choir.
Recitations by Homer Danforth, Fred Bixby.
Address by Pastor.

The School will be assisted in the music by Mr. Fred Rogers on the cornet.

King's Daughters.

To the Order of King's Daughters and Sons in Middlesex County: All Circles not already reported to the State Secretary, Mrs. Charlotte S. Doolittle, please send your names at once to your County Secretary, Letitia F. Phelps, 16 Lrimmean Street, Cambridge, Mass. Henceforth all reports and fees are to be sent to your County Secretary, and crosses, literature and information can be obtained of her. Mrs. Charlotte S. Doolittle, State Secretary.

March 23, 1891.

Burlington.

There was a social party in the Town Hall Wednesday evening.

Many people in town are suffering from severe colds and coughs.

Mr. Henry S. Marion cut his foot quite badly with an axe while chopping some wood last week.

We were pleased to see our old friend Mr. Nathan Simonds at the Town Meeting Monday.

The Sunday school will give an Easter concert in the church next Sunday evening at seven o'clock.

Rev. F. Hersey of Andover preached at the church last Sunday. The people appeared to be very much interested in his sermons both in the morning and evening.

We recently had a pleasant call from Mr. Harry Reed who has returned to Lexington from his sojourn in the South and will soon occupy his summer residence here.

The friends of Mr. James Patterson sympathize with him in the severe affliction he has experienced in the death of his wife which occurred last week. She leaves a family of four children.

Mr. Samuel Gowing who died March 16 at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Silas Cutler, was the oldest person in this town, being ninety-two years old at the time of his death. Although quite deaf he retained his faculties in a goodly degree until a short time before his death. His funeral was held in Wilmington where the greater part of his long life was spent. He was a man who was highly respected by all who knew him.

The Town Meeting was held Monday afternoon. As the warrant contained an unusually large number of articles it was hardly expected that the Meeting would be finished that day, but, by promptness and expedition the the feat was accomplished. The following officers were chosen: Samuel Sewall, Town Clerk and Treasurer; Samuel Sewall, G. L. Tebbetts, William E. Carter, Selectmen, Assessors, Highway Surveyors and Overseers of the Poor; J. F. Rice, Charles E. O'Brien, Constables; Charles G. Foster, School Committee for three years; Samuel Sewall, Collector of Taxes; Walter W. Skelton, Otis C. Haven, Charles E. Marion, Cemetery Committee; Charles G. Foster, Marshall Wood, J. F. Rice, Library Committee. The sum of $1200 was appropriated for the schools, $1500 for the highways, and $2000 for the support of the poor and incidental expenses. The vote on the license question was Yes, 23; No, 28.

The washboard is a piano upon which women can play a tune of happiness with a cake of Brussels soap.

Literary Notices.

PETERSON for April opens with two large fashion sheets, giving all the most novel and graceful designs for spring costumes. The Tree of the Desert is a beautiful illustrated article on palmtrees and gives much interesting and out-of-the-way information in regard to the numerous varieties. Hannah—A Friend, by Robert C. V. Meyers is a charming story written with an exquisite delicacy of touch. Twixt His Coming and Going by Anna M. Dwight is illustrated by some lovely photogravures and is a story of unusual merit. In a Glass Manufactory is another illustrated article which gives a capital account of the different stages of glass-making. Some Curious Easter Customs by Martha Craig will be found full of interest. Miss Alice Bowman's serial, "Dulce Domum," grows more interesting with each installment, and the first chapters of At the Star, by Agnes James, makes one eager for the continuation. The fashion and household departments are as always—simply invaluable. Terms, two dollars a year. Send 5 cents for a sample copy. Address, PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, Philadelphia, Pa.

To the Milk Diet so often recommended for invalids, should be added Mellin's Food. By its aid, the difficulty which patients generally find in digesting milk alone is entirely overcome; it also adds greatly to the food value of the milk.

WINCHESTER.

The Y. M. C. A. has formed a gymnasium class.

Daniel Cadigan is at present stopping in East Cambridge.

The Water in the several ponds rose about five inches last week.

Mrs. Dunbar, who resides at Symmes's Corner, died on Sunday last.

The Winchester Furniture Company have been shut down for repairs on the shop.

Mr. Lawrence Hall, who has been confined to the house with la grippe, is around again.

Beggs & Cobb will not run a team between here and Boston, as Loring & Avery have been doing.

Miss Hanson has resumed her duties at the Wadleigh Grammar School after a two week's illness.

There was quite a number of ladies present at the town election. They occupied positions in the gallery.

The Wedgemere Tennis Club will give a minstrel entertainment in the Town Hall on the evening of Fast Day.

The returns showed that that Molly Connors received votes for four or five different offices, one of them being for constable.

While George Nichols and Charles Lund were out riding yesterday the wheel of the buggy broke throwing Mr. Nichols out. He escaped with slight injuries.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Thomas Cochrane, of St. Paul, Minn., gave a very interesting lecture at the new rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Beggs & Cobb will finish up at their North Winchester factory next Wednesday as also will Loring & Avery and the change of plants will take place immediately.

Everybody should bear in mind the Minstrel Show by the Wedgemere Tennis Club at the Town Hall on Fast Day evening. It is going to be a big thing, else all signs fail in a drouth.

Judge Littlefield found out on Town Meeting day that "sass for the goose is sass for the gander" and under that rule he was elected Fence Viewer. He will hardly undertake a practical joke on the same party again very soon.

The whole gypsy moth business is a snare and a delusion from the drop of the hat. It is a humbug from a to ampersand and the Governor ought to abolish the Gypsy Moth Commission and every body who thinks the Commission isn't a fraud. The humbug is the one who wrote this article.

Appropriate Easter services will be held at the churches here. Preparations on quite an elaborate scale are under way for the Congregational Church. The committee in charge of them are are C. W. Currier, E. B. Holt, Mrs. Henry L. Dunham, Miss C. L. Pond and Mrs. W. M. Belcher.

"Chipman's Liver Pills
the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

When the Mosque of St. Sophia in Constantinople was built, more than a thousand years ago, the stones and brick were laid in mortar mixed with a solution of musk, and the building has been fragrant with the oder ever since.

The Manhattan Club of New York finds its new quarters in Stewart's marble palace so expensive that it has doubled the membership in order to enlarge the resources.

DOG SHOW.

MECHANICS' HALL, HUNTINGTON AVENUE,
March 31, April 1, 3 and 4.
1500 NOTED PRIZE DOGS,
The largest show ever held in America. 20 CELEBRATED TRICK DOGS perform every day and evening. Admission 50 cents; Children half price.
N. B. Special attractions FAST DAY, April 2.

Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank.

NOTICE.

The Regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank will be held on Friday, April 3, 1891, at 7.30 P. M., to hear the report of the Treasurer and Auditors, and transact such other business as may legally come before said meeting.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, April 11, 1891, will draw interest from April 1, 1891.

E. E. THOMPSON, Treasurer.

Woburn, March 25 1891.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other goods. PRICES LOW.

BALLS! BALLS!!

Also, the BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

TO LET.

Cottage: No. 53 Canal street, containing 8 rooms, finished basement, and furnace. Will be vacated April 1st.

Apply to
J. W. JOHNSON,
424 MAIN ST.

WEST MEDFORD.

FOR SALE—A desirable estate on line of B. & L. R. R., 2 minutes' walk from station, containing 21,000 feet of land, house and stable; both have all modern conveniences, house of 12 rooms and bath; stable accommodates 3 horses; large lawns, fruit and shade trees. Apply to CHAS. D. APPLETON, 153 Blackstone street, Boston.

DEFAULTED KANSAS MORTGAGES

Bought, collected, foreclosed. Property examined. Charges reasonable. Information free. Write us

Hartford Western Land Company,
(INCORPORATED CAPITAL, $50,000),
Wichita, - - - - - Kansas.

A PERFECT MAGAZINE.

A copy of the
BOSTON SUNDAY HERALD,
Exclusive of advertisements, contains twice as much reading matter as either Harper's, Scribner's or Century Magazines, of a quality equally as good, for the small price of five cents.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

What Is Left

Over from our stock of fine Bedroom Sets, in the 1890 patterns, WILL NOW be closed out at a reduction of 25 per cent from Market Prices.

The assortment includes many artistic designes in Quartered Oak, Cherry, &c., the only reason for this unusual sacrifice being that we must make room for new stock.

If your eyes should chance to catch this announcement, the opportunity may enable you to furnish a room or two in "An Ideal Manner" and at an ideal price.

Perhaps it is well for you that you have waited till now.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Ann Doherty to John W. Johnson of Woburn in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Trustee under the will of Adelaide A. Eaton, dated January 15, 1889, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, libro 1889, folio 533, and by said John W. Johnson, Trustee, assigned to Hugh McCafferty by assignment dated May 10, 1890, recorded with said Deeds, Book 2000, Page 43, for a breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Saturday the eleventh day of April, A. D., 1891, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in the westerly part of said Woburn, on the northerly side of Sheridan St., and bounded and described as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises on said Sheridan street, at land of Sewall Taylor; thence the line runs easterly, by and with said Sheridan street one hundred and ninety-eight feet to land now, or formerly, of James Doherty; thence northerly, on and by said land of Doherty ninety nine and one-half feet to land now, or formerly, of Mrs. Hanley; thence westerly, by said land of Hanley and by land now, or formerly, of Bartholomew Hogan, one hundred and ninety-nine feet to said land of Taylor; thence southerly, by said land of Taylor, ninety-nine and one-half feet to the point of beginning: Being the same premises described in two deeds to said Ann Doherty: one from Philip Doherty, dated March 21, 1867, recorded with Middlesex (South District) Deeds, Book 1007, Page 318; the other from John Doherty, dated December 10, 1867, and recorded with Middlesex So. District) Deeds, Book 1026, Page 326.

$10.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HUGH McCAFFERTY, Assignee
and present holder of said Mortgage.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Attorney.

Woburn, March 16, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ebenezer N. Blake, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Warren N. Blake, Harrison G. Blake, and Joseph B. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

New Bargains At BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Peacock Blue Henrietta, Silk Warp, 85c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Black India Twill, 46 inches wide, 65c., sells in Boston for 75c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 in. wide, 75c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 44 in. wide, 69c., sells in Boston for 75c.

We will give anyone a Dress Pattern of the above goods if they can match them in Boston Retail Stores for less than the prices quoted as Boston prices.

We would be pleased to have you take up this offer.

WOBURN Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the Shareholders will be held in the Board of Trade rooms, Dow's Block, on

Thursday, April 9,

at 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of electing Officers and Auditors for the ensuing fiscal year, and for any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office 399 Main Street, Woburn.

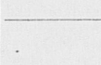
For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 12 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.



2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-3 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Draperies and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ann Bell Skinner, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Jennie E. Skinner, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To all persons interested in the Trusts under a deed of Oliver B. Coolidge of Woburn, in said County given to Ebenezer Lawrence, in trust, and recorded with said Middlesex (so. Dist.) deeds, Book 280, Page 212,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a petition has been presented to said Court by Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, praying to be appointed Trustee under said deed;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

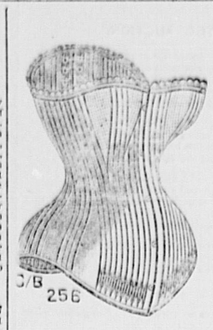
G. McGREGOR FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of bouquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.



Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES IN HEAVY-WEIGHT GOODS,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper, 5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper, 10c.
Gilt Papers, 8 & 10c.
Best Gilt, 15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Edwin H. Richardson, late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachusetts, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Adm.

Woburn, Mass., March 19, 1891.

REVIEW OF THE QUARTER

LESSON XIII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 29.

The Unity of the Israelitish Nation Destroyed—Rapid Decline and Demoralization of the Two Sections Despite the Labors of Elijah, Elisha and Others.

The quarter just completed and the next together cover one of the saddest passages in history. Borrowing a term from profane history, it might be called the "Decline and Fall" of the divinely established nation. Every gracious promise to Israel had been coupled with a condition, expressed or clearly implied. Again and again had the people been warned; again and again had they disregarded the warning, violated the laws against idolatry and entangled themselves with neighboring nations, until their measure of iniquity was complete and the judgment came.

For convenience it is customary to divide the history of the kingdom into three stages. Samuel may be said to have organized the nation, but with so poor an instrument as Saul he could not organize the kingdom. That was the work of David, who was, in the broadest sense, a man of war. He brought the national spirit to its highest development. He repelled all the attacks of his neighbors and compelled them to respect Israel. To his son and successor he left a united people, whom no other nation dared to attack, and a fair field for the arts of peace. Solomon brought the kingdom to its highest point of glory. Education, agriculture and commerce were brought to a flourishing condition. This was the golden age of Israel. The fame of Solomon filled the earth. He is still the theme of a thousand legends among the nations of southern Asia, and the Jews through all the twenty-nine centuries since his day have pointed with mingled pride and sadness to the glory of Solomon.

The third stage—the four centuries of almost continuous decay and demoralization—began with Rehoboam, though the seeds of decay were thickly sown before. For some reasons not well understood there had long been a division in feeling, the tribe of Judah and some fractions of other tribes standing together, and the rest of the nation occasionally breaking away. Again and again during the life of David did this spirit produce dangerous or bloody results, nor did David succeed in uniting the tribes till the heir of Saul, Ishbosheth, had been assassinated. Twice during that reign there were bloody insurrections. It is but reasonable to conclude that the men of Judah were greatly favored at the court of Solomon, and that the jealousy of other tribes smoldered all through the forty years of his glorious reign.

Nevertheless the kingdom left by Solomon extended northeast to the Euphrates and south as far as the Red sea. His death was the signal for the old jealousy to revive, and the folly of Rehoboam completed the division. There were thenceforth two kingdoms and internecine strife, and the hatred on both sides was so intense that even the prophets were affected by it, as we see in many of their utterances. Against the dark background of war and apostacy stand out the mighty figures of Elijah and Elisha, heroes and patriots, almost martyrs, yet miraculously sustained and preserved, struggling mightily but in vain to bring back a deluded people to their duty to God and their native land.

As the northern kingdom began its career under Jeroboam by systematically excluding the Mosaic institutions, so its downward career was most rapid. Idolatry, despotism and corruption were its methods; conspiracy, revolt and regicide determined the choice of rulers through most of the 250 years of its troubled existence. Once Elisha succeeded in restoring a faint spirit of piety and patriotism, and under the dynasty of Jehu (who was anointed by Elisha) there was a show of order during the reigns of Jehoahaz, Joash, Jeroboam II and Zachariah; but the latter was murdered by Shallum (773 B. C.), who was murdered a month later by Menahem, whose son Pekahiah was slain by Pekah, who was in turn assassinated by Hoshea, with whom the kingdom was destroyed amid unspeakable miseries. The ten tribes were taken into captivity, and so disappeared from history. Many fanciful accounts of them have appeared, and many learned men, whose learning was not tempered with judgment, have maintained extravagant theories concerning "The Lost Tribes," but there is every reason to believe that they were never reunited. Their idolatry and neglect of the Mosaic law would naturally cause them to be absorbed and lost as a race in the nations among whom they settled.

The history of the other kingdom, commonly called Judah, is far more important and interesting; for it continued a kingdom till 588 B. C., was partially restored after the captivity, and maintained a desperate struggle for nationality for nearly five centuries longer. Nor was the Jewish community completely broken up and the people scattered till the reign of the Roman emperor, Hadrian, about 131 A. D., when the last insurrection under Bar-Cokheba was suppressed in frightful massacres, after which the Jews were forbidden to enter Jerusalem under penalty of death, and the dispersion was complete. Nevertheless it is Judah that has preserved the national name and blood, and the Jews remain a people apart among all nations to this day.

It is fitting to cite here a few facts as to that portion of Jewish history between the close of the Old Testament and opening of the New. Cyrus decreed the return of the Jews, but of the whole dispersion certainly not more than a third, and some think no more than a fifth, came back, and these completed the new temple about 516 B. C. Ezra somewhat later brought a colony from beyond the Euphrates, and Nehemiah another in 445 B. C. There was a long peace, during which the sacred books were completed, and the canon of the Hebrew Scriptures made up. Nor was this peace broken till Alexander the Great conquered the Persian empire (334 to 331 B. C.).

Palestine remained a Greek province, though under various rulers, for a century and a half; all the educated people read and to some extent spoke Greek, and the Scriptures were translated into that tongue (the Septuagint). In 170-160 B. C. the land became again independent under the Maccabees, but a century later a horrible civil war resulted in an appeal to the Romans, who took the country.

The lessons just closed, the careers of Elijah and Elisha, cover the first stages of this dreadful history, and it may with reverence be said that they deserve the study of those who would be statesmen almost as much as that of those who would be enlightened Christians. In these chapters is portrayed God's method in dealing with an apostate and decaying nation. The moral is set forth in Scripture language, which cannot be improved, "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God."

To enjoy good health aim to always have abundant sleep; this can generally be secured by management, unless you have a crying baby, in which case Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup will greatly assist.

A very good recommendation:—I used Old Sauls Catarrh Cure for influenza and was cured.

Every housekeeper knows how important it is to keep the refrigerator clean. Wash the shelves and ice racks in soap, ammonia and water. Vinegar and water will remove every stain from the zinc.

Bright's Disease Lost Its Victim.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton, of West Rutland, Vt., writes: "We are certain that only for Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., our little ten-year-old daughter would have been dead from Bright's Disease. We had tried in vain other means, but the Favorite Remedy came just in time to save her life."

Soak clothes that fade over night in water in which has been dissolved one ounce of sugar of lead to a pailful of rain water.

THE AUCTION.

At an auction of goods the gruff auctioneer
On high a hammer doth hold.
And he cries for each piece, "Going once, twice and thrice,"
And the hammer comes down and it's sold.

Going once, going twice,
Going, going, gone;
Falls the hammer in a trice
And the sale is done.

You ardently covet a fine piece of goods,
But you linger, and do not bid bold;
The auctioneer shouts, "Going once, twice and thrice,"
And the hammer comes down and 'tis sold.

Our life is an auction, and larger by far
Than any of which we are told;
A hammer waits over life's goods, once, twice, thrice,
And at last it comes down and they're sold.

There's a mine to be worked, and you gather your tools
To bring forth the glittering gold;
You tarry a moment, only once, twice or thrice,
And the hammer comes down and you're sold.

A battle's to be fought, and you marshal your troops
To vanquish the enemy bold;
You pause at the crisis, only once, twice or thrice,
The hammer comes down, glory's sold.

And so at the finish, as well as the start,
You want the crown promised of old;
You tarry at midday and at night, once, twice, thrice,
And God's hammer comes down, heaven is sold.

Going once, going twice,
Going, going, gone;
Falls the hammer in a trice,
And life's bargain's done.
—W. A. Buxton in Yankee Blade

The Star Mizar.

Every observer of the heavens who knows by name some of the brightest stars is familiar with the constellation called the Great Dipper, visible in the northern sky through the whole night and throughout the year. It consists of seven stars, four in the bowl and three in the handle. An interesting discovery has been made by Professor Pickering, of the Harvard university observatory, concerning one of the stars of this beautiful group.

Mizar is the name of the star. It is the middle star in the handle, is of the second magnitude, and has attracted much attention ever since men began to study the stars, because even to the naked eye it is double. It has a companion, Alcor, plainly visible to observers endowed with good visual power. Alcor is of the fifth magnitude, and is about 11 minutes distant from Mizar. The tiny star seems to be growing brighter, for the Arabians considered it a severe naked eye test, and it is now comparatively easy to detect.

The telescope shows plainly that Mizar is a double star, its components being of the third and fifth magnitudes, the one a brilliant white, the other a pale emerald. The marvelous discovery is now made that the larger star of the pair is also double, the two stars that compose it being so close together that the telescope cannot separate them.—Youth's Companion.

A Gentleman Farmer Defined.

Old Col. Maynadier, of Anne Arundel county, Md., was a large slaveowner. The colonel spent a good deal of his time away from home. One time upon his return he took a drive over his property, and on his way he met a small colored boy.

"Whom do you belong to, boy?" the colonel asked.

"Why, sah, I—I—'longs to Col. Maynadier, sah."

"Who's he?" inquired the colonel, to see what the chap would say.

"H—h—e's a farmer, sah."

"What sort of a farmer?"

"Ge—gentleman farmer, sah."

"Gentleman farmer!" repeated the colonel. "What kind of a farmer's a gentleman farmer?"

"W—well, sah," spoke up the colored boy, "h—he's a farmer dat don't raise no 'bacco, sah, a—and has to buy his co'n, sah!"

The colonel enjoyed the joke, it is said, and afterward told it upon himself with much amusement.—Baltimore Herald.

Bacteria in Hailstones.

Bacteria of various kinds have been found in ice and snow, and Dr. Fontin, a Russian observer, has now proved that hailstones are not free from them. He has found that the water produced by the melting of hailstones contains on an average 720 bacteria per cubic centimeter. Neither yeast fungus nor mold was present, but nine different kinds of bacteria were found, five of which (B. mycoides, liquefaciens, lutens, sarcina lutea and aurantiaca) are already known. As the ordinary dwelling place of the bacillus mycoides is the earth, we are confronted with the fact that microbes of terrestrial origin may be carried up into the air, and thus rain, snow and hail may be the direct means of conveying infection.—Chicago Herald.

He Fished and Slept.

At Hannibal, Mo., a colored man named Wilson fished from a bridge. As he fished he slept, and as he slept he pitched forward into the stream and never rose to the surface. When they recovered his pole and line there was a twenty-five pound catfish on the hook. Some men are always too late for good luck.—Detroit Free Press.

How to Obtain Information.

"There is a family living at 110, and I want to know something about them."

"Why don't you go there and make your inquiries?"

"That would be a little indelicate."

"That's true. Well, then, go to the next door neighbor and you will find out all about them."—Boston Courier.

An Impossible Animal.

"I have an idea that Bagsby is something of a liar himself."

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, he says he has a trick dog that will perform his tricks when they have company."—New York Ledger.

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and medicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambery & Murphy, of Battle Creek, Mich.; C. B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly, or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at Charles H. Buss.

Boiling-hot liquid may be safely poured into a glass jar or tumbler by first putting a silver spoon in the dish. Be careful, however, that a draft of cold air does not strike the vessel while hot.

Dyspepsia's victims are numbered by thousands. So are the people who have been restored to health by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

RATTLERS ON BLUE TOP.

A Farmer Who Catches Them and Keeps Them in Hollow Logs.

The Susquehanna river rises in central New York, and flowing southward enters the northwestern corner of Pennsylvania, near Great Bend, Susquehanna county, and taking a westerly course follows closely the boundary line of the two states. Ranges of hills, rising almost to the dignity of mountains, skirt its banks on either side and present a rough, ragged and rocky surface, so that cultivation is almost out of the question; but wild and hilly and barren as it was in many parts, the pioneers of the country, intent on securing homes and farms and a living somewhere in that region, found here and there a valley and a running stream and a flat place where they could plant a house and clear up a few acres of land for farming.

Among those streams is one named Snake creek, which, rising in a beautiful lake near Montrose, meanders through a valley and finds its way into the Susquehanna about twelve miles from the lake in which it rises. This creek was so named by the early settlers because of the fact that, while bears and wolves and other ferocious beasts were very numerous in all that region, snakes were conspicuously more numerous. One of the highest hills, whose head rises well up into the sky, was named Blue Top, because the large and luscious blue whortleberries were found on it in large quantities. The large rattlesnake was found there, as he is today, nearly as plentiful as the berries, and in the season of ripe berries he is exceedingly restive and hostile to all intruders.

On Snake creek, a few miles above its mouth, an old man of the name of Chalker lives all alone, who is so familiar with the snakes that by common consent he is called Snake Chalker. His large farm lies along the creek, extending up either side to the very top of the hills. On one occasion, while passing that way, the writer hitched his horse at his gate and went in to see him. Hanging up all around the old fashioned fireplace I observed what appeared to be dressed eels preparing for the table. They were exceptionally large of the kind, and I asked where he caught such large eels.

"Eels?" said he. "Those are my rattlesnakes."

"And what are you going to do with them?"

"Eat them. They are much finer than eels."

Passing toward his back door he said:

"Come out and see what I have in the yard."

In the yard were snakes by the score—all kinds, but blacksnakes and rattlesnakes in great numbers. How he caught them, how he put them where they were, he explained as follows:

"You see these tubs, as I call them, in which I keep them? These are hollow logs sawed off about ten feet, burned out and made smooth inside, so the snakes can't get out. I place one end of the log or tub about five feet in the ground. I then put the snakes down, about twenty or thirty in each tub, and keep them, feeding them every day until I want to use them. Snakes, you know, come out of their dens on warm, pleasant days and lie on the rocks to sun themselves. I cut a small stick with a short crotch at one end. I approach them quietly, and placing the crotch on the snake's neck hold it firmly down until I put a stout pin through his lips. Then twisting it about so he can't open his mouth or bite I fill my pockets or a basket and take them home and replenish my tubs. When I want a snake to eat or sell I slip a noose over his head and bring him up."—New York Sun.

The World's Richest Heiress.

The little daughter of the king and queen of Holland will be the richest heiress in the world. She is a simple minded, intelligent child, and talks four languages fluently. Her chief delight when she was 5 or 6 was making mud pies, but this pleasure she was not often allowed to indulge in. The little princess has an enormous number of white frocks, as she is dressed in nothing but white in the summer and has a clean dress every day. When driving out her English governess has great difficulty in keeping the poor little princess perpetually acknowledging the public salute. "Why do all the people want to look at me?" asked the little mite one day. "Not for your own sake, dear, but because you are your father's little girl," was her governess' wise reply.—New York Telegram.

The Woman Who Stays Too Long.

If the reckless waster of time were the only sufferer for her thoughtlessness there would be a certain sense of satisfaction in contemplating the retribution. But when she lingers at her friend's threshold to make a few closing remarks on an already exhausted or a fruitless theme while the busy housewife sniffs the odor of burning cake, or hears the clock striking the hour of a now impossible engagement, her action becomes to a degree criminal.—Harper's Bazar.

A "Wind Flower."

A flower has been discovered in South America which is only visible when the wind blows. The shrub belongs to the cactus family and is about three feet high. The stem is covered with dead, warty looking lumps in calm weather. These lumps, however, need but a slight breeze to make them unfold large flowers of a creamy white, which close and appear as dead as soon as the wind subsides.—St. Louis Republic.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. E. Lovell, Druggist.

Reason is no match for passion. It is the most thoughtful men who sin most wilfully. You reason about the folly of your sin, and the next minute you commit it.

If Your Skin

Is rough, and pimply or covered with blotches and sores, and you want a clean, smooth skin and fair complexion, use Sulphur Bitters. The best medicine in such cases I ever sold.—C. E. Schefflee & Co., Druggists, Lawrence, Mass.

MEN WHO SUPPLY FAKIRS.

They Are Willing to Buy Anything, Providing the Price Is Low.

There are three or four men in this city who, if they can buy cheap enough, will take up any sized stock of goods and pay cash for it. These are the men who supply the street fakirs with the articles which seem to fairly break out on the street like some queer disease. One day you will see thousands of Japanese teapots or Malacca canes, while the next an amazing number of shoe brushes form the attraction. The rule of this business is that nothing can be easily sold on the street which costs more than ten cents, although, of course, this, like other rules, has its exceptions. Of this ten cents the peddlers must make at least four. It matters little to the men who buy the bankrupt stocks, then, what the articles may be, provided on their purchase they can make a profit, selling at seven cents.

There is, however, one point which must be borne in mind. The articles, whatever they may be, must be really good of their kind, for the whole theory of the business is dealing in real bargains. The purchasers are generally shrewd buyers, not only knowing when the things offered are good, but as a rule buying them, not because they are wanted, but because they are cheap, and the number of bargains which may be secured from these men by any one who will watch for them is amazing. I remember buying a Malacca cane for ten cents many years ago which did good service.

In a city where as many business failures take place as are chronicled in New York the existence of men who can dispose of any stock and get rid of it is a prime necessity. The houses which place their wares through the street peddlers have the command of large capital, and do business on the "quick sales and small profits" principle. They rarely carry a stock, unless it be very large, over three or four days, for in that time the push cart men, if the articles go at all, will clean them out. They are always on the loookout for bankruptcies, forced sales and the like, and their stores are curiosity shops, littered up with the flotsam and jetsam which have remained over from many commercial wrecks. But they deal in toys, fruit, vegetables, game—anything that is cheap and can go quickly. "The Pigs in the Pen," which sent the city wild, were placed by them, and it is not uncommon to see editions of books forced into circulation through their offices.

As may be imagined the men in this business must not alone possess a widespread knowledge of goods, but they must have a keen appreciation of the public taste and know exactly what will take. It has been believed that pawnbrokers know more of the values of diverse articles than any other men in a city like New York, but it is a question whether those who deal through peddlers are not the equal of "Our Uncles" in this. Anyway, theirs is a business which can only be made to pay while this species of sagacity is displayed, for should they make a mistake it is tolerably certain the fakirs will not and that the stock will then be left unsold.

The ability of the average fakir to determine beforehand whether a given line of articles will take savors of the supernatural. I am told that a successful man in this business will not only determine instantly whether he wants to push a sale, but that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred he will be absolutely right. If the jobber makes a mistake his only chance of saving himself is to get the men to take out the goods on speculation; in other words, on credit. As the business all through is or should be cash, this policy is not looked upon with much favor.

The need of judgment on the part of the jobber is, however, most felt when he is selling to the peddlers. The amount of profit allowed to them is in inverse ratio to the rapidity with which they can sell, and it is therefore to their interest to make the jobber believe he has a "slow lot" on hand. Their volubility in crying the excellence of their wares on the street is as nothing to that which expresses their contempt for the goods when they are themselves asked to buy. The jobber then must know just how the things will go or he will find himself left with a profit which shall make him mourn.

It is a curious business which has grown out of the failures of commercial life, but it is not without its interesting points.—New York Telegram.

Antiquity of the Horse.

One of the facts which the philological theorists were surest of was that the horse was brought with them into Europe by the first Aryan immigrants from Asia. But, as Mr. Taylor shows that the Aryans did not come from Asia, it is easy to suppose that they did not bring the horse with them from Asia. "The Latin name equus is common to all the Aryan languages. But recent archæological discoveries have shown that the common name must have referred to the wild horse which roamed in immense herds over Europe, and formed the chief food of the palæolithic hunters." In view of this fact the movement among a branch of the palæoelectric Gauls to return to the horse as a food is one of the most striking cases of reversion known in the life of the race.—William Dean Howells in Harper's.

Thoughts of Home and Wife.

Wife—John, you often think of your birdie during business hours, don't you?

Husband—I did today. A button came off my vest.—Munsey's Weekly.

We spoil everything by hurry. We are wearing ourselves out as a nation by our hurry and intensity—too eager to get a living to be willing to stop to live.

There are men who no more grasp the truth they seem to hold than a sparrow grasps the message passing through the electric wire on which it perches.

A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not bear it when violently given, even though it be well founded.

He who chooses the right and shuns the base, has the eternal for his friend, brother and father.

The inhabitants of cities suppose that the country landscape is pleasant only half the year.

Likes the Sting of the Bee.

Some obstinate men will say "No, thank you," to the most disinterested propositions for their welfare. Dr. O'Neill, of Lincoln, has a friend who endures the sting of the honey bee without flinching. In fact he rather likes it. He keeps bees for pleasure, and the bees, for their pleasure or otherwise, often sting him. He now, however, believes himself sting proof. The tiny wound that used to produce severe pain in former days causes now "only a little pleasurable sensation." He is still unfortified against the wasp. Stung by one of those formidable insects a short time ago, Dr. O'Neill's friend had sufferings acute and prolonged.

But it might be that after a few repetitions the sting of the wasp might cease in him to produce its stinging effects. So he has suggested to his friend that "for the sake of science" he should take the matter up and thoroughly investigate it, in order that he might discover whether he could not also fortify himself against the pain caused by the sting of the wasp. This, says the doctor, with whose disappointment the public will no doubt sympathize, the friend "declined to do, his thirst for science not being sufficiently great to induce him to have any further intercourse with the wasp if he could help it."

Prof. Brewer's Snake Story.

Prof. Brewer tells a snake story. Years ago he was in California and had his tripod and other surveyors' instruments in the field. Stepping along in the bushes he felt a movement under his feet, and found that he was standing on a four-and-a-half-foot rattlesnake—a large, vicious and a fighting fellow. But the snake was so completely pinioned that he could not strike the thick boot that held him fast. Prof. Brewer held the rattler's head down with the tripod and cut it off. Then he cut off his rattles. Stepping aside, he saw the body of the snake, partly coiled, lying very still. Taking out his rule to measure its length, the professor took hold of the snake to straighten him out. "Quick as an electric shock," said Prof. Brewer, "that headless snake brought the bloody stump over and struck a hard blow upon the back of my hand." He added, "I knew that his head was off and that he could not poison me, but that quick and hard blow of the rattler fairly made my hair stand on end."—New Haven Palladium.

Oh, Woman, Lovely Woman!

There are some queer couples in the world, remarked a real estate agent. The other day a man and a woman called to see me about renting a flat. The woman did all the talking, and turned to the man for confirmation or corroboration. He always agreed with her, and did it very meekly.

"Well," said the woman, "I'll give you $25 for this flat; won't we, John?"

"Yes'm."

"And I'll pay my rent promptly, too; won't we, John?"

"Yes'm."

"And take good care of the house; won't I, John?"

"Yes'm."

"But," I inquired, as is usual in such cases, "are you man and wife?"

"Man and wife!" exclaimed the woman sharply; "indeed we are not; are we, John?"

"No'm."

"What!" says I, "not man and wife?"

"Not much! I'd have you know that in this family we are wife and man; ain't we, John?"

"Yes'm."—Texas Siftings.

Horse with a Mustache.

A horse with a mustache is something of a novelty, and such a curiosity attracted quite a large crowd on Front street one afternoon. The animal is jet black, and from his upper lip grows a bunch of hair of a light color and as thick as the hair on his body, but measuring over two inches in length and as stiff as bristles. This hair parts in the middle and curls to the side, as does a mustache on the lip of a man, showing that it has been quite as carefully trained. The animal is the property of Thomas Jones, of Paxon, and is 16 years old.—Worcester (Mass.) Times.

Avoidance of Danger from Fire.

A new departure has been taken in the plans for the new building for the congressional library in that the whole of that immense structure will contain no fire. The building will of course be heated, but the heat will be located outside the building. Vaults will be constructed in the grounds, where the fires and boilers will be placed, and the hot air will be carried into the library building by means of pipes. By this means complete protection against fire is secured.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Public Botanical Instruction.

An admirable provision has been made by the magistracy of Breslau, which will tend in more ways than one to the improvement of the pupils in the public schools. A botanical school garden has been instituted for the regular supply of plants to the schools of the place and for enabling teachers to make observations on the spot with their pupils.—New York Telegram.

Business Is Business.

He—I love you, Jeannette, and now wish you to consider a proposal of——

She—That will do, James. There is only one honest course to pursue in a business matter like this. Submit a sealed proposal to me by the 15th, and your bid shall receive the attention it deserves.—New York Ledger.

A Tender Hearted Boy.

A rather affecting sight was seen on Main street lately. A small boy was leading a blind dog down the street, stopping every few moments to pat the dog, which wagged its tail affectionately. On approaching a hydrant the boy lifted the dog up to let him drink. As they passed down the street again the dog wandered in front of a passerby, who promptly kicked him, but he made no move to get out of the way. The small boy lost no time in yelling after him: "Get out, you ugly brute. What yer kicking a poor, blind dog for?"—Buffalo Express.

Costly Raiment.

Grandma (at her paper)—Law sakes! Here's a notice of my dear Jennie's weddin'. Frankie, what does t-r-o-u-s-s-e-a-u spell?

Frankie (promptly)—Trousers!

Grandma—Land of Goshen! Ef they cost $500 it's a shame and a disgrace. What's this world a-comin' to, anyhow!—Pittsburg Bulletin.

A Homecoming.

Mr. John Drew, the owner of a milk route, was an elderly widower who lived in Somerville, just out of Boston. His house was kept for him by his sister Betsey, a capable spinster whose gray hairs left her age no longer uncertain. One day Miss Betsey Drew saw the milk wagon which her brother himself drove return from Boston an hour earlier than usual in the forenoon, and by his side was a woman.

He drove up to the side door, unhitched the horse, put him into the stable and came into the house by means of the back door and through the kitchen into the sitting room where Miss Betsey was.

"Well, John Drew," she said severely, looking up from her knitting; "this is queer business! You, a man in good standing, a-driving home with your wagon so early and leaving it standing by the door, and girls a-sitting there like stoughton bottles!"

"Girls!" echoed John Drew. He had been plunged deep in thought, and had entered mechanically by the usual door. But that word roused him. He smiled a jovial smile. He seized his sister's wrist.

"Come, Betsey," said he, "come and see her! I declare I forgot all about her!"

They were at the side door by this time and he pushed it open.

"Jump out, Lucy!" he called cheerily to the girl in the milk wagon; and as she obediently climbed over the wheel John Drew stood beaming on the doorstep, performing an introduction:

"Betsey, this is my wife. Lucy, this is my sister that keeps house for us.

"You see, Betsey," he explained, as the girl drew near, "I got done going round in town a little earlier than usual this morning, so, as I had a little time on my hands, I went and got married. That's right, salute the bride!"—Youth's Companion.

Didn't Know the Prince.

While on a private visit some time ago to Lord Brooke at Easton Lodge, Dunmow, Essex, the Prince of Wales met with an amusing incident. The railway station usually used by visitors to the lodge is at the little village of Takeley. No notice whatever of the prince's expected arrival was given to the station master, who, it so happened, had only been recently appointed to the office. His royal highness was met by Lady Brooke, who preceded her royal guest to the phaeton waiting to convey them to the lodge.

Upon arriving at the barrier the prince was brought up all standing by the station master peremptorily demanding of him his ticket. Amused evidently at the official's behavior, and wishing to have a little fun at his expense, the prince said that he had lost it.

"Then you will have to pay the fare," said the station master determinedly.

At this point Lady Brooke returned, and taking in the situation said to the astounded official:

"The prince's ticket is all right."

The incident is a standing joke with Lord Brooke and his guests, and his royal highness never visits the estate without being asked:

"Where's your ticket?"

He mightily enjoys the fun, and thinks that the station master is a very faithful servant of the railway company.—London Tit-Bits.

Disraeli's Curious Episode.

The most curious episode in Mr. Disraeli's life occurred in the year of the great exhibition, when Mrs. Bridges Willyams, then living widowed at Torquay, wrote to him professing admiration and asking advice. He did not answer and she wrote again. Meeting a Devonshire man at Monckton Milnes, he asked him if he knew a mad woman at Torquay named Willyams, and was assured that Mrs. Willyams was not mad. Still he did not reply, and she wrote asking him to meet her near the fountain in the exhibition. He did not go, and she wrote again, naming another hour.

His friends advised him to keep the appointment and he did so. He found an old lady who might have sat for the figure of a fairy godmother. She told him a long story and gave him an envelope containing a statement on which she wanted an opinion. Disraeli put it in his pocket and forgot it. Weeks afterward he put on the same coat, and there was the envelope containing a bank note for a thousand pounds for his election expenses and the legal case, which was not absurd. He got a lawyer's opinion for her and sent it. That was the beginning of a long correspondence. When she died she left him her fortune and was buried at Hughenden.—London News.

Selling Soap.

Peddler—Madam, I am introducing a new kind of soap——

Madam—I don't want it.

Peddler—It costs but half as much as the old——

Madam—I don't want it, I tell you.

Peddler—And does twice the work of——

Madam—Don't wan't it. Get out.

Peddler—Of any other kind, and is excellent for the complexion.

Madam—How much is it?—New York Weekly.

A fact worth noting in photography has just been recorded. It appears that one of the essentials to a good photograph is a clean face—not a relatively but an absolutely clean one—and it is said that photographers have much trouble because they do not like to make a suggestion which might be resented by their sitters.

Gen. Grant's Reply.

On the evening of the first day's battle of Shiloh, which had been a defeat, the quartermaster came to Gen. Grant and told him that if he was again defeated on the next day he could not transport the troops (about 65,000 in number) if it was necessary to cross the river. Grant asked him, "How many can you handle?" "Ten thousand," replied the quartermaster. "Well," said Grant quietly, "if we are defeated you will be able to carry all that are left."—San Francisco Argonaut.

To Brighten Up the Picture Frames.

Gilt picture frames may be brightened by taking sufficient flour of sulphur to give a golden tinge to about one and one-half pints of water, and in this boil four or five bruised onions or garlic, which will answer the same purpose. Strain off this liquid, and with it, when cold, wash with a soft brush any gilding which requires renewing, and when dry it will come out bright as new.—Exchange.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

A man must become wise at his own expense.

Tenderloins broil better if first brushed over with olive oil.

The grief which all hearts share grows less for one.

We live by loving, and the more we love the more we live.

Ignorance is no excuse when we have neglected to learn what we were obliged to know.

He that wills a thing succeeds in it; but the most difficult thing in the world is to will.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,
SULPHUR BITTERS.
Why suffer with Boils? Why rave with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain, with Rheumatism? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your system has received. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which contain no curative properties, but is composed of the choicest TONIC DESTROYER. It is compounded with the utmost care, combined with the FINEST TRACT OF SULPHUR in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY.
SULPHUR Bitters
The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT, GET IT AT ONCE.
A. P. ORDWAY & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-COODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
Dr. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL"—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Dr. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP
THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY PRICE 25 CTS
Salvation Oil "Killeth Pain."

No more of this?

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth, Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSICAL, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to E. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR

M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.
EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY
POPULAR PRICES $2.00 $2.99 $4.00
M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND
PIANO FORTES.
The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.
IVERS & POND PIANO CO.
181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

BAY STATE MANDOLINS GUITARS & BANJOS.
BEST & CHEAPEST
ILLUST'D CATALOGUE & OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS FREE
J. H. HAYNES & CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.
Terms reasonable.

THE SELF-RESTORER
FREE to every man, young, middle aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1891. NO. 16.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.03, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.03, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.11, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.0?, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL, at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.4 , 10.25, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.0 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.23 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.03, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.30, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.20 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.2., A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.23, 11.23, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. O. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. High Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel, Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer street. Revs. John Queasley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank F wie
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William H. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
3-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 7.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
1-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

Bound to Have a Divorce.

"Judge, I just can't live with my wife any longer, and I must have a divorce if it takes every cent I've got."

"What do you want a divorce for?"

"So she can't sue me nor nothing. They tell me she can get board wages if I leave her without writings."

"Oh, fudge! How long have you been wanting to get a divorce?"

"Most two weeks."

"About two weeks."

"Well, that beats the Dutch. What's the cause of the trouble?"

"Judge, she does snore just awful, if I must say it, but I didn't want to, and thought maybe I wouldn't have to. There's no such a thing as getting a wink of sleep in the same house with her, and as I have to work for a living I've got to do my slumbering at night."

"But that won't give you a divorce."

"Not if I pay for it?"

"Why, no; you'd be kicked out of court."

"But along with her snoring she whistles through her nose like a tugboat. She's a little woman, but good heavens, Judge, she'd raise the dead!"

"That don't make any difference. The law says you must put up with it and make the best of it. To get a divorce you must have a reasonable cause to begin with."

"Well, great Cæsar, Judge! Ain't having to sleep in the coal shed enough to begin with. I'd like to know? I thought the law was made to help a body along. Don't it take no pity on a man at all?"

"Not in a case like that. It presumes that you married this woman with your eyes open."

"So I did, Judge, and they've been open ever since. Does the law say I've got to go without sleep till I drop, or bunk in the barn? Does the law give that woman the right to make a fog-horn of herself, and shake the whole house with her nose as she shuts her eyes? Does the law uphold her in robbing me of sleep that's the same thing as bone and muscle to me? Does the law give her the right to whistle through her nose and snore fit to make a cow bawl the livelong night, and at the same time give her a whack at my property, if I leave her and take to the timber to save my life? Does it do all that, judge?"

"Well, yes; it simmers down to about that."

"Well, then, I'll never vote again as long as I live, and I won't pay a cent of taxes if I hang for it. If the law tries to bulldoze me that way, it'll have to paddle it's own canoe after this, that's all. I fit for the government once, but I'll be blamed if I'll ever do it again."

The peach growers of Delaware, who some time ago gloomily announced that all was up for the season, and that the pestiferous disease called the "yellows" had attacked every tree, now contradict this statement. They say there is little doubt of a successful crop. Last year the whole yield of Delaware was swept away by the early frost.

An apartment house to accommodate five hundred families will be erected in Dresden, Germany.

The Age of Authors—1889.

Mr. M. J. Bok has been engaged on a statistical inquiry of a more specific character in gathering the ages of prominent American authors. Some of these figures are easily accessible through the biographical dictionaries, but the majority of those relating to the ladies included are more difficult to discover. The following is a condensation of the results of Mr. Bok's investigations printed in the New York Graphic, without revision.

Dr. Holmes will be eighty sometime during the present month. Whittier is eighty-one, and Lowell has reached his three score and ten, Richard Henry Stoddard is sixty-four, George H. Boker is sixty-five, George Bancroft will end his eighty-ninth year next October, George Ticknor Curtis is seventy-six, Joel T. Headley is seventy-six, Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson is sixty-five, Edmund Clarence Stedman is fifty-six, John Bigelow is seventy-one, Mrs. Stowe is seventy-seven, Donald G. Mitchel is sixty-seven, Francis Parkman is sixty-six, Charles Dudley Warner is sixty, George William Curtis is sixty-five, Moncure D. Conway is fifty-seven, and Edward Everett Hale is sixty-seven.

Sarah Orne Jewett will be forty next September, Mrs. Humphrey Ward is thirty-eight, Lucy Larcom is sixty-three, Harriet Prescott Spofford is fifty-four, Edith M. Thomas is thirty-five, Marion Harland (Mrs. Terhune) is fifty-nine, Amelie Rives-Chandler will be twenty-six in August, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett is thirty-nine, and she published her first story when only eighteen; Celia Thaxter is fifty-three, Mrs. Croly (Jenny June) is fifty-seven, Miss Braddon is fifty-two, Blanche Willis Howard is forty-two, Rose Terry Cooke is sixty-two, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps-Ward will be forty-five in August, Miss Louise Imogen Guiney is twenty-seven, Constance Fenimore Woolson is forty-one; nobody ever found out exactly the age of Miss Woolsey (Susan Coolidge), but it is believed that she was born in 1845, which would make her age forty-four; Mrs. Margaret Wade Deland, author of "John Ward Preacher," is thirty-one, and Mary Abigail Dodge (Gail Hamilton) is at least twenty-eight years older. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe is seventy.

F. Marion Crawford will be thirty-five in August, and he wrote "Mr. Isaacs" when only twenty-seven; Robert Louis Stevenson is thirty-nine, W. D. Howells is fifty-two, E. W. Howe is thirty-five, Bret Harte is forty-nine, Julian Hawthorne is forty-three Richard Malcolm Johnson is sixty-seven, and Ressiter Johnson is forty-nine; Arlo Bates is thirty-nine, Walter Besant is fifty-one, Thomas Bailey Aldrich will be fifty-three next November, and in his picture looks twenty-five; William Black is forty-eight, William H. Bishop is forty-two, General Lew Wallace is sixty-two, and he wrote "Ben Hur" when fifty-one; John Habberton, author of "Helen's Babies," is forty-seven; Joel Chandler Harris is forty-one, George W. Cable is forty-four, Edward Eggleston is fifty-one, and looks fifteen years older; H. H. Boyesen is forty. H. C. Bunner is about thirty-eight; James Anthony Froude has begun now to write novels at the age of seventy-one; Frank R. Stockton is fifty-five, William Hamilton Gibson is forty-eight, Thomas Nelson Page is thirty-six, James Whitcomb Riley was born in 1852, James Payn is fifty-nine, Brander Matthews is thirty-seven, J. T. Trowbridge is sixty-one, and Jules Verne is the same age, while Edgar Fawcett is forty-two.

The World's Fair.

The excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equaled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr Miles—the Restorative Nervine. It speedily cures nervous prostration, change of life, pain, dullness and confusion in head, fits sleeplessness, the blues, neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. C. W. Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbot & Moss, of Greensburg, Ind., and A. Blackburn of Wooster, O., say that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold, and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and trial bottle free at Charles H. Buss's drug store.

Gilhooly (indignantly)—"Look here, Mr. Schaumburg, this umbrella which I bought from you yesterday won't shut up." Mose Schamburg—"Vat have I got to do mit all dose? Ven I sold you dot umprella it vas shut up all ridght. Maype you have made it open already since I done sold it to you. Vat ish der matter mit you dese mornings, anyvay?"

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Law to Suppress Drunkenness.

It is expected that a general law for the suppression of drunkenness will be enacted, and put in force in all the states of the German confederation before the year is ended. A bill on the subject has been prepared by the Prussian Government and has received the approval of the Emperor, who from the day he succeeded to the throne has persistently demanded some restriction upon the sale of intoxicating liquors. For nearly three years his ministers have been engaged in collecting statistics and evidence on the points concerned, and the decisions at last arrived at have already been sanctioned by the bundesrath. The bill decrees the withdrawal of saloon licenses and the imposition of fines upon saloonkeepers who encourage persons of intemperate habits. The drunkards themselves will be fined if they are poor so as to prevent them from indulging in the vice of intemperance, and terms of imprisonment are to be imposed in cases where a monestary fine would probably not have the desired effect.

Don't Feel Well,

And yet you are not sick enough to consult a doctor, or you refrain from so doing for fear you will alarm yourself and friends—we will tell you just what you need. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will lift you out of that uncertain, uncomfortable, dangerous condition, into a state of good health, confidence and cheerfulness. You've no idea how potent this peculiar medicine is in cases like yours.

The Eskimo's Time of Sorrow.

So long as the hunters bring in seals the smiles of the Eskimos do not fail. Day in and night out they patiently hunt the seal and feast and revel in simple delight. They rarely quarrel; they are without envy and well nigh devoid of guile and malice. But when the gales of their black winter come to hurl the ice cakes crashing on the rocks, and the snow drives down the mountain gorges to beat on the tiny windows of their huts, while the drifts rise so high and the cold becomes so intense that no one can venture forth to hunt, starvation comes to stare them in the face. No games, no dances, no songs are thought of then, but cowering over the low flames of their seal oil lamps they hear in the howling of the wind and the roar of the ice-laden sea voices calling from the unseen world, and tell in whispers the tradition of a land where there is neither ice nor snow storm, the road to which lies through the rude heaps of rock that serve for Arctic graves.

Cashier

Wm E Durgin of the Boston Loan Co. 275 Washington Street, says: I recommend Sulphur Bitters as the very best medicine I have ever used. There is nothing like them to give an appetite, tone up the system, and do away with that languid feeling which is so frequent among those confined indoors

Alcoholic Confectionery.

Those people who have been in the habit of becoming intoxicated by consuming brandy chocolates may be compelled to change their methods of dissipation. A petition has recently been sent to the Legislature by L. Edwin Dudley, Secretary of the Law and Order League, in which a request is made for the enactment of a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of any kinds of confectionery containing alcohol or intoxicating liquors, and this has been referred to the Committee on Public Health. Although this petition was circulated by Mr. Dudley, the inspection came from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which had received complaints of instances of inebriation and the acquisition of a taste for alcohol in children through this means.—Boston Transcript.

The children's health must not be neglected. Cold in the head causes catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied into the nostrils. The worst cases yielding to it. Price 50c.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and, much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

The Apples He "Used to Hook."

The millionaire, John H. Starin, was a poor boy. The first pair of boots he ever owned, he wore only in the village, carrying them on his shoulders while going to and fro so as not to wear them out. He now owns a fine estate of 1400 acres in Montgomery County, New York, near his birthplace. "I bought that place," he writes, "because of the fine flavor of the apple that grew in a certain orchard where I used to hook them, when I was a bareheaded, barefooted boy in a pair of cut down trousers held on by one suspender strap. I used to say that if I ever got rich, I'd own that orchard, and now I do own it."

No one can complain at the price of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure, it is within the reach of all. Sold everywhere at 25 cents.

Parents cannot always carry the baby on a trip, for the recovery of its health. But they can keep Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup in the house, and it will compensate for the trip by its prompt relief.

Undesirable.

Mrs. Tiptop—Who is that gentleman who has been so attentive to you this evening?

Miss Tiptop—He belongs to one of the oldest families in this country, and is descended from the English nobility.

Mrs. Tiptop—Avoid him. He is probably poor.

The people of the United States consume about 200,000,000 bottles of pickles annually.

Literary Notices.

HARPERS MAGAZINE for April contains The Behring Sea Controversy, The French Army, The State of Wisconsin, The Court Theatre of Meiningen, Argentine Provincial Sketches, Wessex Folk, In the Strange Country, short stories, poems, etc., many of them splendidly illustrated.

 HARPER'S is sold by the New England News Company of Boston, and at Horton's Old Woburn Bookstore.

The contents of THE POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY for April, are: From Freedom to Bondage, A Brief History of the Ohio River, Street-Cleaning in Large Cities, Training for Character, What Keeps the Bicycler Upright? Professor Huxley on the War-Path, Social Changes in California, Notice of Dr. Henry T. Schliemann, The Badger and the Fox, Race Influence and Disease, Scientific Jottings in Egypt, Whale-Catching at Point Barrow, Sketch of Daniel G. Brinton, Editor's Table, Literary Notices, Popular Miscellany.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for March 14th and 21st contain The Paintings of Pompeii, Wit and Pathos in Suetonius, Three Finnish Scholars, Turnerian Landscape—an Arrested Art, A Ride in Kaffirland, and Alexander William Kinglake, Illustrations of Animal Life in Tennyson, and Ischia and its Earthquake, Life in the London Slums, Statesmen of Europe, Social Bath in the Last Century, Our Wittiest Judge, Wild Beasts and Their Ways, Our First-Cousins, and Some Savage Contributions to Civilization, At the Regent Street Tussand's, The South African Doctrine of Souls, Robert Louis Stevenson on Realism and Idealism.

Tame Rats.

Five large rats are the peculiar pets of Charles Perkins, who lives on Noble street, says the Philadelphia Press. The rodents evince great affection for him, following him about the house, like dogs, run up his sleeve and come out at the breast, nestle around the rim of his hat and perform a variety of tricks such as leaping through a wire hoop and drawing a coach, four of them acting as horses and one as driver.

Asked how he tamed the rats, Perkins answered:

"It is very easy when you know how."

"Well, what is the how?"

"Simply, I trap a rat in a cage and then examine him carefully to see if he is young and not too vicious. Having selected a proper specimen, I take him to the yard and drop him in a barrel half filled with water. If he tries to clamber up the sides, I throw him back and keep him in the water until he is completely exhausted. When he is just about to go under I take him out, pour a little brandy down his throat with a syringe and take him to the stove where I wrap him in a piece of blanket, coddle him and nurse him back to life. So grateful is he that he remains my slave forever after, fawns on me and becomes quite a pet."

Fortunate Father and Son.

"I am as certain as I now live," says C. E. Bartholomew, of Kalkaska, Mich., "that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life when I was a victim of Bright's Disease. My son had a fever sore on his leg. He, too, used Favorite Remedy and is now well. But for this medicine I am sure both father and son would have been six feet under the sod."

Draw the Cold Water First.

A writer in Babyhood gives "one homely rule for baths," namely: "In preparing a warm bath always draw the cold water first." A frightful accident in a Paris hospital furnishes the text for this advice. The nurse had taken a little child to the lavatory for her bath, and the tub was drawn full of scalding water, when the nurse was called away, and two older children coming in supposed everything was ready and plunged the poor little girl into the bath, with "speedily fatal results." "Careless children!" Yes, and careless elders who make such accidents possible.

The French say when there is an evident omission of something from a sentence that "a word has clung to the pen."

Of all the kings of European countries the steadiest opponent to capital punishment has been the King of the Belgians.

It is estimated that only about one-tenth of the corn raised in Iowa leaves the State. The other nine tenths are fed to Iowa hogs and cattle.

It has been prophesied that in ten years' time there will be more camphor trees than orange trees in Florida, and that the camphor-producing industry in that State will become of great importance.

There must be an inexhaustible supply of dogs somewhere in Burmah. The municipality of Mandalay has been killing them at the rate of 2000 in a month, and yet there is said to be no diminution of the numbers.

Governor Jones, of Alabama, has arranged with the state Commissioner of Agriculture to procure for him trees from all the most notable battlefields of Virginia, to be transplanted to the Capitol grounds at Montgomery.

No flat cars loaded with lumber will be accepted by the Pennsylvania Railroad unless there is left a space of at least 18 inches for the brake. Several connecting roads, ignorant of this order, have had to have their cars reloaded before they would be accepted.

SOMETHING NEW.
The Greely Pants Stretcher.
The best and simplest in use.
PRICE ONLY 25 CTS.

Munroe's Clothing House.
423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Woman's Column.

A Gettysburg Heroine.

Gen. Slocum, in the North American Review for February, 1891, gives the following interesting anecdote of Josephine Rogers, a brave Pennsylvania girl, on the battlefield of Gettysburg:

"Near the line occupied by the brigade under command of Gen. J. B. Carr, of Troy, N. Y., stands a little one-story house, which at the time of the battle was occupied by a Mrs. Rogers and her daughter. On the morning of July 2, Gen. Carr stopped at the house, and found the daughter, a girl about eighteen years of age alone, busily engaged in baking bread. He informed her that a great battle was inevitable, and advised her to seek a place of safety at once. She said she had a batch of bread baking in the oven, and she would remain until it was baked, and then leave. When her bread was baked, it was given to our soldiers, and was devoured so eagerly that she concluded to remain and bake another batch. And so she continued to the end of the battle, baking, and giving her bread to all who came. The great artillery duel which shook the earth for miles around did not drive her from her oven. Pickett's men, who charged past her house, found her quietly baking her bread and distributing it to the hungry. When the battle was over, the house was found to be riddled with shot and shell, and seventeen dead bodies were taken from the house and cellar; the bodies of wounded men who had crawled to the little dwelling for shelter.

Twenty years after the close of the war, Gen. Carr's men and others held a grand reunion at Gettysburg; and learning that Josephine Rogers was still living, but had married and taken up her residence in Ohio, they sent for her, paid her passage from her home to Gettysburg and back, and had her go to her old home and tell them the story which they all knew so well. They decorated her with a score of army badges, and sent her back a happy woman. Why did not the poet immortalize Josephine Rogers as he did Barbara Frietchie?

This charming anecdote is characteristic of the peculiar heroism of woman. Men risk their lives to coerce, to slay, to conquer. Women risk theirs to persuade, to save, to ameliorate. When women vote the nation will recognize its benefactors. If the soldier deserves a pension, how much more the mother who risked her life to give him birth and gave her best years to rear him to manhood! Who deserves a pension more than the soldier's mother?—H. B. B. in Woman's Journal.

An Important Personage.

Tom—You are extremely polite to that old fellow. Who is he, anyway? Jack—Sh! That's her father.

The New York Evening Post and sundry other Democratic papers of that description do not like ex-Minister Phelps's paper on the Alaskan controversy. That is not surprising. Mr. Phelps addressed himself in his acticle to Americans.

A young woman at Hammonton, N. J., was married last week to a man from California whom she had never seen till the day of the wedding. The courtship, based on an advertisement, was carried on by letter.

At Danbury, Conn., is 1880, 6,000,000 hats were made.

COL. JONES IN LUCK.

He Captures a Genuine Porpoise Snake, Such as Few Others Have Seen.

Col. J. B. Jones was fishing on the banks of Redfoot creek, Tennessee, having left his boat to escape the hot sun, and had hardly thrown his line out into the water when he saw a dark object rapidly approaching the surface. At first the genial colonel thought it an alligator of unusual size, but on closer observation discovered it to be an enormous creeping serpent. When this huge monster was within a few yards of him Col. Jones gathered some stones about the size of goose eggs and struck it several times in succession, and, strange to say, the blows did not appear to worry his snakeship to any great degree, as it never once left the surface of the water, but continued unconcerned at a slow pace up stream.

Col. Jones immediately seized his rod and line and scampered hastily to his boat. It was only a question of a few minutes before he was in midwater and in hot pursuit of the object, which was soon overtaken. When within close proximity he noticed the huge reptile seemed to be blind and appar

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 5d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Board of Trade was held on an evening early this week at which several new members were present and participated in the discussion of matters of importance to the city's welfare.

There is a marked revival in the interest taken by the public in the prosperity of the Board and it does not manifest itself in language alone. Within a week a committee, of which Secretary F. H. Lewis is the head, have succeeded in securing nearly 50 new members, and that too without extra efforts. Those whose names appear on the new list are chiefly prominent business men and leaders in community, so that the quality as well the quantity of the additions is something which carries with it an assurance of permanent success and great benefit to the business of the city.

The Board is now settled on a solid foundation. It has survived the "sweating period" and its permanence is a perfectly sure thing. At no time since the beginning of the third year of its existence have its prospects for growth and utility been so flattering as they are now, because at no time this side of that date has interest in its success been so lively or shared by so many men of high business standing and character as now.

There were times when the Board appeared to be in a comatose state and about ready to breathe its last. It was a hard struggle for existence. Nearly all of the old friends seemed to have deserted the now lonesome rooms. But Buchanan, and Skinner, and Hammond, and its efficient Secretary Lewis —they still clung to it and stood by it and kept pegging away, and the reward of their faithfulness has appeared.

For the Board is a live, wideawake, vigorous body of men to-day, with a capacity for doing more and better work than its hands have turned off at any time during the half dozen or more years of its life.

The annual meeting for the election of officers will be held on the evening of the third Tuesday of April. At that date also the grand banquet will be served. Great preparations are underway for this occasion, and if no obstacles are thrown in the way of the very efficient committee who have the business in charge, the annual meeting, banquet, reunion and entertainment for 1891 will surpass in elaborateness any of its brilliant predecessors.

The rumor is quite general that Mr. Alexander Grant is to be chosen next President of the Board. We do not believe the choice could fall on a better man for the place. His business and social standing will redound to the honor of the Board, and in the JOURNAL'S opinion the nominating committee have done admirably in resolving to recommend Mr. Grant for Presidency of the Board, as we understand their purpose to be. Of course Mr. F. H. Lewis will be retained to fill the office of Secretary next year and as long thereafter as he may consent to serve.

The next meeting of the Board, notice of which will be given by the Secretary, will be an important one. It should be attended by all the merchants in the city for the purpose is to arrange, if possible, for a general mercantile "opening" some time in April in order to attract outside people and induce them to become patrons of the business houses of our city. Such an "opening" would be a grand good advertisement for our live and thrifty place, therefore our traders, etc., ought to attend the next meeting of the Board and make a success of this new move.

☞ To-morrow, April 4, Mr. Ed. A. Perry, a well known newspaper man and literature of Boston who served on the Herald, with great acceptance to the public and credit to himself, 10 years as dramatic critic, 2 years as Sporting Editor, and 3 years as London (Eng.) correspondent, will launch from No. 611 Washington street, Boston, THE REFEREE, a firstclass weekly paper to be devoted to sports of all kinds and the stage, which will include reports of the turf, baseball, yachting, rowing, canoeing, cycling, football, polo, cricket, tennis, billiards, bowling, the kennel, the shooting range, and everything else in the line of sports and athletics, besides all the latest and best things that transpire on the dramatic and lyric stage. The paper will be published by the Referee Publishing Co., 611 Washington street, Boston, at $2.50 a year. And here's success to it.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Cahill—Vase.
Horton—Wall Paper.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Doods Ad. Ag.—Pray.
L. F. Hurd—Clothing.
Judge Adams—Citation.
P. L. Converse—Citation.
Clan MacKennon—Concert.
Mrs. L. A. Berry—For Sale.
Woburn Fur. Co.—Furniture.
N. W. Ayer & Son—Consumption.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Do not miss hearing "Anvil Chorus."

— Don't fail to read "For Sale" in this paper. Big Bargain.

— Druggist Kelley is fixing up his store in fine shape.

— Ashley Hall school is closed for its Easter vacation.

— A requisition was made on the water cart last Tuesday.

— March came in like a lion and went out in the some way.

— It is thought that other tanners will soon locate in this city.

— Mr. Hayden is building a stable on his Warren street estate.

— Mr. Curtis Greenwood, who has been sick for some time, is now able to be out.

— GRAND OPERA. Charles R. Adams will assist at Miss Mabel Davis's benefit.

— There was no horse-racing on the Lexington course on Fast Day, as at one time announced.

— Post 161 Fair was a rouser. Nothing better or more profitable has been held in this city.

— The Board of Trade is reviving, and already nearly forty new members have been admitted.—X.

— George W. Nichols, the watchmaker, has taken one of the offices in the new Mechanics Building.

— Editor O'Neil of the City Press is suffering from an attack of "la grippe" or else it is a terrible severe cold.

— Master Black gave selections on the banjo and guitar at a concert in Concert Hall last Tuesday evening.

— The selectmen of Stoneham are at logger-heads over the appointment of a Superintendent of the Streets.

— Gen. Sec. Bailey will please accept thanks for favors in connection with the Y. M. C. A. entertainment.

— Gage & Co. have just opened a large stock of very fine suitings for gentlemen's wear. All of the latest styles.

— Munroe's Easter window was a beauty. Elegant flowers and plants, ferns, palms, etc., set it out in fine shape.

— Dr. Alice G. Bryant, having accepted a position in the New England Hospital for Women and Children, will be absent from Woburn for several months.

— "They say" that Mr. Alex. Grant is sure to be the next President of the Board of Trade. He will make a good one.

— The Equal Suffrage League will hold its next regular meeting, Monday evening, April 6, at 7.30 in the Y. M. C. A. parlor.

— Sale of seats for "Il Trovatore" will commence at 7.30 to-morrow, Saturday, evening at J. W. Hammond & Son's store.

— Music lovers should not lose the opportunity of hearing Mr. Charles R. Adams who stands at the head of operatic singing.

— From the number of common victualler's licenses granted here one would suppose meals would be cheap the coming season.

— Miss Ina V. Austin and Miss Amanda Sevrens, both teachers in the public schools of this city are on a visit to Washington.

— The case Lovell vs. Flanders, on trial at Lowell this week, was compromised on Wednesday to the plaintiff's great advantage.

— Don't forget that "Shaughraun" is to be repeated this evening at Lyceum Hall. Go early and secure seats for there will be a big house.

— Supt. Sewell will begin running No. Woburn street cars regularly to Medford on next Monday, April 6. Winchester folks will rejoice.

— Wedgemere Club will give a minstrel entertainment at Town Hall, Winchester, on Fast Day night. The talk is that it is to be a fine affair.

— Librarian Cutter has received the diplomas awarded by the Paris Exposition to the Woburn Public Library, and expects the silver medal any day.

— The Cummings Associates have arranged for a fine ball in the John Cummings Hall on the evening of April 10. Everything will be in applepie shape.

— Singer & Brown, the contractors, have completed the Boutelle factory on Eastern Avenue and the Highland School and both are ready for occupancy.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe exhibits one of the best assortments of spring hats ever opened in this city. In it may be found every style in vogue and prices to suit customers.

— Mr. Ralston who has been visiting his wife and children this week at Mr. James Walker's on Church Ave. left for his home in Canada last Wednesday noon.

— Auctioneer Gregory had a successful sale last Saturday of the personal property of Mrs. Cummings, at her residence on Main street, at the corner of Richardson street.

— Mrs. Fogg, the fashionable milliner in Dodge's block, left here last Wednesday evening for Kennebunkport, Maine, from whence she will return in a few days.

— Dr. Bowmen has bought quite a body of land in the edge of Burlington on which he proposes to build a hospitals for the sick. It is an enterprise of a good deal of magnitude.

— Supt. Jones of the Highway Department is keeping big gangs of men as buys as bees on the streets. Those who watch will see big improvements on our highways this season.

— All boys and girls desirous of selling tickets for the Fair in aid of the H. A. W. can obtain them at the store of J. W. Hammond & Son, Lyceum Building, on and after Friday, Apr. 10.

— Rev. George H. Young, formerly pastor of the Unitarian church in this city and for the last seven years pastor of the New South Church in Boston, has resigned the pastorate of that charge.

— The M. E. general conference in which is located this city will be held in Boston next Thursday, April 9. Rev. Hugh Montgomery will be appointed for the third time for the Woburn church.

— Mrs. J. H. Parker is in New York City looking up Spring styles for her many customers and making purchases of Spring costumes. She will be at home for business next Monday, April 6.

— Last Monday morning Henry Young dropped dead in the B. & M. station, Haymarket Square, Boston, of heart disease. He was thought to be about 50 years old, and said to have relatives in Woburn.

— There have been a large number of grip cases here in the last two months but they have been of a milder type than last year and no deaths have resulted from attacks of it. It has nearly all disappeared.

— Lawyers J. W. Johnson and Francis P. Curran, Doctors S. W. Kelley and J. M. Harlow, besides several other Woburn people were attend-Court at Lowell last Tuesday. The case was Lovell vs. Flanders.

— We knew it would turn out so: the New York doctors say the fatal effects of arsenical poison in wall paper, etc. is a "Boston fad"—all in your eye, as it were. The JOURNAL said it was all bosh, and bosh it is.

— The concert to be given under the auspices of Clan MacKinnon on the evening of April 15 is going to be one of the finest musical feasts ever enjoyed in this city. Tickets are selling rapidly for everyone wants to hear the fine music.

— If there is a person in this city who will not want to see the drill of the H. S. B. on April 9, it will be safe to set that man down as entirely destitute of the genuine military spirit. The boys will look for a crowd and ought to have one.

— About $3000 will be offered for sale by the Co-operative Bank at its meeting next week, the 9th instant. Already, so Secretary Whitcher informs the JOURNAL, 300 out of the 400 shares of the 9th series have been sold. The Bank is flourishing.

— Mr. A. L. Holdridge, the popular and successful stove and hardware dealer at 427 Main street, has the largest and best variety of oil stoves for summer cooking that can be found anywhere about here. He will sell them at very low prices.

— Mr. John S. Wheeler who recently came into possession of certain property on Scott street, has moved the stable across the street and is fitting it into a dwelling. On the site of the stable he has commenced the foundation for a new dwelling.

— It has become well known that until the trouble in the Phalanx has been settled no movement will be made towards building an Armory, as in certain events, the company might be disbanded and the city would be left with an unused Armory on its hands.

— The residence of Mr. Edward B. Simonds, 40 Beacon street, was burglarized last Sunday and the theives got away with a fine gold watch and chain and $175 in cash. Entrance was made through a window. There are many theives in the city—look out for them.

— Hon John Cummings of this city, President of the Shawmut National Bank, Boston, was one of the pallbearers at the funeral of the late Silas Potter which took place in the Boston Highlands last Sunday. It was largely attended by prominent people of Boston and vicinity.

— Mr. James H. Carton and his son are visiting friends at Swansea, New Hampshire, where they lived years ago, and where the latter was born. On account of the change in the Loring & Avery business, Mr. Carton is having an enforced vacation after many of steady work.

— The following have been licensed as common victuallers: John B. Dever, Bernard McHugh, John J. Beatty, John H. Garvey, Thomas G. Merriam, William G. Mooney, Richard Reynolds, John C. Meehan, James Meehan & Hugh McGuire, and Samuel G. Thompson, Innholders license.

— Pat Lynch is something of a sprinter but Chief McIntosh can discount him 100 points, tie both hands behind him, and beat him at a New Hampshire trot just as easy as rolling off a log. Patrick found it so last Friday when he quit the lockup without leave and made a break for liberty.

— The following are the officers of the newly organized Lodge of "The Mystic Seven" in this city: President, Austin A. Fish; Secretary, John M. Wallace; Treasurer, Lawrence Reade; Trustees, David Ronco, Wm. H. McManus, Edward H. Callahan. It bids fair to meet with much prosperity.

— Read the card of L. F. Hurd in this paper. She has done the business advertised by her in this place for several years and so well and satisfactory does she do her work that the patronage of her establishment increases each year. Every job is finished off in the finest style and at very reasonable prices.

— McGregor and his assistant florists at Dow's green houses had their hands full of business for a few days before and on Easter Sunday filling orders for Easter church decorations. On Saturday we saw there a magnificent collection of calla and other lilies, roses in bloom and bud, pinks, English violets, ferns of every imaginable leaf and fold, and scores of other beautiful flowers and plants. Indeed, they were busy!

— A neatly printed pamphlet was the one which fell into our hands a day or two since entitled "Desirable Young Men: A Talk given by the Principal of the Michigan Female Seminary [at Kalamazoo] to the students, Feb. 21, 1891." The Principal was Miss Isabella G. French, a former pupil in the Woburn public schools whose family still reside here, one of the brightest and best educated among the bright and cultivated young ladies of this old burgh.

— The drama given at Lyceum Hall last evening under the auspices of the Celtic Association drew an overflowing house. The tickets were in such demand that the sales had to be closed several days before the event took place and when the night came for the play to be acted every available inch of "standing room" had been appropriated. The well known "Shaughran" was the piece, and it was never more satisfactorily performed by an amateur company.

— Great interest is manifested in the approaching Fair in aid of the Home for Aged Women, and efficient committees are actively at work. One of the attractions will be a Cafe, where food will be served at all hours. The committee in charge of this department are a sufficient guarantee for the quality of the refreshments. Each of the different churches will be represented in tables of useful and fancy articles, and many and varied attractions will be presented, among which will be good music. Provision will also be made for the entertainment of the children on Thursday afternoon.

— Rev. Dr. March will give an interesting lecture on "Temples" etc. of India at the vestry of the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, which will be illustrated by 60 stereopticon pictures.

— The instruction given to the Sunday School Teacher's Class by Rev. Mr. Murphy of the North Congregational Church last Saturday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. parlor was most helpful to those who were fortunate enough to hear it. The Sunday School lessons for the Quarter were reviewed and many practical thoughts were brought out. Mr. Murphy proved himself to be an apt teacher and thorough Bible student. Come and fill the rooms next Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock.

— Nothing has yet been done towards a settlement of the affairs of the Middlesex Invesiment Company, as Mr. Tripp, who will act as assignee, has not received his papers from the Court. A question has arisen as to what constitutes the expenses to be paid from the funds of the Company. It is thought if the expense of lawyers on both sides, and that for travel comes out of it, there will be a small dividend indeed left for the three hundred or more certificate holders. Probably an appeal will be made to Judge Clarke.

— In another column of this paper we give an article from the St. Augustine (Fla.) News, entitled "A New Motor" which is well worth reading and pondering over. We are indebted to Mr. J. W. Hammond, by hand of Mr. Winthrop Hammond, for a copy of the paper and a note suggesting its publication in the JOURNAL. From a perusal of the article it looks as though the "new motor" is a great invention, and it is quite clear from what he writes that Mr. Hammond considers it a matter worthy of a careful investigation.

— There will be held a Republican meeting in Concert Hall to-morrow, Saturday, evening which ought to be fully attended. Matters of great importance to the party will be canvassed and the advice and counsel of all good and true Republicans is earnestly desired. The meeting and its objects are heartily endorsed by Hon. E. D. Hayden, Hon. E. F. Wyer, Col. W. T. Grammer, Judge E. F. Johnson, Ex-Councilman Grant, Sec'y Fred Brown, E. E. Thompson, Esq., and indeed by all the leading Republicans in the city, all of whom will be present and address the meeting.

— And now comes our old friend, Mr. Harrison Bates of Winchester, and makes his annual call and lays his annual offering on the altar of journalistic worth. He is a Maine boy, a member of the Pine Tree Club, and takes great interest in his native State although a resident of many years here. He entered the employ of the piano case manufactory at Winchester in 1850 and remained until 1861; returned in 1865 and remained until 1890 —an aggregate period of 36 years, which is a record of employment with one concern hard to beat. Although getting along in life Mr. Bates is in the enjoyment of very good health this spring.

— The Woburn Furniture Company is a new business enterprise which will open its doors in this city on next Thursday morning, April 9, as the public may learn by reference to the business columns of this week's JOURNAL. A couple of enterprising young gentlemen from Boston who thoroughly understand the furniture trade have bought the Thomas Morris establishment at 418 Main street and propose to carry it on in genuine metropolitan style and for the benefit of this community as well as themselves. They bring good credentials along with them for ability and integrity and our notion is that their coming here will be a good thing for the city. Please read carefully the Company's announcement to the public.

— The big contract of excavating rock at Lowell by Mr. Jacob M. Ellis for the Boston & Maine Railroad Company is nearly completed. Work has been going on ever since last fall and during all that time some 75 men, a full complement of horses, five immense derricks, steam drills, engines, and other machinery, and tons of dynamite, have been employed in blasting, removing and disposing of the rock and earth, and the whole tract on which the work has been done has undergone a wonderful transformation in appearances. It was a heavy contract and the job has been thoroughly done. Mr. Ellis has in the last few years done a great deal of work for the Railroad Company and there is probably a good deal more to follow.

— The name of PRAY has long been identified with the carpet trade in Boston and for many years it has been the leading house in New England and second to no other in the country. Not only have the Prays long led as to volume of business, variety and quality of goods and reasonable prices for the same, but the name stands for honest deal with customers and strict integrity all along the line. There is an advertisement in this paper of the mammoth carpet establishment of John H. Pray, Sons & Co., No 560 Washington St., Boston to which we call particular attention especially as the date for the vernal housecleaning, revamping of the family domicile, and buying new carpets is close at hand. Read the announcement carefully.

— Last Friday Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott paid an official visit to the domicile of Michael Lynch, 314 Montvale Ave.; Luke McGrath, 20 Centre St.; Mary Lain, 7 Cummings St.; and seized liquors at each of them. Kitchen bars are as thick in this city as flies in August, but there will be less of them before there are more if Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott's efforts to put them down go for anything. It is not an easy matter to secure evidence of illegal sale of liquors in these kitchen barrooms and officers are compelled to "play it fine" to catch the violators of the law; but the Chief and his Lieutenant keep pulling them in and pulling them in and it seems as though bye and bye the proprietors must get sick and tired of the nefarious business.

— The assembly given by Miss Ruggles to her dancing class one evening last week was a high-toned and very happy affair. The lady is a prime teacher as is shown in the proficiency of her pupils, who were present in force at the assembly and enjoyed it very much. The Matrons were: Mrs. E. Gerry Barker and Mrs. James Skinner, and the ushers and aids: Messrs. George G. Barker, J. Lampton Skinner, Walter L. Dodge, Eliot F. Trull and Oliver W. Wade. Among the assemblage of bright, gay and beautifully dressed young people were George R. Ferguson, Mabel Ferguson, Fanny Ruggles, Alice Ruggles, Mabel Ruggles, Edie Davis, Mabel Skinner, Clara Ryder, Gertie Bickford, Edie Ramsdell, Sibyl Shaw, Carrie Crane, Edith Bolston, Ada Richards, Flossie York, and Miss Cummings; Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Trull and Messrs. Walter Ruggles, Edward Brackett, Charles Lund, George Taylor, Frank Sawyer, James Ordway, George Barker, Oliver Wade, Frea Hovey, Harry Dane, Clarence Littlefield, Warren Menchin, Leon Brackett, John C. Andrews, John Buck, James I. Hanson, and J. B. Bancroft.

— The condition of the lumber business generally indicates about as accurately as anything else that of other employments in a place for it shows what the trades of the carpenters and builders are doing, while on these, in turn, depends the prosperity of other mechanical and mercantile pursuits. If this is a correct view of the case then business in this city is not so dull as it might be. Mr. Clarence Littlefield, Superintendent of the Woburn Lumber Company, of which Mr. Barker is the head, informed a JOURNAL reporter last Saturday that sales of all kinds of lumber had already this early in the spring opened up in an incouraging manner; that orders were coming in briskly every day, and the demand was constantly increasing. The Woburn Lumber Co. are a large concern. They keep constantly on hand big stocks of all kinds of lumber with which they supply not only the Woburn demand but that of Winchester, Burlington, Wilmington and considerable share of Stoneham, and from each of these localities Supt. Littlefield says orders are coming in, although as yet the major part of the heaviest ones are from home parties. This leads Supt. Littlefield to conclude that business is picking up and that the prospects for a good deal of building this season are bright.

— The Y. M. C. A. entertainment at their hall in Bank block on Pleasant street on last Monday evening, which had been well advertised by the JOURNAL, was a thoroughly enjoyable occasion to all present. There was a large audience of people interested in the work of the Association besides not a few who went for the entertainment alone and among them all not a dissatisfied murmur was heard. The chief feature of the affair was the "Platter Drill," a neat and unique performance by the following young ladies of the Physical Class of the High School under command of Capt. H. N. Conn, namely: Louise Richardson, Florence Nichols, Mabel Newton, Minnie Dow, Florence Hartwell, Alice Huse, Beatrice Grant, Ella Kennedy, Winnie Russell, Bertha W. Tidd, Mabel E. Owen, Marion E. Conn. The drill was perfectly performed and gave the spectators much pleasure. Mrs. Charles M. Strout gave some fine piano solos as did also Miss Willard. Both ladies are trained instrumentalists and their excellent playing was listened to with delight. Mr. John Brauer on his clarinet; N. Godder on the violin; and Miss Angie M. Tripp on the banjo; contributed not a little to the pleasures of the evening. Mr. A. T. Curtis, the Reader, gave several pieces which met with generous applause. It was a good time.

This May Mean You.

Are you up with the times and do you get the best the market affords for the money you pay out? How is it out in the kitchen? Have you the modern improvements there? If you have, then this is not written for you, because you are buying and using Brussels soap. If otherwise, be wise, and when next you order soap, try Brussels and you will gain a point over hard work. It's economical.

Y. M. C. A.

Boys meeting next Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon at 3.30 Prayer service for men.

Don't forget the Bible Class on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Rev. O. J. Murphy will speak on "How to be a man" next Sunday.

Sixty men were present to hear Rev. J. H. McElwain and were well pleased. "If you will get such men to speak you can fill this hall" was the remark of a man who seldom comes.

Tuesday afternoon the regular meeting of the Auxiliary was held at Concert Hall as the parlor was too small. The occasion which drew so many was an address by Mr. O. H. Durrell, President of the Cambridge Auxiliary. A vote of thanks was tendered to the young ladies who took part in the public drill. Nine members were voted in, making a membership of 130.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use.

Silver Wedding.

Captain Charles K. Conn rejoices in as many friends and as staunch ones as any man in Woburn or out of it. He is popular with everybody and has a "chalked hat" for the best society that there is going. Everyone likes him because he is square, honest, jolly and a right down good fellow.

Capt. Conn got his title while serving his country in Co. K, 39th Mass. Regt. in the great Rebellion. He was a brave, willing soldier, and carries quite a quantity of Southern lead in his body now to prove his loyalty and courage. He was severely wounded and reported dead; but he came out all right, only badly pierced.

As Chief of Police he was efficient and prompt and nobody spoke ill of him except perhaps those whose liberties were temporarily abridged by him. He gave great satisfaction as a public officer.

For some years Capt. Conn has been local reporter for the Boston Globe and as such has made himself solid with all classes of people who read. In fact, he has always been popular in all situations.

Capt. Conn got married to the young lady of his heart just 25 years ago last Monday, but he wasn't going to let on about it and didn't. But a few of his hosts of good, warm friends and the good warm friends of Madam Conn got wind of it, and the result was one of the pleasantest little parties that has taken place in Woburn for many a long year. It was a delightful affair and a jolly crowd of newspaper men and others made the most of it.

But we will let one of the bright and talented Editors of the Globe finish the story:

Charles K. Conn of the Boston Globe and wife celebrated the 25th. anniversary of their marriage last evening. That is, a few of their friends celebrated it for them. Mr. Conn is naturally a modest man. He didn't tell his friends that his 25th anniversary was approaching. Nevertheless, a few of them became aware of the fact and called on him last Monday evening. They left behind them as as a souvenir of the occasion a costly piano lamp. As Mr. Elmore A. Pierce of the Associated Press, who presented the gift, expressed it, "The house would have been filled with presents had Mr. Conn's friends knew of the anniversary." Mr. and Mrs. Bullard and Master Bullard presented some beautiful silverware and elegant dishes with appropriate remarks.

"Charlie" responded in his usually modest way, and Mrs. Conn directed the company to the dining room, where her generous hospitality manifested itself. Post 33, G. A. R., Company K, 39th Regimen, Massachusetts Volunteers, the Mutual Benefit Association Odd Fellows the Woburn Police and Mr. Conn's associates among the Woburn reportorial corps were represented. Among those present were the following: Elmore A. Pierce, George S. Hudson, Messrs. Wetherell, Cutler and Wallace, Charles S. O'Neill, C. Vey Holman, Henry L. Andrews, Marcellus Littlefield, Thomas Mulkeen, Sumner Y. Pierce, Charles R. Brown, John G. Maguire, Edward J. Gregory, Gilman F. Joyes, John I. Munroe, Alexander Grant, Francis P. Curran, Albert P. Barrett, Andrew R. Linscott, William R. McIntosh, John F. Larkin, William T. Kendall, William P. Warren, James H. Carton, William H. Matthews, W. F. Kenney.

Bishop Vincent's Reception.

That was a characteristic gathering in the spacious and beautiful parlors of the Boston Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday evening. A good number of Woburn Chautauquans and friends were in attendance.

The heartiness of the C. L. S. C. salute, as the beloved Chancellor—that used to be—made his appearance, brought back memories of Chautauqua and Lakeview.

Words of cheer and progress were reported from all sections, and the Classes formed this year outnumber by thousands, those of the past.

Bishop Vincent's lecture, under the auspices of "The American Institute of Biblical Literature," followed the reception. The depth of thought, clothed in beauty of expression, convinced the audience anew of that which has been so often claimed for him by those who know most about his work, namely, "Bishop Vincent is one of the greatest of living men."

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, March 28, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mr. John Currie, Miss Katie Corley, Box 944, Mrs. W. J. Goodwin, Mr. John Hayes, Mr. Albert E. Long, Mrs. Kate Murphy, 34 Hancock St.

Bridget: "I am going to lave yez, mum." Mistress: "What for?" Bridget: "Because the washin' is too hard to do, mum, widout yez buy me some Brussels soap to do it wid, mum."

It is said that Ohio's grape crop is worth per acre three times that of California.

A Maryland woman has recovered $3500 for being carried too far by a railway train.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

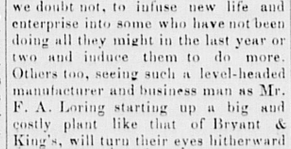
First-class Hangers furnished.

The Employers' Liability ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.



Look for Yellow Building!

WOBURN

FURNITURE CO.

(SUCCESSOR TO T. MORRIS)

Will Open Tuesday Morning, April 9th,

With a full and complete line of Furniture and House Furnishing Goods. Cash or easy terms.

To the Citizens of Woburn and vicinity: We take pleasure in announcing that we have purchased the Stock and Good Will of the Furniture Establishment of Thomas Morris, 418 Main St., Woburn, and we propose to keep a full and complete line of First-class Furniture and House Furnishings. We intend to do a fair and honest, straightforward business, and by so doing we hope to gain your confidence and a share of your patronage. We would be pleased to have you call and inspect our stock as it will be no trouble to show goods whether you buy or not. We guarantee a saving of 25 per cent on Boston prices.

The stock of Thomas Morris will be sold fifty cents on a dollar to make room for our new Spring Stock.

Mr. Charles L. Smith will remain in charge of our Upholstery Department, where strict and careful attention will be paid to making and repairing all kinds of furniture.

Woburn Furniture Co., 418 Main St.

GEO. H. SAMUELS. CHAS. G. HIGGINS.

More Industries for Woburn.

Great satisfaction is expressed in Woburn this at the announcement that F. A. Loring of the firm of Loring & Avery, the leather manufacturers, who have for many years done business in Winchester, has purchased the Bryant & King factory in Woburn, and will manufacture buff leather there. The firm of Loring & Avery dissolved on Jan. 1, and for a number of weeks past Mr. Loring has been doing business in the Maxwell tannery and currying shoe at North Winchester. Loring & Avery were the largest manufacturers of buff leather in this section, if not in the world, and the new firm of F. A. Loring & Co. will also do a large business. The Maxwell factory will also be kept running. The Bryant & King plant is one of the largest in Woburn and there is a large amount of land which will allow of increase of facilities if desired. There are other sources of gratification to Woburn in the facts that Theodore Boutelle has just established his leather business in a new factory on Eastern Avenue. C. B. Bryant, formerly of Bryant & King, will soon begin manufacturing in the Pollard factory, which he has thoroughly refitted, and Patrick McGowan will build an addition to his factory on Conn street.—Boston Record, Mar. 27.

This transaction will not only add considerably to the volume of leather making here and give an increase of men engaged in it but its effect will be, we doubt not, to infuse new life and enterprise into some who have not been doing all they might in the last year or two and induce them to do more. Others too, seeing such a level-headed manufacturer and business man as Mr. F. A. Loring starting up a big and costly plant like that of Bryant & King's, will turn their eyes hitherward and it will be strange if the number of tanneries and currying shops and the total output of leather do not greatly increase in the near future. Woburn is a great leather manufacturing centre and in strict conformity to a law of nature it must of necessity grow. Woburn stands at the front now, but not so far in front as she bids fair to in the course of a few more years.

Mr. C. B. Bryant at the Pollard factory cannot but do a large and profitable business, for no one understands the trade better than he does and no one enjoys a more flattering share of public confidence and respect, as a business man and citizen.

In good time the Dow tannery will resume operations, and other plants are being enlarged, so that on the whole the outlook for Woburn's future as a leather-making centre is fair and bright.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Board held their regular meeting on Thursday evening, March 26, with a full complement of members present and President Waldron in the Chair.

A communication was received from Thomas Granville, Lake Avenue, complaining of the water running into his cellar. This was referred to Highway Committee.——The monthly report of the City Auditor was received and placed on file.——The Council then proceeded to the election of City Solicitor. Ten ballots were taken before an election was secured. John Warren Johnson was declared in non-concurrence.——The next thing in order was the election of Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department. The members of the Council proceeded to ballot with the following result: Frank E. Tracy 6, Charles W. Ames 4, Blank 1. Mr. Tracy was declared elected in non-concurrence.

This closing the business of the meeting, on motion of Councilman Larkin, the Council adjourned.

A policeman at Shenandoah, Pa., has been obliged to resign because he could not sign for his salary.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN.—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: Advancing the Kingdom of God.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m. Baptism of children and adults followed by Holy Communion. At 6 p. m. Epworth League prayer meeting; at 7 p. m. Revival services conducted by the Pastor. Regular prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Class meetings Friday evening.

CONGREGATIONAL.—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Asking and Receiving." Young people's meeting at 6 p. m. Missionary Lecture in the church at 7 p. m. Subject: "Temples and Tombs, Rivers and People in India." Sixty Stereopticon Illustrations, Lantern operated by Mr. Sidney Herbert of Boston. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In Reading, March 29, instant, Mr. Edwin P. Nichols, aged 68 years, 5 months.

The deceased passed away very suddenly and without any warning illness. He was an uncle of Mr. Frederic A. Flint, senior member of the firm of G. R. Gage & Co. of this city.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck, or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, have yielded to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system.

The Worst Type.

"My son was afflicted with the worst type of scrofula, and on the recommendation of my Druggist I gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla. Today he is sound and well, notwithstanding it was said there was not enough medicine in Illinois to effect a cure." J. CHRISTIAN, Illiopolis, Ill.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

N. B. Be sure to get only

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

LOOK

— AT OUR —

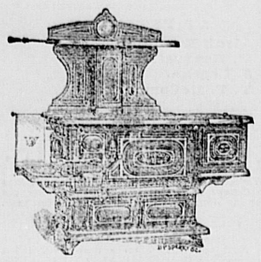
LLMA CLOTH,

A new fabric, 30 inches wide and only 10 cents a yard.

Also at our large assortment of FLOWER SEEDS, at 3 cents a paper now on hand.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Dog Fight.

It was a novel case which Judge Converse had to deal with last Monday forenoon.

Mr. John I. Munroe appeared in Court in response to a summons upon complaint of the Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and charging him with cruelty to a New Foundland dog, the property of Albert M. Colby, of 219 Montvale Avenue.

The trouble between the dogs of these gentlemen took place near Mr. Colby's house, Friday afternoon, March 20.

Mr Lanham of Boston, represented the government, and M. T. Allen looked after Mr. Munroe's interests.

The first witness was Fred, the thirteen year old son of Mr. Colby.

Knew Munroe. Father owns a New Foundland dog, and on Friday, March 20, Mr. Munroe was driving along in front of the house and had his setter dog. The New Foundland grabbed the other one, and there was a fight. Munroe hit them with a whip but could not get the dogs apart. Finally our dog laid down, and then Munroe's attacked him and got him by the leg. They fought again and ours got the best of the other. My dog started the fight. Munroe took out a pocket knife and stabbed my dog in the side, so that the entrails came out.

Our dog let go of the other, but not directly.

Mr. Munroe then got into his team and drove off, his dog following. Mr. Munroe did not try to separate them—he did not touch his dog except to whip him.

Dog was killed in the night. Our dog was not a fighting one.

In cross-examination by Mr. Allen, the witness said the affair lasted ten or fifteen minutes. Munroe told me to hold my dog. I tried to separate them, but Munroe did not make any effort except to whip them. The dog had no collar on.

Miss Annie Colby, who said she would be ten in August, was the next witness.

Annie is a bright child, with light golden hair, and curls hanging down her back. These, together with a bang of the same color, and bright, black eyes, made a pretty picture as she faced the audience.

Annie saw the trouble between the dogs. She said "My dog ran out and commenced to fight. They fought ten or fifteen minutes. Mr. Munroe whipped the dogs, and ours let go and laid down. Didn't see Mr. Munroe take hold of the dogs.

Mr. Daniel A. Prentiss said his attention was called to the scene when fight half over. Fought seven or eight seconds. Mr. Munroe whipped his own dog. Munroe's dog had been bitten, but blood did not show on account of his hair being red.

Albert M. Colby testified to ownership and to the fact that he had the dog killed about 10 30 p. m., the same day.

Agent Hathaway, of the society with the long name, testified to conversation with Mr. Munroe.

Officer Kean testified that he killed the dog, but did not examine the wound.

This closed the government's case, and Mr. Allen called John I. Munroe.

Mr. Munroe testified: He was on his way to Montvale and had his Gordan setter along. When he reached Mr. Colby's house and had got a few rods past it, Colby's dog rushed out and grabbed his dog.

The latter was on the left hand side of my carriage and on the opposite side of the street from the house. My dog fell when the other came up with him.

I saw young Colby and told him to take off his dog.

Colby's mother, who was at the house, told her son to return but the boy refused.

I used my whip and the boy did until my horse was scared and I led him along the road away from the excitement.

The dogs held on and then I used the loaded end of the whip, but with no better results.

I told the boy to get hold of his dog and I took hold of mine, and we pulled, but the boy was so small I could pull them all along.

When I found Colby's dog would not let go, and as he held him by the throat, I could not see my dog butchered, and as a last resort I pulled out my pocket knife and struck, as I thought, at a vital point.

The dog still clung to mine until he grew weak, when he relaxed the hold, and then my dog made for the wounded brute, and grabbed him by one leg.

I broke this hold by whipping him, got into my carriage and drove off, and soon after I got home, I had my dog killed on account of the punishment he had received.

Witness said he could not understand how the Colby children could testify as they had that he had not taken hold of his dog.

I thought the Colby dog would have died within a few minutes, so I went no further—in fact I thought I had not legal right to do so.

The occasion was one of excitement, and I would not go through with such a thing again for any money. I never worked so in my life.

Counsel then made arguments, and left it in the hands of the Court, when Justice Converse discharged the respondent.—X.

We suggest to our esteemed contemporaries that they throw less journalistic mud and use more Brussels soap.—Ex.

FIRE BRANDS!

Our New York Fire Sale is a success, and we shall continue to offer

Great Bargains.

1000 yds. all-wool White Flannel, 15 cents a yd., well worth 25 cents.

2500 yds. White Plaid Nainsooks, only 8 cents a yard.

2000 yds. Prints, Best Quality 4 cents a yard.

2300 yds Best Unbleached Cotton, 6¼ cents a yard.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

Easter Sunday.

This religious holiday was observed with more elaborateness and honors last Sunday than has heretofore generally been the case, although for years it has been the practice of the Woburn churches to take due notice of the joyous season and pay a good deal of attention to it. Generally speaking Easter Sunday is regarded as of much importance as Christmas, and some denominations celebrate the day of the Resurrection with more pious zeal than they do the anniversary of the birth of the Savior.

Music and flowers held sway at all our churches last Sunday. Their auditoriums were never before so gaily bedecked with roses, lilies, palms, ferns, etc., and never presented more pleasing sights to the eye. The atmosphere was laden with their sweets.

At the Unitarian church there was hardly standing room left so numerous were the visitors at the 4 o'clock meeting of observance of the occasion. Nothing had been spared in the way of furnishing flowers, and the singing was supurb. Mrs. R. J. W. Phinney and Mr. Robert Whitten, the well known and popular Winchester baritone, were the soloists and they were charming.

Prof. Clarke, the famous organist at the First Congregational church, set before the public a rich musical feast both at the morning service and the SS. concert in the evening. The church was filled with rarest flowers and presented a beautiful appearance.

At the M. E. church the theme that Rev. Hugh Montgomery preached on was the "Resurrection," and an Easter air prevailed over the beautiful new church.

At No. Woburn there was a SS. concert with flowers and songs and other appropriate things.

St. Charles church had a very elaborate programme which was carried out to perfection. These were some of the pieces sung:

ST. CHARLES.

Organ prelude,	Mendelssohn
Kyrie and gloria,	Generali
Veni Creator,	Handl
Credo,	Generali
Offertory, Terra Tremuit,	Generali
Sanctus,	Generali
Agnus Dei,	Generali
Organ postlude, Marche Triomphale,	Gounod

CONGREGATIONAL.

Organ voluntary.
Song, Hallelujah, Jesus lives.
Solo, Easter eve,	Mrs. E. C. Luce.
Song, The happy morn has come.
Song, Springtide birds.
Song, Once more upon mortals.
Song, Awake thou wintry earth.
Song, Into the joyland.
Solo, At happy Easter time.	Miss Bessie Luce.

BAPTIST.

Organ voluntary,	Whiting
Easter, anthem, Christ, the Lord is risen,	Shelly
Solo and chorus, Shout, ye high heavens,	Daw
Song, Easter day.	Mrs. Partridge.
Anthem, He is risen,	Clare
Easter triumph anthem, Behold, I tell you a mystery,	Holden
Organ postlude.

UNITARIAN.

Professional march and hymn.	Organ, choir and school.
Bird Carol.	School.
Carol, The world itself keeps Easter day,	School.
Carol, Christ, the Lord, has risen.
Carol, 'Twas a bluebird told the story.
Solo,	Mr. Robert Whitten.
Duet,	Mrs. Phinney and Mr. Whitten.

Mrs. E. C. Luce was the musical attraction at the Congregational church. At the SS. the exercises were of a very pleasing character.

Nobody ought to complain at the way Easter was observed by the churches in this city.

The future health of a child can be influenced in a marked degree by its nutrition during childhood. The choice of a food is, therefore, of the highest importance. A physician writes: "I prescribe and recommend Nestlé's Food in preference to any other, and have done so for several years with entire satisfaction."

North Woburn.

The school is closed for a week's vacation and the children are making the best of it. The marbles and the bat and ball have been taken from their winter resting places and are doing their duty.

Mr. Arthur Linscott started on last Saturday for Arkansas, and after staying there for a few weeks he will go to Colorado. He is on a business trip for J. B. Lewis & Co. a large boot and shoe firm of Boston.

The Unitarian Society held their regular monthly sociable in the chapel on last Wednesday evening. It being the last sociable to be held this season, every effort was made to make it a success, and it was.

The Easter Concert given in the Congregational Church was well attended and went off very satisfactorily. The exercises were conducted by Mr. B. F. Kimball, Supt. of the Sunday School, and some very appropriate selections were rendered by the choir. The church was tastefully decorated with evergreens and potted plants and looked very pretty.

Miss Bessie Barker was given a very pleasant surprise at her home, by a large number of her friends on last Friday evening. Everything to promote the jollity and mirth of the occasion was indulged in and a bounteous and superior collation was served. While all were gathered around the festive board, Mr. Arthur W. Tidd in a few but well spoken words, presented Miss Barker in behalf of her friends and schoolmates an envelope containing a goodly sum of money. Then Mrs. Samuel Thompson presented another envelope and its contents to her as a taken of love and friendship from the scholars of the Sunday School in connection with the Congregational Church. During the evening Miss Barber rendered some very appropriate selections on the piano and assisted by the excellent voices of those present; the affair proved to be a musical success as well as social.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Fast Day Pickings.

Snow storm last night and big rain storm this morning.

The Aldermen have fixed the price of licenses at $1,800.

The weather on Fast Day was bright and balmy on the whole.

The new Highland School was formally accepted last Wednesday.

Postmaster Wyman captured another big feather for his cap by opening his office at 6 o'clock Fast Day evening.

The annual ball of the St. Charles C. T. A. S. at Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening was a gay affair and a great success.

Mayor Bean delivered an able Fast Day discourse at the Unitarian Church yesterday morning to a large and cultivated audience.

The annual meeting of Trinity Parish was adjourned to Monday evening, April 6, 1891, at 7.30 P. M., to hear reports on location of a new church.

Druggist Daniel Kelley will take personal charge of his Malden store and leave the management of the Woburn store in the hands of a competent pharmacist.

Commander Frank Graves of Post 161 has swelled the list of its Honorary Members by the addition of a large number of names of prominent Woburn gentlemen.

Post 161, G. A. R., will have supper, speeches, songs and smoke talks at their hall next Monday evening in commemoration of the organization of the first Post in the Union.

The Woburn H. S. B. will give an exhibition drill at the Rink next Friday evening to raise funds for the General Muster at Lynn. The tickets are 10 and 20 cents, and the free list has been suspended. Help the boys.

The 24 annual convention of the Middlesex County Y. P. S. C. E was held in the Baptist and Congregational Churches, this city, yesterday. It was a great success. There were 616 delegates present. The music and speaking were soul-cheering.

Mr. Thomas Feeney of this city, a graduate from the JOURNAL office and one of the smartest and most capable of the Boston Record's corps of bright young reporters, and lady were conspicuous figures at the St. Charles ball last Wednesday evening.

Principal S. W. Mendum of the High School is booked for an address at the meeting of the Massachusetts Association of Classical and High School Teachers to be held at the rooms of the Boston Latin School on April 3 and 4. His theme will be "An Examination of the Criticisms on the 'Herald' Prize Essays." Woburn will be worthily represented by Mr. Mendum, for he is one of the brightest and most successful High School Principals in the State.

THE MERCURY is a brisk little tpye-writer printed sheet issued periodically by a knot of Academy Hill boys and girls, of which Master F. J. Ham is Editor. The current number is a spicy one. We clip the following item from its breezy columns: "There have been 2 'teas' this week, one at Miss G. M. Bryant's and one at Mrs. R. J. W. Phinney's. The decorations at the table of the former were daffodils, at the latter, red tulips."

"Chipman's Liver Pills the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Burlington.

The Agricultural Society held another of their successful assemblies on Wednesday evening of last week.

Rev. Mr. Mowry of Boston preached an excellent Easter sermon at the church Sunday morning. The rostrum was appropriately decorated with flowering plants. A good congregation were present to enjoy the Easter service. In the evening the Sunday School held a concert. The subject was "Easter Day" and a fine programme of singing, recitations and readings was given by the school. The younger scholars deserve especial praise for their prompt and well rendered recitations, while we do not forget that one of the pleasantest features in our Sunday School is that our older scholars do not "outgrow" the school but are always willing to take part in the concerts.

Last week the whole community were shocked and pained by the sudden death of Mr. George Skelton, who fell dead from heart disease at his home Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Skelton was unmarried and lived alone, but a neighbor's daughter was with him at the time of his death. He was an original character but had a kindly heart and was a great favorite with the young people. For many years he had been, in a certain sense, the "Old Mortality" of the village cemetery, and beside digging graves and burrying the dead, had taken a great interest in the care and improvement of the grounds. He did much gratuitous work in the cemetery in the way of caring for lots whose owners were unable to do so. Mr. Skelton's funeral services were held in the cemetery Saturday afternoon, and were attended by a large number of people.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Russ Drug Store.

WINCHESTER.

Per order of Supt. Sewell the No. Woburn St. RR. cars will begin to make regular trips to Medford on and after next Monday, April 6.

Our distinguished fellow townsman, General John M. Corse, the Hero of the great Battle of Alatoona, gave a smoke talk to the Boston Cadets last week in which he told all about that great fight. It was intensely interesting and the boys listened to it with great attention.

Bro. Johnson "goes for 'em" on the legality of our Town Meeting. He is right. I would not give very much for a piece of real estate here the title to which rested on the legality of our town meeting—a tax sale, for example. If nothing is done about it no one need pay a tax here this year unless he feels disposed to. It can't be collected by law.

A good deal of adverse criticism is bestowed on the published Town Reports for 1890-91, and it looks as though they deserved it. Somebody's proof reader neglected his duty sadly on the job. I don't pity the town any. If they will persist in giving the printing of the Reports to Boston job offices let them suffer the consequences. Perhaps, one of these days, our Municipal Dads will find out that it pays to patronize home industries—printing Town Reports included.

The Board of Selectmen organized Wednesday as follows: Arthur E. Whitney, Chairman; James Russell, Clerk. Standing Committees—Highways, Messrs. Russell, Payne and Shattuck; Street Lights, Messrs. Russell and Winn; Concrete Sidewalks, Messrs. Russell, Whitney and Winn; Police, Messrs. Payne and Russell; Finance and Accounts, Messrs. Russell, Payne and Shattuck; Printing and Stationery, Messrs. Whitney and Russell. It was voted to hold regular meetings the first and third Mondays of each month at 7.30 P. M.

Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

Wednesday Evening, April 15.

GRAND CONCERT

— BY —

LAMBETH'S CELEBRATED SCOTCH CHOIR.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF

Clan MacKinnon, O. S. C.

Tickets 35 & 50 Cents.

which may be had at Mr. A. Grant's, 426 Main St., Woburn, or from any member of the Society. Doors open at 7.15. Concert at 8 prompt.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS

ESTABLISHED IN 1851. 28000 SOLD AND IN USE.

VOSE & SONS. NEW STYLES.
VOSE & SONS ELEGANT DESIGNS.
VOSE & SONS. SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP.
VOSE & SONS. GREAT DURABILITY.
VOSE & SONS EASY TERMS.

WE RENT NEW and second-hand Pianos and allow ONE YEAR'S rent on the purchase price.

100 second-hand Pianos at $275, $250, $225, $210, $200, $175, $150, $120. Be sure and examine our stock before purchasing.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,

170 Tremont Street.

TO BE FOUND AT BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Read the prices of the following goods and match them if you can:

Cream and Bluewhite Albatross, 40c. a yd.
Baby Blue Henrietta, 40c. a yd.
Black Nuns' Veiling, 35c. and 45c. a yd.
Fancy Striped French Serge, 35c. a yd.
Heliotrope high grade Henrietta, 90c.
All Silk Grosgrain Ribbons, No. 3, 3c. per yard: No. 6, 6c. per yard: 11 inches wide, 12½c., 2 inches wide 15 cents.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Burd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleaning a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank.

NOTICE.

The Regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank will be held on Friday, April 3, 1891, at 7.30 P. M., to hear the report of the Treasurer and Auditors, and transact such other business as may legally come before said meeting.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, April 11, 1891, will draw interest from April 1, 1891.

E. E. THOMPSON, Treasurer.

Woburn, March 25 1891.

FOR SALE IN WOBURN, A BARGAIN.

House of nine rooms, Stable, Shop, ¼ acre of land, Apple, Cherry, and beautiful Shade Trees, Horse Cars pass the door, Electric Lights, Horn Pond Water.

Apply to

G. F. JONES, WOBURN.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 421 Main Street, Woburn.

4500 FEET HIGH.

One issue of the

BOSTON SUNDAY HERALD,

Piled, folded, one on top of another, would make a pile sixteen times as high as Bunker Hill Monument.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

What Is Left

Over from our stock of fine Bedroom Sets, in the 1890 patterns, WILL NOW be closed out at a reduction of 25 per cent from Market Prices.

The assortment includes many artistic designes in Quartered Oak, Cherry, &c., the only reason for this unusual sacrifice being that we must make room for new stock.

If your eyes should chance to catch this announcement, the opportunity may enable you to furnish a room or two in "An Ideal Manner" and at an ideal price.

Perhaps it is well for you that you have waited till now.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ebenezer N. Blake, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Warren N. Blake, Harrison G. Blake, and Joseph B. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at Law and others interested in the Estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, Executors of the will of said deceased, have presented to said Court their petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased, for the payment of debts, legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of April next at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Walter J. Mower of Somerville in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lizzie G. Knapp, Executrix of the will of Orin S. Knapp, and John W. Scribner, Co-guardian of said minor with said Orin S. Knapp, deceased, have presented for allowance the third account of the guardianship of said Knapp and Scribner;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said surviving Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last buplication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

WOBURN Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the Shareholders will be held in the Board of Trade rooms, Dow's Block, on

Thursday, April 9,

at 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of electing Officers and Auditors for the ensuing fiscal year, and for any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.

Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.

The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

404 Main St., WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop.

Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

E. J. GREGORY, - - Auctioneer.

Office, 396 Main St., WOBURN.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Ann Doherty to John W. Johnson of Woburn in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Trustee under the will of Adelaide A. Eaton, dated January 15, 1889, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, libro 1889, folio 553, and by said John W. Johnson, Trustee, assigned to Hugh McCafferty by assignment dated May 16, 1890, recorded with said Deeds, Book 2099, Page 43, for a breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Saturday the eleventh day of April, A. D., 1891, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in the westerly part of said Woburn, on the northerly side of Sheridan St., and bounded and described as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises on said Sheridan street, at land of Sewall Taylor; thence the line runs easterly, by and with said Sheridan street, one hundred and ninety-eight feet to land now, or formerly, of James Doherty; thence notherly, on and by said land of Doherty, ninety nine and one-half feet to land now, or formerly, of Mrs. Hanley; thence westerly, by said land of Hanley and by land now, or formerly, of Bartholomew Hogan, one hundred and ninety-nine feet to said land of Taylor; thence southerly, by said land of Taylor, ninety-nine and one-half feet to the point of beginning: Being the same premises described in two deeds to said Ann Doherty; one from Philip Doherty, dated March 21, 1867, recorded with Middlesex (South District) Deeds, Book 1007, Page 318; the other from John Doherty, dated December 10, 1867, and recorded with Middlesex (So. District) Deeds, Book 1026, Page 526.

$100.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HUGH McCAFFERTY, Assignee and present holder o said Mortgage.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Attorney.

Woburn, March 16, 1891.

G. McGREGOR FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

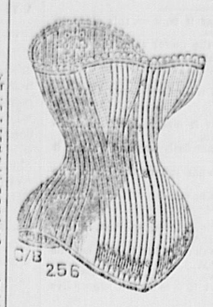
DEFAULTED KANSAS MORTGAGES

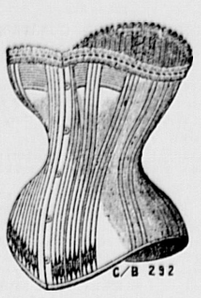
Bought, collected, foreclosed. Property examined. Charges reasonable. Information free. Write us

Hartford Western Land Company,

(INCORPORATED CAPITAL, $50,000),

Wichita, - - - - Kansas.





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES IN HEAVY-WEIGHT GOODS,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Edwin Richardson, late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachus tts, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Adm.

Woburn, Mass., March 19, 1891.

SAVED FROM FAMINE.

LESSON I, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 5.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings vii, 1-16. Commit Verses, 8, 9—Golden Text, Ps. cvii, 8—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

After the Syrian army had been smitten with blindness at the word of Elisha he led them into the midst of Samaria, then prayed that they might see. Their eyes being opened, they found themselves in the presence of the man whom they sought, the king of Israel, who would have slain them; but at the command of Elisha he fed them, treated them well, and let them go, thus conquering them with kindness.

Today's lesson brings before us Samaria so besieged by the Syrians that there is a terrible famine, and mothers are so crazed by hunger that they eat their own children, and all because of their rebellion against God.

1. "Then Elisha said, Hear ye the word of the Lord."

The king of Israel professed to be so filled with horror at the doings of the people that he swore to kill Elisha, and proceeded forthwith to put his threat in execution.

2. "Behold, if the Lord would make windows in heaven might this thing be."

Thus spake a companion of the king of Israel, in reply to the word of the Lord by Elisha, that to-morrow there would be food in abundance; and thus speaks many a professed Christian today, in reference to the great promises of the Lord of Hosts. It is a fearful sin, but so common, to make light of the word of God or reject it altogether, because it seems impossible or unreasonable.

3, 4. "Why sit we here until we die?"

We are now introduced to four outcasts, without the city because of their leprosy, who are in a most pitiable condition. They are dying slowly of disease; hunger is now hastening their death—there is no relief from the city; the Syrians can only kill them, and thus shorten their misery, but possibly may take pity on them and save them. It is their only hope, and their minds are made up. The condition of these men was sad indeed, but what about those in all Christendom who are on the way to the second death and are indifferent to it?

5. "And they rose up in the twilight to go unto the camp of the Syrians, and, behold, there was no man there."

Tremblingly and stealthily, under cover of the twilight, they moved toward the camp of the enemy, but enemy there was none, no one to be seen. Their fears vanish, their hearts leap within them; they expected death, but they find life, food and riches in abundance. The change in their circumstances is an illustration of the difference between an unsaved person seeking satisfaction from this world and a saved soul rejoicing in the fullness of the redemption and life eternal.

6. "The Lord had made the host of the Syrians to hear a noise of chariots, and a noise of horses, even the noise of a great host."

He did not open their eyes to see the hosts of the Lord as He did the eyes of Elisha's servant (vi, 17), but He caused their ears to hear, and their hearts to imagine a great host pursuing them. It was not a host of Hittites and Egyptians, as they thought, but the unseen hosts of the Lord. What rest there is in the soul that can say, "Though an host should encamp against me my heart shall not fear!"

7. "Wherefore they arose and fled for their life."

How many ways the Lord has of overthrowing His enemies and sending deliverance to such as He desires to bless! The Lord knoweth how. It is not for us either to make suggestions or have any anxiety, but just abide in Him who is our sufficiency in all things.

9. "We do not well; this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace."

Thus spake the lepers as they perhaps paused in their overwhelming joy to consider the famine stricken city so near by. What a word this is for all who have heard and received the glad tidings of salvation.

"If we tarry till the morning light some mischief will come upon us."

Who can tell what the loss will be in the resurrection morning to all believers who have done nothing to spread the glad tidings, when at the judgment seat of Christ their iniquity has found them out (R. V., margin).

10. "So they came and called unto the porter of the city."

They did not stop at good resolutions, but immediately put the same into effect. Let all believers who are thinking of telling or sending the good tidings to others, at once do something about it and the work will move on.

11. "And he called the porters; and they told it to the king's house within."

Thus the good tidings are passed on from one to another, no one thinking of himself, but only of the message of joy which he bears.

12. "And the king arose in the night and said unto his servants, I will now show you what the Syrians have done to us."

Neither does the king wait till the morning. It is a time of sore trouble, and perhaps sleep had forsaken him. But he does not believe the good tidings; he imagines mischief. Had he believed the word of the Lord by Elisha he might now have said humbly and gratefully, "This is the Lord's doing and marvelous in our eyes."

13. "Let us send and see."

This was so unlikely; how could it be true? We tell people of the forgiveness of all their sins and the possession of eternal life by just receiving Jesus Christ as their Saviour (John i, 12; v, 24; Rom. iv, 5; Acts xiii, 38, 39), but they will not look up the passages in their Bibles to see if it is really so.

14. "The king sent after the host of the Syrians, saying, Go and see."

A willingness to investigate is so much better than imagining or believing an evil report. God asks us to search the Scriptures, to read, to hear, to believe, to prove Him.

15. "And they went after them unto Jordan; and the messengers returned and told the king."

Evidence all the way to Jordan is suggestive of all the way to the cross, where the last trace of our enemy, sin, is seen; for there Jesus made an end of sin for all who accept Him, so that dead and risen with Him, sin shall not have dominion over us.

16. "So a measure of fine flour was sold for a shekel, according to the Word of the Lord."

Whether men will hear or forebear, the word of the Lord will stand. No matter how seemingly impossible, all things are possible with God, and nothing is too hard for the Lord.

"The Lord of hosts hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought so shall it come to pass; and as I have purposed so shall it stand" (Num. xxiii, 19; Isa. xiv, 24).

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

A wealthy and prominent citizen of Parkersburg, Va., has assigned all his property to his uncle to avoid marriage with a woman to whome he is engaged, because he thinks she only cares for his money. The woman, a widow, will sue him for breach of promise if he persists.

THE TWO GREAT MYSTERIES.

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep and still—
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale and chill,
The lids that will not lift again, though we may call and call;
The strange white solitude of peace that settles over all.

We know not what it means, dear, this desolate heart pain,
The dread to take our daily way and walk in it again.
We know not to what sphere the loved who leave us go,
Nor why we're left to wander still, nor why we do not know.

But this we know—our loved and lost, if they should come this day,
Should come and ask us, What is life? not one of us could say.
Life is a mystery as deep as death can ever be;
Yet, oh, how sweet it is to us, this life we live and see!

Then might they say, those vanished ones, and blessed is the thought—
So death is sweet to us, beloved, though we may tell you naught.
We may not tell it to the quick, this mystery of death;
Ye may not tell it if ye would, the mystery of breath.

The child that enters life comes not with knowledge or intent;
So those who enter death must go as little children sent.
Nothing is known, but I believe that God is overhead;
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.

—Mary Mapes Dodge.

Gen. Sherman's Memory.

Gen. Sherman had a wonderful memory. This was illustrated by an incident that occurred in Philadelphia three years ago. He was visiting his daughter, and while sitting at the open window smoking one midsummer night he saw the policeman pass, and as the patrolman halted a moment the general was noticed to give him a keen glance and utter an exclamation.

The next evening he told some one that when the policeman on the beat passed again to say he wanted to speak to him. When the officer entered he straightened up and gave Gen. Sherman the regular military salute.

"Ah, ha!" said the general, "I thought so. Now, where was it I saw you before? Do you know me?"

"Oh, yes," said the bearded patrolman, "I knew you when you were a lieutenant. I was your drummer in California."

"Ha, ha! I thought so; and wait a bit. So you were that little drummer boy, and your name—your name's Hutchinson."

Sure enough, the general of the United States army, who had seen thousands of drummers, had recognized in a passing policeman the drummer boy who was with his company in the Mexican war.—Philadelphia Times.

Business Is Business.

A lithographing establishment in Buffalo recently received from a western customer a circular note announcing the death of the head of the firm. It was given to the clerk with instructions to write a letter of condolence in reply, and this is what he supplied: "We are greatly pained to learn of the loss sustained by your firm and extend to you are heartiest sympathy. We notice that the circular you send us announcing Mr. ——'s death is lithographed by Chicago parties. We regret that you did not see it in your way to let us figure on this job. The next time there is a bereavement in your house we shall be glad to quote you on lithograph circulars, and are confident that we can give you better work at less cost than anybody else in the business. Trusting we may soon have an opportunity of quoting you prices, we remain with profound sympathy, yours truly." —Buffalo Courier.

Breaking the News Gently.

Once upon a time a dear woman of my acquaintance was prostrated by many cares, so that her physicians feared heart failure. In order that she might be spared any sudden shock the household was warned never to be abrupt in the communication of any tidings, good or bad. One day the new girl, who had been repeatedly admonished, entered the room where the invalid was sitting, and, approaching her in minuet step, whispered coyly in her ear, "Plaze, mum, don't yez be sheared now, but the house is on fire, and the whole hinder part is blazin'!"—Chicago Herald.

Where the Needles Go.

I can beat the pin and needle cushion thus far. Awhile ago, wondering what had become of the needles, I opened a cushion used by the family and found 328—five were darning needles, the rest all sizes of common sewing needles.—Cor. Newburyport News.

The spiders found in England are small and quite harmless to man, but it is probable that some poisonous fluid is secreted in the mandibles of all spiders. Even the bite of the common house spider (Tegenaria domestica) is quickly fatal to flies and other insects on which it preys.

Justin H. McCarthy, M. P., is 30 years old, and has published eleven books and seven plays; he is tall and thin, with a very small head; he has traveled much in Persia, and has an intimate acquaintance with the literature of that country.

James Lane Allen, the Kentucky novelist, lives at Lexington, where the scenes of some of his stories have been laid. He is a professor of Latin in Bethany college, and an earnest student of comparative philology.

Probably the largest fee ever received by a lawyer in this country was that paid to John E. Parsons, of New York, who is said to have received $400,000 for services rendered in organizing the sugar trust.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c, a bottle, at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

It is reported from Denver, Col., that the famous Maxwell land grant, comprising 1,700,000 acres, has been sold to New York parties, and that the commission of the agent amounted to $150,000.

Willie—"What do you suppose the Greeks did after capturing Troy?" Johnnie—„Got their clothes laundered, I'll bet!"

DID IT SERVE HER RIGHT?

A Fashionable Woman Driven to Flight by Juvenile Inquisitiveness.

Her hat was a regular stunner and no mistake. It looked something like a miniature tropical garden, but nature never produced anything half so gorgeous. A couple of artificial butterflies, whose wings presented a dazzling assortment of colors, were poised upon invisible wires over two imitation orchids. They were obviously designed to supply the crowning touch of realism. When she entered the "L" car she knew that that hat would create a sensation. There were plenty of vacant seats around, but she walked nearly the whole length of the car before taking one, and when she sat down it was with the proud consciousness that all eyes were fixed upon her—or rather upon her hat.

But nobody stared at that hat half as hard as a bright, chubby little youngster, who was sitting alongside of his mother, right opposite the owner of the triumph of millinery.

"Oh, mamma, mamma!" exclaimed the little fellow gleefully, "I see two butterflies on that lady's hat."

"Hush, hush, Willie," said the mother; "you mustn't make remarks."

But Willie was at that age when the mind refuses to be satisfied with dogmatic assertions and demands reasons.

"Why must I hush? Will the butterflies hear me and fly away?"

The people in Willie's immediate vicinity began to snicker, and the proprietor of the hat began to look uncomfortable.

"Willie, you must be quiet," said the mother, and then, with the view of allaying his curiosity, she added, "the butterflies ain't alive."

"Did she stick pins through them and kill them?"

"Hush—no; they are made up butterflies."

Willie meditated upon this for a minute, and then, to the intense delight of everybody within earshot, excepting, of course, his mother and the proprietor of the wondrous hat, he broke out afresh.

"Did you ever see any live butterflies like those butterflies, mamma? I never did."

"Do be quiet; don't ask foolish questions."

But Willie was not to be suppressed in that fashion.

"Mamma, why is it that other ladies don't put butterflies in their hats?"

"I don't know. Do be quiet."

"Mamma, if you put butterflies on your hat would you put butterflies on your hat like that?"

By this time the snicker had developed into an audible titter, and threatened to become a downright laugh soon.

The conductor suddenly opened the door and shouted out something that sounded like "Drentheth street!"

Whatever the street might be it seemed suddenly to occur to the proprietor of the hat that it was the street she wanted, and she rushed precipitately out of the car, her undignified exit contrasting strangely with her stately entrance a few minutes before.

And what do you think I overheard the woman who sat next to me say?

"It just serves her right."

Why it served her right I don't pretend to know.—New York Herald.

A Few Table "Don'ts."

Don't smack your lips.

Don't take large mouthfuls.

Don't blow your food in order to cool it.

Don't use your knife instead of your fork.

Don't find fault and pick about your food.

Don't talk with your mouth filled with food.

Don't soil the table cloth with bones, parings, etc.

Don't commence eating as soon as you are seated.

Don't laugh loudly or talk boisterously at the table.

Don't retail all the slanders you can think of at the table.

Don't take bones up in your fingers to eat the meat from them.

Don't call attention to any little mistake which may have occurred.

Don't make yourself and your own affairs the chief topic of conversation.

Don't take another mouthful while any of the previous one remains in the mouth.

Don't reach across the table for anything; but wait until it is passed to you, or ask for it.

Don't put your elbows on the table, nor lounge about; if not able to sit erect ask to be excused.

Don't frown or look cross at the table; it hurts your own digestion, as well as that of those eating with you.

Don't pick your teeth, unless something has become wedged between them; then put your napkin up to your mouth while extracting it.—Good Housekeeping.

Court Etiquette.

American Bride—Isn't it grand? And so we are to attend a supper at the royal castle?

Titled Husband—Yes, our presence has been commanded.

"Oh, won't the girls at home just die of envy when they hear of it! Will we sit near the queen?"

"I will; and perhaps they'll allow you to wait on me."—Good News.

On the Ocean.

Lord Noodles—Aw, I say, captain, what is that land we see ovah there?

Captain—That is America, my lord.

Lord Noodles — Ye don't say! I thought America was a larger country than that.—Harper's Bazar.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searles, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Charles H. Buss's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

It is contemplated in Rhode Island to follow the example of Massachusetts in giving the towns permission to adopt the Australian system at their annual meetings.

If Your Skin

Is rough, and pimply or covered with blotches and sores, and you want a clean, smooth skin and fair complexion, use Sulphur Bitters. The best medicine in such cases I ever sold.—C. E. SCHEFFLER & Co., Druggists, Lawrence, Mass.

IMPORTANT CARPET INVENTION.

A Method of Printing the Figures Which May Revolutionize the Trade.

A new method of printing the figures upon tapestry carpets is being tried by two or three of the large Philadelphia producers of that grade of goods, which, if successful, will inaugurate a revolution in manufacturing. The process of printing the colors upon the warp of tapestry carpets before the fabric is woven is very ingenious as well as interesting, but at the same time a somewhat slower process than the demand for the goods admits of. The method is to color one thread of the worsted warp at a time, placing different colors upon it at particular points and in such manner as will cause it to form a portion of the design when woven into the fabric.

This is done by winding the thread over what is called a drum, the circumference of which is regulated by the size of the design that is to be reproduced, and the "printer" is guided by a pattern, colored as the carpet is to be. When all the threads that compose the warp or face of the carpet are colored they are placed side by side, each in its proper place, and matched together ready for weaving. This is a slow process, and involves quite a number of different departments.

The new method consists of printing the figures upon the fabric after it is woven, and by means of cylinders, with the design of the carpet deeply engraved upon them. The color of the plain cloth to be printed upon forms the ground of the design of the carpet. For instance, the carpet is to be of a drab ground with chintz figures. The plain fabric will be drab and the chintz colors printed upon it. Each color must have a separate cylinder, with the portion of the design calling for that color engraved upon it, and there must be as many cylinders as there are colors. The cost of producing the carpet is regulated by the number of colors to be used.

The plain fabric is stretched upon a platform, and the cylinders, the circumference of which is precisely the size of the design, are passed over it, the color being supplied by a feeder. The engraving of the cylinder and the supply of the colors are so arranged as to have the coloring matters penetrate the worsted upon the surface of the carpet and no further.

The inventor of the new process says it is capable of producing two miles of completed carpet per day. The fabric resembles body Brussels very closely.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Benefit of Singing in the School Room.

Martin Luther asserted in his cast-iron style of rhetoric, "Unless a schoolmaster knows how to sing I think him of no account." Such a test would materially decrease the number of pedagogues; nevertheless it is true that such ability is of the greatest service to the teacher. The physical benefit resulting from singing is sufficient reason for its use, even if no other existed; but it is peculiarly valuable as a source of enjoyment to children and a great aid in the preservation of order. Even a little knowledge of drawing places a mighty power in the hand of the teacher. Nothing so much helps to make instruction clear and impressive as simple and rapid illustration, particularly in the primary grades. At present these two accomplishments—improperly so termed, for they are really essentials—are required in most schools. The children of today, who are the teachers of to-morrow, are receiving thorough instruction in these two matters, and experience proves that it is almost as instinctive for them to sing and draw as for a bird to fly.—Caroline B. Le Row in Ladies' Home Journal.

Students in Germany.

The number of students in the University of Greifswald is 902, being the largest number ever on its books. Of these 421 are students of medicine, 274 of theology, 98 of philosophy and 95 of law, while 24 are allowed to attend particular lectures without having matriculated in any faculty. At Erlangen the number of students is 1,012, being the first time it has exceeded 1,000. The theological faculty used to be the most numerously attended, but now medicine heads the list. At Marburg there are 1,003 students, this being also the first time the number of 1,000 has been exceeded. There are 269 students in the medical faculty.—Chicago Herald.

The Frolics of Fashion.

What could exhibit a more fantastical appearance than an English beau of the Fourteenth century? He wore long pointed shoes, fastened to his knee by gold or silver chains; hose of one color on one leg and another color on the other; short breeches which did not reach to the middle of his thighs—a coat, one half white, the other half black or blue; a long beard, a silk hood, buttoned under his chin, embroidered with grotesque figures of animals, dancing men, etc., and sometimes ornamented with gold and precious stones. This dress was the correct thing in the reign of King Edward III.—New York Ledger.

A Little Girl's Reasoning.

A little girl of four wise years was visiting with her mother on Main street, and at the dinner table the mother insisted that she should eat the fish and potato on her plate before being helped to dessert. The child turned gravely to her hostess and observed: "Do you know why my mother doesn't keep a pig? It's because she makes me eat up all the swill."—Springfield Homestead.

The ghost at the White House is said to walk half of every night, but he could do double that amount of work, if he wasn't afraid of the morning air, and knew that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cured all kinds of troublesome coughs and colds.

She stood at the gate in the Spring twilight, and when she said good-bye, she felt neuralgia kiss her rosy cheek; but she only smiled, for she had Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain.

Mr. Porkchops—"Miss Lakeside, it is better that we should part. In fact, I am already engaged to another young lady." Miss Lakeside—"That suits me. I have noticed for some time past that you were cold and distant, so I got married yesterday morning."

Here is an illustration of true Hindo politeness from Lady Dufferin's journal: A Judge, who was a very bad shot, had been out for a day's sport, and on his return the man who went out with him was asked: "Well, how did the Judge shoot to-day?" "Oh," he replied, "the Judge shot beautifully, but God was very merciful to the birds."

STROKE OF FEMININE GENIUS.

Simple, but Effective, Plan to Prevent Barking One's Shins.

The man who says that women have not originality not only speaks untruth but deceives himself.

Every one has had occasion to go through a room in the dark on more or less frequent nightly occasions when locking the back door had been forgotten or the pitcher of ice water omitted from the nightly preparations for slumber, and every one knows how each individual piece of furniture in each dark room traversed, including the piano's sharp corners and the rocking chair's twin projections, is collided with.

And all these hard knocks are sustained by the stretch of bone from the knee to the ankle that is commonly called "shin," and is particularly sensitive because it has no layer of muscle, merely a coat of sensitive skin to protect it.

When open doors are run against the nose suffers.

Now there is a young Mrs. D., whose blue eyed baby is a year and a half old, and not infrequently does Mrs. D. have to get up of a night, go down stairs to the refrigerator and get milk for baby.

She does not say how often or how seriously she was hurt before her genius suggested the brilliant plan which she now has for avoiding these petty nocturnal injuries, but she is really proud of her plan for getting unscathed through a room in the dark, and has imparted it to her lady neighbors.

It is too clever an idea to be lost, and its great merit is in its simplicity. The scheme is merely to walk backward.

In the dark one can see as well going backward as forward, of course. The lower limbs are, when going backward, well protected from slight raps by the more or less liberal pad of muscle at the calf, and heels are less sensitive than toes.

And if one is to run into a door the blow can be better borne on the back of the head than on the face.

Mrs. D. is a genius.—Washington Post.

An Independent Horse.

In the business portions of our city there are a good many horses belonging to firms or to private individuals which stand "on call," as it were, oftentimes for hours, in front of their owner's place of business. These horses come to be well known in their neighborhoods, and acquaintance with them shows in them habits and idiosyncrasies which are most interesting. One of the equines, with an individuality all his own, is a gray horse belonging to a firm in Winthrop square. He stands in front of his owner's store apparently pondering upon the ups and downs of life, the hat trade and the weather, and occasionally he starts off for an independent tour round the square, affording much amusement, sometimes consternation, to people who are unacquainted with his ways of doing things.

Should it occur to him that he is thirsty or that to take a drink would be a diversion in the monotony of his afternoon he walks over to the drinking fountain in the square, politely awaits his turn, quenches his thirst, turns around and marches back, like Bo Peep's sheep, so that his owner having left him facing in one direction is quite apt to find him facing in another. The old gray horse is an independent character, they will tell you, in Winthrop square.—Boston Herald.

Carefully Accurate.

A student of ancient history, seeing the statement that a certain famous character in history had died 1030 A. M. (anno mundi, or the year of the world), remarked to his professor with some surprise, "How exceedingly careful those ancients were about noting little circumstances."

"What do you mean?" the professor asked.

"Why, they even tell the time of day that a great man dies. We don't do that now."

"I think you are mistaken," replied the teacher.

"No, I am not; here it is: 'His death occurred at 10:30 a. m.'"—Youth's Companion.

About Sharpening a Knife.

It is a good deal easier to spoil a knife than to sharpen it. To begin with, a rough stone is used too freely. Unless a knife has a very round or ragged edge it does not want any grinding at all, and it can be brought into shape far more rapidly and surely by the aid of a whetstone and a little oil. It is no use laying the blade flat on the stone and rubbing hard; hold the back of the knife well up and sharpen the edge of the blade only. If you know how to use it, the back of a knife makes an excellent steel or sharpener, but the secret is hard to acquire.—Exchange.

Expensive House Cleaning.

It costs $10,000 merely for the "spring cleaning" of a great hotel like the Fifth Avenue. To take up the carpets, cleanse and repair them, and put them down again; to wash the paint, repaint, repaper, and all the thousand and one things which a great house needs with each new year, costs the proprietor of the Fifth Avenue $10,000.—New York Star.

The largest and heaviest building stone ever quarried in England was taken from the Plankington quarry, near Norwich, in February, 1889; it was in one piece, without crack or flaw, and weighed over thirty-five tons; it was 15 feet long, 6 feet high and 5 feet wide.

Hints That Are Better Than Gold.

If you have bad breath, sluggish bowels, pain in the small of your back, nervousness or giddiness, your vital organs are sadly out of condition. A mere "dose of physic" will not help you. Your only wise course is to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and cleanse your system of the impurities. It regulates the Liver and Kidneys.

A dispatch from Wilkesbarre, Pa., says that on Monday while James Pollock and son were riding in a carriage from Dallas they were overtaken by a whirlwind and the men and carriage were lifted bodily and carried some distance and thrown against the trees. Each of them weighed above 200 pounds. They were badly injured.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sale of any medicine before the public. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement.

A will probated in Ulster county, N. Y., contains this clause; "I give and dequeath to my daughter six silver spoons, all the dishes and all the trifles." Now the question arises, what are the "trifles?"

An Old Court House Bible.

Perhaps the oldest Bible in the court house is that which quietly reposes in a desk in the clerk's office of the city court. In its day it was a good and faithful servant, and was never known to shirk its duty. For the purpose of familiarizing myself with the facial outlines of the sacred volume I went to see it a few days ago.

One of the chief clerk's subalterns groped around for a key and unlocked the desk. He then drew forth a small sized book.

"How old is it?" asked the writer, as the clerk ran over the dirty, greasy pages with his fingers.

"That book, sir, is 25 years of age, and was employed in this court during all that time, with the exception of two years. We finally placed it on the retired list, and here it is."

The edges of the cover were worn away with handling and kissing, and a great many leaves were missing.

"Thousands of lips have come in contact with that Bible," said the clerk, as he sat mournfully contemplating it. "What's more, millions of lies have been told over it. I wish I had a nickel for every time it has been held up to the lips. I would throw down my pen and lead an easy life."

The autograph of the late Chief Justice Neilson adorns the inside of the top cover, and also the name Aury Snedeker, who was for many years a clerk in the court and had administered many an oath. Very few witnesses would relish putting their lips to that book, so positively greasy and ill smelling is it.—Brooklyn Eagle.

He Never Called Again.

A stiff Englishman made a formal call on an equally stiff English girl down in Staten Island not long ago. He called about 4:30 in the afternoon, and sat in one of those comfortable square wicker chairs. About 5 o'clock he made a motion to rise, but resumed his seat; the young lady resumed hers.

She had an engagement at half-past 5, and saw the hands of the clock getting near that hour. Twice the man seemed on the point of leaving; twice he started to rise, twice she rose; then he sat down again, and she resumed her seat each time. Finally the half hour struck—then it became quarter to 6. The engagement had not been kept. Did the man intend to stay to dinner? He didn't; he explained matters.

"Miss M.," he said at last, with considerable hemming and hawing, "the—ah—buttons on the tail of my—ah—coat are caught in the—ah—back of the—ah—chair, and I cannot disengage them. May I—ah—ask your assistance?"

Miss M. came to his assistance and cut the buttons off instead of taking them out of the chair back. The Englishman's leave takings were brief, and he's never repeated the call even to this day.—Chatter.

The Were-Wolf.

Were-wolves (man wolves), according to a superstition very prevalent during the "dark ages," were persons who had the power of transforming themselves into wolves or other fierce beasts, retaining human intelligence, coupled with all the ferocity of beasts of prey. Persons who believe in were-wolves were of the opinion that the hair grew inward, and that the human being possessed of such qualities had but to turn himself inside out to effect the wonderful metamorphosis. The superstition is traceable to the classical fable of Lykaon. Like the poor wretches who were burned and otherwise put to death for witchcraft, those suspicioned of being were-wolves were crucified or broken on the wheel after first being flayed alive by the superstitious executors, who were in search of the supposed hairy insides.—St. Louis Republic.

Unistatians.

A writer has invented the word "Unistatians," which he applies to the people of the United States. He objects to the word "Americans." But it is too late. The people of the United States have monopolized the name of the continent, and are known all over the world as Americans. The people of Mexico are content to be known as Mexicans, and the people of Canada ought to be content with the word Canadians. Let the Yankees continue to be Americans—Canadians is a good enough name for the people of this great and glorious country.—Hamilton (Ont.) Spectator.

Crackers Are in Demand.

"We can't get them fast enough," says the grocer as the man called for zephyrettes and went out. "We have to put in orders a week in advance, and they say that the big concern in Massachusetts where they bake them can't begin to keep up with the demand."

"What makes the call?"

"I don't know, except that they have caught on. They are just salt enough to catch the fancy and fresh and crisp enough to make a man eat them in defiance of his waning appetite."—Lewiston Journal.

A Possible Explanation.

Anxious Mother—Don't you know that George Washington never, never told a lie?

Sinful Boy—Maybe his mamma didn't care how much cakes and jam he took, and he wasn't afraid to tell her.—New York Weekly.

A Good Breeze for a Sail.

"Well, Willie, I hear there was quite a breeze at your house when your mother found out that you had been sailing again."

Willie—Yes, a spanking breeze.—Boston Times.

The Public Library of Minneapolis has a mummy. A year ago when Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the lecturer on Egyptian antiquities, was in the city, she was requested to examine the remains of the ancient Egyptian and decide upon its sex. Her observations were limited to the exterior emblems, but she was quite positive that the body was that of a woman, Amenhotep by name, and gave a translation of the inscription on the wrapping. A few days ago the outer integuments were removed, when it was discovered that the mummy had been in life a man above the average size, with powerful hands and a wonderful frame.

A citizen of St. Louis makes a good living by renting turtles to restaurants for advertising purposes. He gets $2 per day for each, and they are always in demand. They are left outside the door on the day before turtle soup is served, and create a run the next day for the soup, but they are not in it.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

The Massachusetts Legislature had better go slowly in regard to the present proposition to increase the compensation of the members. Even if most of the Democrats in the two branches voted for it, as is highly probable, it would be sure to be stigmatized as a "salary grab," and the Republican party held responsible for it in next fall's campaign.

If the Ohio Gubernatorial nomination is offered him, Major McKinley will accept, though he has no great desire for the honor.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop'rs, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clear and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,
SULPHUR BITTERS.
Why suffer with Boils? Why are you troubled with that terrible Headache? Why have you lost that feeling of health and strength? Why are you nervous and irritable? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all out of order, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is what you require. It is a perfect blood purifier, and will positively drive from the system all impurities, and the other preparations which claim to do this are cheap rum, or poor whiskey drinks to be taken by the glass, that only stimulate for the time being. Sulphur Bitters is not a stimulant, but a tonic, and is composed of the purest Roots, Barks and Herbs, combined with the choicest TONIC OF SULPHUR in just proportions as to TREAT ONE OF SULPHUR'S GREAT NATURAL DISEASES. Sulphur Bitters will make it Natures Own Advocate.
SULPHUR Bitters
The Dose is small—only a teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.
A. P. ORDWAY & CO., Chemists,
Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.
Send two 2c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE Perfect Substitute ONLY For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants" Giving also valuable advice to Invalids. MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
DR. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

SALVATION OIL
TRADE MARK
KILLS ALL PAIN. 25 C A BOTTLE
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25 c.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the foot.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
RAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth, Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, &c., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
— AT —
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Wayeross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
201 Main Street. - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR

M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.
EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY
POPULAR PRICES $2.00 $4.00 $2.00
M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.
The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.
IVERS & POND PIANO CO.
181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

BAY STATE MANDOLINS GUITARS & BANJOS. BEST. ILLUS'TD CATALOGUE & CHEAPEST OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS FREE. J. CHAYNES & CO. BOSTON, MAS

Public Library 1Jan'92

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1891. NO. 17.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.23, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.23, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.24 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.03, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. G. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queeley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
— AT —
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

AN APPEAL

To his Honor, the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

An appeal to grant no license to a criminal, directly or indirectly.

The matter of granting licenses is entirely in the hands of the Aldermen.

A "yes" vote gives the power to license or not as they see fit. The Public Statutes Chapter 102, Section 24, say: 'Nothing contained in the chapter shall be construed to require the Mayor and Aldermen or Selectmen to grant either of the licenses aforesaid (that is innholders and common victualler) when in their opinion the public good does not require it.'

"Chapter 323, Acts of 1887, Section 8, say: 'The Mayor and Aldermen or the Selectmen may at any time refuse to issue a license to a person whom they deem unfit to receive the same. But nothing herein shall be so construed as to compel said Mayor and Aldermen or Selectmen to grant licenses.' Public Statutes, Chapter 100, Section 18, say: 'A licensed person who violates any provision of his license shall, in addition to said penalties, forfeit his license and be disqualified to hold a license for the period of one year, after his conviction and if the licensee is the owner of said premises, no licenses shall be exercised on the same premises described in the forfeited license during the residue of the term thereof.'

We see by the above that the man who has violated any provision of his license is disqualified to hold a license and is not a man who sells liquor with out a license ten times more a criminal? for he spurns the law and defies the will of the majority. Mr. J. K. Greene, a prominent lawyer of Worcester, who is president of the Law and Order League and has given a great deal of time and attention to this question has written me the following.

"1st. The Aldermen are under no legal obligation to grant licenses because the Statutes expressly declare that nothing in the statutes shall compel them to grant licenses (see chapter 100 sec. 8.)

2nd. They are under no moral obligation because the statutes leave the granting of licenses when the city votes "yes" entirely to the judgment of the Aldermen and they are under solemn obligation to discharge their duties for the best inserests of the city and if they believe that the best interests of the city are served by no license it would be a breach of their oath of office to vote for a license. I don't see how an alderman, who believes that a saloon is a curse to the community can vote for a license any more conscientiously than he could vote to put a cesspool in his neighbors front yard."

Have also just reserved the following statement from Mr. Walter Adams of South Framingham, who has been Chairman of the Board of Selectmen for many years and is a prominent Democratic lawyer.

In 1888, the town voted "license." Of the five Selectmen two voted "license" and two "no license." I was Chairman and had the vote which must settle the matter. I voted "no license' and the matter was settled for that year. In taking this course the third Selectman who voted "no license" did so under the provision of Sec. 8 of Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes." This section I have given above.

Mr. David J. Robinson, Ex-Mayor of Gloucester who refused to sign licenses, writes:

GLOUCESTER, MASS., April 3, 1891.

It would take me some time to state on paper my views on the "No License" question, but I will, very briefly, at your request, give a few of the many reasons why I took so decided a stand and am at variance with the views of many who claim to be temperance men:

First—I believe the liquor traffic to be morally wrong, and as such any amount of legislation in regard to authorizing or licensing, does not make it morally right; legalizing a wrong, cannot change its moral effects; and the man who sells intoxicating liquors under a license is just as guilty of violating the laws of God as one who sells in violation of the Public Statutes.

Second—I believe one in authority who places his name to a license which authorized a wrong and by authority of his name makes it legal, becomes himself morally responsible for all of the misery and woe that follows for without his name the wrong is not legalized with it the law of God is set at naught and the person conferring authority largely responsible.

Third—I believe the law which compels the signing of a license as well as the law legalizing the traffic unconstitutional.

What right has the State to make a law legalizing a wrong and then compelling one in authority to place his official signature to a document to give authority and character to the wrong?

In all else this becomes discretionary on the part of every executive. He can refuse to sign any act made by the body over which he exercises authority by giving his reasons therefor and if it afterwards becomes a law, it is without his official sanction.

In the matter of the liquor law only is he deprived of his veto power.

Fourth—There is a higher law a violation of which makes us guilty. Ye ought to obey God rather than man.

Dear Brother Montgomery: I will not be more lengthy; my argument is not to those who believe that liquor selling is right but to those who realize that they must give an account at the bar of God: to those I say beware of every act, word or vote in which the moral law of God is set at defiance.

Hoping for the success of no license, I am

Yours Faithfully,
DAVID J. ROBINSON.

Every license issued to liquor dealers in this city contains the following restrictions.

"First—That the provisions in regard to this license, and the building in which the business may be carried on under it, shall be strictly adhered to.

"Second—That no sale of spirituous or intoxicating liquor shall be made between the hours of eleven at night and six in the morning: nor during the Lord's Day, except that, if the licensee is also licensed as an innholder, he may supply such liquor to guests who have resorted to his house for food or lodging.

"Third—That no liquor except such as is of good standard quality and free from adulteration, shall be kept or sold on the promises described in this license.

"Fourth—That no sale or delivery of liquor shall be made on the premises described in this license to a person known to be a drunkard, to an intoxicated person, or to a person who is known to have been intoxicated within the six months next preceeding, or to a minor either for his own use, the use of his parent or of any other person or to a person known to have been supported in whole or in part by public charity, at any time during the twelve months next preceeding the date of the license.

"Fifth—That there shall be no disorder, indecency, prostitution, lewdness, or illegal gaming on the premises connected there with by any interior communications, and that the licensee shall not keep a public bar, and shall hold a license as an innholder or common victualler.

"Sixth—That this license or a copy thereof, certified by the City Clerk, shall be displayed on the premises, in a conspicuous position, where it can easily be read.

"Seventh—That the licensee, who is also licensed as a common victualler, shall not sell, give away or deliver, on the licensed premises, any intoxicating liquors on the day when any National, State or Municipal election is held in in said city of Woburn, and that the licensee, who is also licensed as an innholder, shall not, on the day of any such election, sell, give away or delive", in his inn, any intoxicating liquors except to gnests duly registered.

"Eighth—This license shall be subject to a forfeiture, as provided in Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, for breach of any of its conditions; and in case the licensee is convicted in a court of competent jurisdiction of having violated any of such conditions, his license shall thereupon become void.

"The said Board shall require licenses to close permanently all entrances to the licensed premises other than those from the public street or streets upon which such premises are situated, and also, to remove any screen, blind, shutter, curtain, partition, painted, ground, or stained glass window or any obstacle which may interfere with the licensed premises."

Does any fair minded Aldermen, under oath, think that any man is going to pay $1800 for the privilege of being bound by such restrictions.

If the applicant for license had the least idea that the Aldermen meant to enforce the law he wouldn't give ten dollars for a license.

The following object lesson may be of service to the Aldermen in showing the absurdity of granting licenses to well known criminals.

SALE OF LIQUOR LICENSED—THE LAW AS IT IS.

In a city which at its annual municipal election votes to authorize the granting of license for the sale of intoxicating liquors * * licenses * * may be granted annually by the Mayor and Aldermen to persons applying therefor. (Pub. St. chap. 100, § 5.)

Nine hundred and ninety-nine persons in every thousand are hereby absolutely prohibited from stealing; but if the town or city shall vote to license stealing, then the thousandth person shall be licensed to steal for one year from the first day of the following May.

In all towns and cities which vote to grant licenses, the number of places licensed for the sale of such liquors shall not exceed one for each one thousand of the population. (Statute 1888, ch. 340.)

The Mayor and Aldermen, may at any time refuse to issue a license to a person whom they deem unfit to receive the same (Pub. St. ch. 100, § 8.)

Every person licensed to steal shall be of strict integrity and unquestioned honesty.

Each license of the first, second and third classes shall be subject to the condition that the licensee shall hold a license as an innholder or common victualler. (Pub. St. ch. 100, § 9, clause 5.)

No sale of spirituous or intoxicating liquors shall be made between the hours of eleven at night and six in the morning, nor during the Lord's day. (Idem. clause 2.)

He shall not steal after eleven o'clock at night nor before six in the morning, nor on Sunday.

No sale or delivery of liquor shall be made to a person known to be a drunkard, to an intoxicated person or to a minor. (Idem. clause 4.)

He shall not steal from minors or from persons from whom his associates in crime have already stolen during the day.

Any common victaller having a license to sell intoxicating liquors who shall sell, give away or deliver any of such liquors on Fast Day, on Memorial Day, or Thanksgiving Day, or Christmas Day, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in Section 18 of chapter 100. (St. 1888, capt.

He shall not steal on legal holidays, except on Washington's birthday and the 4th of July.

The fees for license shall be, for a license of the first class, not less than one thousand dollars. (Stat. 1888. ch. 341.

As a part compensation for the proverty, wretchedness and misery he causes by his stealing, he shall pay one thousand dollars annually to the City Treasury.

It is well understoon that some who have applied for licenses are the agents of the former criminals liquor dealers who dare not apply themselves for licenses but as is reported are to furnish their agents with the capital to carry on the business.

Therefore, we ask the Board of Aldermen before they grant a license to carefully inquire into the facts in these cases.

In order that you and the public may be rightly informed as to those who have been convicted since May 1, 1890 to March 21, 1891. I give the following names convicted from May 1, 1890 to March 21, 1891: James H. Burke, John A. Doherty, Patrick Lynch, Peter Lafferty, Annie Marlow, James McGaffigan, Bernard E. Devlin, George E. Mitchell, John F. Nason, Michael Reddy, Michael Maloney, Bridget Callahan, William E. Graney, Hugh McCall, Warren C. Perrigo, James McGaffigan, Joseph A. McMullin, Warren C. Perrigo, Catherine Meehan, Owen H. O'Rourke, James H. Burke, John H. Garvey, Owen H. O'Rourke, William McDonough, Patrick F. Kerrigan, William A. Granfield.

Now I give the names of those who have applied for licenses: John McGovern, Peter Kenney, Thomas Moore, Samuel D. Thompson, John Connolly, John Maloney, Lawrence Martin, McNulty & McLaughlin, Meehan & Mahuire, John F. Scally, Thomas McGovern, Patrick F. Kerrigan, Michael Clancy, Michael Reddy, John B. Dever, Bernard F. Ferrin, Bernard McHugh, Anthony A. Doherty, John Shinkwin, Thomas Merriam, John N. Garvey.

Public Statute, Chapter 100, Section 7. "The owner of any real estate adjoining the premises described in the application for license may object to his having a license. If in case such license is granted after such objection has been filed, the license may be revoked by any Justice of the Peace." (Read the section and it will explain itself.)

We appeal to the Aldermen of the City of Woburn in behalf of the families that must suffer if licenses are granted. Manhood, health, happiness, comfort, sustenance, labor, money, peace, and good order must yield to the saloon. The liquor men have become thoroughly organized to perpetuate their infernal business and ask you to protect them by law at the same time defying all law. So we ask you for a manly and faithful defense against the saloon. The drunken howls that have come from the licensed bar-rooms in Woburn were enough to smother the songs, prayers, sermons and the benidictions of all the churches. No brush, pen or tongue save that of an Archangel can depict the reality. Gentlemen, I know it will take time, tact, nerve, brain and common sense, and a self-sacrificing spirit on your part to grant licenses strictly according to law. Therefore, we ask you to follow the spirit and letter of the law independendent of party or creed.

Yours for Suffering Humanity,
HUGH MONTGOMERY.

April 6, 1891.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters curee him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

The spire of St. Helen's Church in the Isle of Wight, which was built in the beginning of the last Century and shortly afterward struck by lightning, had, as was supposed, the large bell of its chime cracked as the tone was very much muffled. The other day, a church warden named Calloway happened to be in the belfry and through curiosity examined the bell. He found that there was no crack in it, but a piece of wood broken from the wheel was pressing against the edge and stopping the vibration. This being removed, the bell, after being muffled for 170 years, rang out merrily, to the astonishment of the inhabitants of the town.

Thousands Poisoned.

In a recent work on Heart Disease, Dr. Franklin Miles—the noted specialist—gives many new and startling facts. Thousands of people are slowly poisoning themselves, weakening their hearts by the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol. These are Heart Whips, causing it to beat rapidly, thus gradually wearing it out, producing shortness of breath when exercising, pains in side and shoulder, hungry and faint spells. Finally heart failure and sudden death. For weakened and irritated hearts the press everywhere highly recommend the New Heart Cure discovered by Dr. Franklin Miles, which is for sale by Charles H. Buss.

A Brooklyn policeman at the big bridge who keeps his pockets full of matches for the accommodation of smokers, distributes his favors with great discrimination. A man with an unlighted cigarette is rebuffed by him with a gruff "No, sir." A man with an unlighted cigar is answered with a "Certainly, sir," and a match. A pedestrian with an unlighted pipe gets a warm "With pleasure, sir," and half a dozen matches if he wishes them.

Everybody Knows

That at this season the blood is filled with impurities, the accumulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated stores, workshops and tenements. All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other diseases may be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

J. C. Carney and wife of San Diego, Cal., arrived as far as St. Louis, last week on their bridal tour to the East. Near the latter city the husband kissed his wife on the train, when she got mad and refused to go any further with him. He held her trunks and she sued out a writ of replevin. When the constable came to serve the writ Mr. Carney looked so disconsolate that the foolish wife relented, kissed him and then accompanied him to a hotel.

To My Friends.

As you are well aware that I would not recommend that which I did not believe to be good, I desire to say to all who need a good, reliable, family medicine, that I believe one bottle of Sulphur Bitters will do you more good than any other remedy I ever saw.—REV. CEPHAS SOULE.

Gen. Greely, Chief Signal officer, says the popular belief that when a storm clears up in the evening foul weather will again occur very soon, is altogether without foundation. That the weather frequently acts in this way is undoubtedly true, but it may be a mere coincidence.

Fortunate Father and Son.

"I am as certain as I now live," says C. E. Bartholomew, of Kalkaska, Mich., "that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life when I was a victim of Bright's Disease. My son had a fever sore on his leg. He, too, used Favorite Remedy and is now well. But for this medicine I am sure both father and son would have been six feet under the sod."

In the proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society for January, 1891, it is estimated that the population of the world in 1890 was 1,487,600,000, representing an average of 31 to the square mile, and an increase of 8 per cent during the decade.

Despite the very best attention bestowed upon the baby, it will grow sick and troublesome by reason of colic, diarrhœa, teething, etc. Do not fail, then, to use Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price 25 cents.

A bad case of catarrh or influenza will always yield to the mild curative qualities of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. Price only 25c.

An acute observer remarked recently that, according to his observation, there are in the ordinary pastorate three well defined periods. In the first the pastor is idolized; in the second he is criticised; in the third he is cauterized.

Spring Style Hats
— AT —
Munroe's Clothing House.

All the nobby and staple shapes in MEN'S and BOYS' DERBY and SOFT HATS, made expressly for us, are now ready. Please come and see the largest stock ever shown in this vicinity. We will give you the best hat for the least money.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Prince Bismarck has bought a newspaper.

The Queen of Denmark is a fine pianist.

New York will hold an eight-hour conference.

Jersey City Heights, N. J., has a workmen's free school.

Carriagemakers and wheelwrights will form a national body.

The Sultan of Turkey is deeply interested in the World's Fair.

The Greensburg (Penn.) coke strike in ten days cost a half million.

Pittsburg's builders' society talks of working with the men's unions.

New York Government laborers recently struck against nine hours.

The Operative Painters' Union, of New York, was organized in 1842.

The Flint Glass Workers' Union has 7000 members and $90,000 in bank.

A bill preventing the employment of persons under fourteen years passed in Ohio.

The Lehigh (Penn) Iron Company has reduced the wages of its employes ten per cent.

A bill before the Massachusetts Legislature fixes the number of cars for each brakeman.

Queen Liliuokalani, who succeeds Kalakaua on the Hawaiian throne, is fifty-two years old.

General Mahone is preparing to build a town at the mouth of Cove Creek in Tazewell County, Va.

The Knights of Labor decided to send $75,000 to the 20,000 locked out clothing workers at Rochester.

John D. Rockefeller, of the Standard Oil Company, has given nearly $2,000,000 to educational institutions.

The strikers in the coke region of Pennsylvania have been defeated, after sacrificing nearly $1,000,000 in wages.

The Lords of the Admiralty have granted an increase of wages to employes in the Government dock yards in England.

In England, the average annual production of each employe is $496, of which the laborer receives $296 and capital $200.

Over 260,000 miners, metal workers, and other organized workmen will strike in Belgium on May 1 to gain the eight-hour workday.

George Francis Train, of New York is as agile and muscular as he was twenty years ago, and walks with the same brisk energy.

In France a medical man cannot be compelled to divulge, even in a court of law, the nature of the disease for which he has treated a patient.

There are about six hundred woman typesetters in New York. They are employed chiefly in the publishing houses and on the afternoon papers.

Fifteen conductors on the Michigan Central Railroad have lost their places by showing sympathy for penniless unfortunates, who turned out to be "spotters."

Where are those excellent individuals who were so cock-sure four months ago that Mayor Matthews had sufficient backbone to withstand the hungry and thirsty Democratic politicians?

The city election in Chicago takes place on Tuesday of next week. There are five candidates for Mayor, and the Democracy is badly split up by the rival ambitions of Mayor Cregier and ex-Mayor Harrison.

The bill to permit the purchase of new machinery for use in the State Prison, reformatories and Houses of Correction is so reasonable that the only surprising thing is that any legislation should be necessary.

Mr. Isaac Fenno has every qualification for the duties of a Park Commissioner. There was only one objection to him, and that is that his place was wanted for a Democrat. But an objection of this kind is apparently all-potent under the present municipal administration.

THE ENGINEER'S DOG.

It Was Slide's Canine Instinct That Prevented a Railroad Wreck.

"Yes, sir," remarked the gray haired gentleman with a slight tremor in his voice, "I have given up railroading now, having become a little bit too far advanced upon the road of life to sit in a cab and make a locomotive move. Oh! you want to know about that dog of mine. All right. I used to run into Chicago on the Lake Shore on old 432. That dog never missed a trip over the road with me, and I owe my life to him upon more than one occasion. His name's 'Slide,' not of 'Slide, Kelly, slide!' fame, however. I'd go down to the roundhouse and see my old girl run out, and then monkey about her to see that nothing was out of whack until it was time to start.

"Right at the hour Slide could be seen coming down the street with my dinner basket in his old mouth. When it became time to start I'd give the whistle a chance, and Slide would be on board in the cab beside me. That dog never would walk. He was too blooded for that. It became no trick at all for him to climb out on the foot board, run along and jump down on the pilot, get up again on the other side and walk into the other window. Whenever we got to New York Slide would go down and ride into town, big as life, on the cow catcher. I even taught him to pull the whistle cord whenever I commanded. Everybody along the line knew him. When I got down to oil my wheels he would always follow and watch to see that no kids jumped on the locomotive.

"I remember distinctly one stormy night as I was approaching Chicago. There was a tremendous tempest on the lake, for I could hear the dull roar of the waves beat upon the shore. I had to lay upon a siding and wait for orders to pull in over any one of the fifty tracks that spread out near the city. There was a little telegraph station a few rods away from where I lay. Orders were confidently expected in a few minutes, but they did not come. My fireman and I got lonely sitting out there in the driving rain, and not even distinguishing each other's voices in the din. I remember Tom yelling "it'll be a hard time out on the lake to-night," and then the light came from the station bobbing up and down, and someone came hurrying up and gave me the written orders to proceed over the last track to one of the stations on the outskirts of the city and lay there until a special had passed.

"Well, the brakeman got down to throw the switch, when Slide made a bee line out of the cab and flew at the fellow as though he had gone crazy and back. Why, he simply tore sounds into shreds. He jumped at the fellow every time he made a movement for the switch. He would crouch down and beg and whine terribly.

"'Say, Charley, I won't touch that switch,' the brakey said as he walked toward me with a white face. 'There's something gone wrong, and I know it,' he went on. At first I laughed, but gradually something strange came over me suddenly. I could feel the warm perspiration trickling down my backbone. The conductor got impatient and yelled to us to pull out. The brakeman started back to throw the switch again, but, sir, the dog displayed the same tactics and even bit the brakeman's hands. Just then there was a sudden lull in the storm. The most mournful howl I ever heard came from that animal.

"'My God, look!' cried the brakeman, pointing up the track. Both of us sprung to our posts and peered toward Chicago. A great red light came like a flash out of the inky blackness and the special rushed past us like a whirlwind and was gone.

"Four white faces looked into one another

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE GYPSY MOTH.

Since Gov. Russell has made up his mind to deal heroically with the Gypsy Moth Winchester and other towns adjacent to Medford breathe easier. For two or three years past the liability of the pestiferous exotic to invade the Mystic Valley has kept the people there in an almost constant state of alarm; but now that the Governor has placed the task of annihilating the creature into the hands of a new and more vigorous Commission with the assurance that civil and, if necessary, military aid from the Commonwealth will be furnished to protect the land from the ravages of the devouring insect, our good neighbors at Winchester and Arlington go to bed nights with a feeling of safety that has been a stranger to their bosoms ever since the startling discovery was made by eminent Boston Bugologists that Medford was in the jaws of the insatiate monster.

We congratulate them.

A ROW OVER THE LICENSES.

Common report has it that all is not harmony in the city government over the question of granting liquor licenses. It is said that Mayor Bean has several particular friends to whom he promised permits to sell rum in return for value received in the campaign last December; and that his three Aldermanic coworkers also have made like promises to sundry persons; likewise that the four anti-Mayor Aldermen have scattered assurances of the same nature right and left among their supporters and strikers.

Now the trouble is, there are not enough appointments to go around and somebody has got to go back on his word. The Mayor however has the whip-row of the others and if he plays his little game shrewdly his friends will be likely to get their licenses. But the Aldermen have a sharp eye on his movements.

A NOTABLE REUNION.

In another column of the JOURNAL may be seen a notice for a meeting of the Anti-Slavery Veterans of 1848-65 who helped organize the Republican party in 1854, to be held at Tremont Temple in Boston on April 15.

If generally attended, as no doubt it will be, the meeting cannot fail to be one of more than ordinary interest.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

W. H. A. W.—Fair.
W. N. Blake—Notice.
M. C. Davis—Concert.
C. D. Adams—To Let.
K. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
F. A. Loring—For Sale.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
L. G. Waldon—Tailoring.
J. S. Wheeler—For Sale.
C. E. Smith—Wall Paper.
N. M. Maxwell—Opening.
C. E. Smith—"No Strike."
62 Mt. Pleasant St.—For Sale.
Johnson & G.—Windsor Hotel.
N. W. Ayer & Son—None Such.
City of Woburn—App. for License.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Read "To Let" by Judge Adams.

— Yesterday was a shade more like spring.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe sets forth the attractions at his store in a new advertisement.

— Mr. J. S. Wheeler advertises a foot-power lathe for sale.

— Please glance at the change in the card of G. R. Gage & Co.

— Call at 62 Mt. Pleasant street and buy a Goddard buggy cheap.

— Lots of fun for the children in Mrs. Lamb's entertainment Thursday afternoon.

— Mrs. Orenda T. Adams met with a fall on Franklin St. last Sunday and broke her thigh.

— Mr. Peter Kenney has been confined to his house several weeks by illness. He is improving.

— Mr. E. C. Cottle is connecting his leather establishment with the main railroad track by a spur.

— Children, go to Hammond's and get tickets to sell for the H. A. W. Fair. You get one for selling ten.

— The baseball fever is now at its height in this city. Several Nines are possible, and more than one probable.

— Rev. Mr. Parker will preach at the Old Ladies' Home at the North Village at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

Forty-seven years ago today Watt Brown, the gateman at Church Avenue, went to work for the Lowell railroad. —Boston Paper. 57, if you please.

— The journeymen painters of this city are out on a strike to secure $2.50 a day. It is thought that matters will be amicably settled by the bosses and men.

— Mr. James Doherty, son-in-law of Mr. M. McKay of Chestnut st., has bought a fine residence at Somerville.

— Mr. John Gilcreast, Superintendent of the Woburn Gaslight Co., has had a severe attack of plurisy but is now much better.

— Auctioneer Gregory is making business in real estate go lively. Last Saturday he sold the Carrie R. Richardson property on Vining Court at a good figure.

— Yesterday afternoon we received a call from Mr. A. L. Smith, member of the Manchester (N. H.) Union Editorial Staff and formerly a resident of Woburn.

— A servant girl in a family in Winn street left home on Fast Day since which nothing has been heard from her. Her family are greatly worried about her.

— Let every one get their supper at Music Hall on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16.

— The next meeting of the W. W. C. will be held in Music Hall, on Friday, April 17, at 3 P. M. Mrs. Livermore will address the Club on "Unmarried Women."

— Lambeth's celebrated Scotch choir will give a grand concert in Lyceum Hall on the evening of April 15, under the auspices of Clan MacKinnon, O. S. C. It will be a fine one.

— Next Sunday at the new Methodist Church the following music will be rendered by the Organist:

Prelude.	Hymne a Sainte Cecile.	Gounod.
Offertory.	I waited for the Lord.	Mendelssohn
Postlude.	Gloria Patri.	Barnby.

— In the list of applicants for licenses published in this paper there are several people who have been convicted of illegal rumselling. Let us watch and see if any of them get licenses this time.

— Mr. Curtis Greenwood who has not been well for several months but had so far recovered as to be able to attend to his business, has experienced a severe relapse and is now confined to his bed.

— Pastor Washburn of the First Congregational Church at Falmouth, formerly of the No. Woburn Congregational church, sent to this office a neat programme of Easter services at his church.

— The Phalanx passed a very creditable inspection last Friday evening by Col. Keeler of the Governor's Staff and Major Whitney and Adjt. Bullard. More of the members ought have answered roll-call.

— A young man by the name of Currier was buried in a gravel pit near the Maverick Co's oil tank at Montvale last Friday, and although taken out alive soon after the accident, yet he died on Saturday.

— A promising revival of religion is in progress at the First Baptist church in this city. The evening meetings are largely attended and at each numbers occupy the anxious seats and many are converted.

— Mr. L. G. Waldon, merchant tailor, has an advertisement in this paper to which we call attention. He has been in business here a few months and those who have employed him speak well of his work.

— Miss Fannie T. Hartwell has left Rock Ledge, Florida, where she has been visiting her uncle's family, and after going to Jacksonville, St. Augustine and some other places of interest will return to her home in this city.

— The Board of Cemetery Commissioners met in Municipal Building last Monday and organized for 1891 as follows: Chairman, Judge P. L. Converse; Secretary, Mr. John Ferguson; Superintendent, Mr. L. L. Whitney.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery is attending the North Boston M. E. yearly conference in Boston this week. It is understood that, in compliance with the wishes of his church people, he will be reappointed to the church in this city.

— Miss Georgie Rogers, daughter of Mr. Geo. R. Rogers, was given a surprise and a beautiful gold ring by her school mates at her home on Mt. Pleasant last Saturday evening. It was not only a complete surprise but a very pleasant affair.

— Mr. John C. Andrews has taken an agency for a book binding firm in Boston and is ready to receive orders. Drop a postal addressed to 62 Prospect street and he will call with samples of binding and give prices. The work is guaranteed to be first class.

— Last Saturday Edward W. Packard, aged 22 years, who was married last New Year's, died suddenly in Charles Taylor's barn where he had been taken by his fellow workmen in a field near by when very suddenly attacked by the fatal disease.

— The ball given by Nahmeokee Council, D. of P., last week Thursday evening was a gay affair. The floor managers were Frank Meuchin, assisted by A. T. Webber, D. K. Colegate, A. U. Dixon, S. M. Brittan. Conductor O. J. Hart was in his glory.

— The great auction sale of horses and carriages at the Central House Stables to-morrow, Saturday, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, will no doubt attract a big crowd of buyers It will be one of the largest and most important sales that has taken place in Woburn for years.

— Mr. Thomas Todd, who 30 years or more ago was a respected resident of Pleasant st., Woburn, died last week at the home of Mr. Isaac Sears in Brookline at the ripe age of over 80 years. Mr. Frederic A. Flint of this city attended the funeral in Brookline last Monday afternoon.

— If people would study the practical workings of the McKinley tariff bill they should step into the Boston Branch and buy 20 lbs. of sugar for $1.00. Before the bill went into effect on April 1, they would have got 14 lbs. for their dollar. The McKinley bill isn't very bad to take, is it?

— Mrs. Hannah Richardson, relict of the late Gilbert Richardson, died last Monday at the advanced age of 91 years. Her home was in Winchester very near the Woburn line and there the most of her quiet and happy life was passed. She was the mother of the wife of Organist Clarke.

— The names of the officers of the Woburn Retail Grocers Association are: President, Thomas J. White; Vice President, John Maloney; Secretary, Charles T. Dearborn; Treasurer, William H. Curtis; Executive Committee, John Cummings, 2d, Thomas Salmon, Frederick E. Perkins.

— There is no strike at C. E. Smith's. He has 8 good jour painters at work for him and is not only doing a big stroke of work but is ready to contract for inside and outside painting and decorating at the lowest figures. Among other jobs he is painting Judge Converse's fine residence just now.

— Capt. J. Henry Simonds will soon move his paper, The Upholsterer, to New York City, where it will be published in the future. Capt. Symonds established the paper in Boston 21 years ago next month and has made a marked success of it in every way. His family will remain in this city for the present.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor of the M. E. Church in this city, has an article on the first page of the JOURNAL, to which we call attention, more particularly that of the City government. He is waging hot warfare against licensing people to sell rum in this community, for which he deserves the thanks of all decent people.

— We were asked to give notice in the last issue of the JOURNAL that a Republican meeting would be held on Saturday evening at Concert Hall for the transaction of special business. The meeting was appointed for Monday evening instead of the preceeding Saturday evening, but it was no fault of ours that the error in the published date was made.

— By special request the charming Operetta, "Gyp Jr.," successfully presented in Woburn last year, will be given in G. A. R. Hall, Winchester, Tuesday evening, April 28, 1891, under the management of Mrs. Annie E. Strout. A selected and trained chorus of attractively costumed children with violin solos, duets, etc., with cornet and piano accompaniments make pleasing music.

— The 76th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Julia Wendall of 16 Charles St., was observed in a pleasant manner by many of her numerous friends at her home. It was a complete surprise to the venerable lady but none the less welcome and agreeable on that account. Many valuable takens of love and esteem were presented to Mrs. Wendall by members of the party.

— Mrs. N. M. Maxwell's Spring Millinery Opening will take place on Thursday and Friday, April 16 and 17, at her elegant parlors, No. 419 Main street, recently occupied by Mrs. Packard. She has beautiful goods this spring. Her bonnets, hats, ribbons, laces, feathers, etc., are all of the very latest styles and as rich as anything that can be found in Boston. Please bear in mind the date of the grand opening.

— The prospect now is that, on the score of numbers present, Miss Mabel Davis's concert, "Il Trovatore," is going to be a big thing. Musically—why, it goes without saying that it will be choice. Please observe the names of the musicians who will participate in it and then say whether you think it will be a success or not. Tickets are for sale at J. W. Hammond & Son's. For further particulars see announcement in another column.

— Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott made big hauls of contraband rum last Sunday. When the vessels containing the "stuff" were carted through the street they made quite a show. The places where liquors were seized were: Dennis E. Callahan, 97 Prospect st., beer; Patrick Lynch, 7 Albany st., 12 cases lager beer; James McKitrick, 13 Arlington st., barrel ale; Michael J. McHugh, 26 James st., barrel beer and one gallon whiskey; Frank Winn, 26 Richardson st., barrel beer; Annie Gilgun, Canal st., barrel beer; John H. Garvey, 39 Main st., small quantity beer, and Dennis McGrath, 34 Main st., three barrels of beer.

— Last Friday Mr. Thomas H. Marrinan, the cornetist, met with an accident at Moseley's tannery in Winchester which will lay him up for some weeks. At that time and place he was assisting in lowering a piece of machinery which weighed 1600 pounds when it suddenly swung back and caught his right hand, producing a compound fracture and dislocation of one finger and a severe bruising of another. It is feared that the fracture of the finger may disqualify Mr. Marrinan for future service as a cornetist and perhaps as a band-leader, although it is hoped not. Dr. Murphy was called and dressed the wounded hand.

— Mr. L. W. Cooper is in town today. He says that his claim against the city of Woburn has not been disallowed, as recently reported. The whole bill amounted to only $6 for "medical supplies, soda, cigars, etc.," caused by neglect of the Superintendent of Streets, and the only hitch comes in the fact that the Superintendent objects to the "and so forth" clause, but it will probably be settled.—Taunton Gazette. It is understood that the Superintendent of Streets intends to look into this business more carefully after he gets through with his spring's work. Then if he finds it all straight and right he will O. K. it. But before he does this he says he has got to have more light on "medical supplies, soda, cigars, etc." than he now has.

— The City Reports for 1890 are in great demand at Municipal Building principally on account of the Appendix which contains the full recorded list of marriages which took place in Woburn from its settlement to 1873, prepared by Judge E. F. Johnson, by whom also were the lists of Births and Deaths during the same period wrought off and arranged. The three lists, so carefully and conscientiously prepared by Judge Johnson, make a very valuable addition to the already published history of the town. It was a work of love and pride by him, for which he well deserves the hearty thanks of the people of Woburn, especially of the descendants of the original settlers of the town among whom Judge Johnson is a worthy example.

— Ivory G. Kimball, Esq., whom President Harrison has just appointed to a seat on the Police Court Bench of Washington, D. C., is a highly esteemed resident of that city and a member of the Bar of more than 20 years standing. As a lawyer he has a record for ability and personal and professional integrity second to no practitioner in the Court of Claims or the U. S. Supreme Judicial Court—the arena of a large share of his legal practice. Judge Kimball was born at Jay, Maine, 48 years ago, his father being a brother of Mr. George W. Kimball of this city, Mr. William Kimball of Wilton, N. H., and of the late Israel Kimball of Washington, who was the acknowledged father of the Internal Revenue System adopted as a War measure in the early days of the Rebellion. These Kimballs—10 boys of them—were natives of Wells, York County, Maine, and one of them was the father of the new Judge of the Washington Police Court. They were an intelligent and highly respectable family, and nobody ever saw a person with any of the Kimball blood in his or her veins that was not honest.

— The new lessees and managers of Windsor Hotel in this city are Johnson & Gavin, recently from Concord, N. H. They are experienced people in the business and propose to conduct the Windsor in such a manner that it will recommend itself and attract a liberal share of public patronage. The house has been renovated, cleansed and put into firstclass order from underpinning to collarbeam; new furniture, carpets, etc., have been supplied throughout; improvements of utility have been made; so that in the future the Windsor will be second to no hotel in Middlesex county in the completeness of its appointments, its table supplies and service, and its accommodations. Johnson & Gavin will open the house to-morrow, Saturday, to transient custom and permanent boarders.

— If anyone doubts the fact that the present city government has lucid intervals (more or less remote from each other) he or she is respectfully referred to the reappointment of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. Brown as Master and Matron of the City Almshouse last week. That certainly was a sensible thing to do and militates strongly against an opinion which prevails in some circles to the effect that the present administration, owing to internal dissensions, is a failure. It would be a difficult matter to fill the shoes of Master and Matron Brown and very wisely, everybody will say, the "powers that be" made no move to supplant these excellent managers of our Almshouse and its inmates. They have served Woburn long, faithfully and profitably for the town in their present capacity, and it will be for the public interests to keep them where they are.

— Judging from the number of published applications for license in this city this spring rumselling must be a profitable trade, or at least it is thought to be so by a good many people. We do not think it is a profitable trade, and when the rumseller comes to the point where he has got to give a true account of "deeds done in the body" and to receive his reward for the same we have an idea that he will agree with the JOURNAL in thinking there isn't much profit to be got out of the nefarious traffic in a commodity the use of which destroys body and soul. And when it is remembered that money got by selling rum is almost always certain to prove a curse to the seller or his family or both; that it seldom "sticks" but "takes wings" and leaves behind it something worse than poverty; that as a rule rumsellers get a share of their just deserts in this life—when these and kindred facts are taken into consideration rumselling don't seem to be such a very profitable trade in the end as many men take it to be.

— Let no one fail to hear the new Mayor's opening address at the "Managers Reception" Wednesday evening.

Woman's Club.

On Friday afternoon, April 3, Miss Sibylla A. Bailey of Boston lectured before the Woburn Woman's Club on "The History of Music," illustrating her thoughts by recitations on the piano. She traced the history of music from the early ages, long before the advent of Christ, to the present time, interspersing her remarks with tales of the influence the gods of mythology were said to have had on the birth and growth of music. Beginning with the Egyptians, whose musical record is of much greater antiquity than that of other people's, Miss Bailey sketched the development of the art of music and the construction of musical instruments by the Hebrew, Chinese, Hindoo, Siamese, Grecian, Turkish and Roman nations. The Romans invented no musical instruments, but they readily adopted those of other nations, receiving a knowledge of music from their foreign captives. In Italy the art of music increased steadily.

Guido, the eminent Italian musician and ecclesiastic, was the inventor of the modern system of notation in music; and he taught the use of thirds and spaces. Italy can proudly claim that great composer of modern times—Rossini. The world is largely indebted to Christian monks for the growth of religious music and the chant; and through them music was introduced into England.

The first regular church choir was established by Constantine in Antioch.

In England the art of music passed through many changes advancing steadily and during the reign of Elizabeth modern church music was invented and systematized and Oratorio was first composed.

During the reign of Charles II. of England the Violin was invented; this advance was checked during the Protectorate when all the arts were more or less neglected.

In France, in Charlemagne's reign, church music received much attention, but it is to the Troubadours that the French are indebted for a serious study of music.

There is an air of lightness, of gaiety, of frivolity, even in the music of France—with one exception—the patriotic music, which is soul stirring and means "to conquer or to die."

Miss Bailey briefly spoke of the music of the Swiss, Slavonians, the Russians and the Swedes.

She dwelt some time on the music of the Germans. Germany has achieved grander results in this divine art than has any other country; not only are the people as a whole musical, but individual Germans have won lasting fame as composers and players.

In Germany are the Minne singers; in France, the Troubadours; in Scotland, the Minstrels; in England, the Ballad singers—each having like characteristics, yet a dissimilarity of voice, manner and action.

The 14th and 15th centuries saw great changes in church music owing to the influence of John Huss and Martin Luther.

Before closing her paper Miss Bailey gave a brief sketch of the work of some of the greatest musical composers.

Miss Bailey sang pleasingly a German Christmas Song; she played a Hebrew Ancient Chant written in minor key, and played an air from the Chinese which seemed to resemble the "click, click," of the chop stick, as the Heathen Chinee he eat muchee, he crunchee.

After the close of the paper Miss Bailey most graciously acceded to the wishes of the Club and played snatches from the great composers; and she sang most sweetly to her own accompaniment Tennyson's "Song of the Brook," and one could hear the water ripple, gurgle, dance and skip, as did the brook the Poet Laureate loved so well.

Pity the unpleasant weather prevented more than half the Club from enjoying Miss Bailey's double efforts of lecturer and musician.—G. M. B.

Prizes for Ladies.

A CHANCE TO SECURE FROM $10 to $100 BY WRITING AN ESSAY.

BOSTON, April 8.—An important notice to all the ladies of New England is appearing every day now in the Boston Daily Globe, 14 prizes running from $10 to $100 being offered. It requires simply a little literary effort on the part of the ladies. Every lady reader of this paper should get the Daily Globe and see the offer in full.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

Woburn Post, No. 161, Celebrated.

Last Monday evening two events happened in this city one of which we will try to give a brief description of.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

It was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the first Post of the Grand Army of the Republic in the United States by Woburn Post, No. 161, and Burbank Post, No. 33. The latter was an informal affair; the former a very elaborate one.

HISTORY.

Dr. B. F. Stephenson, surgeon of the 14th Illinois Infantry, and Chaplain W. J. Rutledge of the same Regiment, talked, as they marched under Sherman in Mississippi in '64, of the capacity for good in an organization of Veterans, and agreed, if spared, to work out some plan to that end. In March, 1866, they, with others, met at Springfield, Ill., and on the 6th day of April, 1866, the first Post was organized at Decatur, Ill.

IN CHARGE.

Commander Frank W. Graves was in charge and welcomed the visitors in an appropriate address He was assisted by other officers of the Post.

THE COMPANY.

Post 161 Hall was crowded with invited guests, and a happier party is seldom seen.

DEGORATIONS.

The Hall presented a beautiful and very cheerful appearance. There were flags, flowers, and verdure arranged in such effective ways as to give the hall the air and attractiveness of a summer bower. Its beauty was a theme of general praise.

THE SUPPER.

This was the work of the ladies and was pronounced "good" by everyone who was so fortunate as to get a taste of it. There was an abundance of everything palatable.

POSTPRANDIAL.

Miss Grace Whittemore, Preceptress at Ashley Hall, sang several songs in a charming manner, which were accompanied by Miss Maggie Thompson on the pianoforte, who also rendered some piano solos delightfully. Rev. Dr. March and School Supt. Frank B. Richardson made the speeches of the evening that were longest and loudest applauded, although Commander Graves's welcome was well cheered. There was also speaking by Mayor Bean, E. H. Lounsbury, Mrs Octavia Dorr, President of Relief Corps 83, Capt. William C. Parker, Hon. J. G. Pollard, and several others. Comrade E. F. Wyer read a letter from the Commander-in-Chief.

FINIS.

It was pronounced a grand social event without a dissenting vote, and all left the hall with its praises on their tongues.

Veteran Republicans of Massachusetts.

All surviving Anti-Slavery Veterans, dating from 1848 to 1865, who aided and united with the Republican party in the defence of the Union, are requested to assemble in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Wednesday, April 15, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., and at 2 o'clock P. M., for social reunion and greetings, as well as for consultation upon important measures of the government and party in the past, which bear upon the immediate future, and which are of vital interest to the whole people. Eminent speakers will address the meeting, and advisory resolutions will be passed.

Admission will be by tickets free, which will be furnished on application, personally or by mail, to Headquarters, 74 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass., previous to April 10th.

STEPHEN M. ALLEN,
Surviving Presiding Officer of the Worcester Convention, July 20, 1854, which formed and gave name to the Republican Party of Massachusetts.

March 4, 1891.

P. S.—Sons and Daughters of Veterans will be admitted to the afternoon services by separate tickets which must be applied for at once or at least a week before the meeting.

Journalistic.

The new sporting weekly called The Referee made its bow to the public last Saturday at the office of its publication, No. 511 Washington st., Boston, from whence it will be regularly issued every week by the Referee Publishing Company, and Editorilly conducted by Mr. Edward A. Perry, whilom London correspondent of the Boston Herald and its dramatic critic for several years. The paper has a clean look about it that newspaper men will appreciate, while its contents are fresh, racy and readable. Success to it.

A change has recently taken place in the proprietorship of the Wakefield (Mass.) Citizen and Banner, the same having been purchased by Mr. Maitland P. Foster, who mounted the Editorial Tripod last week and from it proclaimed his intention of making a local paper equal in merit to any in Middlesex county. If the new proprietor will abreviate the name of the paper he will have the JOURNAL's best wishes for his success.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

[For the Journal.]

Notable Reunions.

The last day of March and the second day of April of the present Spring were rendered memorable by reunions of rare interest in a circle of relatives consisting in the main of the same persons. On the evening of the former date, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith gave a "tea-party reception" to Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hackett and daughter of St. Paul, Minn., which a goodly number of invited guests greatly enjoyed. A table very tastefully decorated with flowers and laden with the choicest good things, was surrounded by a happy company, the Rev. Dr. March and the Hon. J. G. Pollard being charged with the special responsibility of adding dignity to the pleasure. At each plate was a beautiful souvenir bouquet appropriate to Easter, and there was a rare combination of attractions which the guests will not easily forget.

All this was the introduction to the still greater occasion yet to come at the residence of E. E. Thompson, on Montvale Avenue, on the 2d instant. Taking advantage of the visit to Woburn of Mr. Hackett and family from Minnesota, his Woburn friends, almost at the last hour, decided to call together, so far as possible, the scattered Hackett family for a reunion. At very short notice accordingly, there came together, besides Mr. Hackett and wife, Mrs. Luther Crane, Lyndeboro, N. H.; Mrs. D R Marshall, Nashua, N. H; Mr. William Jewett and wife, Waverly Mass.; Mr. Jacob Wright and wife, Abijah Thompson and wife, and E Everett Thompson and wife, Woburn. Here were six sisters and one brother, the only surviving children of the late Ephraim Hackett, of Wilton, N. H., their ages ranging from 60 upward to 77 years, two brothers having long since deceased.

In the second and third generations, were Miss Florence Hackett of St. Paul, Minn., Miss Sarah Jewett of Waverly, Mass., Miss Abby Cram of Lyndeboro, N. H., Mr. Elmer D. Marshall of Nashua, N. H., Mr. T. Benton Tidd, wife and three daughters, Mrs. Emma Thompson Dow, with three sons and one daughter; Mr. C. M. Strout, wife and two sons; and Mr. C. W. Smith wife and two children, a son and a daughter. Rev. L. Thompson, providentially present, was also an honorary member of the party.

The youngest person present was 6 and the oldest 82 years of age. The aggregate age of the six sisters and their brother, was 486 years, and the aggregate age of the whole party of thirty-five persons was 1484 years.

These thirty-five persons, embracing three generations of the Hackett family, gathered around a table extending through the double parlor and having an expansion at one end of it, and all abundantly supplied with a variety of tempting eatables and embellished with many beautiful flowers.

After the feast and while yet at the table E. E. Thompson, as master of the occasion, called for volunteer remarks. To his call brief and impromptu responses were made by Messrs. Hackett, L. Thompson, Wright, Jewett, A. Thompson, Smith, Strout, Marshall, and Dow. In this part of the programme the eloquence of the ladies was of that peculiar type which is alternately both impressive and expressive. They however, made many informal speeches after leaving the table.

Not the least interesting part of the exercises consisted in music. The Hackett family are all singers, and the brother and six sisters delighted the audience with music of which they alone were the performers. Besides this there were solo, duet, trio, quartette and chorus, in which others took part with a zest not often exceeded.

Thus the whole occasion, or, rather, the two occasions afforded a pleasure which all who participated in them will not soon forget. They were a shining way-mark in their journey, which in years to come, will be a theme of grateful reminiscence. The happy company will not all meet again on a similar occasion, but they are encouraged to look forward to a meeting on another which will infinitely exceed it.

GUEST.

[For the Journal.]

Swedish Gymnastics and their Subjects.

"Framat war Latta Brigad!
Wart ar ej att giftva svar,
Wart ar ej att fraga hvarfor,
Wart ar endast, gora eller do."

I am not sure that physical training is a profession; I am as much inclined to think it is a trade.—Dr. E. M. Hartwell.

"Tie my hands behind my back and I will hew out a statue with my teeth," was the answer given by Bertel Thorwaldsen, the great Danish sculptor, to the charge that he could not work in marble; but a more triumphant answer was the completion of "The Adonis," one of the finest statues of modern times.

The Danes and Scandinavians, so closely akin, stand out, as they ever have, in determination of purpose and still maintain their historic record as the unconquerable, for "Norman" is "Northman," and the Norman subjects of Duke William were Scandinavians, and they settled in England.

Rollo, a Norwegian, was the first duke of Normandy, and as the wheels of time went round, and centuries and decades slipped by, the Pilgrims settled at Plymouth and here we are! How much of Norman and Anglo-Saxon there is in the bone and sinew of the Republic speaks in the life and purpose of the people.

Following the wheel in its evolutions we take from the fertility of thought of these people inhabiting the Fortress of the Northern Seas the system known as the Ling in Progressive Gymnastics, according to instruction by Claes J. Enebuske, A. M., Ph. D., Lecturer and Demonstrator of its excellencies, so admitted, at the Normal School of the Athens of the American (North) Republic; and further, does this intellectual Demonstrator lead the Chautauquans through the labyrinths of Physical Culture, as Principal of the C. L. S. School.

We shall, and do, follow the system and mean to show ourselves worthy the "grit" of Edred, Eric, Canute, Harold, and all the line until we stand on Senlac Hill, and proclaim with William, "I live, and I shall conquer."

Ericsson and his iron-clad Monitor, Ibsen of Skien and the women of his writings, so like his own mother, quiet, lovable, the soul of the household, and everything to her friends, but with a reserve that develops into shyness and has become a characteristic in Ibsen himself. His Catiline is but the historically costumed image of his own feelings and moods at the time of writing.

Our subject, however, demands the perseverance of Ericsson and Von Moltke, and as the Count led—after his military training at the Academy of Copenhagen—one of the most brilliant campaigns of modern warfare, we find our wanderings in the realms of thought, marking out a career of great renown for some of the young gymnasts under our humbly perfecting training.

Isabella of Castile has become to us historically American, having aided the Great Discoverer when his feet were bruised upon the shards of adversity; and our very own Isabella has the womanly tact that makes us feel to know nothing is comfortable when the brightness of knowing everything is seen through golden vistas in the future; she is one born to the purple of distinction.

Thus it comes to pass, on the fourth day after the first of each week, the Faithfuls, great and small, wend their ways from North, East, West, and Centre, to the hall scholastic, and add some brightness surely to the dingy walls; it may not be candelabrian lustre, but where much is needed a little can be appreciated.

Movements that teach poise and equilibrium are admirably demonstrated by our Enebuske. Onward we press with the goal in view and the determination to grasp it. We admire the genius of the descendants of heroes of the Northern Fortress, in beautiful Copenhagen, and Stockholm, the Venice of Northern Europe; any "Day's Order" good for them must be as good for us.

But where are the brethren of the cloth? That writing that never makes mistakes has it et 7 plus 1, but here it is 40 plus 0; perhaps it is to be all Movement No. 5, Wing ½ standing and Cross (a)—standing, to cross (b)—standing, however, "We will work out on this line if it takes all summer."

There is good time and opportunity for recruits, for we read, "The immediate purpose of the 25 "Days Orders," is to furnish partial material for the demonstration of the "Gymnastic Day's Order," and the Gymnastic Progressive for the pupils of the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, the Girls Normal School of Boston, and the Chautauqua School of Physical Culture." Further, they are intended also to furnish a guide for the normal drill in school gymnastic class work in the public schools.

Thus the wheel of progress ever moves, and in its evolutions we would have the problems always in Proportion and Ratio.

We can most assuredly testify to the great benefit derived from persistent, until it becomes beloved, exercises along this line; and wherefore? because, as students of current American politics phrase it, "Everybody is wiser than anybody."—Quelquun.

Woburn, April, 1891.

[From St. Augustine (Fla.) News.]

A New Motor.

Not exactly a new motor, but a new application of steam power; such is the burden of this article. A representative of the News, learning that Tampa had introduced a new motor on its street railways, took some pains to investigate the subject and was in consequence considerably interested and greatly surprised. Interested by solid facts and surprised that so little has been said about it in the daily papers.

But here are the facts. The Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia have constructed a little steam motor for street cars and it proves very successful indeed. It is inclosed in a little car that appears in every respect like a small street car. There is nothing whatever to attract the attention of a horse, no puffing or blowing, no smoke or escaping steam, it burns coke and runs much stiller than electric cars; it goes along like a thing of life, yet gives no sign; even the wheels are inclosed and no dust arises. It starts so easily you do not know it, and stops in half the space required for a horse car. Now the surprising part of it is, why has so little been said about it? Almost every enterprising city in the South has some of them in use. Chattanooga has forty-eight miles in use, and more lines projected. Birmingham has nearly as many miles. Atlanta has eighteen miles and is rapidly extending the system. Knoxville has several lines in use, although that city is exceedingly hilly, and has horse cars and electric cars. Nashville, Columbus, Ga., and many other cities have them in use. As to horses being frightened by these motors, no one need worry about that. The writer drove a spirited horse across a bridge, at the side of one in the city of Knoxville, and the animal paid no more attention to it than he would to an ordinary horse car.

Another very interesting fact is that steam is very much cheaper than any other motor, when all the expenses at the outset are counted. With a fifty thousand dollar plant electricity may be cheaper, if there are fifty thousand people to ride in the cars; otherwise steam has the advantage. And then too, steam requires no poles in the streets, no wires to fall and do a possible damage. It will do its work every day, never have the S. P. C. A. stop the car in the middle of the street, can travel six to eight miles an hour and never grow weary. On the whole the new motor is a desirable thing to have on the premises, and the Baldwin Locomotive works are entitled to the thanks of everybody for the little steam motor.

Burlington.

Many people are suffering from severe colds and influenza.

There was a dancing party in the Town Hall Wednesday evening.

"Comical Brown" gave an entertainment in the Town Hall on the evening of Fast Day.

Despite the chilly weather the fields and gardens give the first promises of spring. Early flowers like the crocus and daffodil are appearing. Some peas have been planted.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure billiousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

WINCHESTER.

The West Side Syndicate propose to boom things this Spring.

Miss Hanson resumed her duties at the Wadleigh school last week.

The public schools will resume operations next Monday, April 6.

F. H. Nourse, the real estate dealer of Boston-Winchester, is making sales here this spring.

Miss Celia V. Leen, a popular school teacher of Boston, was the guest of Miss Katie O'Connor a few days last week.

Miss Mamie Lally of Roxbury spent Fast Day and the remainder of the week with her cousin Miss Annie Kelley in this town.

The prevalent idea that thick food is the most nutritious for babies is erroneous. Mother's milk is quite thin yet is very nourishing. Thick pap can not be digested at all, much less can it nourish a child. Mellin's Food, when prepared for use, is thin like breast milk, and possesses the same nutritive qualities.

There is one fatal objection to Governor Pattison as the Democratic Presidential nominee that attaches to Grover Cleveland, too, and that is that he is inclined to conservatism on financial issues, while his party is demanding a free silver candidate. But if Pattison were made the Democratic standard bearer, what an elegant stopper it would put on the Massachusetts Democratic plaint that Pennsylvania's arrogant selfishness is "ruining" New England.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN.—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: They went backward and fell the ground.

METHODIST—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by the pastor; at 6 p. m. Epworth League meeting; at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting. Wednesday evening prayer meeting; Friday evening Class meeting.

BAPTIST—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: The Best Time to Seek the Lord. At 6 p. m. Christian Endeavor meeting; at 7 p. m prayer meeting. Meetings of prayer on Wednesday and Friday evening.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Receiving Christ Joyfully." At 6 p. m. young peoples mee

LOOK

— AT OUR —

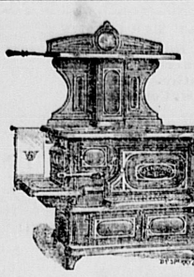
LLMA CLOTH,

A new fabric, 30 inches wide and only 10 cents a yard.

Also at our large assortment of FLOWER SEEDS, at 3 cents a paper now on hand.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The United States Grand Jury at Rapid River, S. D., has found an indictment against the white men who killed the Indian Few Trils as well as against the Indians who murdered Lieutenant Casey, and the Indian Rights Association urges that the one case be prosecuted as vigorously as the other. There ought to be no need of this appeal. Both crimes were cold-blooded and inexcusable, and the same treatment should be accorded to the perpetrators in each case.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, April 3, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mr. B. Garnett.
Mr. W. H. Wing.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

21,979 FEET.

Eleven thousand, four hundred and sixty-seven columns of advertisements were printed last year in the

BOSTON HERALD
And the
SUNDAY HERALD.

If placed end to end, they would extend twenty-one thousand, nine hundred and seventy-nine feet.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN
MERCHANT TAILOR,
7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Basheling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S
GERMAN CATARRH CURE

Cures Catarrh in all its forms.
Cures cases of long standing.
Clears the nazal passages.
Strengthens the air passage.
Has been used for years.
Is prescribed bo Physicians.
Instantly relieves cold in the head.
Sold by all Druggists. Try it.

$1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00.

Manufactured only by

JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist,
259 Essex St., LAWRENCE, MASS.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.
Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

FOOT-POWER LATHE

For sale cheap. Inquire of
J. S. WHEELER, WOBURN.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

FIRE BRANDS!

Our New York Fire Sale is a success, and we shall continue to offer

Great Bargains.

1000 yds. all-wool White Flannel, 15 cents a yd., well worth 25 cents.

2500 yds. White Plaid Nainsooks, only 8 cents a yard.

2000 yds. Prints, Best Quality 4 cents a yard.

2300 yds. Best Unbleached Cotton, 6¼ cents a yard.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS
ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
28000 SOLD AND IN USE.

VOSE & SONS, NEW STYLES,
VOSE & SONS, ELEGANT DESIGNS,
VOSE & SONS, SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
VOSE & SONS, GREAT DURABILITY,
VOSE & SONS, EASY TERMS.

WE RENT NEW and second-hand Pianos and allow ONE YEAR'S rent on the purchase price.

100 second-hand Pianos at $275, $250, $225, $210, $200, $175, $150, $100. Be sure and examine our stock before purchasing.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont Street.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

C. E. SMITH.

OPENING!

Mrs. N. M. Maxwell

— WILL EXHIBIT —

Pattern Hats and Bonnets,
Thursday and Friday,
April 16 and 17, 1891.
Your attention invited.
419 MAIN STREET, WOBURN.
(SUCCESSOR TO MRS. C. PACKARD.)

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Rose Kelly, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lawrence Reade, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of April instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the est ate of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of April, instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the will of Ebenezer N. Blake, late of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bonds, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscribers who have appointed Griffin Place of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, agent of Joseph B. Parker.

WARREN N. BLAKE,
HARRISON G. BLAKE,
JOSEPH B. PARKER,
Executors.

Woburn, Mass., April 8, 1891.

TO LET.

A nice Tenement, conveniently located, rent reasonable. Apply evenings,
C. D. ADAMS, 435 MAIN ST.

What Is Left

Over from our stock of fine Bedroom Sets, in the 1890 patterns, WILL NOW be closed out at a reduction of 25 per cent from Market Prices.

The assortment includes many artistic designes in Quartered Oak, Cherry, &c., the only reason for this unusual sacrifice being that we must make room for new stock.

If your eyes should chance to catch this announcement, the opportunity may enable you to furnish a room or two in "An Ideal Manner" and at an ideal price.

Perhaps it is well for you that you have waited till now.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

HOME FOR AGED WOMEN.

The Fifth Annual Reception and Sale by the Managers of our most noble Charity, will be held in

Music Hall, Woburn,

— ON —

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY EVENINGS AND THURSDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 15 & 16, 1891.

Open evenings from 6 to 10. Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6. Single admission to the Fair 25 cents. Five Tickets $1.00. Admission Thursday Afternoon, Children 10 cents, Adults 15 cents. Tickets for sale at the Stores of J. W. Hammond & Son, C. H. Buss, F. B. Leeds, and at the door.

ATTRACTIONS.

On Wednesday Evening at 7 o'clock, His Honor the Mayor, will open the Fair with an Address of Welcome. Music. Supper will be served from 6 to 9 P. M., in the Board of Trade Rooms. Entrance to Supper Rooms free. Supper Tickets 25 cents.

The different Churches of the city will display at their several Tables many beautiful articles never before seen in Woburn.

The UNITARIAN TABLE will make a specialty of Children's Clothing exquisitely made.

The ART TABLE will be unusually attractive this year, under the charge of talented local Artists who will exhibit much of their own work.

Ice Cream, Home Made Candy, The Peanut Woman, The Big Plum Pudding and many other attractions will well repay a visit.

The Floral display will delight all lovers of the beautiful.

Mrs. Cyrus Lamb will furnish a laughable entertainment for the children on Thursday afternoon, FREE TO ALL.

Grand Opera

Il Trovatore.

LYCEUM HALL,

Wednesday Evening, April 22.

Benefit of Mabel C. Davis,

— ASSISTED BY —

MR. CHARLES R. ADAMS,

Signor Guisippe Campanari, Mr. Fred Marston, Mrs. Luella Wagner, and Chorus from Boston, Miss Mertina Louise Bancroft Pianist, Miss Emilie Grant, Organist.

Performance Begins at 7.30, to allow people to take the 10.10 train.

Tickets for sale at Messrs J. W. Hammond & Son's.

Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

Wednesday Evening, April 15.

GRAND CONCERT

— BY —

LAMBETH'S CELEBRATED SCOTCH CHOIR.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF

Clan MacKinnon, O. S. C.

Tickets 35 & 50 Cents.

which may be had at Mr. A. Grant's, 426 Main St., Woburn, or from any member of the Society. Doors open at 7.15. Concert at 8 prompt.

TO BE FOUND AT BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Read the prices of the following goods and match them if you can:

Cream and Bluewhite Albatross, 40c. a yd.
Baby Blue Henrietta, 40c. a yd.
Black Nuns' Veiling, 35c. and 45c. a yd.
Fancy Striped French Serge, 35c. a yd.
Heliotrope high grade Henrietta, 90c.
All Silk Grosgrain Ribbons, No. 3, 3c. per yard: No. 5, 6c. per yard: 1¼ inches wide, 12½c., 2 inches wide 15 cents.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

FOR SALE.

A second-hand, custom made, Goddard Buggy, in good repair. Can be seen at 62 MT. PLEASANT ST.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, MUNICIPAL BUILDING, APR. 2, 1891.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as victuallers of the first-class at No. 306 and 308 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington Street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 5 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William E. Mooney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 468 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main Street, on first floor of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Garvey has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 39 Main Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as innholders of the first class, at No. 40 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as common victuallers of the first class, at No. 111 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard McHugh has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at Nos. 234 and 240 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John B. Dever has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 250 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John C. Meehan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 103 Prospect Street, in all rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John McGovern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 40 Fowle Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James J. Carroll has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 35 Winn Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles A. Dooley has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 88 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in the cellar.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Beatty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 468 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor and stock in cellar. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Connolly has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 7 Broad Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore, has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 3 Union Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Reddy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 68 Fowle Street on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Maloney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 6 Broad St., on first floor and stock in store room in said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Pupic Statutes, that John F. Scally has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 264 Fowle Street, and 103 Prospect Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick H. Graney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 11 Main Street, in basement of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 223 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 470 Main Street, on first floor in two rooms, and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick F. Kerrigan has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 48 Fowle Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 36 Main Street, on first floor of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly & Co. (Jas. J. Doherty), have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 81 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in attic of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 40 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 111 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard McHugh has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 234 and 240 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John B. Dever has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 250 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John C. Meehan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 103 Prospect street, on first floor of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John McGovern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 40 Fowle street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William A. Grandfield has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 152 Main and No. 2 Porter streets, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard T. Ferrin has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 492 Main street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James J. Carroll has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a wholesaler, at No. 35 Winn street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles A. Dooley has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a wholesaler, at No. 88 Main street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Beatty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a wholesaler, at No. 468 Main street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Connolly has made an application for license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 7 Broad street, in one room and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 3 Union street, in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Reddy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 68 Fowle street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Maloney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 6 Broad st., on first floor and stock in store-room in said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John F. Scally has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 264 Fowle street and 103 Prospect street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick H. Graney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 11 Main street, in basement of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 223 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 177 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 470 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORRLAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick F. Kerrigan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 48 Fowle street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 36 Main street, on first floor of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly & Co. (James J. Doherty), have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 81 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam & Co. have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High street, in three rooms on the first floor, and stock in attic of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at Law and others interested in the Estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, Executors of the will of said deceased, have presented to said Court their petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased, for the payment of debts, legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of April next at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Walter J. Mower of Somerville in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lizzie G. Knapp, Executrix of the will of Oren S. Knapp, and John W. Scribner, Co-guardian of said minor with said Orin S. Knapp, deceased, have presented for allowance the third account of the guardianship of said Knapp and Scribner;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said surviving Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnisheb with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.

The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediatly and at the shortest notice.

DEFAULTED KANSAS MORTGAGES

Bought, collected, foreclosed, Properly examined. Charges reasonable. Information free. Write us

Hartford Western Land Company,
(INCORPORATED CAPITAL, $50,000),
Wichita, - - - - Kansas.

FOR SALE IN WOBURN, A BARGAIN.

House of nine rooms, Stable, Shop, ¼ acre of land, Apple, Cherry, and beautiful Shade Trees. Horse Cars pass the door, Electric Lights, Horn Pond Water.

Apply to
G. F. JONES, WOBURN.

Cut Prices! Special Bargains

ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,

— AT THE —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Pure Linen Crash at 5 cents.
Twilled Brown Crash at 3 cents.
12 cent Outing Cloth, 8 cents.
Maddar Prints, fast color, 4 cents.
12½ cent Zypher Ginghams, 8½ cents.
50 cent Outside Shirts and Drawers, 39 cents.
37 cent Gingham Shirts, 25 cents.
Outing Shirts, 25 cents.
Besides the next thing at a much lower price.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

GOOD AND EVIL IN JEHU.

LESSON II, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 12.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings x, 18-31. Commit Verses, 26-29 — Golden Text, I Sam. xvi, 7—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

18. "And Jehu gathered all the people together."

We find this man's name nearly forty times in this and the preceding chapter, and not over a dozen times elsewhere. He is evidently the Lord's minister of judgment upon sin and sinners, but does not appear to have been a true worshiper of the true God.

19. "I have a great sacrifice to do Baal."

Thus said Jehu as he commanded to be gathered together all the prophets, priests and servants of Baal that he might destroy them. Baal was the chief male deity of the Phœnicians and Canaanites. The word signifies master or possessor, and is used fifteen times in this chapter, which is more often than it is found in any other chapter in the Bible. The worship of Baal meant the forsaking of the only true God, the God of Israel, and an identification with the false religions of the nations, and was a great provocation of Jehovah.

20. "And Jehu said, Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal."

His purpose is stated in the previous verse to have been that he might destroy the worshipers of Baal, but he is doing it deceitfully, and a God of truth cannot deceive nor authorize deceit.

21. "And Jehu sent through all Israel; and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left that came not."

And we read that the house of Baal was full from one end to the other. Here is a devotion worthy of a better cause, but it is even so to this present day.

22. "Bring forth vestments for all the worshipers of Baal. And he brought them forth vestments."

Thus while outwardly honoring them and seemingly encouraging them he was robing them for slaughter. Death, not life, was before them, and it was death leading to the second death. The separation of soul and body is not to be dreaded if we are clothed with Christ's righteousness.

23. "Jehu and Jehonadab the son of Rechab."

See in verse 15 the greeting and union of these two, and if not familiar with the story of the descendants of Jonadab, read it in Jer. xxxv, and mark the blessings of obedience.

"Search and look that there be here with you none of the servants of the Lord, but the worshipers of Baal only."

How would such a proclamation affect the people who gather at the popular places of amusement in our day?

24. "And when they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings."

Here is Jehu officiating as a priest of Baal, while at the same time he instructs eighty men that on penalty of death they are not to allow one of those present to escape with his life. Compare Elijah proving before all the people that Jehovah is God, as he offered sacrifice unto Him, and then slew the prophets of Baal after showing them their folly. With Elijah all was open and righteous. The way of Jehu is not so. God commissioned him to destroy Baal, but God did not commission him to practice deceit or to worship Baal.

25. "Go in and slay them; let none come forth."

This is the obedient part, as when the Levites went in and out throughout the camp and slew every man, his brother and companion and neighbor, because of their sin against God. Thus will everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord some day overtake all who know not God and obey not the gospel (II Thess. i, 8, 9).

26. "And they brought forth the images out of the house of Baal and burned them."

Not only the idolaters but their idols does He destroy.

27. "And they brake down the image of Baal, and brake down the house of Baal, and made it a draught house unto this day."

The whole house of Satan, for he is the prince of idols and idolaters, shall yet find itself without the city and completely broken down.

28. "Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel."

It was a sore evil, and required severe treatment and received it. It seems to have been Jehu's special mission to put away this iniquity; but he did not win Israel back to God, as we shall see. It is one thing to put away evil, but quite another to make people righteous.

29. "Howbeit, from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, Jehu departed not from after them."

Surely, if we believed that our sins might reach to many generations, as did the sins of this man, the most ungodly might be led to ponder well their ways. It is a fearful thing to depart from the living God or lead others so to do.

30. "And the Lord said unto Jehu, Because thou hast done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes."

He is commended for his thorough judgment upon the house of Ahab. Contrast the lack of thoroughness in Saul when sent to destroy Amalek (I Sam. xv, 9-11). The Lord does not commend Jehu's deceit. While He commends the faith of Rahab of Jericho He does not commend her deceit either. He cannot commend what is wrong in any one. In the parable of the unjust steward (Luke xvi) it is not the Lord Jesus who commends his fraudulent treatment of his master, but it is his own lord or master who considers him a shrewd fellow to thus make provision for his future.

"Thy children of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel."

And so it came to pass (chap. xv, 12). His thoroughness brought him and his children a temporal kingdom for four generations. If we who believe in Jesus are faithful to Him we shall sit with Him on His throne (Rev. iii, 21), and in bodies like His (Phil. iii, 21) reign with Him over this whole earth (Rev. v, 9, 10; Dan. vii, 27).

31. "But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the Lord God of Israel with all his heart."

The chief thing was neglected. Let any one read in Deuteronomy, and notice how often in that one book Israel is commanded to observe and do the commandments of the Lord, and this statement will make Jehu's goodness seem very questionable. He showed no mercy to the house of Ahab, nor to the worshipers of Baal, but he worshiped the golden calves, and transgressed the law of the Lord. Where then is his righteousness? He stands before us identified with Jeroboam, a sinful man whom God saw fit to use and reward with some temporal favors. Remember Heb. xii, 14; Rom. x, 4; viii, 4; and not only turn from idols but turn to God and serve Him (I Thess. i, 9, 10).

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

The distillery and wine establishment of the Galleges Wine Company in California, one of the largest of the kind in the State, was seized by revenue officers last week for violation of the excise laws. The value of the plant is about $200,000.

A SONG OF THE SEA.

Watch the motion of the ocean, of the beryl coated ocean, as it doffs a little white cap to each pebble on the beach;
Hear the rattle and the prattle of the loving wave words spoken, when the half reluctant pebble clatters down within its reach.
How the cloudships float above it,
And the daring seagulls love it!
Who could fail to heed the lesson that these foamy billows teach?

Watch the motion of the ocean, of the cannonading ocean, as each wave while hot with anger leaps to stride the stooping cloud;
O the looming and the booming of each moving wall of water, hurled against the walls of granite with an echo long and loud.
How the seagulls skim above it,
And the stormy petrels love it
When the wind rolls up those snowdrifts with such iron strength endowed!

Watch the motion of the ocean, of the ever changing ocean, tossed by every transient stormwind, ruffled by a passing breeze;
Resting never, but forever in a ceaseless voice repeating, day by day, the self same story in such fancied words as these:
"Praise Him, all ye heavens adore Him,
Let the earth bow down before Him;
On the floods He hath prepared it, founded it upon the seas."
—Harry H. Moore in Good Housekeeping.

Raw Railway Porters.

The agricultural districts are the recruiting grounds for porters; perhaps it would be more correct to say breeding grounds, for no company has any official to do the recruiting. As a railway now runs within walking distance of every village throughout the country, men seeking employment on the railway soon find out all particulars necessary to get into the service. It is not unusual to come across half a dozen porters at our large stations, each plainly showing by his talk the county he comes from; and it would be highly interesting to get them together and hear their conversation with one another.

Raw recruits from Yorkshire, Lancashire, Northumberland, Norfolk, Somersetshire and Cornwall on a London platform holding a serious conversation would lead a Londoner to think that he was verily among strangers. They must go wherever they are sent, and before they are appointed must be examined by a doctor. All things then being satisfactory they are supplied with their uniform and a book of rules and sent where they are wanted. The new hand can generally be told by the look of discomfort he cannot help showing in appearance in corduroy and brass buttons for the first time.—Chambers' Journal.

"Sol's Clock" in Flowers.

A horological achievement in landscape gardening is that of one of the florists in charge of the flora of the public parks in Chicago.

The flowerbed is laid out on the points of the compass in the form of a huge semi-circle, and foliage and flowers are grown in it in such a manner as to render it a perfect sun dial, or, as the classical inventor expresses it, "Sol's clock." A slab of stone of proper shape is set in the center of the dial and casts the shadow by which the time is read.

The idea is not strictly a novel one. Sun dials composed of growing flowers and foliage have been made in Europe, and it is not improbable that in the days of the greatest popularity of these timepieces floral ones were of frequent occurrence.—Jewelers' Weekly.

And Mamma Frowned.

He hadn't seen her for a long time, and of course they had an infinite deal of nothing to say to each other. Little sister, therefore, was very much de trop.

"Run along up stairs, dear," she said to the little one. "I'll give you some candy if you will."

"I don't want to."

"There's a good girl. Please do."

"But I'd rather stay here."

"I won't let you come into my room while I'm dressing if you don't."

But even this direful threat had no effect, and little sister remained. Presently mamma came in and the conversation lagged a trifle. Suddenly a thought struck little sister.

"Say," she asked, "what did you want me to go up stairs for a while ago?"—Chicago Post.

People Who Used to Eat Spiders.

The enjoyment of particular kinds of food is after all a matter of custom, and the African who revels in white ants is no more peculiar in his tastes than the European who eats cheese mites. A lady whom M. Reaumur knew was accustomed to devour spiders as fast as she could catch them, and a German lady gave it as her opinion that these creatures resembled in taste the most delicious nuts. A fellow countryman of this lady was in the habit of regularly hunting spiders in his own and his friends' houses. He used to spread them on bread, Rozel tells us, and vowed that they were far pleasanter to the palate than butter.—Cornhill Magazine.

Criticism of Two Cities.

A New York and a Boston girl were lately discussing the comparative merits of their respective towns. "You love New York," said the Boston girl, "as the pianist loves his piano. There are parts of it that he doesn't think much about. But we love Boston as a violinist loves his violin. He knows every grain in the wood as he hugs it up under his arm, and feels it to be all a part of himself."—Boston Traveller.

One Opinion.

"I think," said Willie, looking up through the chimney flue, "that Santa needed his claus to get up through there."—Harper's Bazar.

No Enjoyment.

"Did you enjoy the play, Ethel?"
"No, I didn't cry once."—Judge.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world is Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high. But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. This wonderful nerve medicine builds up worn out systems, cures fits, sparms, headache, nervous prostration, dizziness, sleeplessness, monthly pains, sexual troubles, etc. Mrs. John R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., gained 20 pounds a month while taking it. Finely illustrated treatise on "Nervous Diseases," and a sample bottle of the Restorative Nervine, free at Charles H. Buss's.

French syndicates are becoming the rivals of English capitalists in this country. It is announced that the Mickey Breen Mine in Colorado has been sold to a French syndicate for $1,300,000. It is a silver mine.

The Judge at Johnstown, Pa., was influenced in refusing licenses for many places by photographs of the shanties occupied by the applicants.

POLITENESS PAYS.

One Young Englishman Was Taught the Lesson and Never Forgot It.

"There's nothing in it.' How I do detest that phrase!" remarked a grave looking, middle aged man. The observation was called forth by the conduct of one of the party of young bloods who had unceremoniously pushed a rather shabbily dressed, timid looking man aside, and on one of his companions venturing to suggest that he was wanting in courtesy had replied:

"What! courteous to him? Why, there's nothing in it." "See here, boys," continued the grave looking man, "I'll give you a story. Twenty-five years ago I was clerk in a merchant's office in London. My salary was small, but I lived pretty comfortable and was always able to spend a shilling or two with the boys. We were rather swells in our office, and thought we knew a thing or two.

"One day an elderly party, who looked to me then like a book peddler, for he had on a real shabby tile, and was, if not slovenly, very carelessly dressed, stepped in and asked for the boss. I answered pretty sharp that he was not accessible to strangers, and told him he was wasting time in that office. He seemed annoyed, but walked off, and I thought no more about the matter. About six months after I was seeking a position in the Bank of England. I had just got married, and having several influential friends, had applied for and been well recommended for a vacancy which had just then occurred.

"So sure was I of the new berth that I had resigned from the old one and awaited with some anxiety, certainly, but considerable confidence, for the interview with the governor, for all applicants for a position in the bank must personally pass that august official. Well, the morning arrived and I was ushered into his presence. Judge of my astonishment and dismay when I found myself face to face with the little shabby genteel old man whom I had so rudely treated. Our recognition was mutual. He expressed his sorrow at having to refuse my application, but accepted my heartfelt apologies, and when he heard of how I had given up my situation, and so forth, he handed me a £50 note.

"'Take this,' he said, 'and begin a new life with what you tell me you have saved; it will enable you to get to Canada or Australia. Your letters of recommendation will do as well there as here, and I will give you one myself. Let this be a letter to you and others. Never judge any one by their outward appearance.' I took the old man's advice. I went to Canada, and eventually found my way here. I am fairly well to do, which I ascribe to having never forgotten the lesson taught me."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Curious Unclaimed Deposits.

It is not undeserving of notice that in a schedule to the annual parliamentary return, issued by the supreme court of judicature (England), is given a list of unclaimed boxes and other miscellaneous effects deposited in the Bank of England, belonging to suitors or their representatives. The following are the more curious items:

A bag of clipped money, in Jones vs. Lloyd, August, 1726; a box containing small articles of jewelry; a sealed envelope containing a promissory note for £400 in favor of John Spilman; a paper marked "George Colman, Will;" a debenture dated 1799; Bouverie vs. Jacques, plate, etc.; Salm Kyrburg vs. Pomansky, said to contain bills of exchange for 25,000 francs; E. A. Williams, deceased, plate, jewelry and presentation plate; Lousada's estate, diamond brooch bequeathed to wife of G. A. Lousada; Joshua Blackburn, a person of unsound mind, plate and jewelry (six wooden and four tin boxes); Wade Gery vs. Handley, heirlooms (two boxes).—Chambers' Journal.

Read Thoroughly.

Savage Landor said, in his savage way, that no person should ever have more than five books on hand. He said that when you had read a book thoroughly you had better give it away, and that it was idle to keep around you so many monuments of unfinished reading as most men had in the books of their libraries. This is straining a point, undoubtedly, and a few of us would say that Lander's rule was a working rule in education or life. But what Lander meant was that it was worth while for a man to be off with the old love before he was on with the new. He meant that it was worth while for people to finish, and finish thoroughly, one line of study before they embarked on another.—Boston Commonwealth.

Not Cash Down.

Good Minister—I am glad to find you bear up so well under affliction, Mrs. De Trade. I did not hope to find you so cheerful after your husband's failure.

Mrs. De Trade—All his property is in my name.—New York Weekly.

An Unexpected Compliment.

City Editor (to reporter)—Perkins, I don't think you'll ever make an editorial writer.

Reporter—Thank you, sir, for the encouragement.—Judge.

A Great Mind.

"That man has a wonderful memory."

"How does he show it?"

"He never leaves his rubbers in a restaurant."—Puck.

Up in the Attic.

"Did you sit in the stalls at the opera?"

"No. I was 'way up stairs, in the oper-atic."—Puck.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

It is expected that the shipments of vegetables from Florida this season will be larger than ever before. Small quantities of strawberries and asparagus are now coming forward.

If You Wish

To enjoy good health, and prevent the seeds of disease from ripening in your system, you should use the best medicine in the world, Sulphur Bitters, which will prevent your system from being all run down by making it strong and vigorous.—Rev. W. R. Snow.

BIG MONEY IN A NECKTIE.

It Cost Only Fifty Cents, but It Was Worth Twenty Thousand Dollars.

His necktie was worth $20,000. A plain, black, ordinary looking, every day four-in-hand, but worth $20,000. He was a traveler who had just come in on the Santa Fe route direct from Arizona, and he removed his coat and vest preparatory to cleaning his cinder speckled face in the lavatory of a prominent Michigan avenue hotel. With the carelessness of a western man he flung his coat and vest on a contiguous chair, but his necktie, his four-in-hand, he carefully rolled up in a small compass and thrust deep into his trousers pocket.

This unusual exhibition of caution excited the curiosity of a friend, and the natural query, "Wherefore?" developed a most ingenious device.

"That necktie is worth just $20,000 plus the cost price of the article itself. Sabe?"

The smile of incredulity brought the valuable piece of black silk to view again. With his penknife the traveler opened the seam, and, while unfolding the ripped portions, dazzled the eyes of the skeptic with ten crisp, clean $1,000 bills. "Ten thousand dollars on this end and the same ante on the other. Beats a money belt all hollow.

"I was held up by the James and Younger boys in Blue Clay Cut one time, and Jim Younger ran his hand over my body and felt the money belt, and I handed over just $1,200. But what thief would ever look twice at a fifty cent necktie? They might corral it if was red or yellow, or even sky blue, but plain black is too unobtrusive, for those chaps run to high color. This plan is better than the porous plaster scheme too. Never heard of it?

"Well, next time you travel with more ready cash than you care to have obtainable, step into a drug store and buy two porous plasters. Fold your wad neatly and flat, wrap around it a piece of oiled silk and stick a plaster over it and on to the outside of the other plaster. Then slap this double deck plaster on your chest and no one's the wiser. But the four-in-hand racket's the best," and the man with the $20,000 necktie gave it a final twist as he tied it around his collar, slipped on his vest and coat and walked out, serene and secure with twenty $1,000 bills snugly hid away in his queer safety deposit vault.—Chicago News.

New York's Literary and Artistic Clubs.

The Century is assisted by other clubs in looking after the literary and artistic needs of New York. Among these may be mentioned the Lotus, the Players', the Fellowcraft, the Authors' and the Aldine. The Lotus has long been familiar to the public, and a great deal has been said of the brilliant gift which Mr. Booth has made to New York in the handsome house of the Players' in Gramercy park. The complaint is indeed made that in these two clubs the non-professional element tends to strengthen itself at the expense of the professional.

The complaint is not an unusual one; it has been made with regard to the Garrick in London. The Fellowcraft is composed of writers and artists connected with the press. The Authors' club is, as its name indicates, made up of men who have written books. It has rooms, but no club house. The Aldine, founded by publishers and artists, has within two years taken possession of a house in Lafayette place.—E. S. Nadal in Scribner's.

When Rome Fell.

A certain librarian declares that one day a visitor pointed to a bust which adorns the reading room of the establishment with which he is connected and asked, "Is that anybody about here?"

The librarian, supposing that the questioner was simply attempting to guy him, answered:

"He has been dead too long for me to presume to say where he is."

"I mean was he a man who lived here," corrected the stranger; and then without waiting for a reply he added, "What was his name?"

"Nero," the librarian answered.

"Nero?" the other repeated thoughtfully; "that don't seem just like an American name. What was his business?"

"He was at the head of the fire department," the librarian replied unblushingly.—Boston Courier.

The Spider as a Remedy.

It is not surprising that so uncanny looking a creature as the spider should have various attributes of a more or less surprising nature awarded to it. In rural districts it is no very uncommon occurrence to find that there is a firm belief in the curative powers of spiders in cases of ague. Eleazar Albin says that he has been instrumental in curing several children of this complaint "by hanging a large spider, confined in a box, about their necks, reaching to the pit of the stomach, without giving any internal remedies." — Cornhill Magazine.

The Mexican boy has plenty of play, though he cares little for hoops or balls, tops, kites or marbles. Unless he is unusually poor he has a horse and saddle of his own, especially if he lives in the country; and no matter how poor he may be, he has a donkey, or can borrow one in five minutes.

Professor Boyesen, the Norwegian novelist and teacher, is a short, thick set man, with brown beard and curly hair. He is about 40 years old and looks more like a man of business than a college professor.

Our readers are requested to use Salvation Oil for all pains. It is a sure cure. Price 25 cents.

"For forms of government let fools contest." For ordinary life it is enough to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures coughs and colds.

The first step in the Farmers' Alliance programme in North Carolina was to mulct the "monopolistic" railroads of $500 each as penalty for failure to make certain reports. But the Supreme Court of the State has decided that this can't be done.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years, with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured.—Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, Wholesale Grocer, 119 Front street, New York.

Home Life Among Royalty.

Life at Sandringham is very simple. The prince breakfasts with his sons and any male members of the royal family who may be there; the princess breakfasts in her private apartment, while the young princesses break their fast in an old fashioned room still known as the schoolroom. When this meal is over they come down to say good morning to their father, and are usually accompanied by a group of pet dogs. The gentlemen go out shooting or riding, while the ladies in the house amuse themselves with books and papers, and, later in the day, are joined by the princess.

Luncheon brings all together, and this informal meal is, when the season will permit, served in a tent put up in the woods near where the mighty hunters are. The princess leads the procession, going to this in a smart yellow cart drawn by the plumpest of ponies, driving herself and one of her lady guests. She is, by the by, an extremely good whip. Luncheon over, the ladies return to Sandringham house, everybody meeting again at 5 o'clock tea, and dinner being served in the dining room at half-past 8 o'clock.

The prince and princess dine with their guests, the princess sitting in the center of one side of the table, while the prince is exactly opposite. When dessert is served a piper plays the bagpipes in the corridor outside, in veritable Highland style—that is, pacing backward and forward.—Lady Elizabeth Hilary in Ladies' Home Journal.

Mr. Simkins' Disappointment.

Mr. and Mrs. Simkins lived together in accord, but it seems that Mrs. Simkins has a habit, which has disturbed Mr. Simkins a great deal, of searching her husband's pockets after he has gone to bed at night. One afternoon a friend of Mr. Simkins met him as he was on his way home. Mr. Simkins' face wore a fierce and tragical expression, which was so very unusual with him that his friend could not help exclaiming:

"Why, what is the matter with you, Mr. Simkins?"

"What seems to be the matter with me?"

"Why your face has a look of determination that is perfectly ferocious."

"Ha!" said Mr. Simkins. "I have resolved to be revenged upon my wife. She searches my pockets at night. To-night I am going to search her pockets!"

Next morning the same friend met Mr. Simkins. Instead of a look of fierce determination he wore an expression of extreme weariness and languor.

"Well," said the friend, laughing, "what's the matter now?"

"Didn't sleep a wink last night."

"What! Did you find something dreadful in Mrs. Simkins' pockets?"

"Hum! I worked half the night trying to find her pockets and couldn't find one!"—Youth's Companion.

Smoking Under Water.

Says an expert swimmer:

It looks very strange to see a man go under water with a lighted cigar in his mouth, smoke calmly at the bottom and come to the surface with the cigar burning as nicely as if he were smoking in his easy chair. Apparently he defies all natural laws, but of course he doesn't.

It is a simple trick, but it requires practice. Just as I throw myself backward to go down I flip the cigar end for end with my tongue and upper lip and get the lighted end in my mouth, closing my lips water tight around it. A little slippery elm juice gargled before going in prevents any accidental burning of the mouth. Going slowly down backward, I lie at full length on the bottom of the tank and blow smoke through the cut end of the cigar. Just as I reach the surface again another flip reverses the cigar, and there I am smoking calmly. The reversing is done so quickly that nobody notices it.—Troy Times.

The Invention of the Panorama.

The panorama was invented by a Scotchman named Robert Barker, who obtained a license in London in 1787 and erected a rotunda on Leicester square. He was associated with Robert Fulton, the practical inventor of the steamboat, who introduced panoramas into Paris in 1796, but resigned in favor of Thayer, perhaps in order to give his attention to the application of steam to boats. Thayer raised a rotunda on the Boulevard Montmartre, whence comes the name of the Passage des Panoramas. Bonaparte caused plans to be drawn up for eight panoramas, in which his conquests were to be shown to the Parisians, whom he always tried to impress with the magnitude of the achievements in order to keep them faithful to his star. But these projects were never realized.—Chicago Herald.

A Substitute.

Miss Fluffy Bangs—Say, did you ever ride on an ice yacht?

Mr. F. A. Kerr—No; but when I was doing the harlequin in "Humpty Dumpty" I used to be shot out of a cannon every night.—Puck.

Why It Came High.

Smere—The first picture that great artist ever painted brought more than any of his other works.

Dauber—Who bought it?

Smere—He did.—Harper's Bazar.

Did He Love Her?

She—Darling, do you love me?

He (kissing her rapturously and repeatedly)—Do I? I wish you were a two headed girl. That's all I can say!—London Tit-Bits.

"Every Spring."

Says one of the best housewives in New England, "We feel the necessity of taking a good medicine to purify the blood, and we all take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the children free from humors, my husband says it gives him a good appetite, and for myself I am sure I could never do all my work if it was not for this splendid medicine. It makes me feel strong and cheerful, and I am never troubled with headache or that tired feeling, as I used to be."

The announced purpose of the Treasury to coin no more silver dollars after July 1, but to print silver certificates instead, will be very generally approved. The silver dollars cannot be got into circulation, and it is more convenient to keep the silver purchased in bullion than to coin it.

Hints That Are Better Than Gold.

If you have bad breath, sluggish bowels, pain in the small of your back, nervousness or giddiness, your vital organs are sadly out of condition. A mere "dose of physic" will not help you. Your only wise course is to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and cleanse your system of the impurities. It regulates the Liver and Kidneys.

What to Do When Starving.

A survivor of the hardships of Fremont's terrible four expeditions writes as follows in a posthumous narrative of the expedition printed in The Century, in which he more than hints at the fact of cannibalism:

It was curious to hear different men tell of the workings of the mind when they were starving. Some were constantly dreaming or imagining that they saw before them a bountiful feast, and would make selections of different dishes. Others engaged their minds with other thoughts. For my part I kept my mind amused by entering continually into all the minutiæ of farming, or of some other systematic business which would keep up a train of thought, or by working a mental solution of mathematical problems, bringing in review the rudiments of some science, or by laying out plans for the future, all having a connection with home and after life.

So in this way never allowing myself to think upon the hopelessness of our condition, yet always keeping my eyes open to every chance, I kept hope alive and never once suffered myself to despond. And to this course I greatly attribute my support, for there were stronger men who, by worrying themselves, doubtless hastened their death. Ten out of our party of thirty-three that entered the mountains had perished, and a few days more would have finished the others.

The Fate of Jews in Russia.

A few days ago a Jewish physician of some intelligence, whose diploma had been withdrawn from him upon the ground that he was too full of sympathy for some poor wretches suspected of nihilism, assured me that the Russian Jews who have reached the United States feel like singing hymns of thanksgiving. Since his arrival in this country this physician has been visiting the tenement houses and workshops of the east side of New York city in order to gain some notion of the life of his fellow countrymen here. "Their condition may seem miserable to you," he said, "but it is paradise compared to the horrors from which they have escaped."

When one realizes that in the vast area east of the Bowery populated by Russian Jews the crowding, the filth, the noise and the stenches are beyond description, and that the majority of these people work from fourteen to eighteen hours a day, often beginning their labor at dawn and continuing it until they fall exhausted upon the piles of clothing that they make for the cheap shops, he can see that the fate of the Russian Jew who has to stay in Russia must be hard indeed.—P. G. Hubert, Jr., in Forum.

Looking Up His Character.

The Right Hon. Charles Pelham Villiers, the veteran member for Wolverhampton, delights, when talking over his early election compaigns, to tell the following story: In the course of his first canvass in Wolverhampton borough, being then a very young man, he called on a little shopkeeper at Willenhall to solicit his vote. The shopkeeper was not at home, but his wife was, and Mr. Villiers, in true courtier-like style, made known to the good lady the purport of his visit. Having listened to the candidate, the lady handed Mr. Villiers a piece of chalk, saying:

"Chalk thy name on the counter, lad, and my maister shall inquire thy character."

Mr. Villiers complied and got the vote, and the shopkeeper proved one of his staunchest supporters.—London Tit-Bits.

What He Meant.

This is going around town: A prominent traveling man went to a new city, for him, and was struck by the airs the hotel clerk put on. He watched his manner toward several guests who preceded him, and after he had registered he turned to the clerk in an admiring sort of a way and said:

"Well, I'll swear, did any one ever tell you how much you were like Clay?"

The clerk straightened up, smiled and said:

"Oh, yes; you mean, of course, Henry Clay, the famous Kentucky statesman?"

"Oh, no, I don't," returned the traveler. "I mean just the plain, ordinary clay they make pottery of."—Clothier and Furnisher.

New Work for Decorative Art.

Buyinglady (to saleslady)—I would like a coat of arms. Can you paint me one?

Saleslady (amiably)—Certainly, madam. Bring me yours any time, and we can copy it any size or way that you desire.

Buyinglady (earnestly)—But I wish you to design me one. I have new!"—

Saleslady (stiffly)—We design only embroideries here, not families.—Puck.

Loss of Memory.

Blind Tom, the pianist, has earned $500,000, and is now, in his old age, an inmate of a poor house. He says he can't tell what has become of all the money, and if he can't no one else probably will.—Detroit Free Press.

A Politician, Probably.

"Papa," said the little one, "will there be newspapers in heaven?"

"Perhaps, my child, but there will be a new set of editors and reporters."—Demarest's.

An Old Question.

Teacher—All things were made out of nothing.

Johnny—And what was nothing made out of?—Harper's Bazar.

In a suit for wages tried before a Justice at South Bethlehem, Penn., the fact was brought out that a carpenter was receiving $8 a month and board, and a blacksmith $10 a month and board, and that their hours of labor were from 5 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night for the carpenter, and from the same hour in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening for the blacksmith, for every day in the year.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sale of any medicine before the public. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement.

The Congregational Club the other evening passed resolutions calling for an investigation of the circumstances the permission given Buffalo Bill to take abroad some of the Sioux prisoners as a part of his "Wild West Show;" and now the Christian Register, representing the Unitarians, speaks strongly on the same subject. It is certainly a curious transaction which justifies inquiry.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

The bill to restrict the hours of labor for railroad men certainly contained little evidence that it was asked for by railroad men themselves. It bore all the signs of a buncombe scheme of the labor agitators, and as such the House did well to reject it.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES
EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat
HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.
Each Package contains material for two large pies.
Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.
MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE GREAT German Remedy.
TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly, bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.	Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.
The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.	$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.
Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and workshops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.	Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities burst-ing through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.
General Debility needs a gentle tonic Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.	SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.
Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.	SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP
THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY. PRICE 25c
Salvation Oil "Kills all Pain." Try it; Only 25c.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1891. NO. 18.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8 15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M.. 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8 05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.03, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.37, 8.29, 8.56, 11.25 A. M., 1.35, 4.39, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.37, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 5.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS, General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 8.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 5.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9 55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queeley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kirby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,

—DEALER IN—

Drugs and Medicines,

And Druggist's Sundries,

WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE !

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.

415 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial o the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines

— AT —

417 Main St., Old Post Office.

D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,

Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

What A Flock of Geese Did.

BY HELENA DIXON.

It was a sultry afternoon in July, and Kittie Ryan was growing drowsy over her sewing, when her mother came briskly up to the box-bordered walk and entered the cosy sitting-room near one of the vine draped windows at which the young girl was seated.

Mrs. Ryan and her daughter were as unlike each other as mother and child could well be.

The widow was tall and angular in form, with flinty black eyes and hair of the same color, glossy and straight, and always combed from the low, broad foreheadwith critical precision. The broad mouth was firmly drawn down at the corners, while the whole contonr of her face betokened an inflexible will and a firm adherence to any formed opinion. Kitty was short in stature, slender and sylph-like in form, with deep blue eyes full of melting tenderness. Then she had the curliest auburn hair, and lips, that in their smiling curves, bespoke a yielding disposition.

"Kitty," said Mrs. Ryan, as she took off her sun bonnet and wiped the perspiration from her face, "the geese have all got into Ralph Homer's wheat lot and you will have to go and get them out. If young Homer should find them there they would all home with broken bones. Ralph is just such another as his father was before him. There never was any good in any of the Homer stock. So run along and get the geese home before he sees them. Strange that George and Will always happen away just when there wanted at home."

Soon Kitty was walking down the maple-shaded lane which ran between the two farms. The wind murmured musically through the leaves of the trees, and the little brook, which skirted the roadside, purled over its stony bed in soft and harmonious responses.

And Kitty heard and naturally enough gave way to musings quite foreign to her errand.

But though the geese running riot in Ralph Homer's grain were forgotten, the young master of the domain himself was not.

Kitty's memory carried her back to the days when as schoolmates she and Ralph Homer had been all in all to each other, and the time when the boy, then grown to young manhood, came home from the Princeton Academy to set her childish heart fluttering with his lover-like attentions.

Then came one of those schisms which so often destroy the harmony and good will of long-tried friends.

Mrs. Ryan and her husband considered themselves the injured parties, the former declaring that henceforth neither she nor hers should have aught to do with the Homers, and old Homer, equally ready to lay the blame on the Ryans, forbade his family over to renew the acquaintance, now virtually at an end. Several years had passed since then, and the heads of both families were mouldering to dust and yet the neighbors kept aloof from each other.

All this, and a great deal more, came to Kitty's mind as she walked, and she wondered with a little sigh whether Ralph remembered her as she did him, and whether they always were to be as strangers to each other.

But the great flock of geese were doing mischief surely, and Kittie soon forgot her cogitations in pursuit of the truant bipeds.

A goose has either less brains, or more obstinacy, or both, than any other creature, and these, either could not or would not, see the broken board through which they had entered; and Kitty's patience was becoming exhausted when her foot caught upon a stone, causing her to fall to the ground. She attempted to rise, but a violent pain in her ankle rendered it impossible.

In another moment Kitty was lying on the ground in a dead faint.

When she recovered she found herself in the shade of a huge maple, which overhung the brook, with somebody who was bathing her head with water from his hat. And somebody's eyes looked tenderly into her own as she opened them, and then, seeing she was so pale, a stout arm encircled her waist for support.

Kitty was in the care of Ralph Homer. And with his arm still about her, and his face so close to hers that their hair almost mingled, Mrs. Ryan found them, as she came in quest of Kitty, whose protracted stay had somewhat alarmed her.

The widow's face grew dark with passion, and her eyes had a ferocious gleam in their black depths as they rested on the frank, though now slightly flushed face of the young man.

"Kitty, I am utterly astonished at you; and for you, sir, your presumption is only equalled by your stupidity. Never dare, sir, to speak to my daughter again."

"And why, madam?"

"You know very well why. If you do not, let your memory of the past help you to the knowledge: never attempt to span the gulf that years ago came between us. Come Kitty, what ails you? Get up and come away at once."

Then Kitty found the use of her tongue, and stammered forth the cause of her non-return.

"Well, I can carry you home," said the widow, coldly; her pity for her daughter's suffering lost in her anger at finding her in company with the man she considered her bitterest enemy. She was bending over Kitty and endeavoring to lift her, when Ralph pushed her gently aside and with a low spoken "permit me," addressed more to the daughter than the mother, he lifted the suffering girl in his arms as though she were a mere child, and bore her homeward, Mrs. Ryan following close in his path, silently anathematizing both the young farmer and the unlucky accident which had made his assistance necessary.

When they reached the widow's cottage, Ralph deposited the burden on the sofa, received Mrs. Ryan's formal and insincere "thank you," pressed Kitty's hand in a way that sent the warm blood in a rosy flush to her pale face and departed.

But if Mrs. Ryan flattered herself that here the affair would end, she was doomed to disappointment, for every morning, during Kitty's confinement to the house, Ralph was with her, and Mrs. Ryan though very angry, made no open opposition to his visits, but muttered something about "farmers leaving their work to take care of itself, while they forced their company where their room was preferable."

But gradually as she saw more of the young man whose daily visits always brought such a happy light to Kitty's eyes, Mrs. Ryan almost unconsciously to herself, began to like him, and as this new feeling grew upon her, she often found herself glancing with admiring eyes down the maple shaded lane, to rest on the broad stretch of meadow and upland beyond. It was the finest farm around, the widow began to acknowledge to herself, and then came—though more tardily—a second acknowledgment, viz: that if Ralph was a Homer, he wasn't so much like his father after all, but more resembled his mother, against whom, personally, Mrs. Ryan could remember nothing evil.

The widow was standing in the door way overlooking the Homer estate when this conclusion became settled in her mind. Probably the undulating stretch of the well-tilled acres had its influence in bringing about this decision. Be this as it may, the next morning when Ralph called as usual to learn how Kitty was doing, instead of sending the little maid of work to admit him, with injunctions to stay with her young mistress until Mr. Homer left, Mrs. Ryan herself met him at the door and conducted him, with encouraging smiles and pleasant words to the cool parlor where Kitty was reclining. Of course after such a generous and unlooked-for reception, the young man's visit was longer than common, and before he left he was made happy by the assurance that Kitty's love and her mother's consent to an early union were his.

And all through the predatory proclivities of a flock of geese.—New York Weekly.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR Baking Powder.

The Official Reports of the United States Government, 1889, Canadian Government, 1889, New Jersey Commission, 1889, Ohio Food Commission, 1887, prove that Cleveland's is of all the pure* cream of tartar baking powders.

THE STRONGEST

*Ammonia or alum powders, whatever their strength, should be avoided as injurious.

Guaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with La Grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer, because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50 cents and $1 00.

Sheep-Shearing.

Many advantages are claimed for sheep-shearing by machinery. The work is performed more thoroughly than by hand, it being calculated that on an average some ten additional ounces of wool per merino sheep are obtained by its employment. The operation, moreover, is carried out more humanely, the cuts and stabs often inflicted in hand-shearing, more especially when executed as "piecework," being entirely avoided, together with the consequent damage and deterioration to the pelts. It has been estimated that no less than one per cent of the animinals perish from injuries due principally to hand-shearing. The labor entailed on the operator is also considerably reduced; and aching hands, swoolen wrists and cuts or stabs to the worker himself should be things of the past.—The Ledger.

Great Discoverers.

What Bell and Edison are to the telephone and electricity, says the Pittsburg News, Dr. Franklin Miles, the well-known specialist in nervous diseases, is to the nervous system and nerve fluid. Among his numerous discoveries the Restorative Nervine is undoubtedly one of the greatest. It is unsurpassed in nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, epilepsy, neuralgia, backache, melancholily, sleeplessness, change of life, etc. Free trial bottles of it may be had of Charles H. Buss, Druggist. All should read his "New and Startling Facts for the Afflicted," a very able, interesting, and finely illustrated book. Free to all.

What a Brush Is.

When Dr. T. C. Minor was asked last night just what a blush was and how it was caused physiologically, he laid aside his cigar, pondered deeply for a moment and spoke thete wise words; "A blush is a temporary erythema and calorific effulgence of the physiognomy atiologized by the perceptiveness of the censorium when in a prediciment of unequilibrity from a sense of shame, anger or other cause, eventuating in a paresis of the vasomotor nervous filaments of the facial capillaries, whereby, being divested of their elasticity, they are suffused with radient, aereated, compound nutritive circulating liquid, emanating from an intimidated præcordia." When the doctor finish a sigh of relief was heard from his audience.—Cincinnati Commercial.

To My Friends.

As you are well aware that I would not recommend that which I did not believe to be good, I desire to say to all who need a good, reliable, family medicine, that I believe one bottle of Sulphur Bitters will do you more good than any other remedy I ever saw.—Rev. Cephas Soule.

A Submarine Cemetery.

An officer of the British Coast Guard fleet estimates that the bottom of the English channel is strewn with a larger number of wrecks than any other submarine area of equal extent—the route from Sicily to the mouth of the Tiber not accepted. A thorough dredging cruise around the narrowest part of the strait, he estimates, would tesult in the recovery of tons of coined treasure, and tens of thousands of human skeletons.—New York Voice.

Fortunate Father and Son.

"I am as certain as I now live," says C. E. Bartholomew, of Kalkaska, Mich., "that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life when I was a victim of Bright's Disease. My son had a fever sore on his leg. He, too, used Favorite Remedy and is now well. But for this medicine I am sure both father and son would have been six feet under the sod."

"My wife has a saving disposition," said Hicks. "When we got our upright piano she made a red plush cover for it, so thas the rosewood wouldn't get scratched. Then she covered that with a linen duster arrangement, so as to save the plush. I tell you women have great big minds."

This is important to nine out of ten people; Old Saul's Catarrh Cure is easily applied and will cure the worst cases of catarrh.

Mothers, if your baby suffers pain and is restless, do not stupefy it by administering opiates; but soothe it with a reliable remedy, such as Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price only 25 cents.

STOPPING ELECTRIC CARS.

Results of Some Experiments on Boston's Principal Line.

Some experiments that have been made to determine the distances required to stop an electric car under ordinary circumstances, from various speeds, have furnished interesting results as to the brake power of street cars, as appears by the annual report of the railroad commissioners. In making the experiments the following conditions were observed: A man with a number of surveying pins was stationed on the step of the rear platform; two observers with stop watches stood upon the platform; a fourth gave the signal for the driver to stop. With the car running at a uniform speed, it was necessary to determine—first, the rate of speed, and, second, the distance required to make a stop.

At a given signal the first stop watch was started and a pin was dropped upon the ground. At the expiration of ten seconds the observer with his stop watch gave another signal and stopped his watch. When this signal was given a second pin was dropped on the ground, the second stop watch was started and the signal given for the driver to put on the brakes. When the car came to rest the second stop watch was stopped and a third pin was dropped. The time required to pass over the distance between the first and second pins showed the rate of speed. The distance between the second and third pins was the length of stop.

On a subsequent occasion the speed was obtained by measuring the time necessary to pass over the distance between given streets. This method of observation was easy to carry out, but was, of course, not precise, and the given lengths of stop were slightly greater than the distances passed over from the time the brakes were actually applied to the wheels, owing to the fact that a fraction of a second was probably lost in giving the signals.

A great variation was shown between the different stops made. "Supposing," say the experts, "the friction to be the same, the length of stop should be as the square of the velocity. Really the friction is less the greater the velocity, so that the length of stop should be somewhat greater than in proportion to the square of the velocity. This was shown in a stop in thirty-six feet at 6.3 miles per hour, and in a stop in forty-eight feet at 12.2 miles per hour instead of a stop in 144 feet, as it would be according to the square of the velocity; or if the stop in forty-eight feet be taken as a basis of comparison the stop from six miles an hour should have been made in twelve feet. The grades in these cases were not greatly different. Again, comparing two experiments in which the speed was nearly the same, the stop on the down grade was much better than on the up grade. Other discrepancies of a similar character were noticed."—Boston Transcript.

The Need of Teaching Patriotism.

At the close of the first half century of the government, when, for instance, Webster delivered his eulogy of Adams and Jefferson, or his oration at the foundation of the Bunker Hill monument, there was no necessity of considering how to stimulate and deepen the sentiment of nationality. The vast flood of foreign immigration with which we are familiar had hardly begun to rise, and an appeal to American patriotism touched every heart with the same emotion. That day is passed.

The necessity and the consequent duty of instruction in national history and of preservation of the national traditions are inperative. The fundamental truths that there is no liberty without law, that every form of class legislation is anti-republican, that educated intelligence is a chief bulwark of free institutions, that individual vigilance and activity are the guarantee of political progress, must be constantly and practically inculcated.—Harper's Weekly.

A Sneezing Spot.

Everybody knows the "crazy bone" in the elbow. A man has had his attention called to an alleged crazy spot above the nose, about which little has been said. He sneezed while in the barber's chair having his hair combed.

"Did I touch the sneezing point?" inquired the barber. He then proceeded to explain that the "sneezing spot" was a sensitive place to the left of the middle of the forehead. "Why," said he, "there are men who come in here who sneeze regularly every time I comb their hair or shave them, just as soon as the comb passes over that spot. I had a man in here who sneezed three times just as hard as he could, all because I touched the 'sneezing spot.' It must be a very small nerve that tickles the nostril."—Albany Journal.

Leather Brake Shoes.

Railway brake shoes are made of compressed leather scraps in New South Wales. Scraps are steeped in a solution and subjected to a hydraulic pressure to mold them into any desired shape. This leather shoe weighs 4 1-2 pounds, against 21 1-2 pounds for iron, and has a greater co-efficient of friction, so that forty pounds of air pressure is as effective as seventy pounds with iron brake shoes.—Exchange.

Should Be Punished.

Mr. Scrubbs (indignantly)—Sir, I have just discovered that your son has engaged himself to two of my daughters.

Mr. Grubbs (stupefied)—The young rascal! He should be compelled to marry them both.—London Tit-Bits.

Lady—"I wish to select a pet dog." Dealer—"Live in the city, I suppose, mum?" "Yes, I live in a flat." "Then I would advise an Italian greyhound, mum. No matter how much you feeds a greyhound he always stays narrer."

It takes one-quarter of a minute to transmit an electric signal from Greenwich, England, to Montreal, Canada.

Spring Style Hats

— AT —

Munroe's Clothing House.

All the nobby and staple shapes in MEN'S and BOYS' DERBY and SOFT HATS, made expressly for us, are now ready. Please come and see the largest stock ever shown in this vicinity. We will give you the best hat for the least money.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

An Old Fashioned Girl.

"I've been watching an 'old-fashioned girl' for quite a long while," says a writer in the Fitchburg Sentinel, "and I want to tell you something about her.

"She had graduated, yet she did not think because of that fact that the kitchen was not good enough for her. Oh, no. She was so much behind the times that she actually washed the dishes, made her bed, dusted, and then began preparation for the pudding for dinner. Now, wasn't she absurd, when she (following the accustomed rut) should have been lying on the sofa with her latest novel in her hand and her pug dog beside her? When her little brother came in crying because his kite was broken, instead of calling him a horrid boy, as it is the fashion to do in some homes, she helped with her own hands to mend it. How could she be in such a small business?

"After dinner had been cleared away she produced a small workbasket and proceeded to mend the family stockings. Shocking! After her task was completed, she accompanied her mother on a shopping expedition; and, although she met many fine looking gentlemen, she did not flirt with any of them, for, don't you know, she was so antiquated she would have been shocked at the idea. As if it was not elevating to the intellect to be on the watch for some masculine person to fascinate!

"The girl of whom I am telling you was pretty looking, with a bright, fresh color in her face, brought on by plenty of exercise in the open air and in the kitchen. But I cannot begin to tell you half this queer girl did; for, you know, she was so old-fashioned that she did whatever good deed came into her heart to do, and her heart was such an antique affair that only pure, noble thoughts entered it. Her home was made bright and sunny by her presence, and yet she was not so perfect that she 'died young.' Oh, no. She lives today a girl who has 'no secrets' from her mother."

Stand Your Ground.

When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation instead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's" and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled. Therefore have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building-up medicine.

Alice and the Weather.

Alice (five years old)—I hope it will be a pleasant day for my party tomorrow, auntie.

Auntie—I trust it will, dear; the newspaper says tomorrow will be fair.

Alice—Do the papers always know?

Auntie—One cannot rely on them certainly, for occasionally they make mistakes.

Alice—Only God and grandma's bunions know for sure, do they, auntie?—Boston Herald.

"Didn't I just hear you offer that man five dollars if he would support you as a candidate?" "Why, yes, I did give him five dollars." "Don't you know that that is bribery?" "Oh no, its simply a votive offering."

Mr. Shinbone (of the South Sea Island)—My dear, are you going to the missionary hop this evening?

Mrs. Shinbone (sobbing)—How can I? Why, I've nothing to wear.

The Spinning Machine of a Spider.

The spinning machine is situated under the hinder part of the spider's body. It takes the form of a slight depression, which a close inspection shows to consist of six small bodies resembling tubes. Four of these contain an immense number of minute openings—as many as a thousand can be counted in each—and from every one of these openings a viscous fluid issues which hardens on exposure to the atmosphere. The whole 4,000 threads are united into one line, which is sometimes so fine that 4,000,000 twisted together would not have a combined diameter greater than that of an ordinary hair from the human head.

It is impossible to conceive the excessive slenderness of one of the four thousand threads which compose such a line. The bare statement that each one has a thickness only one sixteen thousand millionth of that of a human hair does not in any way convey the impression of its wonderful fineness. The mind can no more grasp the meaning of such figures than it can understand the immense distance of which astronomers talk so glibly.—Cornhill Magazine.

Indian Maple Sugar.

The question has been raised occasionally whether the Indians learned of the white settlers to make maple sugar, or the white men from the Indians. According to Professor Henry W. Henshaw, who addressed the American association on the subject, the Indians were indebted to their own powers of observation and invention for their method of sugar making.

They collect the sap in birch bark vessels, which hold in some cases a hundred gallons. They take advantage of cold April nights to freeze the sap, and in the morning throw out the ice. They evaporate it by throwing hot stones into the sap.

The sugar is eaten mixed with corn. Sometimes the pure sugar is their only diet for a month. They boil venison and rabbits in the hot sap as they evaporate it. They also make sugar from the silver maple and box elder.—Youth's Companion.

A Sign That Scares Many.

Omens which occasion the most concern to weak minded persons are those which are supposed to foretell a death. These are as numerous as they are foolish, and have probably come from the heathen shores of Asia and Africa, where they are still religiously entertained by all classes of society. The omen which is considered to be the most certain forerunner of the grim destroyer's intended visit is the house dog baying at the moon in front of the house, especially when for three nights in succession he continues the lonesome concert from the hours of 11 until 1 o'clock. Nothing is done to drive the peace disturber from the place, as that would hasten the doomed one's death, and the superstitious family, if all seem healthy at the time, fearfully look from one to the other and shudder.—Interview in Chicago News.

Debt of England.

Two hundred years ago the national debt amounted to only £664,263, with an annual charge of £39,835. At the commencement of the American war it had risen to £130,000,000, and at its concl

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

ON AN ELABORATE SCALE.

The Woburn Republican Meeting and Banquet will take place in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, May 13.

The Committee on speakers, Hon. E. D. Hayden, Senator E. F. Wyer, Hon. J. G. Pollard, expect to report the attendance of and a speech from Ex-Congressman Greenhalge of Lowell, Mr. Roger Walcott, President of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, and many other party leaders.

Baldwin's Cadet Band of Boston have been engaged to furnish music for the occasion.

The Executive Committee desire it to be distinctly understood that the arrangements for this notable political gathering have been made on an elaborate scale and with the idea of making it an affair that will be a credit to the Republicans of Woburn.

Everybody is enthusiastic over the matter which insures a big attendance.

A PUBLIC HEARING.

Mayor Bean takes the right view of the case. He tells the advocates of a public hearing in the matter of granting licenses to sell intoxicating liquors to petition the Excise Board in due form for the privilege of examining into the standing and character of the applicants for licenses, to introduce testimony, submit arguments, etc. If this is done there can be no doubt but petitioners will get all the favors they may ask for in regard to such investigation, especially if the lists are made up of people whose characters have weight in the community.

Just such an investigation into the fitness of the applicants for license as is proposed by the friends of temperance ought to be held. There is a difference even in rumsellers, and while some of this year's applicants are fairly respectable men, there are others who are so obviously unfit that their petitions should be thrown out without ceremony. The best only should be granted licenses (if any are to be given out, which we hope will not be the case), and this, we have been informed on good authority, is Mayor Bean's idea and the plan which his judgment approves. Hence his avowed attitude towards the friends and advocates for the investigation and the objects which they seek to obtain in this important matter of granting licenses.

THE BARKER BILL.

A bill to regulate the organization and conduct of benefit associations, known as the Barker bill from the name of its author, was passed by the Legislature last Friday. It has produced a fluttering among the scores of societies of the kind in this State which would seem to indicate that they have been hard hit. It is reported that the one in Lowell closed its doors just as soon as it heard of the passage of this bill and others in various places are preparing to quit business at an early day.

The following are the principal features of the bill: It provides that every corporation, association, society or order organized under the laws of the state, which issues a certificate to, or makes a promise or agreement with its members to pay a sum of money at a fixed time or a benefit of any kind, except it be in case of sickness or death, must annually make a statement of its standing to the insurance commissioner. The latter official has the option of continuing or dissolving the corporation. The officers of the corporation are made liable to indictment if the provisions of the act are violated. No person is allowed to act as agent for said organization unless he be provided with a license.

A REVIVAL.

The Republicans of Massachusetts are enjoying a political revival such as has not been experienced by them for many years. From one end of the Commonwealth to the other their hearts are stirred up to a sense of duty in a manner and to a degree that augurs well for the future and means a big victory for them next fall. Almost every day large additions of the names of leading Republicans who have joined the Massachusetts Republican Club are published in the newspapers showing that the growth of the organization is truly wonderful.

We need a little of this revival spirit in Woburn. A start has been made towards having a big mass meeting here at an early day, and the movement it is believed will be crowned with success. Senator Wyer was the first to suggest it but other prominent party men endorsed and offered to help it along, and we can see no reason why Woburn Republicans should not thus manifest their interest in the great revival that is going on all over the State by holding a meeting the size and enthusiasm of which would be a surprise to everybody.

DIVISION OF TOWNS.

One branch of the present Legislature have been brought to a realizing sense of their duty and obligations to the people of the State and as a result there has been reported a resolution for a constitutional amendment to prevent the division of towns against the wishes of a majority of the legal voters thereof duly expressed at the ballot-box.

Strange as it may seem the measure encountered not a little opposition from some of the Solons who are wise only in their own conceit, but the justice and good sense of it secured its adoption by a respectable majority.

Among the many commendable things done by the present Legislature the treatment of the public demand for this constitutional amendment is by no means the least important.

☞ The charge that Mayor Bean and the Board of Aldermen held a "snap-shot" session last week Thursday evening and that the Mayor was responsible for it was far from being the truth.

☞ Some of the Boston papers treat the Gypsy Moth and the means adopted by the Commonwealth to destroy him with shameful levity.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

F. A. Hartwell—Lost.
City—Milk Inspector.
Cahill—Com. Clo. Co.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
F. W. Chase—Wanted.
Board of Trade—Notice.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
Mrs. Stevens—Dressmaking.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Yesterday was another summer-like day.

— The Carpenter's Union will give a great ball in May.

— Mr. J. W. Hammond and wife expected home shortly.

— Mr. Peter Kenney is still confined to his home with illness.

— Mr. Thomas Robertson is the new Cummingsville mail-carrier.

— Milk Inspector Fred Leeds publishes an important notice in the JOURNAL.

— Mrs. Livermore will deliver a lecture before the Woman's Club this afternoon.

— The first reunion of Division No. 1, B. of E., will be held on April 21, at 472 Main street.

— Mr. Edward L. Shaw, President of the Woburn First National Bank, sailed for Europe last week.

— Every business man in this city is wide awake for "Merchants' Day" and is booming it for all it is worth.

— The alarm from Box 53 last night was for a small fire in a cement shed of N. J. Simonds off Main street.

— Mr. Horace N. Conn, the insurance agent, has got out a neat and novel receipt-book for his business.

— Hon. E. D. Hayden of this city has recently been chosen Vice President of the Boston and Albany Railroad Co.

— It is expected that Gov. Russell will attend the annual dinner of the Woburn Board of Trade on the evening of April 30.

— The date fixed for holding the big Republican Mass Meeting in this city with trimmings has been given out as May 13.

— Mrs. Wilbur E. Cummings and Miss Minnie Moody, who have been visiting at Washington, D. C., lately, have returned.

— Mr. Samuel Skelton has been ill for nearly two months but is on the streets once more although he still has a pretty bad neck.

— Mrs. M. D. Stevens carries on fashionable cloak and dress making at her home at No. 59 Warren st., this city. Please read her card in another column.

— The City Board demonstrated their ability to tell a good thing when they see it by designating the JOURNAL and News the city's official organs the other night.

— There is to be a meeting of the shareholders of the Middlesex Investment Co. to-morrow evening to act on business of importance. A settlement of the affairs of the Co. is expected.

— In view of the fact that between 30 and 40 applications for licenses to sell rum in this city have been made and only 13 can be granted, there are many men on the anxious-seats just now.

— Business at the machine shops of J. T. Freeman & Co. is firstrate. The proprietors have lately made some out of town contracts which keep a good crew of machinists busy all the time.

— Fred Prior is rapidly winning his way to the good graces of Beggs & Cobb, his employees, by giving the best of satisfaction in the discharge of the special duties of his position with the firm.

— The Commonwealth Clothing House of Boston announce in another column the opening of their spring and summer styles of clothing. All our readers are invited to attend the opening this week.

— Last Tuesday was a genuine late spring or early summer day. Grass and buds fairly leaped into new life and notice and at nightfall some people declared they heard the musical notes of the early frog.

— Landlord Thompson of the Central House will carry on the Parker House at Kennebunkport again this season. The house is one of the pleasantest and best patronized summer resorts on the Maine coast.

— Prior's auction sale of horses, carts, wagons, harnesses, and a great lot of other property belonging to Loring & Avery and others last Saturday at the Central House Stables was a very satisfactory one to the sellers.

— The wife and children of Landlord Thompson of the Central House have gone to No. Conway where they will remain until July 1, when they will take up their summer home at the Parker House at Kennebunkport, Me.

— Mr. Fred Hartwell has lost a fine St. Bernard dog as will be seen by his card. He was a great favorite with the family who are anxious to learn of his whereabouts, and will suitably reward any one who will furnish such information.

— Henry A. Henshaw is still teaching private classes at Harvard, from which he graduated five or six years ago, and also pursuing his studies in the Semitic language. Henry is a worker—a real, live, double-and-twisted literary and scientific delver.

— Mr. Fred Stanley, of the firm of Fitz & Stanley, the wideawake and successful proprietors of the Boston Branch grocery (sugar 5 cents per pound), has bought the residence of Mr. Charles H. Arnold on Green street, which, happily, insures his permanent residence in this city. We are glad of it for Mr. Stanley is a good business man and estimable citizen.

— Mr. Elmore A. Pierce of this city has been engaged by the G. A. R. Post and City authorities of Waltham to deliver the Memorial Address there next month. Mr. Pierce's address here last Memorial Day gave great pleasure and satisfaction to everyone who heard it.

— Mr. Charles S. Rand of the firm of Cooper & Rand of the Woburn Real Estate Exchange who has been confined to the house for the past three weeks with bilious fever was again seen on the street last Wednesday week and is now able to give some attention to the firm's business.

— Frank Nichols is getting a good ready for supplying all Woburn with the best ice in the market at very low prices this season, and Philo Goodrich is doing the same thing for Winchester's benefit. With such man at the helm pure ice, good weight, low figures, and fair deal will prevail.

— One of the oldest residents of Woburn at the present time is Mr. Samuel S. Porter who was 85 last Wednesday. His grandfather was killed at the Battle of Lexington, the opening fight of the Revolutionary War which resulted in the independence of this great and glorious nation.

— Mr. John Gilcreast, Superintendent of the Gaslight Co., is at his post of duty again. Although laid up with severe sickness for a couple of weeks or more he was pleased to find, when he got back to his office, that the gas meters had kept right on working just as though nothing had been the matter with the Superintendent.

— Bulletin No. 2 of the Hatch Experiment Station of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, which is a "Report on Insects," ought to be in the hands of every freeholder in Medford and Winchester and, if possible, introduced as a text-book into their public schools. The State Gypsy Moth Commission too might use it to advantage.

— Big preparatians are on foot for the observance of "Merchant's Day" in this city next Thursday afternoon and evening. It will be a gala time and if our streets and stores are not filled, crowded and running over with people from Wilmington, Burlington, Stoneham, Winchester and neighboring places all the afternoon then we will miss our guess.

— The following are the recently elected officers of the Unitarian church in this city: Clerk, Herbert B. Dow; Treasurer, John W. Johnson; Auditor, Robert J. W. Phinney; Trustee permanent fund, Joseph W. Hammond; Parish Committee, Henry M. Aldrich, Edward L. Shaw, Mrs. Abigail M. Winn, Mrs. Cynthia B. Goddard, John W. Johnson.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery returned from the New England Methodist Conference last Tuesday afternoon. In accordance with the unanimous desire of its members he was reappointed to his third year's pastorate of the Woburn Church, by whom he is held in high esteem. He was made one of the Directors of the Temperance Society of the Conference and filled other posts of honor.

— Barnum, the great showman whose death occurred at his palatial home in Bridgeport, Conn., last week, is mourned no more deeply or sincerely by anyone in all the broad land than by Mr. Waterman Brown of this city. Barnum was the complete realization of Brown's beauideal of a man and showman, hence his grief over the author and finisher of the "Greatest Show on Earth."

— The Soliciting Committee for funds to defray the expenses of "Merchants Day" have met with extraordinary success. Merchants have vied with each other in contributing to the very laudable enterprise and in every instance the lowest depths of masculine pockets have been carefully explored for the wherewithal to make this grand "Business Opening" of the Woburn merchants a magnificent success.

— The local reporter of the Boston Globe furnishes in a late issue of that paper the cheering information that a good deal of building is going on and in contemplation on the property of the Woburn Land Co. at No. Woburn. There is no good reason why there should not be, for Ward 6 is the fairest and best portion of the city and for pleasant and healthy residence there is no section in the suburbs of Boston that surpasses it.

— It is announced that the Miles-Morgan Concert Company will give a concert in this city on Friday evening, April 24. The talent will consist of Mrs. E. E. Morgan of New York, the popular soprano; Lena Curtis, reader, and the Nellie Miles Ladies Orchestra, and others. The usher will be Mr. H. W. Dean with a corps of competent aids. The same troupe are expected to give a concert at Winchester near the same date.

— Last Tuesday Miss Lizzie J. Callahan resigned her clerkship in the postoffice in this city and returned to her old position at R. H. White & Co's in Boston. She served under postmaster Reade for some time when and during her service with postmaster Wyman she was very popular with the patrons of the office on account of her uniform courtesy and pleasant ways and promptness in the discharge of her duties. The public will miss Miss Lizzie's cordial greetings at the delivery windows and business desk.

— The Annual Fair and Sale given by the Managers for the benefit of the treasury of the Woburn Home for Aged Women opened on Wednesday evening last at Music Hall with a large attendance and a handsome display of goods, wares and merchandise. The supper was a feature that attracted a large crowd of hungry people and no doubt swelled the exchequer of the Home a good deal. The lady attendants were very kind and courteous to visitors and everything was done by them to make people contented and happy. The Fair wound up last evening —too late for the JOURNAL to give its final result, but it is safe to say a large amount of money was taken in. The whole thing was very pleasing to the community, the members of which take a lively interest in the Old Ladies Home.

— The monthly meeting and dinner of the Mayors' Club was held at Young's in Boston last Saturday in honor of ex-Mayors Hart of Boston and Johnson of Woburn. Mayor Fisher of Waltham presided. The guests were Congressman Greenhalge of Lowell and Hon. Charles H. Burns of New Hampshire, and the speakers were Postmaster Hart of Boston, Judge Johnson of Woburn, Hon. C. H. Burns, ex-Mayor O'Brien and Hon. F. T. Greenhalge. The meeting was well attended and a very pleasant one.

— A pleasant surprise was given to Mrs. A. V. Haynes Wednesday evening, April 15, by a few of her neighbors, it being her seventieth birthday. Readings appropriate for the occasion were given by Mrs. B. A. Stearns and Mrs. F. E. Soles. Mrs. Haynes was presented with a bouquet of roses and other remembrances. Ice cream, cake and confections were served by her friends during the evening and all enjoyed a very pleasant time. Mrs. Haynes was in excellent spirits and appeared more like a lady of fifty years than seventy.

— Gov. Fowle of North Carolina who died two weeks ago was a cousin of Luke Warren Fowle and George E. Fowle of this city and also of the late Luther A. Fowle. He was son of Samuel Fowle who was born in Woburn. Samuel was a brother of Luke, Jedathan and Edward Fowle. Samuel went South over 50 years ago, and settled in North Carolina. During late war the 5th Regiment, Massachusetts Infantry, in which there was a Woburn Company, camped on Fowle's plantation. Samuel Fowle's home in Woburn was near James Skinner's residence.

— The Ladies Auxiliary to the St. Charles C. T. A. is a new society which is destined to be of great benefit to the good cause. It is composed of the more prominent Catholic young ladies of the city and its permanency is assured. At a meeting hold on last Wednesday evening at St. Charles Hall they elected officers as follows: President, Miss Kate McElhaney; Vice President, Miss Lizzie Calnan; Recording Secretary, Miss Annie Kelleher; Financial Secretary, Miss Margaret M. McKay; Treasurer, Miss Kate Mahoney; Directors, Miss Maggie Farrie, Miss Nellie O'Brien, Miss Julia Mahoney. The Auxiliary hold their regular meetings every Wednesday evening in St. Charles Hall.

— It is officially announced that the annual banquet of the Board of Trade will be given on Thursday evening, April 30, in Music Hall adjacent to the Board's rooms. The price of tickets will be $1.50, for which modest sum the ticket-holder will get a sumptuous repast and the privileges of an oratorical entertainment, with Gov. Russell in the principal role, worth at least twice the price paid. Besides His Excellency the Governor, other distinguished State officials and eminent dignitaries will honor the occasion with their presence, partake of the Board's hospitality, and have a good time generally. Concerning this important society event—More Anon.

— Rev. Mr. Munhall, the eminent Evangelist who is now doing successful religious work among the Haverhill churches, will open a series of revival meetings at the First Congregational church in this city on next Sunday evening. The singing for the series will be under the direction of Mr. Rowe. Last Wednesday evening Rev. Dr. March said some good words paving the way to the advent of Mr. Munhall; last evening Dr. Plumb of Boston followed with an eloquent sermon on the same line; and this evening the Christian Endeavor Society, under the direction of the General Secretary, will hold a meeting for the promotion of the same object. It need not be said that Rev. Munhall is a earnest, eloquent and successful evangelist.

— We enjoyed the pleasure of an introduction to Judge Hiel Hollister of Granville, N. Y., last Tuesday, who was in this city visiting his brother-in-law, John M. Harlow, M. D., and left for Washington, D. C., on yesterday. Although Judge Hollister is 85 years of age the hand of time has rested so lightly on his shoulders that one would take him for a gentleman 15 years younger than he is, and especially would this be the feeling on learning that the Judge is a great traveler, that he has recently been in 20 of the United States, and proposes to indulge in a good deal more of the same kind of pleasure-seeking, and that in all his rambles to and fro over his native land he is unattended and very successfully "paddles his own canoe" in all sorts of places and among all sorts of people. That we call doing well for a man who is an octogenarian and five years over. Judge Hollister is a native of Vermont, in which State he lived up to 9 years ago when he moved to York State and now resides there. He married a sister of Dr. Harlow, who is also a native of the Green Mountain State. He served on the Judicial Bench of that Commonwealth for many years with ability and credit. We found Judge Hollister an intelligent and pleasant gentleman.

— The spring millinery opening at Mr. Amos Cummings's prosperous establishment on Main street opposite the Common is announced to take place on the afternoon and evening of next Thursday, April 23, and for it the proprietor is making extensive preparations. The affair will take the shape of a concert for which the Marion Osgood's Ladies Orchestra of the Osgood School of Oratory in Boston, a very popular musical organization which Mr. Cummings has employed on a former similar occasion to the unbounded pleasure of the myriads of ladies who attended his grand opening that year, will furnish new and popular music and be sure to entertain the visitors in the most agreeable manner. This will prove a very attractive feature to an important business event which, we make no doubt, is anticipated with much pleasure by the ladies of this city as well as of neighboring towns; but it is quite like Mr. Cummings to spare no expense when consulting the happiness of his patrons or catering to their wants. The great number of ladies who were so delightfully regaled on the former opening by this widely known and very popular Orchestra will be sure to attend Mr. Cummings's opening next Thursday afternoon and evening if for no other purpose than to enjoy the rich musical treat then and there so generously prepared for them by the proprietor. But besides this unique and delightful musical feature the opening will present strong attractions in the shape of elegant millinery goods—bonnets and hats a la mode, beautiful ribbons, rich velvets, laces, flowers, etc., the stock being directly from the fashion centres of New York and Boston, and equal to the very best to be found in any firstclass millinery establishment in the State.

— Hon. Stephen M. Allen, who presided at the reunion of the Veteran Republicans in Tremont Temple last Wednesday, and is the surviving presiding officer of the Worcester Convention of July 20, 1854, which formed and gave the name to the Republican party in Massachusetts, was formerly a citizen of Woburn.

— Lambeth's Scotch Choir gave a magnificent concert at Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening under the auspices of Clan MacKinnon, which everyone enjoyed in the highest degree. There was a very large audience composed chiefly of musical people who honored the singing with undivided attention and bestowed on it much well merited applause. We haven't had so fine a concert in Lyceum Hall for a great while, and Clan MacKinnon deserve warm thanks for furnishing the same.

— The death of Dr. Eben Tourjee will be severely felt by the New England Conservatory of Music, of which he was the founder and its leading and guiding spirit. He has been from the beginning the Director of its vast affairs, and its great success and world-wide fame as a musical institution are due almost entirely to the energy, industry and rare executive abilities of Dr. Tourjee. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon last at the Tremont street Methodist church, and among the bearers was Mr. F. H. Lewis of this city, Principal of the Lewis Music School, who was selected for the mournful service by Mrs. Tourjee on the score of the friendly relations that existed for many years between the Doctor and Mr. Lewis. The deceased was Dean of Boston University when Mr. Lewis entered it as a student in 1872, and also Director of the New England Conservatory of Music, and when Mr. Lewis graduated from the University in 1875 he was selected by Dr. Tourjee for an important teachership in the Conservatory and in due time was enrolled as a regular member of the Faculty of that celebrated school. In this capacity Mr. Lewis has served it ever since and for 16 years has been one of its most prominent teachers of the pianoforte and organ. During this long period a strong and warm friendship has existed between these two gentlemen. Mr. Lewis was pleasantly associated with the Doctor in the latter's last service as Choir Director, which was at the Tremont Street M. E. church about four years ago. When the Doctor took charge of the music of the church he selected Mr. Lewis for its organist, and the two worked harmoniously together until the Doctor's increasing duties at the Conservatory compelled him to give up the musical directorship at the church and place it entirely in the hands of Mr. Lewis, who treasures the thought that he was Dr. Tourjee's last associate in church musical work. Other members of the Faculty were pall-bearers with Mr. Lewis, and the church was crowded with the personal and professional friends and admirers of the distinguished founder and builder of the New England Conservatory of Music, one of the largest and most celebrated institutions of the kind in the world.

Drill of the W. H. S. B.

Pursuant to notice a very fine exhibition drill was given by the Woburn High School Battalion (7th Bal. 2nd Mass. School Regt.) in Carter's Rink last Friday evening. A large gathering of interested spectators were present and bestowed strict attention on the excellent work of the boys. The object of the drill was mainly to determine which of the two Companies composing the Battalion should represent it at the General Muster soon to be held at Lynn, which honor was won by Co. A. The order of drill included a Guard Mount by details from Cos. A and B. Formation of Line. Review; Battalion Drill commanded by Major Irving R. Bancroft; Drum Corps, under Sergeant Parker C. Fowle; all doing credit to their Commanders. The sixth upon the programme was a competitive drill between Co. B, Capt. J. C. Hanson, and Co. A Capt. E. R. Porter.

Then followed a drill by the privates for the Russell Medal. To begin with there were 42 privates in line for the medal, 28 of whom were descended at the close of the first exercise leaving 19, 13 of whom were thrown out after the second exercise, leaving six who were James Linnell, John Moore, Matthew Thornton, Almy Carter, Waldo Cutler, Leon Parkhurst, the medal being awarded Mr. James Linnell. Mayor Bean and Mr. William F. Kenney viewed the drill and His Honor made a speech presenting the medal, and expressing himself as being very well pleased with the proficiency which the battalion displayed. The judges for the occasion were Capt. Thomas C. Henderson, Lieut. Charles R. Row, of Co. E, Fifth Regiment, Medford, Lieut. Joseph C. Larock, of Co. G, Fifth Regt., this city.

The Miles-Morgan Concert in Lyceum Hall, April 24, 1891.

Statistics of Woburn M. E. Church.

Sunday morning, April 5, the Rev. Hugh Montgomery made a statement concerning his two years' work in Woburn as pastor of said church. He has preached 68 sermons on miscellaneous subjects; 26 sermons by request on special subjects; 11 sermons on temperance; 16 lectures, and 10 preludes on different phases of the temperance question. This includes the sermons and lectures given in the church only. It is to be remembered that he has exchanged 20 Sabbaths with ministers of his own denomination to raise money for the building fund.

When he came to Woburn the membership of the church was 209, with 12 probationers, making a total of 221. The membership is now 250, with 40 probationers, making a total of 290; 21 have been removed by death and letter.

The Sabbath School numbers 360, with 44 teachers and officers, and is in a flourishing condition under the care of its Superintendent Mr. Copeland.

Two years ago the mortgage on the church property was $16,000; the Trustees owed a floating debt of $890; the Stewards owed over $200 on current expenses of previous year. There was raised last year for all expenses, $3,234 57. The total amount subscribed for the new church this year is $12,344 55; a little over $5,000 of this is still uncollected, but the subscriptions for the most part are reliable. There has been raised for current expenses $2,121 95; about $400 is still needed to meet the expenses of the past year; $250 is not yet provided for.

The pastor said there were two reasons why they were deficient: first, that they had contributed so largely to the new church; the other, that it has been an extremely hard year for working people. Many have been without employment and a great deal of sickness prevailed. In spite of these difficulties, he said, that the church would be out of debt had it not been for the failure of the contractor: $4,700 was paid for the lot and foundation for the new edifice; the contract was let for $13,000 above the foundation. This included everything except chandeliers, carpets, horse sheds and insurance. Before the contractor gave up the work the building committee either paid him or accepted his orders to the amount of $12,600. Thus it cost $3,500 more to complete the church than had been originally figured upon. There has been sufficient paid into the treasury to meet all expenses, had it not been necessary to raise this extra sum.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

The Woburn Co-Operative Bank.

The annual meeting for the election of officers was held in the Bank's rooms on the evening of the 9th instant when and where the following gentlemen were chosen to fill the respective places named: President, James Skinner; Vice-President, George Buchanan; Treasurer, A. W. Whitcher; Secretary, A. W. Whitcher; Directors, B. F. Whittemore, J. W. Hammond, W. F. Davis, Otis Bacon, Lawrence Reade, Martin Hayward, J. B. McDonald, S. B. Goddard, Thomas Salmon, F. H. Lewis, H. C. Hall, S. F. Trull, Fred J. Brown, Frederic A. Flint, H. E. Smith; Auditors, C. A. Burdett, A. E. Gage, Winthrop Hammond.

There was sold $4,000, $2,200 of it for 5 cents premium per share, and $2,200 for 15 cents premium per share. Of the whole amount $4,200 is to be put into the erection of two dwellings, for one of which ground has already been broken, and for the other it will be very soon. Secretary Whitcher is in consultation with other parties who, it is believed, will wish to purchase a part at least of the $3,000 that will be offered for sale at the next regular meeting of the Bank to be held on May 14. The institution is a good thing for Woburn.

At that meeting too, besides selling the money on hand, an election of a Vice-President will take place to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Buchanan.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

A special meeting of the Board was held on last Monday evening at which all the members were present. Mayor Bean held the gavel.

Patrick Kelleys application for State aid was referred to State Aid Committee.——Thomas Moore & Co. were granted a Common Victuallers license.——Samuel D. Thompson, first and fourth, for Central House. James H. Connolly & Co. were granted inn-holders license; Charles H. Buss applied for a sixth class druggist's license.——A communication was received from the Rumford Historical Association, asking that the name "Rumford" be given the park recently acquired by the city. On motion of Alderman Dearborn, it was tabled.——An order from Alderman Fowle was passed providing that all advertisements of liquor licenses be printed in the JOURNAL and News. Alderman Dearborn moved to go into a committee of the whole on petition of Fred E. Perkins and others for a regular patrolman in Ward 6. It was carried, and Alderman Davis presented a minority report, but a majority report was adopted.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. D. D. Winn will conduct the S. S.

Saturday evening Bible class Saturday evening from 8 to 9, for men of all ages.

Rev. D. D. Winn will give an exposition of the Sunday School Lesson tomorrow afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. parlor.

Sunday at 3 P. M. will be held the boys meeting: subject "Bottle Talk" by Chester A. Cotton of Cambridge. Come boys and hear the Bottles Talk.

"Chipman's Liver Pills the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

— AT —

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

"Merchants Day."

The committee having the matter in charge have fixed on Thursday next, April 23, afternoon and evening, for "Merchants Day" and the same will be observed accordingly. A great deal of interest in the new departure is felt on the part of the business men of this city who have subscribed liberally to the fund raised to defray the expenses of the day. All up and down the streets men reached down deep for their "bottom dollar" as a contribution to the fund and found it, which gave the committee a chance to report great success in collecting money. When any enterprise is on foot or anything is to be done for the benefit of this city her merchants and other leading men can be depended on for material aid every time. So in this case.

The plan which the committee, aided by patriotic traders, mechanics, and others interested in our growth and prosperity, propose to carry out is, in the first place, to give everybody a free ride. All the cars on the No. Woburn Street Railroad and the East Middlesex Street Railroad have been chartered to carry people free to and fro between Winchester, Stoneham, Montvale, and No. Woburn, and Woburn Centre during the whole afternoon and evening of Thursday, April 23, next; to run free barges to Cummingsville, Burlington, and Wilmington from the N. W. car stables, and by this means to insure to everyone who wants it a fine, pleasant ride for nothing.

It is expected that hundreds of people will avail themselves of this generous offer and flock to Woburn on that afternoon and evening in great numbers from all points of the compass, and the merchants will see the wisdom of the novel movement in the great crowds of ladies and gentlemen who will fill their stores. Everybody will receive a cordial greeting from our business men who will leave no stone unturned to render the visits of the people pleasant and profitable. A brass band will give several concerts on the Common during the afternoon and evening, and the streets will be brilliantly illuminated after night.

Briefly, the merchants of Woburn Centre will do everything which may be in their power to pleasantly entertain their visitors from neighboring towns and villages, and up to date no such word as fail has ever been found in their dictionaries.

The idea of holding "Merchants Day" is a neat one whoever may have originated it. It really is to be a general "Opening Day" of spring trade at Woburn, and our business men did wisely when they pooled their interests and raised money enough to advertise the day in this splendid style.

Now let all the men, women and children within a radius of 3 or 4 miles take advantage of the generous offer of a free horse car or barge ride on the afternoon and evening of the 23d instant and come to Woburn's grand "Spring Opening." Good neighbors and friends, combine business with pleasure and when you strike the Centre visit the stores of the whole-souled merchants whose enterprise has enabled you to get here and back again for nothing and just see how much money you can save by buying goods of them instead of in Boston.

(From Winchester Star.)

Hannah Davis Richardson.

Hannah Davis Richardson, who died in this town the present week, 91 years old, was born in Westford and came to Woburn with her father when about 5 years old. Her father bought and lived upon the spot where now stands the residence of James Russell. This place was where the Belknap family lived, so celebrated in the early military history of Woburn and the country. In 1824 Hannah Davis married Gilbert Richardson, a descendant in the 7th generation of Ezekiel Richardson. This family are the only descendants of Ezekiel living in Winchester. The house in which Hannah Davis lived when married, was for a long time a tavern of some note. The writer well remembers the old tavern sign as it hung from a post. It was at this tavern that in 1810 Benjamin and Joseph Brooks were brought after they were found frozen to death in the woods upon the mountain between Winchester Highlands and Woburn. Mrs. Gilbert Richardson was a worthy, Christian woman, mother of seven children, three of whom entered the ministry. One daughter married the eminent musician Wm. H. Clarke. Gilbert Richardson has been dead 22 years. He was a good and respected citizen. The family house is the last one in Winchester near the Woburn line.

N. A. RICHARDSON.

Winchester, April 9, 1891.

North Woburn.

The Woburn City L. & I. Co. are doing a rushing business and many houses are being built.

One may rest assured that the leather business is pretty dull when such a shop as Mr. B. F. Kimball's is closed.

Three cheers for Mr. Fred E. Perkins and his followers for their good work in stirring up the police question.

Mrs. Marshall and family have moved to the Centre as her son Mr. George Marshall has gone to work in Mr. Duncan's leather factory.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting in the parlors of the Congregational church on next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The public are cordially invited.

Messrs. George Merrill and Carl Perkins have opened the store next to the postoffice, and are manufacturing boots and shoes. They also are ready to do repairing in the neatest style at reasonable prices.

The last sociable to be held this season by the Congregational Society took place in the vestry of the church on Friday evening, April 10. An excellent supper was served after which a short entertainment was given.

Mr. William B. Erwin, who has been a citizen of this village for a number of years, died on last Monday in the Mass. General Hospital. The funeral services took place in the Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased was a member of the I. O. R. M.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, April, 15 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Miss Alice E. Norris.
Mr. and Mrs. M. Dempsey.
K. A. D., Postoffice, Woburn, Mass.
Mr. Captain J. Buck, Main site 1.
Miss M. S. Bent, Box 29.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

The Tickets for the Miles-Morgan Concert are selling fast.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

142 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Literary Notices.

THE MUSICAL RECORD, published by O. Ditson & Co., Boston, is neat and inviting this month.

OUR LITTLE ONES for the present month is a gem in pictures, poetry and tales. No juvenile magazine in the country surpasses this in any of the features that make such a publication attractive and valuable in the eyes of the young. OUR LITTLE ONES is published by the Russell Pub. Co., Boston

Burlington.

The spring term of the schools began Monday. There is no change in the corps of teachers.

Rev. C. Hersey of Andover has been engaged to preach at the church for the next year. He has supplied the pulpit for several Sundays and is well liked by the people. The attendance at the last Sunday evening service was larger than at any similar service for a long time.

The Nellie Miles Ladies Orchestra of Lynn, Mass., assisted by Mrs. E. E. Morgan, Soprano, of New York, and Miss Lena Curtis, Reader, of Rutland, Vt., will give a select concert in Lyceum Hall, Friday evening, April 24, 1891.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

BAPTIST—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: Seed Sowing. At 6 p. m. Christian Endeavor meeting.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Salvation Free;" Young Peoples' Meeting at 6 p. m.; Dr. Munhall will preach at 7 p. m. Evangelistic services conducted by Dr. Munhall every evening from Monday to Friday.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m., preaching by pastor. Subject: "This is the third time I have come unto you." II Cor. 13:1. At 5.30 p. m. Epworth League Meeting; Union Service in Congregational Church, preaching by Dr. Munhall. Meetings every afternoon and evening next week at M. E. Church conducted by Dr. Munhall the Evangelist.

Mrs. E. E. Morgan, one of New York City's prima donas will appear in Lyceum Hall, April 24, 1891.

Worthy Object.

An appeal is made in behalf of Mr. W. M. Cameron and family of No. Woburn who, on account of sickness and other ills, have become needy. They are very worthy people.

Mr. Cameron wants to get to Colorado where his only relatives live. Rev. Mr. Murphy makes an appeal for help to enable him and his family to go.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, April 5, Thankful C. Bean, aged 74 years, 4 months, 16 days.

In this city, April 13, Catherine E. Barry, aged 18 years, 1 month, 21 days.

In the Mass. Gen. Hospital, April 13, William B. Erwin of this city, aged 60 years, 8 months.

In this city, April 14, George A. Colby, aged 2 years, 3 months, 14 days.

Now Is the Time

To purify your blood and fortify your system against the debilitating effects of spring weather. At no other season is the bitter taste in the mouth more prominent, the breath so offensive, the drowsy dizziness so frequent, or that extreme tired feeling so prevalent. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify the blood, cure sick headache, biliousness and overcome that tired feeling.

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled a great deal with headache, had no appetite, no strength, and felt as mean as any one could, and be about my work. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have not had the headache, my food has relished, and seemed to do me good, and I have found myself growing stronger every day." M. A. STEINMAN, 19 Grand Avenue, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—H

A New Assortment

— OF —

Scotch Ginghams

— ALSO, —

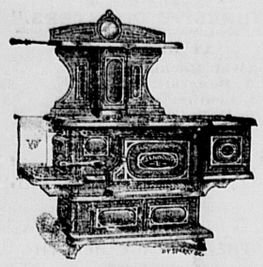
A FINE LINE OF

AMERICAN GINGHAMS,

At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Opera.

The coming opera, Il Trovatore, a benefit for Miss Mabel C. Davis to be given next Wednesday evening, April 22, at Lyceum Hall promises to be the musical event of the season. Never before has so elaborate an opera been given complete in Woburn. Mr. Charles R. Adams, who for fifteen years was Court tenor a Vienna, and who is considered the greatest American tenor, will sing the part of Maurico. Mr. Adams several years ago retired from the operatic stage and is rarely heard in public at the present day. It will be worth double the price of admission to hear and see this great artist again. The other soloists include Signor Guiseppe Campanari, a successful operatic baritone, Miss Luella Wagner, a most charming soprano, Mr. Fred Marston, basso and Miss Davis our local favorite. In addition there will be a chorus of picked voices from Boston, Miss Mertena Bancroft pianist and Miss Emtlie Grant of Boston, organist. Scenery from Sullivan and costumes furnished by Raymond. The expense attending the production of so grand an opera is very great but no money will be spared to make the performance a success. Mason & Hamlin kindly furnish the grand pianoforte and Liszt organ. It is earnestly hoped that the Woburn public will avail themselves of this musical treat and also show their good will and generosity toward Miss Davis who has always graciously responded to the many calls for her services. Do not let it be said "A prophet is not with out honor, save in his own country." X Y. Z.

The following is the Il Trovatore

ARGUMENT.

At the beginning of the 15th century lived an old Count who had two young sons not much apart in age. One night while both were in their infancy, an old gypsy woman gained access to their chamber and was discovered by a servant, near the cradle of the younger child. The gypsy was violently expelled from the castle, but from that day the child's health began to fail, and all remedies proving of no avail, the old gypsy was suspected of having bewitched the child. Search was instituted and the woman taken prisoner and burned alive. A daughter of the woman with her child in her arms watched the execution. To avenge her mother she stole the younger son of the Count and hurried with him to the stake where the flames still raged over her ill-fated mother. Frantic with grief, and almost beside herself, she by a fatal mistake hurled her own child into the flames. Not to be baffled in her designs she fled taking the child with her, joined her tribe and brought the child up as her own son, Maurico—The Troubadore. In the mean time the old Count dies, leaving the oldest son sole heir to his title and possession. Maurico now a valient and daring knight entered the contest at a tourney, disguised, won all honors and was crowned victor by the Duchess Leonora. From this moment dated a passionate love shared by both. Unhappily, the Count di Luna was also in love with Leonora and over some hasty words the rivals fought a duel. Manrico, about to kill his adversary, is prevented from doing so by the sudden influence of some secret power bidding him spare his victim. Reluctantly he retires. Joining the army he was reported dead, but his mother, Azucena, sought him out by night upon the battlefield and nursed him back to life. Hearing that Leonora believing the reports of his death was to take the veil at a convent he departed and arrived at the convent just in time to rescue Leonora who was about to be carried off forcibly by the Count. Azucena, following Manrico had ventured too far into the enemies lines, and was taken prisoner as a spy but was soon recognized by an old servant of the house of Luna as the gypsy who stole the young child years before. Frightened at this discovery she calls upon Manrico to protect her but the Count's anger aroused, he orders her to be burned at the stake. Manrico in the meantime was making preparations to celebrate his union with Leonora when he was called to rescue his mother, his forces were repulsed and he was taken prisoner. On the eve before the day fixed for the execution of mother and son, Leonora appears before the Count and pleading for her lover's life offers him her hand in exchange. The Count consents and Leonora is admitted to the prison to restore Manrico to liberty. Before entering, however, she takes poison which she carries concealed in a ring; Manrico, believing her faithless, refuses to accept his liberty. The delay proves fatal the poison works its mission, and too late he discovers the extent of her sacrifice and Leonora dies in his arms. The Count enters grasps the situation at a glance and orders Manrico to be beheaded immediately. While his orders are being obeyed he arouses the gypsy from the stupor in which she has been lying in a corner of the dungeon and dragging her to a window shows her the execution of her supposed son. Azucena triumphantly divulges her secret exclaiming to the horrified Count, "The victim was thy brother!" and with the cry "Mother thou art avenged!" sinks lifeless to the ground.

Stoves.

Stoves stored for the season by C. M. Strout.

What Shall We Cover The Floor With?

A pretty fancy Straw Matting is very desirable for warm weather. You can buy good ones for 25 cents a yard and the best seamless for only 38 cents. Then a great many people like our Oil Cloth for the kitchen or dining-room, and there is do need of going without one for the variety of styles, quality of goods and the low prices you can buy them for at Smith's is remarkable. Good quality for only 25 cents a square yard, and the very best for only 40 cents a square yard. Now what about a Woolen Carpet for every body don't put down Straw Matting in the summer. The styles this Spring are very pretty and our stock is selected from the best makes made. We shall do our very best to please you; and the price, we guarantee that to be right. You may say that these don't interest you and you want a Tapestry or a Brussels Carpet and perhaps more than one, you may want to carpet a whole house. Well, we were awake before but now we are wide-awake. Smith's is just the place you want to come to.

We will endeavor to show you a good line of these goods at the lowest possible prices, and suit your taste and your pocket-book as well.

We also look out that you buy pretty Rugs, and we don't forget you have windows in your house and that we can furnish you with Curtains from the cheap 25 cent Holland Shade to the best Knit Cloth or Holland Shade made to order for you.

Please remember that you can get all of these at Smith's.

C. Willard Smith

WINCHESTER.

Mr. Hunt has been reappointed Supt. of Schools.

The Salvation Army occupy Lyceum Hall for their meetings.

Calumet Club will give an entertainment and ball on April 24, in Town Hall.

The machinery in the Star printing establishment is run by a water motor. How we apples swim!

Col. Nat. Richardson, the local historian, has, very properly, been reappointed Supt. of Streets.

"Gyp, Jr." is to be given in G. A. R. Hall here on the evening of April 21, under the management of Mrs. C. M. Strout of Woburn.

One of the pleasantest parties of the season at Winchester was that given in Rangeley Hall Wednesday evening. The dancing was from 8 until 12, and the favors were both unique and handsome. The matrons were: Mrs. C. A. Cutter, Mrs. J. M. Corse, Mrs. Daniel March, and Mrs. C. S. Sergeant. There were many persons present from Boston, Woburn and Medford.

The following are the new officers of the Episcopal church: Clerk, Frank J. Wills; Senior Warden, Theo C. Hurd; Junior Warden, Sam'l W. McCall; Treasurer, Henry F. Johnson; Vestrymen, N. T. Appollonio, Louis Barta, Chas. W. Bradstreet, Geo. L. Dunham, H. T. Dickson and Herbert S. Underwood. All the foregoing officers and the rector convention, Theo. C. Hurd, Sam'l W. McCall and Henry F. Johnson.

Municipal appointments have been made by the new Board as follows: Police—Chief, J. W. Richardson, $800 a year, to give his whole time; Thos. Dotten, S. Carr, W. H. Ralston. Special Police same as last year, with N. A. Richardson and Edward Bostwick added. Coal Weighers, C. E. Kendall, J. Rice. Public Weighers, H. A. Emerson, E. J. Gutterson. Engineers and Superintendent of Streets laid over until next meeting. All other officers same as last year.

My valued contemporary, Herbert Underwood, managing editor of the Record and Advertiser, is a most versatile suburban resident. Fast day night he delighted his townspeople out in Winchester both as the author and hero of a negro minstrel sketch, and only the next day word came to me that he had been chosen to be a grave and reverend vestryman of Epiphany church in association with other worthy and notable citizens like Nicholas T. Appollonio, our own City Registrar, and Samuel W. McCall. Mr. McCall, however, is a Junior Warden, but Editor Underwood, I predict, will grow in grace until even that ecclesiastical dignity is achieved.—Boston Globe.

The last Winchester annual Town Meeting was held Monday evening by adjournment, and it proved a very interesting session.

A committee of 10 was appointod to consider the widening of the Main street, from Medford to Woburn lines, and confer with the County Commissioners.

Voted to appropriate $5,000 to build a bridge across a portion of the reservoir at the foot of Turkey swamp. This was carried by only one majority. Votes on several motions were also very close.

An article to allow the Firemen's Relief Association the use of Town Hall annually was indefinitely postponed.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fevers, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

For the sick, the aged, and in all diseases of children, Mellin's Food is valuable. Its perfect adaptability for the uses for which it was intended is being constantly demonstrated.

HALF A THOUSAND.

Few people realize that 500 Men are on the pay roll of the

BOSTON HERALD,

Employed in getting out the enormous

DAILY & SUNDAY

Editions. It costs something to be the leading newspaper in New England.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Grand Opera

Il Trovatore.

LYCEUM HALL,

Wednesday Evening, April 22.

Benefit of Mabel C. Davis,

— ASSISTED BY —

MR. CHARLES R. ADAMS,

Signor Gnisippe Campanari, Mr. Fred Marston, Mrs. Luella Wagner, and Chorus from Boston, Miss Mertina Louise Bancroft Pianist, Miss Emilie Grant, Organist.

Performance Begins at 7.30, to allow people to take the 10.10 train.

Tickets for sale at Messrs J. W, Hammond & Son's.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, }
Municipal Building, April 14, 1891. }

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles H. Buss has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 394 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Samuel D. Thompson has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as innholder, at No. 442 Main St., on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Samuel D. Thompson has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as retail liquor dealer, at No. 442 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Elmer F. Blank has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 389 Main St., in two rooms on first floor.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Mahern & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as druggists, at No. 463 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Fred E. Lovell has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 361 Main St., in all rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William McDonough has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at Nos. 287 and 289 Montvale Avenue, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly and Patri k F. Kerrigan, have made application under the firm name of Connolly & Kerrigan, for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualers, at No. 48 Fowle Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly and Patrick F. Kerrigan, under the firm name of Connolly & Kerrigan, have made appliaction for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 48 Fowle street, in one room on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William McDonough has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 287 and 289 Montvale Avenue, in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

CITY OF WOBURN

Notice is given that I, Frederic B. Leeds, have been appointed under Sec. 1 Chapter 57 of the Public Statutes,

Inspector of Milk and Vinegar,

for the ensuing year and all persons engaged in the sale of milk are hereby notified.

Woburn, Mass., April 15, 1891.

SALESMEN — WANTED —

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.

F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

Woburn Board of Trade.

The Annual Meeting for 1891 will be held in the Board of Trade Rooms, Tuesday Evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock, for the election of officers, and the transaction of other business that may be presented.

GEORGE BUCHANAN, President.
FREDERIC H. LEWIS, Secretary.
Woburn, April 16, 1891.

Strayed or Stolen!

From the residence of the subscriber on Tuesday, Wednesday night a small sized ST. BERNARD DOG; for any information concerning which (dead or a live) a suitable reward will be paid.

FRED. A. HARTWELL.
Woburn, Mass., April 16, 1891.

The Great Clothiers of New England

ARE NOW READY TO SHOW THEIR

SPRING and SUMMER Styles

— IN —

MEN'S AND BOYS' RAIMENT.

The attention of the ladies of New England is particularly called to our Boys' and Children's Department, which is now replete with all the latest novelities. Special bargains in Kilt Suits, Jersey Suits, Boys' Reefers, Flannel Blouses, Shirt Waists, etc.

Kilts, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, Reefers, $3.50, $5.00, 6.00, 8.00.

Commonwealth Clothing House,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts.

What Is Left

Over from our stock of fine Bedroom Sets, in the 1890 patterns, WILL NOW be closed out at a reduction of 25 per cent from Market Prices.

The assortment includes many artistic designes in Quartered Oak, Cherry, &c., the only reason for this unusual sacrifice being that we must make room for new stock.

If your eyes should chance to catch this announcement, the opportunity may enable you to furnish a room or two in "An Ideal Manner" and at an ideal price.

Perhaps it is well for you that you have waited till now.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS

ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
28000 SOLD AND IN USE.

VOSE & SONS. NEW STYLES.
VOSE & SONS. ELEGANT DESIGNS.
VOSE & SONS. SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP.
VOSE & SONS. GREAT DURABILITY.
VOSE & SONS. EASY TERMS.

WE RENT NEW and second-hand Pianos and allow ONE YEAR'S rent on the purchase price.

100 second-hand Pianos at $225, $250, $225, $210, $200, $175, $150, $100. Be sure and examine our stock before purchasing.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont Street.

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S

GERMAN CATARRH CURE

Cures Catarrh in all its forms.
Cures cases of long standing.
Clears the nazal passages.
Strengthens the air passage.
Has been used for years.
Is prescribed bo Physicians.
Instantly relieves cold in the head.
Sold by all Druggists. Try it.

$1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00.

Manufactured only by

JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist,
259 Essex St., LAWRENCE, MASS.

TO BE FOUND AT

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Read the prices of the following goods and match them if you can:

Cream and Bluewhite Albatross, 40c. a yd.
Baby Blue Henrietta, 40c. a yd.
Black Nun's Veiling, 35c. and 45c. a yd.
Fancy Striped French Serge, 35c. a yd.
Heliotrope high grade Henrietta, 90c.
All Silk Grosgrain Ribbons, No. 3, 3c. per yard: No. 5, 6c. per yard: 1½ inches wide, 12½c., 2 inches wide 15 cents.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN

MERCHANT TAILOR,

7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

C. E. SMITH.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Rose Kelly, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lawrence Reade, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of April instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Walter J. Mower of Somerville in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lizzie G. Knapp, Executrix of the will of Oren S. Knapp, and John W. Scribner, Co-guardian of said minor with said Orin S. Knapp, deceased, have presented for allowance the third account of the guardianship of said Knapp and Scribner;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said surviving Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, threeweeks successively, the last buplication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs at Law and others interested in the Estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, Executors of the will of said deceased, have presented to said Court their petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased, for the payment of debts, legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of April next at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the est te of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of April, instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the will of Ebenezer N. Blake, late of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bonds, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscribers who have appointed Griffin Place of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, agent of Joseph B. Parker.

WARREN N. BLAKE,
HARRISON G. BLAKE,
JOSEPH B. PARKER,
Executors.

Woburn, Mass., April 8, 1891.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at E. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnisheb with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.

The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

FOOT-POWER LATHE

For sale cheap. Inquire of
J. S. WHEELER, WOBURN.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 romas, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR

Best Old Gov.

JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

404 Main St.,

WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop, with a long experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main treet?

FOR SALE

IN WOBURN. A BARGAIN.

House of nine rooms, Stable, Shop, ¼ acre of land, Apple, Cherry, and beautiful Shade Trees. Horse Cars pass the door, Electric Lights, Horn Pond Water.

Apply to
G. F. JONES, WOBURN.

OPENING

— AND —

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

— AT THE —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

On Thursday, Apr. 23,

AT 2.30 AND 7, P. M.

Come. Everybody Come.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., }
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all Kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

JONAH SENT TO NINEVEH

LESSON III, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 19.

Text of the Lesson, Jonah i, 1-17—Commit Verses, 14-16—Golden Text, Jonah iii, 2—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

Having learned from previous lessons how both the ten tribes and the two, with but few exceptions, wander from God and worship idols, we are now for a few weeks to consider God's efforts to win them back to Himself by His servants the prophets. And we begin with the first Hebrew prophet or missionary ever sent to the Gentiles.

1. "Now the Word of the Lord came unto Jonah the son of Amittai, saying."

He prophesied about 800 years before Christ, and is one of the earliest, perhaps the very first, of the so called prophets whose writings exist.

2. "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before me."

Nineveh was on the Tigris, nearly 400 miles from Canaan. Its walls were about 60 miles in length and 100 feet high, with 1,500 towers, each 200 feet high. According to chapter iv, 11, there were 120,000 little children in the city at that time, which would give a population of not less than 600,000.

3. "But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord and went down to Joppa."

Jonah could not in one sense get away from the presence of the Lord anywhere in the wide world (Ps. cxxxix, 7-10), but he could go away from the Lord's land and city and temple, just as Cain went away from that part of Eden where God dwelt.

4. "But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea."

Sometimes when people are doing wrong events seem to favor them; so Jonah may have thought it a favorable omen to find a ship at Joppa about to sail to Tarshish. But however we may seem to succeed in our disobedience, God is watching and controlling, and we may be sure that sooner or later our sin will find us out.

5. "Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god."

Here is a servant of God disobedient to his Master, and bringing trouble on those who knew not God, as when Peter, a disciple of Christ, caused Malchus to suffer. If, as Christians, we do wrong, we are not the only ones who will suffer by the chastisement lovingly sent upon us.

"And he lay and was fast asleep."

While these heathen sailors are doing all in their power for the safety of the ship and all on board, and calling on their gods, which were no gods, the only one on board who knew the only living and true God is fast asleep. Is it not a picture of the majority of Christians now?

6. "What meanest thou, O sleeper?"

This was a well merited rebuke. It would do good if the people of the world would rebuke professing Christians more often.

7. "They cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah."

In the same way it would seem that Joshua discovered Achan (Josh. vii, 14), and Saul found out Jonathan (I Sam. xiv, 41, 42), and an apostle was chosen instead of Judas (Acts i, 24-25).

8. "Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us."

Jonah is now awake, and in the hands of those upon whom he has brought trouble. They have found him out, and now question him as to his occupation and people and country. It is humiliating to see this servant of God compelled to give an account of himself to this heathen shipmaster and his sailors, but it is good for him.

9. "I am an Hebrew; and I fear Jehovah, the God of heaven, which hath made the sea and the dry land."

He does better than Peter when he ran away from his Master and warmed himself at the servants' fire; but perhaps Peter might have done better, too, if he had found himself in the midst of a raging storm at sea with death staring him in the face.

10. "Why hast thou done this?"

A searching question, to which his answer is not given. And if in any measure a Christian is turning away from duty the question ought to come to them with power.

11. "What shall we do unto thee that the sea may be calm unto us?"

Sin must be punished. All nations recognize that the transgressor must suffer, and yet there are those in this enlightened (?) Nineteenth century, dwelling in our cities, in the very centers of light and intelligence, who say and teach that sin is a phantom, a nonentity, and that punishment for sin is not to be thought of.

12. "Take me up and cast me forth into the sea, so shall the sea be calm unto you; for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you."

He is convinced of his sin and ready to accept the consequences.

13. "Nevertheless the men rowed hard to bring it to the land, but they could not."

This labor was well meant. They were sorry for Jonah; they did not wish to be the means of his death, but their well meant efforts were all in vain, for Jonah must suffer for his sin.

14. "Wherefore they cried unto the Lord."

It is not now "every man unto his god," as in verse 5, but unitedly they cry to Jehovah, the God of heaven, earth and sea, the Lord God of the Hebrews.

"We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood."

This is a heartfelt cry to Him who is ever ready to hear the cry of the needy, and undoubtedly it was heard.

"For thou, O Lord, hath done as it pleased thee."

Submissively they acknowledge the omnipotence of Jehovah, and that His hand is in this.

15. "So they took up Jonah and cast him forth into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging."

16. "Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows."

It looks as if they had really become believers in the true God. Thus God overruled the sin of His servant for the good of these men.

17. "Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah."

He is as able to prepare a great fish as a wind or a gourd or a worm. I see no difficulty in believing that this fish was specially prepared for this purpose, as the words imply. Or it may have been one of the great sharks of that sea, concerning which we are told that in one was found 400 pounds of undigested fish, in another a whole horse, while from the stomach of another a sailor was rescued alive.

"And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights."

The fact that Jesus speaks of this as an actual event should be enough to satisfy every believer, and forever end all controversy about the book or its story.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

"I don't want any castor-oil," said a sick little Boston boy petulantly.

"Why, Horace," expostulated his mother, "don't you know that castor oil is made from beans?"

And the little boy, whose faith in his mother was perfect, took the dose and feebly asked for more.

THE FLEET.

It was long ago that my dream ships sailed
Day by day to that shadowy sea;
And I watched each one till my vision failed,
And the ships were lost in mystery.
Sometimes a rose hued and billowy cloud
Shut out my view ere the ship went far,
But often the darkness would seem to shroud
The vessel before she crossed the bar.

They sailed at the sunset, every one;
They sailed away at the ebbing tide.
Sometimes a brave vessel went out alone,
And again two sailed forth side by side.
I left them alone in the hands of Fate,
Prayed she would make them reality,
And many a time did I watch and wait
For my fleet to return from the sea.

Then my last ship sailed—for my dreams were done—
And I grieved that my ships came not back.
But only last night at the set of sun
I saw a mast o'er the wasteless track;
And the twilight mists gave away and made
A pathway lit with the sunset's beam,
And a ship sailed in through the twilight shade
And brought back to me a youthful dream.
—Flavel Scott Mines in Harper's Weekly.

Tale of a Pig.

A boy of about ten came into a grocery store in a hurry and wanted a man to come quickly with him. "He's dyin," said the boy, and the way his eyes stuck out was a caution. The loafer on the cracker barrel took up his heels and flew with the boy. Together they ran in between two buildings across a little lot, and the boy stopped at—a pig pen—yes, a pig pen; and there sat a well to do, healthy looking porker in a warm pen, contented and apparently as happy as it is given pigs to be in this world. The boy looked surprised and sheepish.

The man was mad and disappointed. He had expected a tragedy, and not even a glimmer of one so far. "You young rascal!" said the man, "what do you mean? Did you—did you; why, you young scoundrel, did you get me way over here to see a pig sitting on his haunches? Eh? Did you?" and the boy looked up and said, "He—he (sobs)—he eat my brover's hat, and he—he grunted so I fought he's dyin'," and then the man went back to the store and told the tale of the pig.—Lewiston Journal.

Raising Young Cod.

By a not very costly expansion of the work of the fish commission the schools of cod on the shores of New England could undoubtedly be multiplied in numbers by ten. The only limit to such multiplication is the amount of food available in the sea for the fish, and there is plenty of that and to spare. Each female cod lays hundreds of thousands of eggs at a spawn, but, owing to natural causes, nearly all of them are lost. They float on the surface of the water and furnish food for every fish that swims.

Depending as they do for being rendered fertile upon accidental contact with the floating milt of the male, most of them remain unimpregnated and every breaker cast upon the rocky beaches by a northeast storm destroys them by myriads. But by the artificial method, the eggs and milt being stirred together in a pan of water, nearly all are hatched and the little fishes are taken care of until they can look out fairly well for their own preservation.—Washington Star.

The Influence of Poetry.

The reading of poetry predisposes the heart to generous thoughts; it teaches a young man what is noble in mankind; it opens his mind to the reception of great hopes and unselfish ambitions. Never again can a man feel that rapture of spirit which falls upon a boy when, in the dusty atmosphere of a library, while the motes dance as the sun pours through the windows upon the leather backs of the books, while outside the carts rumble up and down the street, he sits alone among the books, poring over a volume of poetry. Then the gates of heaven lie open for him to gaze within; nay, heaven itself is close to him, within his reach, and ready for the whole world should they but choose to step within.—Walter Besant in Harper's Bazar.

Lightning Forces.

It has been calculated that the electromotive force of a bolt of lightning is about 3,500,000 volts, the current about 14,000,000 amperes and the time to be one-twenty-thousandth part of a second. In such a bolt there is an energy of 2,450,000,000 watts, or 3,284,182 horse power.—Science.

No Haste About It.

Mrs. Canker—It's the same old story with us, "Marry in haste and repent at leisure."

Miss Brightly—Why, my dear, if I remember your wedding costume rightly, it must have taken you half a day to dress!—Judge.

Expensive Apples.

"I paid $5.01 for that apple my boy ate."

"What?"

"Five dollars and one cent. Five dollars for the doctor and a cent for the apple."—Harper's Bazar.

Pretty Much the Same Thing.

A.—I hear that you are going to marry a widow with $10,000.

B.—You have got things mixed. I am going to marry $10,000 with a widow.—Texas Siftings.

A Martyr for Others.

"Plodder is looking pale; he's just killing himself with hard work."

"What's he engaged at?"

"Inventing a labor saving machine."—Puck.

Alas! Already?

"George dear, will you love me when I'm old?"

"What a silly question, Penelope. Of course I do."—Harper's Bazar.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be affected you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore, 50c per bottle.

Object glasses for microscopes are now made in Germany of glass that contains phosphoric and boracic acid. It is stated that with lenses made of this glass an object one-twenty-thousandth of an inch in diameter can be distinctly seen.

Hints That Are Better Than Gold.

If you have bad breath, sluggish bowels, pain in the small of your back, nervousness or giddiness, your vital organs are sadly out of condition. A mere "dose of physic" will not help you. Your only wise course is to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and cleanse your system of the impurities. It regulates the Liver and Kidneys.

FAUNTLEROY IN DIFFICULTIES.

A Newsboy Who Could Not Stand Dudes Frees His Youthful Mind.

A number of passengers about to cross the bridge from Brooklyn witnessed an amusing scene the other day.

A gentleman who had just purchased a ticket in gathering his change from the ticket seller's window let fall from his hand a quantity of coins—cents, nickels and dimes. They scattered in all directions over the muddy pavement.

A little urchin of a newsboy, from whom the gentleman had bought a paper for which he had not yet paid, went to the rescue of the truant coins. At almost the same moment another little fellow clad in the familiar costume of a little Lord Fauntleroy—leather leggings, gloves, long hair and all—hove in sight. He was accompanied by a fashionably attired lady, evidently his mother.

Human nature is very strong in a boy, even a Lord Fauntleroy. Espying a dime the newcomer forgot the dignity of his exalted rank. He stooped down and with his diminutive hand picked from the muddy pavement the coin, which he promptly pocketed.

The tatterdemalion saw the act and made a grab for Fauntleroy, who clung to his mother's skirts. "Watcher doin' wid de gent's money?" he said. "Donc'her know no better den to steal?"

The mother of the little aristocrat was dreadfully shocked at seeing her offspring in the dirty hands of the newsboy. She flew to the rescue. "Take your hands off my child," she said, "or I'll have you arrested, you young scoundrel."

"I ain't no scoundrel," said the gamin, dropping his hands and releasing the little lord. "Make yer kid give up de money," he continued. "He ain't got no right ter keep it."

Little Fauntleroy was pleased enough to be released from the clutch of the two begrimed little hands of the newsboy. He gave up the money readily enough, and with his mother, who had brushed the dirt off the miniature boxcont sleeves, he hastened on his way to New York to make a society call. The newsboy watched the retreating forms contemptuously.

"Say, boss," he said, returning to the gentleman, who had watched the affair with interest, and yet had been unable to take any part in it so rapidly had the entire scene been enacted.

"Say, boss," continued the boy, "dat young feller would 'a hooked yer money but fer me. Ain't yer goin' to give me a dime?"

The gentleman told him that he might keep the money.

"Tanks," said the urchin. "I tell yer," he added. "Deez young Funtleroyz an' sailors wid long hair, dey makes me tired. I guess day'll steal sooner den a noosboy. I ain't got no use for fellers like dat. Dey don't have no fun, an' my! how dey gets licked by us fellers when we gets de chance. Dey gets licked, too, if dey gets a spot on de close dey wears. Yer can bet I'd sooner be a noosboy nor a dude wid long hair wot gets licked fer nothin'."

The gentleman continued his trip over the bridge. He has been debating since the occurrence, however, if there was not a great deal of truth in the newsboy's rude philosophy.—New York Herald.

Wasting Illustrated Papers.

Calling at the room of a bachelor friend of mine the other night I was horrified to see him light his fire of birchwood with a copy of the London News or some other illustrated paper. These things should always be given away instead of destroyed, and a society exists for that very purpose. I tried to set before my heartless burner of "picture papers" the amusement that some child in a hospital, for example, might derive from the leaves that he had put to the base use of "kindlings."

It is related, I remember, of a certain great writer that he could not bear to see destroyed any piece of paper that carried printed words, and consequently might be a part of literature. I cannot go quite so far as that, but I may truly say that the destruction of a picture always gives me a slight pang in some unascertained part of my anatomy.—Boston Post.

Obitual Compliments.

It was in the cars, where sooner or later he who listens can hear everything from declarations of passion to the quarrels of hate, the weightiest affairs of the nation to the lightest gossip of the frivolous. Two women were chatting together of a funeral which they had been out of town to attend.

"Yes," one of them remarked, "I don't know when I've been to such a sweet funeral."

"No," the other responded, "nor I."

"Dodn't you think that was a beautiful selection from Scripture?"

"Yes; beautiful."

"And those two hymns; weren't they appropriate?"

"Yes; there couldn't have been anything more appropriate."

"Well, the corpse chose 'em all."—Boston Courier.

A Nickel-in-the-Slot Library.

The latest development of the automatic fiend is a railway library, which means a case of books fitted into railway carriages. The volumes are presumably to be restored to the case at the end of the journey, but what is to prevent one passenger handing his pennyworth to a companion who is going on further? Nor indeed would it be difficult for a traveler, with uncertain ideas on the subject of honesty, to carry away under his rug any especially thrilling tale that he had not time to finish in the train.—London Letter.

A Valuable Discovery

Dr. Brown Sequard's elixir of youth may be an important discovery, but every one knows that Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure certainly is. It has given thousands afflicted with serious heart disease a New Lease of Life. Druggists who can observe its effects on many customers everywhere speak very highly of it. Mr. John Weaver, of Knightstown, Ind., says: "I have sold much of Dr. Miles' New Cure and have received many good reports." O. Monroe, of Dunkirk, N. Y., reports large sales. "And the best part of it is every bottle has given satisfaction. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

Experiment tends to show that the edges of the flame of a petroleum lamp give from 37 to 38 per cent less light tean the flat surface.

If You Wish

To enjoy good health, and prevent the seeds of disease from ripening in your system, you should use the best medicine in the world, Sulphur Bitters, which will prevent your system from being all run down by making it strong and vigorous.—Rev. W. R. Snow.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, MUNICIPAL BUILDING, APR. 2, 1891.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as victuallers of the first class at No. 306 and 308 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington Street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 5 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William E. Mooney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 468 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main Street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Garvey has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 39 Main Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as innholders of the first class, at No. 40 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as common victuallers of the first class, at No. 111 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard McHugh has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at Nos. 224 and 240 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John B. Dever has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 250 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John C. Meehan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 103 Prospect Street, in all rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John McGovern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 40 Fowle Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James J. Carroll has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 35 Winn Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles A. Dooley has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 88 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in the cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Beatty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 468 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor and stock in cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Connolly has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 7 Broad Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Reddy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 68 Fowle Street on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Maloney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 48 Fowle Street, on first floor and stock in store-room in said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John F. Scally has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 62 and 64 Fowle Street and 105 Prospect Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 36 Main Street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly & Co. (Jas. J. Doherty), have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 32, 34 and 36 High Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Madigan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class, as a druggist, at No. 156 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 306 and 308 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 5 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John F. Scally has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 62 and 64 Fowle Street, and 105 Prospect Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 177 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 479 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick F. Kerrigan has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 48 Fowle street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 36 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly & Co. (James J. Doherty), have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 81 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 223 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 177 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 479 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 306 and 308 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 5 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William E. Mooney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 468 Main street, in two rooms on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Garvey has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 39 Main street, in one room on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 40 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 111 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard McHugh has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at Nos. 234 and 240 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John B. Dever has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 250 Main street, in one room on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 40 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 111 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 40 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 111 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John C. Meehan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 103 Prospect street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John McGovern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 40 Fowle street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William A. Grandfield has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 152 Main and No. 2 Porter streets, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard T. Ferrin has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 492 Main street, two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James A. Carroll has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a wholesaler, at No. 35 Winn street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles A. Dooley has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a wholesaler, at No. 88 Main street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 3 Union street, in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Reddy has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 68 Fowle street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Maloney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 6 Broad street, on first floor, and stock in store-room in said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John F. Scally has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at 62 and 64 Fowle street and 105 Prospect street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick H. Graney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 11 Main street, in basement of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made an appl cation for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 223 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Pub lic Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 177 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 479 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick F. Kerrigan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 48 Fowle street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 36 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly & Co. (James J. Doherty), have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 81 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 223 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 177 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 479 Main Street, on first floor in two rooms, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 306 and 308 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 5 Main street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William E. Mooney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 468 Main street, in two rooms on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin & Co. have made application for a license to sell int

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1891. NO. 19.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.35, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.30, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel Marsh, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queeley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,

—DEALER IN—

Drugs and Medicines,

And Druggist's Sundries,

WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE!

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.

415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles ARE OUT!

426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on

A. GRANT,

Merchant Tailor,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines

— AT —

417 Main St., Old Post Office.

D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,

Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

CAPTURED BY INDIANS.

On the 16th day of June, 1867, a small body of Indians appeared to the west of Fort Wallace, and from their manœuvring seemed to be spying out the chances of cutting out the stage station, half a mile from the fort. The station was guarded by four or five men at the time and the corral held about thirty-five horses. I had just come in that morning from a long scout, and was asleep when the Indians were first seen. As soon as routed out I took two men with me and rode down to the station. We picked up a fourth man there and headed direct for the redskins, who were then a mile away. We were not a quarter of a mile from the station when I became suspicious that it was a plot to draw us away. We brought our horses down to a walk, and after getting half a mile from the station we turned to the left as if to circle back. At that moment 300 Cheyenne warriors, led by old Roman Nose, burst out of the dry ravines where they had been lying concealed for two hours and made straight for the station.

The plan would have done credit to a brigadier. About 200 warriors threw themselves between the station and the fort, so as to be ready for any move on the part of the soldiers. Thirty attacked the adobe huts constituting the station. About fifty made for the enclose where the horses were kept, and the others rode to cut us four off the fort. Only one part of the plan miscarried. The men at the station made such a fight that the Indians could not break in on them. They killed three warriors and wounded seven, while they suffered no loss themselves. They got the horses, partly destroyed three stages, and kept the soldiers off, and the four of us seeing that escape to the fort was cut off, rode to the west in hopes to outrun our pursuers. Unfortunately for me, I was mounted on my own horse, who had done sixty-five miles, the day before and was jaded. For three miles he showed a good leg, but then he began to weaken. We were then on level ground, and I held him up with voice and spur for another mile, or until we had gained a spot covered with outcropping rock.

Those who wrote of this incident at the time held the three men up to contempt for deserting me. I did not blame them at all. They were only employes of the stage company. None of them had ever been at close quarters with Indians before, and it would have been strange if they had not been rattled. They were ahead of me as my horse went down, and I do not believe they missed me. Poor fellows! Had the four of us been there in the natural rifle pit among the rocks we could have stood the redskins off in a handsome manner. As it was I was captured, and they were shot down one by one as they continued their flight.

Only thirty-five Indians took up the pursuit. When my horse fell with me fifteen of the warriors remained behind to effect my capture. I rolled into a natural hollow, pulled saddle and blanket off my horse, and then as he struggled up I drove him limping away. It was an unfortunate thing. He was only thirty feet from me when they shot him dead, and as he fell I saw that he was in line with a dry ditch up which the enemy could creep and shelter themselves behind the body. That was just what they did do. They didn't dare charge me, although fifteen to one, but they secured positions from which they could shoot me if I raised my head six inches from the earth, and when I realized that I was helpless I surrendered. There was little formality about it. Among the besiegers I recognized an Indian named Dark Day, to whom I called out that I would surrender, and the fifteen walked in on me.

When an Indian is in luck he is good natured. Those who pursued my three companions were now returning with their scalps, horses and guns. I had not hurt anybody. Roman Nose had defied the fort and get away with the station horses. There was every reason for rejoicing, and as they formed a circle about me every face wore a smile, and several of them greeted me with a "howdy?" They knew me for a Government scout and rider. They knew I had killed three Cheyennes on the smoky Hill Fork only the week before. They knew that I had balked two of their raids on stage stations, and that I had once ridden right through a camp of 200 of them and carried off the best horse Roman Nose ever had.

An Indian sizes a man up according to his deeds. They took my rifle, revolver, and knife, but were very respectful about it. I was then mounted on a station horse, my feet tied under his belly, and he was led behind a warrior's pony. They headed to the northwest, and about an hour after dark we came up with the party, which was encamped in a grove of cottonwood on a small creek. I had no sooner dismounted than I was taken into the presence of Roman Nose. History has said he was one of the smartest chiefs any Western tribe ever had. He was smart only as an Indian. He was a liar, hypocrite, and an assassin. He had the smartness of a coyote in avoiding a superior force, and the cunning of a serpent in approaching a foe. I knew he could hold a conversation in English, but as he did not know that I was aware of the fact he called up a half-breed to act as interpreter. I was pretty well up in the Cheyenne tongue, but Roman Nose did not know it. He began the conversation as follows:

"How many soldiers are there in the fort?"

"About a hundred." I answered giving him the correct number.

"Why didn't they come out and fight us?"

"They were hoping you would come nearer."

"You are called Night Shadow?"

"Yes."

"You have killed some of my people?"

"After they had sought to kill me."

"Hu! The Indian has a right to defend his own lands. The white man wants everything, even the dry rivers at the bare rocks. In an hour I shall burn you at the stake."

I hadn't the slightest reason to hope he wouldn't. The Cheyennes had an old score to settle with me, personally, and their loss of men at the station that day must be avenged. I was turned over to a guard of three warriors, and they gave me something to drink and to eat. I was hungry and thirsty, and I made as good a meal as if I expected to live fifty years, instead of an hour longer. A stake was driven while I was eating, and before I had finished the warriors had begun collecting brush.

It was written of me by a correspondent at Fort Wallace that Providence saved my life. Soon after the stake had been driven it began to rain. Although the Indian is half animal, he dreads the rain, and the storm soon took all the enthusiasm out of my captors. At the same time almost a scout came in with some news, and I was soon told by the half-breed that I had been respited. This scout, as afterward appeared, had discovered that the fort had neither cannon nor fortifications, and it was believed that the soldiers were demoralized and would surrender if attacked. At about midnight, when the rain began to hold up, all but five men set out in the direction of the fort. The five were left to guard me. They did not hesitate to tell me that the fort was to be attacked, and they were sure of victory.

I slept from midnight to daylight being staked out at the ankles and having a warrior on each side of me. Soon after daylight my guards were astir, and when breakfast had been prepared my feet were tied together, and I was allowed to sit up and help myself. We were fully twenty miles from the fort, and no news were expected until late in the afternoon. When they asked me what I thought of the chances I answered that Roman Nose would be beaten off, and we argued the matter pro and con without the slightest ill feeling.

What happened at the fort I did not learn for some days afterward. Had Roman Nose made a secret approach to within striking distance and then charged in he would have won a speedy victory. The presence of his force was betrayed at an early date, and the garrison threw up a breastwork from whatever could be had, caught up their horses, and the first charge took all conceeit out of the 300, several being killed or wounded, and the chief himself sustaining a severe wound from a bullet. One charge en masse would have swept every calvaryman off the earth but it was not made. After an hour long range firing the redskins withdrew, excusing their cowardice by saying that the evil one had sent men with black faces to blind their eyes. This referred to a few negro soldiers who took a gallant part in the defense.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a courier reached us. I knew, as did all the others, long before he reached us, that he had no good news. He told big stories of the powers of the Cheyennes, but had to admit they were driven off with losses. My guards were directed to report with me to a certain spot in Red Deer Creek, about sixteen miles away, to which the main party had resorted after being driven off. When I learned that Roman Nose had been wounded I knew what was in store for me. He would get some satisfaction for his humiliation by putting me to the torture. The courier did not wait to go with us, but rode off to notify a small party which had been sent off in another direction.

During the entire day I had been passive, and betrayed no anxiety, telling the guards that I had friends at the fort who would pay the Chief a big ransom for me. This lulled their vigilance, and they treated me more as a guest than a prisoner. Another friend had been working in my interest during the day, but I did not discover it until an hour before the courier arrived. A bottle of whiskey had in some manner come into possession of the guards. The bottle was kept out of sight, and it was only when their demeanor betrayed them that I knew what they had been up to. None of them was drunk, but all were happy and quite good natured.

It was after five o'clock before we were ready to set out. The five ponies and the station horse were brought up and bridled and saddled. This work was done by three of the warriors, while the other two were gambling for a blanket. I sat about ten feet away from them. There had been no time since noon when I could not have cast off my bonds at will. There had been no opening for escape, but one was made now in a manner totally unexpected. The two gamblers got into a violent dispute, and the three warriors approached to quiet them. Some one was struck, and this led to quite a row. The instant it began I cast off the thongs, whirled about, and at one jump I was beside a pony. Five seconds later I was in the saddle and digging his ribs, and I believe I was out of the grove before I was missed. Every horse followed mine, and went to the south as fast as horseflesh ever travelled the plains. Half a dozen shots were fired after me from the grove, but they only added to our speed. The run lasted for ten miles before the pace was decreased, and when night fell I had added six or seven more. To midnight I kept jogging, bearing to the left to approach the fort from the east. From midnight to daylight I rested, and at sunrise next morning was run onto by a wagon train and an escort proceeding to the fort.—N. Y. Sun.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR Baking Powder.

The Official Reports of the

United States Government, 1889,
Canadian Government, 1889,
New Jersey Commission, 1889,
Ohio Food Commission, 1887,

prove that Cleveland's is

THE STRONGEST

of all the pure* cream of tartar baking powders.

*Ammonia or alum powders, whatever their strength, should be avoided as injurious.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will care all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters.—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

A substitute for gutta-percha has been found in the sap of the karite or butter tree of Africa.

HAUNTING A MURDERESS.

Visitations of a Ghost to the Scene of a Terrible Tragedy in a Prison.

People passing the woman's wing of the penitentiary on rainy nights have heard moans and mutterings coming from the washhouse, and a sound as if some one was turning over tubs and chairs. Most of the belated wayfarers, on hearing the noise, have merely quickened their pace and said nothing about it.

The strange occurrence, however, has gained some notoriety in the neighborhood, and a reporter questioned Deputy Warden Crass about it.

"What is it?" said the deputy warden. "Why, those groans were uttered by our ghost."

"A ghost?" incredulously queried the reporter.

"Yes; and if you will come with me I will introduce you to witnesses who have seen it with their own eyes. But before we go I will give you a brief history of how we come to have such an unearthly visitor.

"On page 96, book C, prison records, is inscribed: 'Aug. 3, 1883. Mollie Dinwood, sent up March 26, 1883, two years for arson, was killed at 9:15 o'clock today, in the wash yard, by Sue Fletcher, sent up two years for larceny.' The two women quarreled and Sue cut Mollie's troat with a small penknife. I'll never forget the face of the poor doomed wretch as Drs. Eve and Roberts bent over her trying in vain to stop the flow of blood. She was lying on the cover of the old well moaning and gasping for breath. She was past human aid, and after a close examination Dr. Eve arose and said there was no hope. We buried her and Sue was given ten years more for her murder.

"Can the dead come back? It is a question that has worried the brains of the scientific and thinking men of every period, yet the question is no nearer a solution now than it was a thousand years ago. Now, come with me and you may hear the story of those who have seen the wraith of poor Mollie with their own eyes."

The reporter was carried to the woman's wing and talked to a number of the women who claimed to have seen the ghostly visitor.

Sue Fletcher, alias Burton, the murderess, said, with wild, dilating eyes: "She comes to me every rainy night. One night, about four years ago, she came to my bed and stood for a while, then said, 'The Lord has forgiven me and I won't come any more.' She was dressed in the old brown dress, with white trimmings, but I could see right through her. After that she did not come back any more until about a month ago, when she came into my cell and stood by my bed, moaning and the blood dripping out of the hole in her neck. I am scared of her and I hate to see it cloud up, for she comes every rainy night, and when I can I get some one to sleep with me, for I am afraid to sleep alone."

Numbers of the women claim to have seen her in the old brown dress, floating over the well platform and going in and out of the washhouse. They say that when she goes into the washhouse she turns over tubs and keeps up a continual moaning as if she was in pain. She has even been seen in the day time when it was dark and cloudy wandering about the yard.

One peculiarity is that when spoken to by any one but Sue Fletcher she disappears for an instant, then becomes visable in a few moments in some other portion of the yard. Her favorite place is over the old well where she died. The spirit has been seen by the terror stricken women to float over the spot for an hour at a time. Nearly all the women have seen and are afraid of her, and all swear that she is a "haunt" and not a human being.—Nashville American.

Well Known.

He was a cabin passenger, and the steamship was one of the ocean racers. The company, even those who occupy the most expensive staterooms, is not always "select," in the society sense; but this man seemed more than ordinarily out of place. Who was he? No one knew.

One day the mystery was solved. He seated himself beside a distinguished lawyer and opened the conversation.

"I've read your speeches in the newspapers many a time, and I'm pleased to know you."

"Thank you," the other answered, and then, improving the opportunity, he added, "Do you live in New York?"

"Why, bless you!" was the answer, "you must know who I am. I'm Mike McCarthy; everybody knows me. I've been a boss teamster in New York for more than forty years."—Youth's Companion.

An Ear of Corn Rental.

There has been no school in the old school house fronting Birmingham cemetery for the past thirty years, yet the yearly rental for said school house was only an ear of Indian corn when it was in its palmy days. Other school houses have been erected and this one left to decay. The school house was sold in 1819 to Isaac Sharpless, Joseph Brinton, Brinton Jones and Abram Darlington, school directors. It was sold by William Hawley, Edward Darlington and Phillips Price, trustees appointed by the Birmingham Preparative meeting "of the people called Quakers," as the deed has it. The ear of corn rental is expressly stipulated in the will.—Westchester Local News.

Par Nobile Fratrum.

Student—Did Stanley discover the African Pygmies, do you gather?

Professor di Gamma—Yes; he and Herodotus.—Puck.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifying and appetite restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

MUNROE'S

Clothing House.

Our famous SUITS for Boys, best in the world,

FOR $5.00.

Extra Pants $1.50.

Largest Assortment of Children's Clothing in the city.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Literary Notices.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH for April only needs to be seen to be admired by all lovers of pure, chaste literature, and fine work in art illustrations. Its contents from first to last are not only interesting but people are made better by feeding on such unadulterated intellectual pabulum. The pages devoted to the spring fashions and domestic matters are worth a great deal more than the price of the magazine for a year.

Do not forget that we give THE WOBURN JOURNAL ($2.00 per an.) and THE COTTAGE HEARTH ($1.50 per an.) for $2 cash IN ADVANCE.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for the weeks ending April 11th and 18th contain Sedgwick's Life and Letters, A Visit to the Grande Chartreuse, Sir Herbert Edwardes at Peshawur, and The Contrasts of English and French Literature, Some Birds in India, The Seal Islands of Bering's Sea, Eothen Kinglate, and Horace Walpole's Twin Wives, Cost of a London Fog, Epitaphs, and Biblical Drama in South Staffordshire, Unclaimed Stocks, Dividends, and Bank Deposits, Our Village Book Club, with instalments of The Flight of the Shadow, Eight Days, and Madeleine's Story, and poetry. For fifty two numbers of sixty-four large pages each the subscription price (88) is low. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

The April ST. NICHOLAS opens with a delightful illustrated sketch by Mrs. Foote, The Gates on Grandfather's Farm—reminiscences of a New England farm suggested by the associations with its old gateways. It is full of feeling, and while not beyond the young readers will be fully appreciated only by they elders. Mr. Welles gives us further autographs from his remarkable collection, especially a complete set of the Presidents' signatures, and a charming letter from Thackery, hitherto unpublished. It is entirely characteristic of the great author and suggestive of his poem, The White Squall. Some of the good things following these are: Busy Corners of the Orient, Charlie's Shadows and their Shadow House, The Little Foot-page, The Merrythought, Toby Trafford, The Settlers, and numerous others all beautifully illustrated.

One of the most famous pictures of the world has been engraved by Mr. Cole for the frontispiece of the April CENTURY, the Mona Lisa of Leonardo da Vinci. This is in the CENTURY'S series of old masters, engraved immediately from the originals in the galleries of Europe. Two other examples of Leonardo accompany Mr. Stillman's article on this master. In the California series Mr. Julius H. Pratt gives a graphic description of the emigration to California by way of Panama in '49. The pictures are very striking, having been drawn by Gilbert Gaul, after originals made from life by an artist in 1850. In this connection is a paper of great historical value by the late General J. C. Fremont on his own part in the Conquest of California. Several briefer papers on the general subject accompany the more important contributions of the series. Prominent among the remaining papers are: Cold Cheer at Camp Morton, Women of the French Salons, Fetishism in Congo Land, The Wadsworths and DeQuincy, Washington and Frederick the Great, Faith Doctor, Colonel Carter of Carterville and others equally worthy of careful perusal.

There are many taking features in the April WIDE AWAKE with its frontispiece of White Lilies; Chollemyisses' Afflicted Holiday, by the author of Cape Cod Folks; Egg-rolling at the White House on Easter Monday, by Professor Mason of the Smithsonian Institution; a quintette of admirable short stories, The Mysterious Choir Boy, by Henry Kirke White, Jr., Hong Wing's Sea Voyage, by Elizabeth Cumings, The Story of my Bank Book, by Louisa Trumbull Cogswell, A Lost Story, by Anna Leach and The Cock of Sebastopol, by M. M. Steele; two Natural History papers, A Precious Bug, by Amanda B. Harris, and Concerning Bats, by Grant Allen; an exquisite Mother Soug by Mrs. Mary E. Blake and a Tuscan Stornelli, by Mrs. Cavazza with a beautiful picture by Irving R. Wiles; an outspoken Margaret- Patty Letter, by Mrs. William Claflin, and no end of short articles, pictures and poems. The serials are captivating this month: Five Little Peppers Grown Up, by Margaret Sidney, Cab and Caboose, by Kirk Munroe, and Marietta's Good Times by Marietta Ambrosei. WIDE AWAKE is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company Publishers, Boston.

The May PETERSON is at hand with a large invoice of good things. Marguerite In Her Garden is a charming picture, and the engraving of the harbor of The Isle of Wight is very striking. The opening article Some Curious Rocks and Waterfalls, by Rodney T. Waterman is capitally written and the illustrations are interesting in the extreme. The Romance of an Old Red School House by Elva J. Smith is a story quite out of the common. A sketch of Madame De Lafayette is a timely contribution. Some Spring Flower Notes by Ray Joyce, will be found full of useful information for all amateur gardeners. A Mercenary Young Woman by Robert G. Graham is a very clever story and is admirably illustrated. A Pretty Room at the Lowest Cost by Margaret V. Payne shows how an ingenious woman furnished a parlor with wonderful cheapness and the illustrations prove that she made it look exceedingly pretty and artistic. There are two excellent serials running and the remaining articles of the number are all valuable. The fashion plates give new and effective dress designs and the Household department is filled with things worth knowing. Terms $2.00 a year. Address

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

WELL ANSWERED.

Gov. Russell was unfortunate in bringing forward the Republican Club of Massachusetts for criticism in his speech before the Young Men's Democratic Club at the Jefferson anniversary in Boston a couple of weeks ago. It is nothing new however nor at all strange for him to make such a blunder. He has on more than one occasion opened his mouth only to put his foot in it, but it has been a rare thing for him to do himself up so effectually as on this particular occasion.

Last Friday the Executive Committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts held their regular meeting at which it was voted to publish a reply to Gov. Russell's speech, and on Saturday morning the full text of the document appeared in the Boston Journal accompanied by able editorial comments warmly endorsing the same.

The persons who prepared that reply understood their business thoroughly. They not only overthrew the Governor and his oratory, but they carried "the war into Africa" and gave the National and State Democracy such a castigation as their backs have not been subjected to for many a day. It was a just although severe arraignment of the Bourbon party and whoever the authors of it were they did their duty most admirable and deserve the hearty thanks of the Republicans of the country for the able piece of work they turned out.

The reply will make a good campaign document. Everybody ought to read it.

THE PUBLIC BAR BILL.

Last Tuesday Speaker Barrett, after due deliberation and study, ruled against the rum party in the House and State on four points of order, and was sustained on an appeal by a vote of 115 to 59 and 12 pairs. His rulings were endorsed by a strict party vote, the Republicans coming up solidly to his support, and the Democracy as solidly voting against him.

Thus Speaker Barrett showed himself on the side of temperance and good morals, and the Republican party once more placed its seal of condemnation on the rum traffic, as it has done many times before.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET.

In another column of this paper is printed the report of the committee on the sixth annual banquet of the Woburn Board of Trade.

Several distinguished municipal and State officials will probably be present and address the company of ladies and gentlemen seated around the boards.

A good entertainment and music will be included in the attractions of the evening.

Mayor Bean will speak.

☞ Few people perhaps realize it, but it is a fact that Boston men and capital have built every transcontinental railroad on this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Friday Night Club—Drama.
City of Woburn—Pet. for License.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Ellis's street sprinkler has proved itself a boon this week.

— The Friday Night Club will soon give their annual supper.

— The K. of L. are going to have a big picnic on Labor Day.

— The Howards of this city want to play the Woburn Juniors.

— The display of bunting yesterday in this city was truly wonderful.

— Mr. James Murphy has about recovered from his recent sickness.

— Ald. Fowle of Ward 4 has gone to Chicago on business and pleasure.

— Darmody will give his lightning drill at Nashua, N. H., on Mayday.

— Auctioneer Gregory is very busy in real estate transactions these days.

— William H. Hunt died at the Almshouse last Sunday aged 67 years.

— Aberjona Colony, U. O. P. F., will hold a special meeting this evening.

— The list of honorary members of Post 161 is a long one and grows longer every day.

— Edward W. Gray has returned from a 7-months trip to and visit in the South.

— But very little is heard about any grip hereabouts. We have escaped pretty easily.

— There will be no revival meeting in the M. E. Church to-morrow, Saturday, evening.

— The Innitou Canoe Club are having several crafts built for the present season's sports.

— Prior showed about as much enterprise yesterday as any of them. His store made a big show.

— Miss Nellie Miles of Lynn will be a star attraction at the Miles-Morgan concert this evening.

— The Y. M. C. A. nine, in a sharp contest, beat a picked nine all to pieces in Wyman's field last Saturday.

— The weather has been hot for a few days past and we never saw grass and leaves put out more rapidly.

— Mr. Peter Kenney was on the streets last Sunday for the first time in a month. He is a good deal better.

— On Sunday there were one or two "April showers" which are sure soon to be followed by sweet "May flowers."

— We can't see why the leather business is not as good now as it commonly is at this season of the year.

— It is expected that Mr. Munhall's revival meetings will be held in the Congregational or Baptist church next week.

— Indulgent Reader, keep an eye out and see whether Scully, Meehan and Reynolds get licenses to sell rum or not.

— On the first Sunday in May there will be a May procession in St. Charles church. It will be something worth seeing.

— The striking painters still hold out, but the bosses do not seem to have much trouble in getting along with their work.

— The Spring meeting of the Woburn Conference will be held at Melrose on next Tuesday afternoon and evening, April 27.

— Wright & Ditson, the dealers in baseball goods in Boston, have secured the services of Robert Carton, a good boy of this city.

— The Grocers Association composed of the grocerymen of this city is a strong organization formed for mutual business protection.

— Reckon, that Wilmington silver mine was a big hoax. But, Lord, how they lied about Rev. Mr. Thurston's connection with it!

— The first open street cars of the season put in an appearance last Sunday and were well patronized. They will soon be "all the go."

— Mr. John R. Carter and wife are expected home from California this evening. A warm reception from many good friends awaits them.

— The dance given by the Hudson Associates last Friday evening was a toney affair. There was a large attendance, fine music, and a jolly time.

— "Jimmy" Carroll has thought better of it and will not press his application for a license. The community will be none the worse for that.

— The Episcopal church edifice will soon be moved from its present site (which has been sold) to another and subjected to some changes in its architecture.

— Dr. S. W. Kelley is quite ill at his home on Pleasant street. The symptoms of the disease point strongly towards the grip. Dr. Frank Graves attends him.

— Spring has come at last. Hark, how the feathered warblers sing; 'Tis Nature's cheerful voice; Soft music hails the lovely Spring, And woods and fields rejoice.

— Rev. Fr. Quealy of St. Charles (R. C.) church protests against granting licenses to would-be rumsellers in the immediate vicinity of the Sisters Parochial School.

— The Middlesex Investment Co's affairs are not yet settled up, the chief question being relative to where the money shall come from to pay the expenses of the suit.

— It is said that Mr. Avery, late of Loring & Avery of Winchester, has bought the White tannery and will run it in the future. It is now carried on by Mr. Tidd of Stoneham.

— Preparations are on foot for May dances around garlanded May poles in this city, or what is the next thing to it, dances in halls with a plenty of flowers and evergreens for decorations.

— The three minority Aldermen, Ham, Davis and Pushee, seem to pursue the even tenor of their official way without much regard to anything except to do their duty as they understand it.

— There has never been a store window in this city so handsomely decorated as that of Mr. Amos Cummings was for Merchants Day. It was a regular bower of beautiful flowers.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe contributes an illustrated article to the columns of the JOURNAL which readers will find of more than ordinary interest. There is a fine stock of fashionable hats at Munroe's.

— Miss Evans has moved from corner of Pleasant and Bennett streets to 53 Pleasant street, Miss Eager's, house and will go out cutting and fitting after May 1.

— Mr. C. B. Bryant has begun operations in his new factory and the firm will push things for all there is out. Mr. Bryant is an old leather manufacturer and knows just how the thing is done.

— A complete and accurately corrected time-table of the No. Woburn Street Railroad will appear in the JOURNAL next week. Supt. Sewell has supervised the work especially for these columns.

— Why is it that so many rumshops have lately been put up on Main street between Fowle and the Winchester line? They seem to indicate the making of a good many promises that will never be fulfilled.

— Last Tuesday contraband liquor was seized by the Police at the homes of Dennis Shields, David Ahearn, James Tolan. Candidates for the House of Correction are rapidly multiplying in this city.

— What are you going to do on Arbor Day, to-morrow, April 25, eh? Plant trees? If judiciously done, and they are not planted too thick, setting trees wouldn't be the most profitless way Arbor Day could be spent.

— Reader, please glance an eye over what is said in another column about the Free Manual Training School for boys and girls. Make your applications at once to Supt. Frank B. Richardson of the Woburn Public Schools.

— We got it into our head in some way that Brother Copeland's dry, dress and fancy goods store looked about as inviting yesterday as any one in this city. It might have been a mere notion of the JOURNAL's, but it certainly seemed so.

— Fred A. Hartwell is a firm believer in the efficacy of printer's ink. Last week he advertised in the JOURNAL for a "Strayed or Stolen" dog, and the next morning the missing canine was found dead in Fred's front yard.

— New members to the number of over 50 have very recently joined the Board of Trade. It has taken work to do it, though. President Buchanan retires from the Presidency with the benedictions of the whole Board resting on his head.

— The Miles-Morgan concert comes off this evening in Lyceum Hall and we stake our reportorial reputation on the statement that it will be bang-up. They say that the tickets for it are going like hot cakes buttered on both sides.

— Messrs. Moses Colman & Son, the well known Boston stable keepers and horse dealers on Portland street, have secured the services of Charles Rogers of this city as their Canadian traveling agent for the purchase of horses.

— A big invoice of hides has been received at the tannery of F. A. Loring & Co. (formerly Bryant & King's) and business will begin there at once. This will be an important addition to the leather manufacturing interests of the city.

— The law requires that official notices issued by the City authorities should be published in newspapers, if published at all. Hence the selection of the JOURNAL and News by the Board of Aldermen in which to publish the applications for liquor licenses.

— John McSweeney, a Woburn lad who for some years has been a favorite in Woburn baseball cirles, has signed with the Trimounts of Boston and will be that team's pitcher during the season. When with the Woburns of this city he enjoyed an enviable reputation as a ballist.

— Mr. Alex Grant, the merchant tailor, has a change in his advertisement this week to which we call attention. He has a fine stock of spring and summer suitings of late styles and best quality, and it is common report that Mr. Grant is very reasonable in his prices.

— James E. Darmody of this city won golden opinions from the press and people of Portsmouth, N. H., where for three successive nights last week he gave his lightning drill at a G. A. R. fair. He is a dabster at it, having very few if any peers in this part of the country.

— City Auditor Preston sent us his financial statement of the City's monetary standing for the month of March, or in less elaborate language, the Auditor's Report for that month. He puts his figures in such simple form that a tyro in mathematics ought not to err in reading them.

— The surviving members of Co. K, (the Woburn Co.) 39th Mass. Regt., propose to give their old war Captain, Luke R. Tidd, a complimentary reception and dinner on May 4, which will be the 69th anniversary of his birthday. The plans contemplate a pretty big time.

— If the certificate holders in the defunct Middlesex Investment Co. of this city don't look out the lawyers will get all the funds in the Treasury and there will be nothing left to divide. The last hitch is: Who shall pay the charges of the attorneys employed in the late injunction case?

— At the annual meeting of Trinity Parish the following officers were elected: S. W., Nathan W. Brown; J. W., Robert B. Eaton; Members of the Vestry, S. F. Trull, W. J. Singer, Charles Davis, James Graham, Charles Sweetser; Delegates to Convention, Robert B. Eaton, James Folsom.

— In commemoration of the Battle of Lexington, which occurred on April 19, 1775, and in which several Woburn men participated and two were killed, flags in this city were run up to masthead last Monday and kept floating there from sunrise to sunset. As was entirely proper and eminently patriotic.

— We received a pleasant call from Mr. William Kimball of Wilton, N. H., last Tuesday. In a few weeks he will reach his 75th mile-post on the road of life, but he is as smart and active as any young man. He comes down to his old Woburn home once in a while to look after his real estate interests.

— Please stand from under. The Woburn Press Club—mark well the name—the W. P. C. on Saturday next will make a trial trip of a yacht which W. D. Lowell of Salisbury Point has recently built for them. There's richness. The Woburn Press Club going to try the speed and staunchness of their new yacht!

— Mr. C. Willard Smith employed Gowan's well-known Orchestra to furnish music for visitors on Merchants Day. It added a good deal to the pleasure of the occasion. When any thing like a public demonstration—say a Merchants Day for example—is going on Mr. Smith needn't be searched for in the rear ranks.

— Patrick Foley of Everett St. lost a child last Sunday and being unable to find it he repaired to box 62 and rang in a fire alarm with a view to securing the assistance of the Fire Department in his hunt. He was fined $5 for it Monday morning. The young one turned up safe and sound soon after the alarm was given.

— Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott are still going for them. Last Sunday successful raids were made as follows: Owen H. O'Rourke, 34 Main; Bridget Dowd, 80 Albany; Mary E. Mulkeen, 8 Ash; Bridget Callahan, 148 Burlington; John McGovern, 40 Fowle; Patrick Lynch, 7 Albany, and Michael Lynch, 148 Montvale ave.

— Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dolliver, formerly of this city but for many years residents of San Francisco, Cal., have returned to Woburn where, it is said, they intend to spend the balance of their lives. Probably the brother Samuel, a prosperous San Francisco business man, will be doing as Thomas has done before long. They all like to get back to good old Woburn again.

— The way the City Press waded into the "April fooled" reporters of several great Boston dailies last Friday was a caution to sinners. It just more than roasted and basted the poor fellows, and their squirming was a spectacle. The City P., be it understood, is no slouch of an ink-slinger and there is nobody in these parts who wields a more caustic pen than it does when it takes a notion that way. And didn't those Boston chaps writhe and twist though under the lashing of that pen? It isn't very safe for anybody to allude to the Wilmington silver mine in their hearing just at present unless he is well armed and quick at the trigger.

— Last Tuesday there was introduced in the State Senate a bill to provide for the appointment of a Board of Sewerage Commissioners for the city of Woburn and to define their powers and duties. The three Commissioners are to be appointed by the Mayor and Aldermen, and their usual term of office is to be three years. Their compensation is not to exceed $200 each per year.

— The Boston Journal says: The proceedings attending the post mortem of the Middlesex Investment Company, and the difficulties encountered in recovering for the certificate holders some part of the money which they paid in, will be watched with keen interest by those who have taken certificates in concerns of a precisely similar character, and reasonably certain to have a similar destiny.

— Mr. George C. Conn of upper Main st., a trusted employee of the B. & M. Railroad Co., Southern Division, left here for Virginia last Wednesday afternoon. He had just got partially over a very severe attack of the grip and was advised that a salt water voyage would do him good, so he took a steamer on Wednesday for Norfolk, Va., and will remain away until he regains his customary health and strength.

— Mr. Waterman Brown informs the JOURNAL that Supt. Sanborn of the Southern Division of the B. & M. Railroad will offer station agents and gate-keepers on the lines under his control premiums for the handsomest flower gardens this season. Brown says if hard work, constant care, and intelligent culture amount to anything in this world he'll gaffle on the first premium next fall or perish in the attempt. He runs the gates at Church Ave. crossing.

— At the next dramatic performance by the Friday Night Club the leading piece will be "A Lion among the Ladies," which is a new, very witty and highly entertaining stage production. This will be followed by "My Uncle's Will," an old favorite with play-going people. Both pieces will have a strong cast composed of local favorites, some of the names of whom it would not be a very difficult thing to correctly guess. Date and other particulars will be given in the next issue of the JOURNAL.

— Mr. Jacob A. Ham, dealer in grain, etc., says that the present prices of oats, corn and other agricultural staples of the kind are about double what they were a year ago. Which state of things is due to the short crop of last in the West, and is likely to continue until this year's crop is harvested and sent to market. The prices come pretty tough on some people here in the East, but we have an advantage in the cheapness of other commodities, so that, after all, things are pretty sure to even themselves up in the long run.

— The Fair in behalf of the Woburn Home for Aged Women closed on Thursday evening, April 16, after a successful career of two days. The public took a lively interest in it as they do in the object for which it was held, and the net receipts amounted to rising $500. This was not quite up to the yield of former years for which the lady managers gave good and sufficent reasons. The attendance was full up to the highest expectations and so were the sales, so the ladies are feeling very comfortable over the result.

— Last Saturday was a hot one and so was Sunday. A pretty heavy thunder storm early Saturday evening did not have a very cooling effect on the temperature and Saturday night was debilitating. Such extreme heat is not common in April. Come to think of it, wonder of April 19, 1891, wasn't pretty near a counterpart of April 19, 1775, when the bold Continentals gave the British red-coats such a licking over to Lexington? Except, perhaps, the grass wasn't quite so tall as it was on that memorable day.

— The Dow tannery has shut down and will remain inactive until the suit of Boston vs. the proprietors, now pending: is disposed of. It hurts business for it is one of the principal factories in the city and employs a large number of men. The injunction will soon be argued by the eminent counsel engaged in it. The paper case is all made up. The Dows propose to fight it for all there is in it, and in doing so they ought to be substantially backed up by our city government. The disposition of the case will prove of vital importance to Woburn and its business.

— John O'Connor, Irish Member of the British Parliament, one of Parnell's envoys extraordinary to this country to fire the American heart and secure funds for his leader, came out here last Saturday evening and had an interview with leading Irish-Americans in this city. He was to have addressed a meeting on Friday evening but missed the train he wanted to take and so came Saturday evening to explain the matter. He will visit here again this evening and hold interviews with prominent Irishmen and officers of Irish societies, and explain his mission to America. He is a gentleman of fine appearance.

— Dr. George E. Lothrop, whose wife was brutally murdered at Rochester, N. H., last Sunday night, used to board his two children on Academy Hill, this city, where one of them died of diptheria. It was after his wife left him and her pleasant home in Boston that he used to come out here to see his children. Hers was one of the saddest cases of the power of Rum to destroy the body and soul that has occurred in these parts for many a day. Rum drove her from a happy home, from her husband and children, from pleasant social surroundings, from wealth and plenty, to the most degraded life, only at last to be murdered in cold blood while drunk.

— The JOURNAL's German-Italian Orchestra, reinforced by another violin, discoursed sweet music to an enraptured street audience last Wednesday forenoon in this city and gathered in a fine harvest of sheckles therefor. Their reportoire has been supplied this spring with all of the newest and best things in opera, waltzes, marches, etc., while "McGinty," "Annie Rooney" and other popular airs of last season are given only by special request. Some of the saloons still clamor for them, but farther down the street opera and other classic music only is in demand. The JOURNAL's German-Italian Orchestra came out from Boston again on Merchants Day, and will make regular weekly trips to this city so long as the warm weather lasts. Some weeks they will come twice.

— Mr. John P. Stevens, for 10 years connected with the woolen jobbing department of Macullar, Parker & Co., died in Dillon, Montana, Thursday. He had charge of the Western business of the firm. Mr. Stevens was well known in Boston, having for many years been a resident of Woburn, Mass. He was Orderly Sergeant of Company G (Woburn Phalanx) Fifth Regiment, and was with the regiment through their nine months' service at Newbern, N. C. Mr. Stevens was a younger brother of Maj. Charles W. Stevens of this city. A widow and one daughter survive him.—Boston Journal. The deceased is honorably remembered by many people in this city, and by the Mechanic Phalanx his memory will be kept green. No man was more highly esteemed than he was while a resident of Woburn.

— Last Friday evening Howard's Refined Specialty Co., which consists of 15 firstclass artists, gave a concert at the Town Hall in Burlington to a large and appreciative audience. Among the star vocalists and performers were several prominent Woburn young men who acquitted themselves very handsomely and won enthusiastic applause from the audience. They were Mr. Lewis Claffy who with Mr. Edward Butler of Boston were the "Great German Knockabout Comedians," the Connolly Brothers, the famous clog-dancers, and perhaps others. The entertainment consisted of a salmagundi or olio of most excellent songs, dances, short comedies, speeches, etc., in which all the Woburn young gentlemen took prominent parts and in them contributed materially to the engagement and success of the affair.

— The trailing arbutus, or Mayflower, the sweetest and loviest blossom in all the floral kingdom—this modest little gem of the wildwood which came so near being chosen the "National Flower of America"—it is on deck bright and early for 1891, looking and smiling as sweet as a peach. On Tuesday morning the JOURNAL folks received a box of them from Mrs. Jennie Greenleaf of No. Berwick, Maine, whose home is situated on the "native heath" of the May-flower, and for the kind remembrance and lovely blossoms we return hearty thanks. There is an aroma of by-gone days hanging about the beauty and fragrance of the Mayflower which renders it very dear, hence our longing to get hold of them as quick as possible in the vernal season when they first show their heads on the sunny knolls and in the edge of the leafy woods. Thanks.

— Last Saturday's Boston Evening Record contained a 4-column article, prefaced by numerous headlines in black, entitled "The Shaw Case," which proved to be a carefully prepared history of the case of Mr. John Warner Shaw of this city who was a few weeks ago released from McLean Asylum at Somerville after a residence there of five months. The paper, which created a great stir in this city, was the product of one of The Record's smartest young reporters and proved "mighty interesting reading." Mr. Shaw was taken to the Asylum on the strength of testimony of medical men some of whom claim to be experts in mental diseases, and against that of other medical men who claim to be something more than mere novices in the diagnosis and treatment of the same kind of ailments. Mr. Shaw's trouble was an inability to take solid food or to retain any nourishment of that kind on his stomach without great pain. This pain increasing he declined to accept food, in kind and quality recommended, which refusal was set down to the credit of mental derangement. However, he was taken to the Asylum against his protestations and there remained about five months, during which period his stomach got back into its normal state and he gained health and strength rapidly. The JOURNAL has no personal knowledge of this matter and disclaims any but a general interest in it; but it is forced to admit that the Record makes out a strong case in support of Mr. Shaw's sanity from the testimony of physicians, one clergyman at least of high standing, an ex-Mayor of Woburn, and other sources, and right here the JOURNAL begs permission to leave the matter for the present.

— Mr. Munhall, the Evangelist, is drawing large and highly interested audiences to his revival meetings this week and signs of a religious awakening in the churches and reformation among sinners begin to crop out. He is doing good, honest work. The singing by Mr. and Mrs. Lowe attracts many people as it deserves to do for it is genuine worship in sweet music. They have rich, melodious voices and it is a delight to hear the good old Gospel Hymns as they come rolling off, round and full, from the tongues of these Christian songsters. Last Monday evening Mr. Munhall talked of the difference between heart and head religion. It was an appropriate theme for this latitude and he handled it skilfully. There seems to be a good deal more of head than heart religion among professors, which isn't as it ought to be, because head piety never saved a man and never will. Mr. Munhall turned a calcium light on this subject last Monday evening and we hope it will do good. From a cold, calm, quiet, nerveless religion whose habitation is in a man's brain instead of his heart the good Lord deliver us. The beautiful new Methodist church has been well filled at both afternoon and evening meetings all the week. A large choir has greatly enhanced the pleasure of them, and Pastor Montgomery has rendered the Evangelist valuable aid all through. Although there is a bit of friction discernable, Mr. Munhall believes that there is a rousing revival in store for Woburn, where, if anywhere under the canopy, a rousing revival is needed.

We certainly hope that the people of Woburn who need to become Christians will not let the ark now in our midst pass entirely by without making a great effort to get aboard of it. By the ark we mean of course Dr. Munhall's series of revival meetings. He is offering special opportunities for sinners to come forward for salvation and shows them an easy, sure and pleasant way of securing it. He is telling professed Christians some wholesome truths too every day up at the Methodist church which they might heed with profit to themselves, and it is said that some of them are waking up to that fact under Dr. Munhall's plain words.——These items respecting this series of revival meetings may seem fragmentary and disjointed, and so they are, but the indulgent reader will, we hope, overlook our imperfections in this line.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

ATR EASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board met on the evening of April 16, with the members all present, and Mayor Bean in the Chair.

It was voted that the price of license to Innholders should be $1,500 instead of $1,200. Alderman Davis moved to amend that portion of the order relating to fourth class licenses by inserting after the price $500, the words "providing the licensee has taken out also a first class license, otherwise the licensee shall pay for a fourth class license the sum of $1800." This amendment was also adopted.——The appointments of Arthur E. Gage and Elisha F. Hayward for Registrars of Voters were sent in and tabled.——J. Fred Leslie as Assistant Assessor, and James Mack as Constable, were accepted.——Petitions of Joseph Burke, David Strange, et. al. against the granting of liquor licenses, of Rev. Hugh Montgomery for a hearing on matter of licenses, were received; action deferred till latter in the evening.——William McDonough was granted a common victualer's license. This same kind of license was granted James H. Connolly & Co.——Messrs. William McDonough and James H. Connolly & Co. applied for first and fourth class licenses, and E F. Blank, F. E. Lovell and John J. Mahern & Co., for sixth-class license. These petitions were deferred and ordered advertised.——Petitions of E. J. Gregory as auctioneer, Geo. D. Nelson and John B. Davis for exclusive right to clean vaults, John P. Doherty to collect junk, and Daniel O'Connell to collect swill—all were referred to appropriate committees.——A petition was received from James Green and others for the raising of the grade on the east side of Arlington street. Referred to Committee on Highways.——W. A. Lynch was elected Assistant Assessor for Ward 7 and Elisha F. Hayward for Ward 4.——It was voted to give a hearing, Thursday, April 23, on matter of granting licenses. Adjourned.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.'

Arbor Day, April 25.

Governor Russell has designated Saturday, April 25, to be observed as Arbor day.

Says the Governor: "Let us devote the day to the establishment and adornment of public grounds, to the restoration of our wasted forests, to the repair of every defacement which makes this commonwealth less beautiful than it should be, so that we may not only have it appear the nobler in our own time, but that we may hand it down to our children the statelier and more fruitful for our care."

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, April 22, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mrs. Mary S. Bent, Warren St., Box 25.
Miss Roseanna Brennan, 39 Beacon St.
President of Blue Glides.
Miss Maud Kendrick.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Woburn's Licenses.

Rev. Hugh Montgomery of the Methodist Church, Woburn, announces that he has a strong backing to enforce the bar clause.

Mr. Montgomery is of the opinion that the conflict between Mayor Bean and the Aldermen will help the cause of temperance. It is said that the Mayor will withhold his signature from common victualler licenses unless his friends are given a chance at the licenses. Without the fourth class license no first class liquor license can be granted. Mr. Montgomery says the Mayor holds the key to the situation, and if his friends are not provided for no licenses will be granted.

Sufficient money has been subscribed on both sides to conduct a vigorous campaign. —Woburn Corr. Boston Herald.

"Will help the cause of temperance." It may. The situation is something like this: 13 is the limit of licenses in this city this year and the applications for them are close on to 40. Of this 13 Mayor Bean will be satisfied with 3 for his friends although he has demanded four. The Aldermen, who demand 12 of them, utterly refuse to yield to the Mayor's wishes, and will fight him inch by inch. Mr. Montgomery thinks the Mayor has the whip-row and will bring the majority Aldermen to terms by refusing to sign the licenses issued to their friends as victuallers. Does not Mr. Montgomery know that the signatures of the Aldermen are as necessary to the validity of such licenses as that of the Mayor?

Again, it is claimed that the Mayor is extremely anxious that a certain applicant should get his license (and if he does not there will be a big row in the Democratic camp), but the Aldermen are determined to block his game and knock out that particular applicant unless the Mayor concedes every demand they make in the matter. They will say to him "you sign licenses for the 12 whose applications we propose to grant and we will give you your man: otherwise you can't have him." Those who understand the relations between the Mayor and his particular petitioner think this will fetch him to terms.

These recalcitrant Aldermen have another string to their bow. The appropriations for the current year's expenditures were made up on a basis of some $13,000 receipts from license fees. Unless this amount should be forthcoming how will Mayor Bean's appropriations stand? How will he come out? How supply the $13,000 deficiency? Now, the Aldermen can place the Mayor in just that box, and it is said they propose to use that power as a lever to secure favors for their friends in this license business. The Mayor might find in this Aldermanic proposition food for reflection.

Now, all this is in the air. It is current talk. Aldermen discuss the situation in the light imperfectly shadowed forth in this article. Trouble is brewing apparently.

Personally we are densely ignorant of the whole matter but if there is anything reliable in the above talk it is a pretty kettle of fish that our city government has fallen into, isn't it?

"Il Trovatore."

This popular opera was given in grand style in the presence of a crowded house at Lyceum Hall last Wednesday evening by Miss Mabel C. Davis, the popular alto singer of this city, assisted by some of the best talent in Boston, which included such well known names as Charles R. Adams, the famous tenor; Fred Marston, Mrs. Luella Wagner, Guiseppi Campanari, Jeanne Corea—names which represent the highest and best in Boston musical culture, and which, found on a programme, are the strongest kind of a guarantee of a rare musical feast. The piano playing by Miss Mertena L. Bancroft, and the organ music by Miss Emilie Grant, added much to the pleasure of the performance.

The scenery and costumes were brought out from Boston and of course were of the best. In the latter the performers made a fine appearance. Miss Mabel C. Davis took the part of Azucena and it is needless to remark here that it was perfectly rendered. Mr. Charles R. Adams filled the chief character, Manrico, admirably of course—he couldn't do it any other way—and Campanari, Marston, Madame Wagner, Mlle. Corea, and all the rest, took their assignments through in a manner to elicit the warmest applause from a cultivated and appreciative audience.

It was a very high-toned affair: the fashion of the city were out in full force; "society" occupied front seats in silks, satins and swallow-tail coats; and on the whole, Miss Davis had every reason in the world to feel very proud of the artistic success of her musical venture.

The Banquet.

Preparations for the Board of Trade Banquet, to be held on April 30, are being carried out on an extensive scale. It is to be a high-top-sweeting affair, at which President Grant will "flesh his maiden sword," figuratively speaking, as a high functionary of the Board by way of receiving and greeting distinguished public officials and in the wholesale employment of banqueting oratory. He'll do it up in fine shape although it takes a good deal of nerve to get up and say smooth, sweet things before the Governor of the State and perhaps his brave Staff of Military Heroes, the Mayor of the city, etc. But President Grant will show himself equal to the emergency.

Fair women too are to have a considerable finger in the pie. They are to figure as a large factor in the grand social affair. Why shouldn't they? How could we get on without them? The following dames and damsels have been chosen as aids to the officers, and could a better selection have been made?

Mrs. Lucretia True, Mrs. James Skinner, Miss Grace Whittemore, Mrs. Joseph B. McDonald, Mrs. William W. Hill, Mrs. Charles M. Strout, Mrs. Winthrop Hammond, Mrs. F. B. Dodge, Mrs. Parker L. Converse, Mrs. George Buchanan, Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, Mrs. E. G. Barker, Mrs. Squire B. Goddard, Mrs. Dr. Chase, Mrs. A. E. Dow, Mrs. Daniel H. Richards, Mrs. Fred Stanley, Mrs. Martin Hayward, Mrs. Daniel W. Brown, Mrs. Henry E. Smith, Mrs. Charles W. Bryant, Mrs. Sparrow Horton, Mrs. Frederic H. Lewis.

A Success.

Mr. Amos Cummings's Millinery Opening yesterday was a great success.

Marion Osgood's Ladies Orchestra furnished splendid music all the afternoon and evening.

Hundreds of ladies attended the opening.

The Globe professes to have a list, which it does not print, showing a cut-down in some industrial establishment for every day since the passage of the McKinley bill. It could probably be considerably more than matched by a list showing more than one new industry per diem, on the average, established since the McKinley bill was passed.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Free Manuel Training School.

It will be gratifying to everyone who takes any interest at all in the welfare of the rising generation to learn that the Trustees of Warren Academy—Messrs. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., President; William R. Cutter, Secretary; E. E. Thompson, Treasurer; Hon. John Cummings, Dea. G. R. Gage, O. F. Bryant, Esq., J. W. Johnson, Esq., Arthur Wyman, and others—have decided to devote the fine, commodious Warren Academy building on Academy Hill, this city, to a Free Manuel Training School for the benefit of not only the boys and girls of Woburn but for those of other sections of the country. The school will be opened within a very short time, and as the numbers of pupils will be limited those who desire to avail themselves of the advantages of the institution should make application AT ONCE BY LETTER to Frank B. Richardson, Esq., Superintendent of the Woburn Public Schools.

At present, instruction will be given in Woodwork for the boys, and Sewing for girls, and no pupils will be received whose ages do not fall between 12 and 17 years.

This is the beginning of an educational institution which nobody can doubt will prove of vast advantage to the youth of Woburn and vicinity and become a great credit to our city.

Literary Notices.

The May number of POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY is an unusually interesting one. Its papers are all fresh and timely, some of which are as follows: Miracles and Medicine, Ice-making and Machine Refrigerators, Fortifying against Disease, Some Games of June, An Experiment in Meral Training, Prof Huxley on the War-Path, My Garden on an Onion, Evolution of Patent Medicine, The French Institute, The Mexican Messiah, Education of Children, Sketch of Niels H. C. Hoffmeyer with portrait, Literary Notices, Correspondence, etc., etc. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number: $5 a year.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

CONGREGATIONAL.—At 10.30 a. m. the pastor will preach; Young Peoples' Meeting at 6 p. m.; Dr. Munhall will preach at 7 p. m.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m., preaching by pastor. Subject: "True Repentance." At 3 p. m. Union meeting of young people; preaching by Dr. Munhall. At 7 p. m. Union Service at Congregational church; preaching by Dr. Munhall. Union Service at Congregational Church every evening this week except Saturday.

Married.

In this city, April 8, by Rev. H. C. Parker, Joseph S. Adlington and Annie McLellan, both of Woburn.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, April 18, Arthur M. Welander, aged 1 year, 7 months, 6 days.
In this city, April 19, William H. Hunt, aged 61 years.

That Tired Feeling

Is experienced by almost everyone at this season, and many people resort to Hood's Sarsaparilla to drive away the languor and exhaustion. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves sluggishly through the veins, the mind fails to think quickly, and the body is still slower to respond.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is just what is needed. Read what is said by Mr. C. Parmelee, 349 Bridge Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.: "I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic, and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling."

"For years I was sick every spring, but last year took Hood's Sarsaparilla in February and have not seen a sick day since." G. W. SLOAN, Milton, Mass.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

Heart-burn

Sour Stomach.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

A New Assortment

— OF —

Scotch Ginghams

— ALSO, —

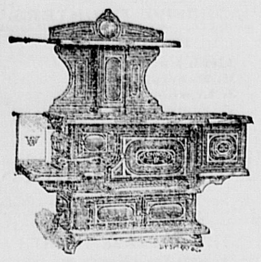
A FINE LINE OF

AMERICAN GINGHAMS,

At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Merchants Day.

A finer day for a general Trade Opening than yesterday turned out to be never dawned in Woburn. It was never excelled anywhere or at any season of the year for mellowness of temperature, for balmy breezes, for the sweetness of its intermittant sunshine, and its occasional gentle showers. The merchants couldn't have made a day half so fine if they had tried ever so hard.

The first thing that caught the eye of the average citizen as he emerged from his humble but comfortable couch at 7.30 a. m., was a display of American Flags which for size and number "beat the Dutch." They were flying gaily from public buildings, residences, stores, the old Flagstaff on the corner that never refuses to respond to any and all calls on its loyalty, shops, hotels, and all along the streets. These many flags made things look patriotic-like and lively, and gave a gay air and appearance to the streets and buildings which was pleasant to behold.

Woburn is all the time up to some out-of-the-way trick to attract public attention and give outside people something to talk about. To do odd things is a habit of hers. She revels in quaint, unique conduct that makes her neighbors stare and wonder. "Merchants Day" which went off with such eclat yesterday was a fair sample of Woburn's ways in challenging the notice of her neighbors. Whose prolific brain suggested this "Merchants Day," or "The Woburn Trade Opening," is more than we can say, but it was an offspring of the Board of Trade, one of its children, so to speak, and it proved to be something entirely worthy of its parentage. Nobody else ever before thought of such a scheme, and now it will become "all the rage" because Woburn launched it and made a signal success of it.

We were saying that the city seemed almost buried in bunting even as early breakfast time, and its volume didn't decrease any during the day. It was to be seen everywhere, and a gentler breeze for it to gracefully wave in was never vouchsafed for a celebration or affair of this kind.

Soon after dinner the crowds began to pour into the city from outlying towns, hamlets and neighborhoods and by 2 o'clock it was "as full as a tick." They came in barges from Burlington, Cummingsville, Wilmington; and in the street cars from No. Woburn, Montvale, Stoneham, Winchester, Medford, and elsewhere on the lines of them. Almost everyone came dressed up in his and her best bib and tucker and with the idea prominent in their minds to make a holiday of it. They were met with great affability, cordiality, big stocks and specially low prices, by the merchants who were the authors of and chief contributors to the "Great Spring Trade Opening." The stores were decorated very handsomely; their most attractive contents were thrust to the front; orchestras discoursed sweet music in some; and all of them extended warm welcomes to the hundreds of admiring visitors with which they were thronged.

The brass bands of the city were on hand too with open-air concerts at short intervals, which didn't detract any from the pleasures of the uncommon kind of an occasion, but attracted big crowds to the Common both in the afternoon and evening. No set of men could be more liberal in furnishing music, bunting, floral decorations and other beautiful things for the enjoyment of their neighbors than the merchants and business men of Woburn showed themselves to be yesterday at the great and long-to-be remembered "Merchants Day."

In the evening the streets were brilliantly illuminated; the air was laden with stirring music by the bands; the JOURNAL'S German Orchestra attracted immense crowds; and altogether, yesterday was a holiday in this city which was enjoyed by more people than are usually found in attendance on a firstclass 4th of July celebration outside of Boston.

What Shall We Cover The Floor With?

A pretty fancy Straw Matting is very desirable for warm weather. You can buy good ones for 25 cents a yard and the best seamless for only 38 cents. Then a great many people like our Oil Cloth for the kitchen or dining-room, and there is no need of going without one for the variety of styles, quality of goods and the low prices you can buy them for at Smith's is remarkable. Good quality for only 25 cents a square yard, and the very best for only 40 cents a square yard. Now what about a Woolen Carpet for every body don't put down Straw Matting in the summer. The styles this Spring are very pretty and our stock is selected from the best makes made. We shall do our very best to please you; and the price, we guarantee that to be right. You may say that these don't interest you and you want a Tapestry or a Brussels Carpet and perhaps more than one, you may want to carpet a whole house. Well, we were awake before but now we are wide-awake. Smith's is just the place you want to come to.

We will endeavor to show you a good line of these goods at the lowest possible prices, and suit your taste and your pocket-book as well.

We also look out that you buy pretty Rugs, and we don't forget you have windows in your house and that we can furnish you with Curtains from the cheap 25 cent Holland Shade to the best Knit Cloth or Holland Shade made to order for you.

Please remember that you can get all of these at Smith's.

C. Willard Smith

The merchants were well satisfied with the affair, and the people who came here to celebrate were wonderfully pleased and couldn't say too much in praise of the liberalty of the business men of Woburn.

Which is a hasty and imperfect sketch of the saliant features of the biggest business day this city has ever experienced.

Board of Trade.

The following circular announcement has been issued by the Banquet Committee in relation to the annual bouquet and entertainment of the Woburn Board of Trade for 1891:

The 6th Anniversary Celebration occurs Thursday, April 30, 1891.——The rooms and hall on 2d floor, Dow's building, will be used.——Tickets are one dollar and fifty cents apiece.——Tickets are limited in number.——Tickets can be obtained of the Committee, and H. N. Conn.——The Secretary will mail tickets, if desired, for cash prepaid.——Tickets will not be reserved unless paid for when ordered.——Orders cannot be taken for tickets after Monday, April 27, owing to agreement with the caterer.——Tickets held for the members until Wednesday morning, April 22, 1891, after which time, those remaining, if any, will be sold to the citizens at large.——The list of invited guests includes His Excellency the Governor, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, other State officials, His Honor the Mayor, and other noted guests.

The programme for the evening is as follows:

6.00. Reception.
7.00. Banquet.
8.00. Entertainment, music, and speeches, etc.
10.00. Adjournment——Fred H. Lewis, B. F. Whittemore, A. Grant, C. M. Strout, W. Hammond, J. Skinner, G. Buchanan, Committee.

"I should have brung my umbrella," remarked Mrs. Livewayte, a member of the Chicago Literary Society. "Brung?" asked Mrs. Laker, in a gentle, corrective tone. "How stupid of me! Of course I meant 'braug.'"

The Gallant Sixth.

The old 6th Mass. Regt. that fought itself through Baltimore on the 19th of April 1861, and had some of its brave members slaughtered by the Roughs and Plug-Uglies of that rebel city that day, celebrated the 30th anniversary of that memorable event last Saturday and a portion of the Regiment (the Worcester Co.) was given a grand reception and ovation in Baltimore on Sunday on the very ground where the historic event occurred.

It will be remembered that a part of the Regiment got through Baltimore unscathed, but that four Companies, C. I. L. D., three of them from Lowell where a large part of the Regiment was recruited, were left behind and had to march through the city in face of the howling bloodthirsty mobs and gatherings of murderous roughs. As senior officer Captain Follansbee of Co. C, Lowell, assumed command of the four Companies and took them through to the other side of the city for Washington. By his order many of the Plug-Uglies got their deserts and bit the dust that day.

Why we make particular mention of this matter is because Captain Follansbee, who died at his home in Chicago about three weeks ago and consequently was not at this celebration, was subsequent to the close of the war a resident of Woburn and one of her most highly esteemed citizens. He was a brave, big-hearted man whom everybody admired and respected, and when he left here to make a home in the West he was sorely missed and regretted.

Many of our citizens still think of Capt. Follansbee with pleasure, and they will cherish his memory as long as they live.

For the Journal.

THE AGED.

We cannot lead too gently on their path
The trouble-worn.
The leaf-strewn valleys of the Aftermath
Are theirs to wander thro': our pathway hath
The joy of Morn.

We cannot speak too kindly. Memory
Grows dark in age;
But the true utterance of sympathy,
A gentle word, a deed of charity,
Lightens its page.

We cannot pay too reverend regard
To fading years.
A brief, brief while, and life, affliction-starred,
Takes its lone journey grave and glorysward,
Mid Earth's last tears.

—Frank W. Hutt, Boston University, Boston.

Mellin's Food is a soluble preparation, containing proper proportions of those nitrogenous and phosphatic matters which are so essential for the healthy growth of a child. It is not a medicine. It is not intended primarily for sick babies; it is the best food for healthy, and also feeble infants.

Board of Trade.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade held last Tuesday evening for the choice of officers was largely attended. Over 50 of the leading business men of the city have lately joined it and were out in force so that the Rooms wore a business like appearance. There is a great revival of interest in the organization, and its future growth and prosperity are assured.

The following officers were chosen: President, Alexander Grant; Vice Presidents, Joseph B. McDonald, Winthrop Hammond and George Buchanan; Secretary and Treasurer, Frederic H. Lewis; Executive Committee, H. N. Conn, H. W. Deans, F. J. Briggs, F. E. Lovell, A. N. Webster, A. B. Wyman, S. F. Trull, E. Caldwell, H. L. Richardson, A. W. Whitcher, E. B. Parkhurst, G. F. Jones, Charles E. Chase, James Skinner, Lawrence Reade, G. F. Hosmer, John I. Munroe, Jacob M. Ellis, William N. Titus, Charles M. Strout, B. F. Whittemore, F. A. Flint, J. G. Maguire and F. H. Lewis.

President Buchanan goes into retirement carrying with him the esteem of every member of the Board. He has taken a deep interest in its affairs and has done as much as the next man to promote them. It was largely due to following his wise and judicious counsels that the Board survived when it seemed to be moribund a year or more ago, and regained its former health and strength, and is the liveliest kind of an association to-day.

Mr. Alexander Grant will, no doubt, make a worthy successor to President Buchanan. The JOURNAL first placed Mr. Grant in nomination for the Executive Chair and has been the only one of the city papers to earnestly advocate his election. But then, that is the JOURNAL'S way of doing business—it leads in every good word and work, and seldom fails to carry its points.

Mr. Grant will make a good President—one of the best; and the other officers elected are certainly equal to any that could have been selected. There isn't one among them but what is a Woburn man to the core.

With such officers and the confident spirit that prevails concerning it, we anticipate a year of great prosperity for the Board of Trade.

Woman's Club.

On Friday afternoon, April 17, the Woburn Woman's Club listened with more than their usual interest to the eloquent words of Mrs. Livermore on Unmarried Women.

Mrs. Livermore might be termed the grand old woman if the term old woman had not been so long a synonym of disrespect and reproach.

Mrs. Livermore gave a summary of the articles recently published in the leading magazines by Mrs. Fate Gannett Wells, Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, Mrs. John Sherwood and others on the subject of marriage and the increasing number of women who do not marry.

Mrs. Livermore does not think it a correct statement that the better class of young women are becoming opposed to marriage, rather they are regarding marriage as too sacred, serious and difficult a matter to be treated lightly or entered into rashly.

The imperfect marriage laws, the broader education for women, the wider fields of work, the better salaries paid women, the increased respect shown maiden ladies are given as the reasons why women enter marriage more reluctantly than they did a century ago.

In New England women greatly outnumber the men therefore women have to choose between being old maids and moving to the West where the young men are building up reputations and a new civilization.

The study of Physiology, Heredity, Medicine, and the Law especially as related to marriage and the holding of property, all have the effect to make life seem more sacred and serious.

Need one ask who are the unmarried women whose names shine forth gloriously in the world's history? Men and women alike know them by heart and together swell the chorus of praise that applauds the efforts they have made, the grand achievements they have won.—G. M. B.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall on Friday, May 1, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs of Andover, will lecture on "The Mammoth Cave of Kentucky."

Two amendments are to be voted upon.

How Is This?

ED. WOBURN JOURNAL: Will you grant me a short space in the columns of your valuable paper to say a few words about policemen? I hear the Mayor is acting queerly respecting some appointments to the regular force, and if the Editor can throw any light on it I would thank him to do so.

Certain three men, on civil service examination and by civil service rules, have won the right to first appointments on the force, and there is one who is entitled to it by the veteran soldier law. The Mayor wants to appoint neither of these men but craves the place for some of his political friends. To be sure, a while back he assured the veteran that he should have the appointment, and even went so far as to ask him to go to his post of duty at once. The veteran (French) told the Mayor he would have to clean up with Hart & Co. before going to duty, but would be ready in a day or two.

During that day or two the Mayor's regard for the veteran cooled off, so reports say, and now he wants to keep French and the three others out. Why, I'm told, Mr. Editor, that the strongest kind of efforts have been made to get the three to step out and one of them has made an affadavit that he has been offered a first class place in a certain leather factory in this city if he would yield his rights under the civil service rules and retire from the contest! He has not done it and says he won't.

French don't know now what is going to become of him, the Mayor's playing fast and loose having balled him all up, so to speak.

This is a pretty way to conduct the public business, isn't it? What can we think of this attempt to override the civil service laws and disregard the veteran soldier rules as to appointments to office? It is remarkable, isn't it, if true?

My idea is, that Mayor Bean would make a much better official record for himself if he would cut loose from his present political surroundings and act more in accordance with the dictates of his own better judgment. But so long as he is forced to cater to the wishes and heed the behests of his present backers he will be in hot water all the time, and don't you forget it.

AN INTERESTED CITIZEN.

Burlington.

Mr. George M. Wadsworth has been elected Superintendent of Schools in Burlington, Billerica, Bedford, Carlisle, Lincoln and Wilmington, for the ensuing year.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society held a very pleasant and social meeting in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon of last week. A goodly number of the members attended.

Mrs. Mary K. Whitman a former resident of Burlington who died in South Boston, April 10, was buried in the cemetery in this place. She was nearly eighty-five years old.

Rev. Mr. Shaw of Audover preached at the church last Sunday morning and evening. Next Sunday Rev. C. F. Hersey begins his work in this parish for the next year. He comes under very favorable circumstances and will be heartily welcomed by the people. The regular hours of the Sunday services are 10.30 A. M. and 7.30 P. M.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

The Great Clothiers of New England

ARE NOW READY TO SHOW THEIR

SPRING and SUMMER Styles

— IN —

MEN'S AND BOYS' RAIMENT.

The attention of the ladies of New England is particularly called to our Boys' and Children's Department, which is now replete with all the latest novelities. Special bargains in Kilt Suits, Jersey Suits, Boys' Reefers, Flannel Blouses, Shirt Waists, etc.

Kilts, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, Reefers, $3.50, $5.00, 6.00, 8.00.

Commonwealth Clothing House,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts.

WINCHESTER.

Salvation Army meetings are well attended.

The performance of "Gyp, Jr." has been postponed.

A new Club House for Calumet Club is a sure thing.

John Park has gone to Chicago for a permanent "sit."

The Congregational church is going to have a new organ.

FIFTY-SIX HORSES.

It takes fifty-six horse power to run the two mammoth presses which are soon to be placed in the

BOSTON HERALD

Office.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Rush! Rush! Rush!!

Is the general cry in this busy country, and how tired the word makes us feel! But we will give you a lawn or veranda chair made of woven rushes from the Sandwich Islands, in whose unique form and yielding depths you can dream away the summer hours.

Its price is only $7, and it will last a lifetime.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of April, instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Municipal Building, April 14, 1891.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles H. Buss has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 394 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Samuel D. Thompson has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as innholder, at No. 442 Main St., in all rooms in building and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Elmer F. Blank has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 389 Main St., in two rooms on first floor.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Mahern & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as druggists, at No. 403 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Fred E. Lovell has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class as a druggist, at No. 361 Main St., in all rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building. DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William McDonough has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at Nos. 287 and 289 Montvale Avenue, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly and Patrick F. Kerrigan, have made application under the firm name of Connolly & Kerrigan, for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 48 Fowle Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney and Thomas W. Kenney, under the firm name of Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam and Joseph F. Carpenter, under the firm name of Thomas G. Merriam & Co., have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High St., in three rooms on first floor and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin and Michael Reddy, under the firm name of Shinkwin & Reddy, have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main Street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 5 Union Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main St., in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High St., in three rooms on first floor and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam and Joseph F. Carpenter, under the firm name of Thomas G. Merriam & Co., have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at building Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High street, in three rooms on the first floor, and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney and Thomas W. Kenney, under the firm name of Peter Kenney & Co., have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as a grocer, at No. 3 Union street, in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin and Michael Reddy, under firm name of Shinkwin & Reddy, have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Samuel D. Thompson has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as retail liquor dealer, at No. 442 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James H. Connolly and Patrick F. Kerrigan, under the firm name of Connolly and Patrick F. Kerrigan, have made appliaction for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at No. 48 Fowle street, in one room on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William McDonough has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as grocer, at No. 287 and 289 Montvale Avenue, in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at No. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Merriam & Co. have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at building Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High street, in three rooms on first floor, and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

FOR SALE.

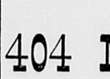
1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING, Winchester, Mass.

For Sale.

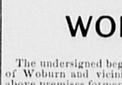
Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street abc it 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.



Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.



2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR

Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

404 Main St.,

WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop. Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of bouquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

For One Week Only

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Continental 4-4 Bleached Cotton only 8c. a yard. Think of it Ladies, you, who know what this cotton is worth!

9-4 full 81 inches, wide unbleached Sheeting only 19 cents a yard.

Open work and Knitted Fringe all linen Damask Towels, 23 inches wide by 47 long, only 20 cents a piece.

19 inches wide by 40 long, only 15 cents a piece.

If you need Towels, you might never get another chance to buy as good for the same money.

OPENING

— AND —

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

— AT THE —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

On Thursday, Apr. 23,

AT 2.30 AND 7, P. M.

Come. Everybody Come.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

C. E. SMITH.

NINEVEH'S REPENTANCE

LESSON IV, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 26.

Text of the Lesson, Jonah iii, 1-10—Commit Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text, Luke xi, 32—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "And the Word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time, saying,"

From the belly of the fish Jonah cried unto the Lord, and the Lord heard him, and spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land (chap. ii, 1, 10). Jonah's prayer is largely made up of quotations from the Psalms, as many as eight or ten different Psalms being quoted from (see marginal references), teaching us that afflictions open up the mine of Scripture, and make real to us words before unheeded (Ps. cxix, 67, 71). If Jonah in the fish's belly was not hid from God's sight and hearing, where can we hide from Him.

2. "Arise, go unto Nineveh, that great city."

How very gracious of the Lord to come to him the second time with the same message (chap. i, 2)! How very patient and long suffering He is with us!

"And preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee."

This is the whole responsibility of every preacher, for we are simply messengers of the Lord of Hosts.

3. "So Jonah arose and went into Nineveh, according to the Word of the Lord."

Now he is obedient. This is what he should have done at first instead of going to sea. By his willfulness he has lost much precious time and grieved his Lord. But let us take it to ourselves. Are we obedient to the word of the Lord, or wasting time and grieving the Spirit by our waywardness and disobedience?

Nineveh was a very great city, about sixty miles of wall inclosing it, and Jonah was only one lone man of no importance to that great and wicked city, but God was with him.

4. "And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey."

Many days had he journeyed from the seashore across the country (look at your map and note the distance), and much time had he for meditation and communion with his God. However lonely the way and long the journey, he had the consciousness that he was doing the will of the Lord and that the Lord had sent him.

"And he cried and said, Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown."

What a strange cry for a lone man in a great and prosperous and wicked city!

5. "So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them."

God was with His servant, the Spirit of God was in the message, and where the word of a king is there is power.

6. "For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes."

So the word of the Lord through this humble man reached even the heart of the king on his throne, and he humble himself before God, as well as the lowest in the city.

7. "And he caused it to be proclaimed and published through Nineveh, by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying,"

The king and his great men have put themselves on the side of Jonah and his God. If God could make use of such a crook as Jonah let no one who is willing to be used ever be discouraged, but let us be on the Lord's side out and out.

"Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste anything; let them not feed nor drink water."

Surely this was a great and thorough repentance, at least on the part of the king and his great ones who ordered this severe fast.

8. "But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God."

Why include the cattle, for they had not sinned? Though they sin not, yet they suffer because of man's sin, and God cares for cattle.

"Yea, let them turn every one from his evil way; and from the violence that is in their hands."

Outward sorrow without a turning away from sin would avail nothing, for God searcheth the heart. And inward sorrow must be accompanied by the actual turning away from all evil.

9. "Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not?"

Had they such light as Israel had, how they would have been encouraged! If they had known of the repentance of Ahab, how it might have helped them (II Kings xxi, 29). Or if they could have heard the words of Isaiah, "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (Isa. lv, 7)! Or if they had the light which we have as to the love of God, and his unwillingness that any should perish, and his readiness to forgive sin (John iii, 16, II Pet. iii, 9; Acts x, 43; xiii, 38, 39), how it would have rejoiced them! If then with the light they had, and the warning given them, their repentance was so thorough, what shall be said of the impenitent under the light of the glorious Gospel we have so freely proclaimed among us?

10. "And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way."

God sees unbelief, and it grieves Him; He sees faith and obedience, and He is pleased. What does He see in you? Whatever is wrong, come to Him just as you are, yield fully to Him, and He will make it all right.

"And God repented of the evil that He had said that He would do unto them, and He did it not."

See His promise to act thus given at a later date to Israel (Jer. xviii, 7, 8). Although it was just as He had always done for Israel, as is fully recorded in the book of Judges, or as in Ps. cvi, 43, 44: "Many times did He deliver them, but they provoked Him with their counsel, and were brought low for their iniquity. Nevertheless He regarded their affliction when He heard their cry." As to God repenting, we have only to remember one or two things. Being unchangeable, and knowing the end from the beginning, He cannot change His mind as we do or ever be sorry for anything He does (Mal. iii, 6; Num. xxiii, 19; Acts xv, 18). But from the beginning, foreseeing all things, He knew that with individuals and nations He could pursue a certain course or mode of treatment to a certain point, and that then He would have occasion to do differently; and these turning points in His modes of treatment are called repentings. We change our mind and then change our conduct or mode of action; He changes His mode of treatment, knowing beforehand that He would do so just at that particular time. May the repentance of Nineveh not be lost upon us, but humble us before God!

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

An exchange says: "The Irish must be tough. As long as they have been in a stew on the other side, nobody seems thoroughly cooked as yet."

Electrician Edison claims that he can cure gout by the simultaneous use of lithuine and electricity.

HE WAS TOO SMART.

A Grocer's Clerk Whose Brightness Failed to Impress His Employer.

Up on Eighth avenue, in that far away region where the elevated road is so high that passengers in the cars can't help wishing they had lived better lives, an old and stolid German conducts a grocery. Until recently he had as clerk an agile youth with a tendency toward noise, both in his talk and costume. He was a rather amiable youth, however, and when, one day, his accustomed place behind the counter was found to be no longer acquainted with him, not a few inquiries were made in regard to his disappearance. To such questions the old German responded with a gruff "Heinrich vas bounced," and when asked why this action had been taken would only say, "He vas too schmart for der grocery peesness."

This enigmatic explanation gave rise to the gravest suspicions in the minds of the young man's acquaintances, and the neighborhood talked gravely about his supposed downfall for some days. Then the facts in the case came out, and a peculiarly Harlemesque romance was revealed.

It seems that Heinrich, in one of those lulls of trade which come in the grocery as in other lines of commerce, had been assailed by what appeared to him to be a bright idea. Procuring a large piece of fair white paper he printed thereon in large black letters this legend, "N. O. Molasses, fifty cents." He hung the placard up in a conspicuous place and waited developments.

They came in the form of a tall, thin woman, fierce of visage and sharp of tongue, the keeper of a big boarding house and the best customer Heinrich's employer had. Her keen eyes noticed the sign at once.

"What's that!" she said, "New Orleans molasses gone down to fifty cents a gallon? Thank goodness one thing's fell! Send me four gallons at once; I'll lay in a stock before 't goes up again."

Here was Heinrich's opportunity. "You haven't read it right," he said, somewhat frightened, but determined to give his bright idea an airing. "Of course we couldn't sell New Orleans or any other kind of molasses for any such price as that, so I—to prevent mistakes, you know—put up that sign—'No molasses, fifty cents'—but I can send you some for"——

"You'll send me nothin'," cried the woman angrily, and she marched out of the store.

She never came back. Heinrich tried to explain how harmless his bright idea was, but the old German couldn't understand it. "You vas too schmart for der grocery peesness. Better you get oud," was all he would say, and the wretched victim of his own brilliancy had to go.—New York Times.

Two Important Alaskan Discoveries.

The Seward glacier is a natural divide between the ridge through which we had forced our way and the main range. So one part of the problem was solved, and we discovered that there was no main range parallel to the coast, while angulation determined another point, and that was that the elevation had been very much overestimated, and St. Elias was only 15,350 instead of 19,500 feet. The ranges are all broken by immense faults, and it was owing to such structure that Pinnacle pass was found so easy of passage.—M. B. Kerr in Scribner's.

A Valuable Bit of Metal.

Mr. S. M. Hanley, of Fort Smith, Ark., has a breastpin of eighteen carat gold which he had made out of an earring for his wife. He found the original on the bank of Coosa river, Alabama, in 1886, at a point in Shelby county where Jackson crossed his army. It was washed up from an Indian burying ground by the floods of that year. Its workmanship shows it to have been made over 200 years ago. It was probably a part of the plunder of some early Indian massacre of English settlers.—Cor. New York World.

Two Separate Feelings.

When you see a girl pasting a scrapbook full of cooking recipes out of the weekly papers you know pretty well that some young man is in a position to be congratulated, and yet when you think of the recipes you feel rather sorry for him too.—West Chester Local News.

City of the Sick.

The largest hospital in the world is in Germany—the Allgemeine Krankenhause, which contains 3,000 beds. This hospital, which is now 116 years old, is managed in the interest of students, not humanely for the benefit of the poor patients.—Boston Globe.

Claus Spreckels, the California sugar king, is growing old, and his hair is quite white. He is just as keen and energetic as ever, however, and in looking after his three large refineries on the Pacific coast and one at Philadelphia he manages to keep busy.

Charles Broadway Rouss, of New York, is one of the few business men in the country who pay their employes at the end of each day. The services of one extra clerk enable him to do this, and he says the system is satisfactory both to his employes and himself.

Socrates, the sublimest character in profane history, firmly believed that he was actuated and directed by a demon. Blackstone, the author of the incomparable commentaries of the laws of England, was an undoubted believer in witchcraft.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

Mushrooms generally consist of 90 per cent of water, but in spite of this the balance of 10 per cent is said to be more nutritious than bread.

Hints That Are Better Than Gold.

If you have bad breath, sluggish bowels, pain in the small of your back, nervousness or giddiness, your vital organs are sadly out of condition. A mere "dose of physic" will not help you. Your only wise course is to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and cleanse your system of the impurities. It regulates the Liver and Kidneys.

ETHIOPIANS MADE WHITE.

Doctors Say This Can Be Done Through the Transplanting of Skin.

Provided a victim could be found for the skinning operation, surgical skill is equal to the feat of turning a negro's skin permanently white. The question of the transposition of color in the cuticle of the two races has been given a local and peculiar interest by an experiment in the grafting of the skin of a negro upon a white man, performed by Dr. John Ege, of Reading.

The experiment of Dr. Ege was made for the purpose of healing a wound on the leg of a white man, and if it succeeded in this it was all that was expected of it. Not only did it do this, but as the wound began to heal Dr. Ege was surprised to notice the thirty particles of black skin transplanted were gradually losing their color, and by the time the wound had entirely healed the new surface was as white as if the cuticle belonged by nature to the spot to which it was transplanted.

This result was surprising to the doctor, because medical men have hitherto declared that colored skin wherever transplanted would retain its color. It seems probable now, therefore, that some of the theory of skin grafting may undergo a change, and that in the future one may be enabled to change one's skin as easily as the Parisian belle the color of her hair.

A physician in seriously discussing the matter said that the original cause of the difference in the color of the skin of different races is still a matter of some dispute. Some authorities on the subject maintain that it is attributable solely to climate. In contradiction to this, however, other authorities prove that the dark color of the skin does not depend on geographical position, nor even altogether on racial purity, by the fact that the extremes of the chromatic scales are found throughout the whole negro domain.

Dr. J. V. Shoemaker, the eminent dermatologist of this city, in speaking of the result of Dr. Ege's experiment, said that in his opinion a negro's skin grafted upon a white man would probably lose its color, the process of cutting disturbing the cells containing the coloring matter. Dr. H. G. Boeuning, demonstrator of anatomy at the Medico-Chirurgical college, also holds this opinion, but at the same time says it is imperative that the particles of skin transplanted should be very minute, as in the case of Dr. Ege's experiment.

Dr. Boeuning also said that while colored skin transplanted on a white man will lose its color and become white, white skin grafted upon a negro would never become black. From this it will be seen that, although a negro might possibly be turned white, those white persons who are so enamored of the soft, glossy, unctuous epidermis of the negro as to desire a change are debarred by nature from indulging their peculiar taste.—Philadelphia Record.

Handling of Electrical Supplies.

An excellent suggestion has been made by a progressive electrical journal to the effect that the hardware trade all over the country should handle electrical supplies. Hardware firms should, of course, have a first class electical man in their employ, and it will be a real boon to the public if reliable supplies for bells, annunciators, heat regulators, gas lighting and incandescent lights can be obtained. The public has become fully aware that cheap bells and batteries mean endless vexation of spirit and are very dear at the price, and it is satisfactory to know that improvement in this branch of electrical industry is imminent.—New York Telegram.

A Light for Watches.

A new electric watch lighter is being manufactured in England. It resembles an enlarged open faced watch case, and has in its rim a minute incandescent lamp and reflector. On placing the watch in the case and pressing a small stud the face of the watch is brilliantly lighted. A dry battery supplies the current, and may be placed in a closet, with a flexible conducting cord leading from it to the head of the bed or stand on which the watch is placed. The battery will last for this purpose for years, and no chemicals are required.—New York Telegram.

A Readerscope.

A Lowell (Mass.) genius has invented a machine which he calls a "readerscope." It is designed so as to reflect the contents of a newspaper on the ceiling of any well lighted room. The inventor feels certain of being able to introduce it into barber shops, as it would enable a man to read while being shaved, and one paper could be made to serve several customers.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A certain Skye terrier used to attempt deceiving its master by going through the action of killing a fly, and then assuming an air of success. One day, however, when proof was given him that his hypocrisy was detected, he slunk under the furniture, evidently quite ashamed.

Natural gas can scarcely be regarded as a modern discovery, for, like many of our inventions, it is said to have been known among the Chinese long ago. In its modern utilization, however, much originality may be fairly claimed by the Americans.

Don't be afraid to be gracious through fear that you give a false impression of your position. It is the uncertain throne occupied by the usurper that needs constant bolstering. The true king feels secure in his rights.

Fifty Spasms a Day.

Had Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., lived two thousand years ago she would have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits. She was subject to nervous prostration, headaches, dizziness, backache, palpitation and forty to fifty spasms a day. Though having been treated by eight physicians for years without success, she was permanently cured by one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. A trial bottle of this new and wonderful medicine and a finely illustrated treatise free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

The priests of Drogheda denounced from the altar, lately, the Parnell meeting announced to be held in the town that afternoon. The result was a practical boycott of the meeting, only imported contingents being present.

Fortunate Father and Son.

"I am as certain as I now live," says C. E. Bartholomew, of Kalkaska, Mich., "that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life when I was a victim of Bright's Disease. My son had a fever sore on his leg. He, too, used Favorite Remedy and is now well. But for this medicine I am sure both father and son would have been six feet under the sod."

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, MUNICIPAL BUILDING, APR. 2, 1891.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Hugh Rafferty and Lawrence Martin, under the firm name of Rafferty & Martin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as victualers of the first class at No. 396 and 398 Montvale Avenue, and 83 Washington Street, in said Woburn, in one room on first floor, and one room on second floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Richard Reynolds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 5 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that William E. Mooney has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 468 Main Street, in two rooms on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Garvey has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 39 Main Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James Meehan and Hugh Maguire, under the firm name of Meehan & Maguire, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as innholders of the first class, at No. 40 Main St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building, and also to keep stock in barn on the premises of the said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that James L. McNulty and John E. McLaughlin, under the firm name of McNulty & McLaughlin, have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as common victuallers of the first class, at No. 111 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Bernard McHugh has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at Nos. 234 and 240 Main Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John B. Dever has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 259 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John C. Meehan has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 103 Prospect Street, in all rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Mc Govern has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 40 Fowle Street, on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Charles A. Dooley has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as a common victualler, at No. 88 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor, and stock in the cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John J. Beatty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 468 Main Street, in two rooms on the first floor and stock in cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John H. Connolly has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 7 Broad Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar.
DAVID F. MORELAND City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 3 Union Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Maloney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 6 Broad St., on first floor and stock in store-room in said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John F. Scally has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at 62 Fowle Street, and 105 Prospect Street, in one room on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick H. Graney has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victualler, at No. 11 Main Street, in basement of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas H. McGovern has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 223 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Michael Clancy has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 177 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Anthony A. Doherty has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 470 Main street, on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Patrick O'Rourke has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesaler, at No. 36 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

CITY OF WOBURN.

Notice is given that I, Frederic B. Leeds, have been appointed under Sec. 1 Chapter 57 of the Public Statutes,

Inspector of Milk and Vinegar,

for the ensuing year and all persons engaged in the sale of milk are hereby notified.

Woburn, Mass., April 15, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Rose Kelly, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lawrence Reade, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of April instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS
ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
28000 SOLD AND IN USE.

VOSE & SONS. NEW STYLES.
VOSE & SONS ELEGANT DESIGNS.
VOSE & SONS. SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP.
VOSE & SONS. GREAT DURABILITY.
VOSE & SONS EASY TERMS.

WE RENT NEW and second-hand Pianos and allow ONE YEAR'S rent on the purchase price.

100 second-hand Pianos at $275, $350, $225, $210, $200, $175, $150, $100. Be sure to call and examine our stock before purchasing.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont Street.

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S
GERMAN CATARRH CURE
Cures Catarrh in all its forms.
Cures cases of long standing.
Clears the nazal passages.
Strengthens the air passage.
Has been used for years.
Is prescribed bo Physicians.
Instantly relieves cold in the head.
Sold by all Druggists. Try it.
$1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00.
Manufactured only by
JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist,
259 Essex St., LAWRENCE, MASS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
L. G. WALDEN
MERCHANT TAILOR,
7 WALNUT STREET,
Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.
PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.
We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.
Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnisheb with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

SALESMEN — WANTED —
To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.
F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

It Is Foolish

To send for the doctor every time you don't feel just right. My doctor's bill for years was over a hundred dollars a year, which made a pretty big hole in my wages. For the past two years, I only spent ten dollars, with which I bought a dozen bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and health has been in my family since using them.—ROBERT JOHNSON, Machinist.

In fly time be sure and place a screen over your cheese vats. Moreover, you will not find skippers in cheese that has a perfect rind. It is in the crevices and defective places in the rind that the skipper fly lays her eggs.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The annual police report states that there are nearly 20,000 habitual criminals in London. There were 463 burglaries, 36 fewer than in the previous year.

The Governor of Missouri has become jealous of the attention given to outlaws; but he still continues to recommend the famous Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for coughs and cold.

The proprietors of Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain, will pay a large reward if any certificate published by them is not genuine. It costs only 25 cents a bottle.

We have already something that will be new to Europe in connection with the World's fair. That is a board of women managers to take charge of the exhibits of woman's work.

For bracing up the nerves, purifying the blood and curing sick headache and dyspepsia, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

In conclusion, Sir Charles Gavan Duffy declares that "until all the clerical interference is changed, there is no more hope for the Irish cause than there is for a corpse on a dissecting table."

Why Will You

Allow your health to gradually fail? If you are closely confined indoors with little or no exercise, and desire good health, you must take care of yourself. Use Sulphur Bitters, and you will have a sound mind and strong body.

The export of canaries from Germany is very large. Every year about one hundred and thirty thousand of these birds are sent to America, three thousand to England, and about two thousand to Russia.

Mothers, you can relieve your baby of its discomfort without administering opium, that deadly drug, by using Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.

The remedy needed for a severe case of nasal catarrh is Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

Another brilliant young man has become violently insane from cigarette smoking. But it has not yet been observed that any fewer of them are being smoked.

Mr. Justice Stephen's evident insanity while on the bench is a public scandal in London, though one that, such are the libel laws in England, no great journal dares openly to discuss.

Washington and Monroe were the only Presidents that served in the field during the Revolution. They were together at Trenton, where Monroe as a lieutenant was wounded.

The Canadian government has decided to make a grant of money for the establishment of dairy schools throughout the dominion.

Germany has one doctor to 1500 of population, France one to 3167, the United Kingdom one to 1234, but the United States only one to 600.

When a man throws away the strap around his pocketbook as soon as he joins the church it is a pretty sure sign that he has religion.

"Can you lend me a five, Jack?" "I can: here it is." "I can never repay your kindness." "Never, mind, repay the five and let the kindness go."

High life seems hard up for amusement when it resorts to negro "cake walk" dances.

Teachers' salaries in the United States annually amount to more than sixty million dollars.

Natural gas has been discovered three miles from Vallejo.

If money could be borrowed as easily as trouble, the world would be full of round-shouldered people.

The destruction of property by fire during July in the United States and Canada amounted to $14,723,500.

A new wire called the Hungarian wire is covered with three coats of thread and two coats of celluloid.

In two hundred years the population of the world doubles itself.

The profit of winter dairying are double those of summer dairying.

Cardinal Newman is now ninety years years of age and quite infirm.

Spun sugar is a confectioner's product known as the most delicious candy.

A lady in Tampa, Fla., is having a dress made of rattle snake skins.

Charlotte, N. C., has a white mulberry tree that emits puffs of smoke.

Telephony will have a marked effect in unifying the language of nations.

New York city exempts newspaper editors and reporters from jury duty.

The man who has to fight single-handed generally does it double-fisted.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES
EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
NONE SUCH
CONDENSED
Mince Meat
HIGHEST AWARD
received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.
Each Package contains material for two large pies.
Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.
MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE
EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR
Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop'rs,
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Your Kid Prince our trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.
Is Your Tongue Coated? Sulphur Bitters!
Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day!
PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.
A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists,
Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canadds.
Don't Wait!
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE Perfect Substitute ONLY For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-COODALE CO.
BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD
AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION,
RONDOUT, N. Y.

Dr. BULL'S
COUGH SYRUP
THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY. PRICE 25C
Salvation Oil "Kills all Pain." Try it! Only 25c.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main treet?

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

CUT RATES!
— AT —
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Pagne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE!
WEAR
M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S
EASY FITTING
SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.
EVERY PAIR WARRANTED
FOR SALE BY
POPULAR PRICES $2.99 $4.00 $2.00
M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND
PIANO FORTES.
The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.
IVERS & POND PIANO CO.
181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

Bay State Guitars Mandolins Banjos
These have received the highest honors in competition, Six Silver, Three Bronze, One Gold Medal and Three Diplomas.
Musical Instruments of every description, including Haynes Excelsior and Wm. B. Tilton Guitars, Band and Orchestral Instruments, Strings, etc. Send for Catalogues.
J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main steeet, Woburn.
Terms reasonable.

THE SELF-RESTORER
FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 351 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.
FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.
COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St. cor. Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1891. NO. 20.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.09, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.25, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., *12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.55, *10.10, 10.40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, †5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 9.30, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.35, †6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, †6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, †10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10.10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.50, 8.50, 9.50, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. O. Wilson, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Head quarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools, Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons, B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police, William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetery, L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 189 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.
Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

D. J. FLANDERS,

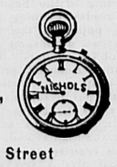
CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

Abstracts From Middlesex County Files.

BY E. F. JOHNSON.

Johnson vs. Carter, 1658.

The point of the following case is a controversy about a highway and a consequent difficulty about the truth of the records. The case is a contribution to the history of our early Woburn records, volume one of which is now known to be a copied record. Great dissatisfaction was found with the manner in which these early records were kept, and this accounts, in a measure, for the reason of the copied volume now extant and the absence of its original. From extracts from the original to be found in the County files, it would appear the copy has faults less excusable, perhaps, than those in its predecessor. The items in the copy are irregularly placed, and differ too from the matter copied in respect to the use of words, etc. The work was probably not an agreeable one to the copyist, and he filled up the gaps in his pages with entries which he thought would fit into them.

In the following, modern spelling, except proper names, is used, with the exception of Thomas Danforth, which is modernized in each instance.

In these papers the names of many of the first settlers of Woburn will be found. Our antiquaries will no doubt revel in these morsels of testimony from lips which have been long since silenced by the inevitable destroyer. It is interesting, too, to witness how they expressed themselves and what were the shades of their character. These documents mean a great deal to inquiring minds, and contain much information of importance to genealogists. —C.

To the constable of Woburne.

You are required to call your freemen together to choose one meet person to serve on the Jury of Trials (as also to warn your grand juryman to appear) at the next County Court to be held at Charlestowne the 28 of this instant month and hereof you are to make a true return under your hand and not to fail. Dated December 1, 1658.

Thomas Danforth, Recorder.
[Endorsed.]

Josias Convars is by the freemen of the town of woobourne is chosen a jury man for the court holden at Charlestowne the 28th of the 10th (58)

Hennery Tottingham., constable of woobourne.

To the constable of wobourne or his Deputy.

By virtue hereof you are required to attach the goods or for want thereof the person of John Carter of wooborn and to take sufficient security to the value of thirty pounds to answer the complaint of Edward Johnson of wooborn at the next County Court holden at Charlestowne for slanderous speeches against him spoken by the said John Carter. Hereof not to fail: dated the 22 of the 10th mo. 1658.

And make return hereof. By the Court,

Edward Johnson.

[A return of service is endorsed on the back by Henry Tottingham, Constable of Woburn to the effect that he "did take bond of the said John Carter to the value of thirty pounds upon the daye of the date of this attachment to answer the complaint of the plaintiff and stand to the order of the Court." The mark of X Henry Tottingham, Constable.]

The 27th of the 10th (58).

The testimony of Hennery Tottingham, aged fifty years saith that we et als were of the committee began not to lay out any highway until we came to a place called Edward Convars his bars of his field, and further that we did not give in unto the selectmen any agreement.

Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
The mark of Henry X Tottingham.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

william Simons aged about 47 years and Robart Pers about 38 and Joseph Knight aged about 34, testify that michile bakon and hennery Tottingham being two of the committee chosen to lay out the highway (the third being then dead) these two men went with us we being altogether and showed us the highway which [they] said they with Thomas Richison had laid out through the plain [to] the mill. Richard houlden testifieth to the truth of this above written.

William Simons X his mark.
william Johnson.
Mathew Johnson.
Richard houlden X his mark.
[Michael Bacon.]
Sworn in Court,
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

william Simons aged about 47 and william locke aged about 30 testify that we all at one time heard Jams Conars say that he would prove that the highway to mill lay through that part of the field that is mathew Johnson's land which is broken up.

william Simons. X his mark.
william Johnson.
william lock.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

william Simons aged about 47 years and Robart perse aged about 38 and william Johnson aged about 30 and mathew Johnson aged about 26 testify that as the committee showed us they had laid out the highway to mill it answered with the record. Richard houlden testifys to the truth of this above written.

william Simons X his mark.
william Johnson.
Mathew Johnson.
Robert Perse.
Richard houlden. X his mark.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

william Simons aged about 47 and Robart pers about 38 and william Johnson about 30, and william locke about 30 and Richard houlden about 50 testify that we all at one time heard henery tottingham say that if he were called upon his oath he must swear that the committee did agree and laid out the highway to mill and further he said that we were fools if we did not use it in the summer as well as in the winter for else said he your children will lose it.

william Simons X his mark.
Richard houlden. X his mark.
william Johnson.
Robert Perse.
william lock.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

william Johnson aged about 30 and Thomas dutton about 39 testify that Captaine Johnson made Thomas dutton's lease.

william Johnson.
Thomas dutten.

ffrances Kendall aged about 38 years testify that Captain Johnson brought Thomas dutton's lease to John Sers house and there he finished it and I set my hand to it.

frances Kendall, X his mark.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

Whereas, Capt: Johnson hath recorded that in ye 16 of ye 7th month (1640) that I Edward Conuars went with Major Sedgwick, ens. palmer, Thomas Line, John Mousall, and himself to view the bounds between lin village and this town, I, Edward Convars say that I was not there at that meeting.

Edward Convars.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

Edward Conuars aged (68) years or thereabouts and John Mousall aged about 63 years and James Tompson aged 65 years do testify that whereas there was an order agreed upon by the selectmen that whosoever went through a corn field and left gates or bars open he should pay one shilling for such a defect besides doubling the damage should ensue upon it but demanding this record it could not be found.

Edward Convars.
John mousall.
The marke of James X Tompson.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth. Recorder.

Capt: Johnson at a meeting of the townsmen desirtng a liberty for transportation of crooked timber for shipping upon a track of woobourne's land and Captain Johnson improving this liberty as we did judge beyond his grant it was demanded of him what his grant was and desired him to show the record to which ye Capt. answered he did not record it for ends best known to himself.

Edward Conuars.
John mousall
The mark of James X Tompson.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.
the 27th of the 10th (58)

Edward Conuars aged 68 years or thereabouts saith that I being one of the selectmen of woobourn we having made choice of three to be a committee to lay out a way from my mill to the way leading to up street the aforementioned committee made no return under their hands but Thomas Richardson one of the committee came to the townsmens' meeting and said unto us that they could not agree, therefore we return it into the townsmens hands again, and whereas the record in question saith that the prudential men laid out a way from my mill to the way leading to up street, I affirm that Capt. Johnson did neither put this to vote as our custom is, nor yet by any order from us did record it and for my own part I did then oppose him.

[Signature torn off.]
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.
the 27th of ye 10th (58)

The testimony of John Mousall aged about 63 years and James Tompson aged 65 years or thereabouts saith that Thomas Richardson came to the selectmen being met together and said himself being chosen with Mihill Bacon Senior and Hennery Tottingham to lay out a way from the mill to up street they couldnot agree and therefore we return it into the selectmens hands again. Further I James Tompson (being one of the selectmen) heard the above named Mihill Bacon after Thomas Richardson saying they could not agree did plead and press to have the way to be recorded to go straight through the field, but Edward Convars, being one of the selectmen did oppose it to whom Capt Johnson said, We must have the nearest way to mill and forthwith without any proposition made by ye Captain to the townsmen whether he should record it or putting of it to vote he did write presently. Further the townsmen did not lay out the way above mentioned, To the best of our memory.

John mousall.
The mark of James Tompson. X
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. '58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

Memr. Josias Convers saith he knows not what the Capt. wrote, but he saw him write.

Josiah Convars aged 40 years or thereabouts and James Convars aged 38 years saith that we being present at the meeting of the townsmen when Thomas Richardson who was one of the committee made his return do affirm that we heard him say, brethren, you chose us to lay out a way and we cannot agree therefore we return it into your hands again. Upon the return Mihill Bacon who was one of the committee said, Capt. Johnson you know we must have the straightest way to mill, and the Captain said, Yea it was so in all places wherever he had been, the straightest way to mill and meetinghouse, and forthwith without either the agreement of the committee or order from the townsmen, made this record now in question.

Josias Convars.
James Convars.
Sworn in Court.
29, 10 m. '58.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

The 27th of ye 10th (58)

The testimony of Hennery Brooks aged about 66, saith that I heard Thomas Richardson say that he being to lay out a highway through the plain and that they could not agree. To the best of my memory.

The mark of Henry X Brooks.
Sworn to in Court.
29, 10 m. 58.
Thomas Danforth.

william simons aged about 47 years and Robart peers 38 or thereabouts and william locke about 30 testify that on the training day before part of the training band we all at one time heard John carter say that the town records were not worth a straw and that the captain had falsified them, upon which words samuwell walker answered If it were so it would cost the Captain his ears and this the said John carter affirmed the Captain had done of his own head. Samuwell Walker aged about 43, testifies to the truth of this above written. Robart peers cannot safely testify concerning samuwell walker's reply to John carter's words.

William Simons X his mark
Samuel Walker,
Robert peirse.
william lock.
Sworn in Court.
December 28, '58.
By the parties above named as attest.
Thomas Danforth, Recorder

Richard gardener aged 39 years or thereabouts and Thomas dutton 39 testify that Capt. Johnson being in discourse with the committee about Thomas dutton's lease, we both at one time heard John Carter say The lease was knavishly made or knavishly intended.

Richard Gardner.
Thomas dutton. his mark. X
Sworn in Court December 28, 1658,
By both the parties above named.
As attest, Thomas Danforth, Recorder.

The outcome of the case is expressed in the following note, to be found in Johnson's Woburn Marriages, just issued, page 284.

In the suit of Capt. Johnson vs. Ensign John Carter, Dec. 1658, Henry Tottingham, aged 50, testifies. Other witnesses were: William Simonds, aged about 47, Robert Pierce about 38, Joseph Knight about 34, William Locke about 30, William Johnson about 30, Matthew Johnson about 26 (?), Richard Holden, about 50, Thomas Dutton about 39, Francis Kendall about 38, Edward Converse about 68, John Mousall about 63, James Thompson about 65, Josiah Converse about 40, James Converse about 38, Henry Brooks about 66 and Richard Gardner about 39. The following account of this suit is taken from the Court Record:—

"Capt. Edward Johnson plaintiff, against Ensign John Carter, for slanderous speeches against him, upon attachment, on file, dated Dec. 22, 1658, both parties appeared personally in Court, and joined issue in the case, the which being fully heard, with the witnesses presented by both parties which are on file with the records of this Court, the jury . . . . brought in their verdict, finding for the plaintiff in manner following, (i. e.) that the defendant both publicly and solemnly in the front of the military company at Woburn, upon their next training day, in the former part of the day, as soon as the clerk of the band hath called over the list, shall make this following acknowledgment, in these following words, viz:—

I, John Carter do acknowledge that I have wronged, slandered, & defamed, Capt. Edw: Johnson in saying that he the said Capt. Johnson, did falsify the Town Records, for which I am sorrowful.

And in case the defendant shall refuse or neglect to make the said acknowledgment in manner as is above expressed, he the said defendant shall pay unto the plaintiff or his assigns, five pounds sterling in current pay of New England. Also the defendant is to pay unto the plaintiff costs of Court, two pounds eighteen shillings and nine pence."—County Court Records, Vol. I., page 161. Dec. 1658.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR
Baking Powder.
The Official Reports of the
United States Government, 1889,
Canadian Government, 1889,
New Jersey Commission, 1889,
Ohio Food Commission, 1887,
prove that Cleveland's is
THE STRONGEST
of all the pure* cream of tartar baking powders.
*Ammonia or alum powders, whatever their strength, should be avoided as injurious.

MUNROE'S
Clothing House.
Our famous SUITS for Boys, best in the world,
FOR $5.00.
Extra Pants $1.50.
Largest Assortment of Children's Clothing in the city.
C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

The bill to provide for printing and mailing to every registered voter in the State sample ballots in advance of every election would entail a very heavy expense which is entirely without justification. Our voters are not children that they need repeated lessons as to what an official ballot looks like. The sample ballots posted in the voting places are sufficient. Every election will make our voters more familiar with the new style of ballots, and with all the details of the system.

A Fortunate Woman.

Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., has reason to be very thankful. She was a great sufferer from heart disease for years. Was short of breath, had hungry spells, pain in her side, fluttering, faintness, etc. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, she says, "I am better than for 20 years. My mind and eyesight have improved wonderfully. I advise all peasons thus afflicted to use this great remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss druggist. Dr. Miles' work on Heart Disease, containing marvelous testimonials, free.

Those youthful Democrats who are said to be so anxious to reply to the late communication of the Republican Club show a cheerful desire to monkey with the buzz saw which is not shared to any great extent by their older and more experienced associates.

WON IN THE NINTH.

Walter Camp Tells About a Famous Three Bagger That He Made Back in '82.

Of all games in which I have played, the most remarkable for a sudden revulsion of feeling was one between Harvard and Yale played upon Jarvis Field in June of 1882.

Yale went first to the bat but failed to score. Harvard followed suit. In the second inning a muff by the Harvard first baseman, followed by the Yale catcher's making a "two bagger" hit, gave Yale a run. Our happiness was shortlived, however, for in the third inning Harvard made two runs, followed by another in the fifth. Yale scored one in the seventh, but Harvard matched it with one in the eighth, so that we began the ninth with Harvard four to Yale's two. I think we had not the least hope of winning.

I remember feeling, as we came in for the ninth inning, that this defeat would settle our chances of the championship, and thinking of the crowd of boys who, as I knew, were sitting on the Yale fence awaiting the news, would hear it and dwindle away in silence to their rooms. Our first man at the bat in the ninth inning went out quickly, and our catcher followed, with the same result. Wilcox, the last man on our batting list, came to the bat. Two men out, two runs to reach even a tie, and three to win! I noticed that the crowd was leaving the field and that the young rascal who had charge of our bats was putting them into the bag.

"Here, you! stop that!" cried I, for we all were superstitious about packing up the bats before the last man was out. Besides, I was the next batter, if Wilcox should by any chance reach his base, and I wanted my bat. "Two strikes," I heard the umpire call, and then at the next ball, to my great joy, "Take your base," and Wilcox trotted away to first. I remember thinking how much I would give for a home run, and then there came a good ball just off my shoulder and I hit it with all my power. It went between third and shortstop on a swift drive, but bounded high, as I afterward learned, for I was meanwhile running at my best speed toward first.

When I was fifteen feet from that base I saw the baseman give a tremendous jump up into the air and I knew somebody had made an overthrow. How I ran then! for every base I passed I knew was one nearer to tying the score. As I came dashing past third base I saw Wilcox just ahead of me, and we crossed the home plate within three feet of each other. Our next batter took his base on poor pitching and stole second; the next followed with a base hit past second, which brought the first runner home with the winning run. We then went into the field, put three Harvard men out, and won the game—when probably half the 7,000 spectators were already on their way home with the victory for Harvard in their minds.—Walter Camp in St. Nicholas.

Napoleon's Treatment of His Creatures.

In the Talleyrand memoirs in The Century the following remark is thrown in at the end of his account of Murat's treason, and suggests, if it was not suggested by, Talleyrand's personal experience:

"There was in Napoleon's power, at the stage it had now reached, a radical defect which seemed to me necessarily injurious to his stability, and even tending toward his final overthrow. Napoleon took delight in disquieting, in humiliating, in tormenting those that he himself had raised; and they, placed in a state of continual distrust and irritation, worked underhand against the power that had created them and that they already looked upon as their greatest enemy."

An Act of Heroism.

A young British engineer named Affleck Fraser, connected with a railway in Peru, heard that an American engineer in charge of some work in a peculiarly pestilential valley had been struck down and was fatally ill, his only chance being a transfusion of blood from some healthy person, involving grave risks to the latter which of course no one would incur. Mr. Fraser at once offered himself, and insisted, in spite of the doctor's remonstrances, on saving the stranger. The operation was performed and both engineers entirely recovered. — London Tit-Bits.

Try It Once.

Put up fifty wooden boxes in a city, none of them in the least resembling mail boxes, and paint on each one the sign, "This box is for coal orders—drop no mail in here," and inside of forty-eight hours over 100 letters designed for the mail will be pushed into them. It's a way people have.—Detroit Free Press.

Dear, Yet Cheap.

Hoffman Howes—Howell Gibbon I heah is in hard luck lately, and yet he still dwesses vewy well. He must have a good fwiend somewhere.

Tom Knox—Yes, it's his trousers stretcher.—Puck.

New York produces and eats more pies than any city in the world. There are eight or ten large factories that make nothing but pies, and there are five or six hundred bakeries besides that deal exclusively in them.

The origin of washing the hands before eating arose from the fact that meals in olden times often consisted wholly of pie, which was eaten with the hands. It was this custom which gave rise to the fork.

Reciting Scripture.

A Windsor Locks little girl, just old enough to enter the infant class at the Sunday school, was ambitious to repeat a text of Scripture as the older ones did at the concert exercises. To humor her ambition and make it reasonably certain that she would succeed the mother selected the br

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

WORK FOR THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Dow tannery, which has been in operation about 70 years and in all that time was never known to shut down for a day except for repairs or something of that kind, is closed. Only the watchmen are in possession and everything about the large establishment is at a standstill. Leather making is no longer carried on there. From 75 to 100 men have been thrown out of work and neither they nor Stephen Dow & Co., the owners of the old tannery, can help themselves.

Whether this shut down is to be a temporary matter or the end of leather making at Dow's is a question which no one seems able to answer. The present unfortunate condition of things there is due to an injunction issued by the Courts, on application of the Boston Water Board, to restrain Stephen Dow & Co. from discharging the sewerage from their tannery into Horn Pond because by doing so they say that Mystic Pond, from whence a part of Boston's water supply is obtained, becomes polluted and unfit for use. This point need not be discussed here.

The question which addresses itself with most force to the average business mind in Woburn is: Will Boston be allowed to destroy the tanning business in Woburn without an effort on the part of her citizens to prevent it? Will Woburn stand by and let Boston rob her of her manufacturing privileges without lifting a finger to ward off the blow? Will she let Boston run all over her and never offer a protest against the same?

These legal proceedings against the Dows is an entering wedge and if their establishment is closed permanently goodbye to the tanning business at this old leather-making centre. If the Courts make the injunction on the Dow place perpetual then we might as well take our carpet-bags and put out for fresh fields and pastures new one time as another if existence depends on our wits or our hands. If Boston beats the Dows in this suit she will press other manufacturers to the wall and in 10 years from now there won't be a tannery to be found in all the Mystic Valley.

Now, Stephen Dow & Co. are not going to stand the brunt of this battle; they are not going to fight the whole city of Boston single handed and alone; they do not feel able to do that, and will not try to stem the current and save to Woburn (if it can be saved) her chief industry by making pecuniary sacrifices which they do not feel justified in making. The Dows can leave and go somewhere else, but what will become of Woburn when her leather industry is gone?

The Board of Trade ought to take up this matter at once and inaugurate measures towards saving our manufactories. They ought to go to the City Government without delay and insist that the Corporation shall take hold and aid the Dows in defending the present suit against them, shall back them up, set its City Solicitor to work, and thus give strength, tone and material aid to the Dows in the defense of what is a great deal more than simply their pecuniary interests, namely, the salvation of our manufacturing industries.

Let something be done.

THE LION AND THE LAMB, ETC.

The next Democratic candidate for Mayor of this city is already as good as picked out. The lion and the lamb have reclined together in the same bed and harmony reigns in the irregular Democratic camp.

There was a Democratic lovefeast at the residence of Mr. Lawrence Reade the other evening at which Mr. Thomas Salmon was the principal personage.

Who would have dreamed of such a thing! Lawrence Reade and Thomas Salmon shaking hands across the bloody chasm! Only a little while ago they were very bitter foes; but now their voices unite in the cry "anything to beat the Moreland gang."

Many of the Democratic old-liners were at the symposium by whom and the courteous, whole-hearted host a refreshing season was enjoyed. We have the names of some of the most prominent people there, among whom it was an easy task to point out several good Democratic fighters.

What does this mean, do you ask? Why the lovefeast? For what end did the lion and lamb lie down together?

It means that Mr. Lawrence Reade is to be Mr. Thomas Salmon's candidate for Mayor next December; that the party's slogon will be: "Anything to beat the Moreland gang;" and by that token they mean to win the victory or die in their boots.

WHEELING INTO LINE.

Massachusetts Republicans are taking a more active interest in the welfare of the party this year than they have evinced in any off year during the past quarter of a century, and they are swinging into line with a general unanimity that presages active work, a full vote and an old-time victory. They have held more meetings and accomplished greater good for the party since the November election than in any other State.—Iowa State Register.

Just as soon as the Republicans of Massachusetts wheeled from the anti-Blaine column into the ranks of his hearty supporters (which movement is less than a year old) they began to lose the characteristics of a Mugwump and get into touch with genuine Republicanism. Hereafter they will be found in their right place and in perfect sympathy with the brethren all over the Union.

☞ The resolve for a constitutional amendment in relation to the division of towns was killed after all. The two-thirds vote in favor of it did not in the end materialize.

THE LEGISLATURE.

In the opinion of many of the members the General Court will adjourn for good and all as early as the first of June—nearly a month sooner than usual.

A large amount of business has been put through during the session, and there are other important matters on the journals of both branches.

If, now, they get through by the first of June, and manage to keep their hands off from that extra $250, the present Legislature will occupy an honorable page in the law-making history of the Commonwealth.

FUND FOR GEN. BANKS.

A movement is on foot to raise a sum of money for the support of Gen. N. P. Banks, ex-Congressman from this District, and his family which, we hear, is doing well. Although he oughtn't to be, his friends say the General, now 75 years old and not very well, is poor and unable to make a living for himself and those dependent on him for their support, and therefore they hope the people of Massachusetts will subscribe generously to the Banks relief fund.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

F. N. Club—Drama.
W. H. Slater—To Let.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Wm. Kimball—To Let.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
Wm. Kimball—For Sale.
Annie Vaughn—Removal.
City—Sealer of W. and M.
Judge Converse—Ex. Sale.
Co-Operative Bank—Meeting.
Pettingill & Co.—Pa. Land Co.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— This is May-day.

— Mr. Charles French has gone to Maine on a business trip.

— Mr. W. H. Slater offers house and land on Main st. for sale.

— Ass't P. M. Flinn is gaining health and strength right along.

— The Hustlers and Leathes will meet on the diamond to-morrow.

— Read the official notice of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures.

— Mrs. Winn, wife of Rev. D. D. Winn, has been quite ill, but is better.

— The alarm from box 26 last Sunday was for a brush fire at No. Woburn.

— The Odd Fellows have been celebrating all around the board this week.

— Mr. William York and family will spend the summer at Rockport as usual.

— The annual supper of the Friday Night Club will take place on May 15 instant.

— It was cold enough on Tuesday night and Wednesday to freeze a body—nearly.

— Rev. Fr. McDonnell of St. Charles Church has been obliged to resign on account of poor health.

— Read Annie Vaughn's notice of "Removal" in this paper. She is all ready for spring business.

— Mr. A. P. Barrett, the old Water Registrar of this city, has moved into a nice house on Canal street.

— Mr. A. J. Simonson who built the new Scandinavian church in this city is building one in Lynn.

— Judge Johnson has been real sick of late with multiform la grippe and is only just now slowly recovering.

— Landlord Thompson of the Central House has been quite sick of late with the prevailing distemper.

— Land for sale for investments. Excellent opportunities. Mrs. C. P. Lacoste, 62 Pleasant street, Malden.

— The Ladies Auxiliary of the St. Charles C. T. A. will give a ball on the evening of May 20 at Music Hall

— John Bradley will occupy the position of chief conductor of Mr. Jacob Ellis's street-sprinkler this season.

— The grand regatta by the Innitou Canoe Club will come off on Memorial Day. The boys are getting into trim for it.

— Several members of Baldwin Lodge, 25, R. A., visited the brethren at Medford last Friday evening and enjoyed it.

— Men and boys persist in boarding moving trains near the Centre station. There'll be a lot of funerals there one of these days.

— A prominent citizen of Woburn suggests that we ought to have a Sunday evening mail to Boston. Good suggestion.

— Editor Barnstead of the Stoneham News visited the JOURNAL office last Tuesday. He reported everything serene at S.

— There is a May Day procession of children at St. John's Parochial School this morning under the direction of the Sisters.

— Attention is called to the advertisement announcing farm property for sale, or old Cushing Payson Estate, at great sacrifice.

— Mr. William Kimball has two notices in this paper, to which attention is called. In both cases the property is well known.

— Mrs. Chase Cole, Treasurer, announces that the sum cleared at the late Old Ladies Home Fair was $554.-03, against $704 last year.

— The great Republican Mass Meeting and Banquet will come off on the evening of May 13. Republicans ought to getting a good ready for it.

— Dr. Kelley, after quite a pull at la grippe, or something equally as bad, has emerged from his sick chamber and is about among folks once more.

—The opinion prevails in and around Municipal Building that the tax rate per $1000 will be $1.00 less this year than last. That won't be very bad to take.

— Rev. S. K. Dedrickson of Boston and Rev. B. B. Slather of Connecticut preached in the vestry of the new Swede church last Wednesday afternoon.

— Major Ambrose Bancroft and Capt. John E. Tidd attended the funeral of Major Laureat, of their old war Regiment, last Wednesday, at Medford.

— The reception to Capt. Luke R. Tidd by his fellow soldiers of the 39th, will take place on next Monday evening, that being the date of his 69th birthday.

— The Bellevue Club's rooms in the Kelley block, Main street, when the improvements on them are completed will be among the finest and pleasantest in this city.

— Supt. Sanborn has informed the JOURNAL that within 4 months the roundhouse, turntables, switches, cars, etc. will be removed from Woburn to Wilmington.

— It is said that Mr. Edwin B. Blanchard has bought Mr. M. T. Allen's residence on Church Ave. for a home, and will soon move into it. It is a good one.

— Mr. C. H. Arnold is building a fine house on the Dow real estate on Canal st., which is destined to become one of the most fashionable thoroughfares in this city.

— Mr. Gilman F. Jones has moved into one of Mrs. Timothy Winn's pretty cottages on Main st. above Kilby. It will make Mr. Jones and his family a nice home.

— There is to be given a testimonial concert and ball to Mr. Edward McKay in the Town Hall at Stoneham on the evening of May 5. Very fine music has been engaged for the occasion.

— The new 7.11 P. M. train for Boston is just the checker. For a theatre train what could answer the purpose better? The 11 A. M. train from Boston has been changed to 10.50.

— The delegates from the First Congregational church in this city to the Woburn Conference at Melrose last Tuesday were: Arthur B. Wyman, E. Everett Thompson, John K. Murdock, Everett P. Fox.

— It itn't often that cherry trees are in blossom here before the first of May, and yet as early as last Monday a plenty of cherry bloom was seen about town. So, it seems the spring isn't as backward as it might be after all.

— Last Saturday was almost like winter. Thirty or 40 snow squall's were experienced between sunrise and sunset, some rain came down, and it was almost as cold as "Greenlands icy mountains or India's coral strand."

— Mr. O. F. Bryant, executor of the estate of the late D. Gould Converse, has promptly paid over to Mrs. Treasurer Cole the $500 willed by the deceased to the Woburn Home for Aged Women and the same is safely in bank.

— On the first page of this paper may be read a quaint old Woburn document, for the resurrection of which we are indebted to Judge Johnson, while its preface is by our esteemed friend Mr. Cutter of the Woburn Public Library.

— A large number of Woburn Congregationalists went to Melrose last Tuesday afternoon and evening to attend the Spring session of the Woburn Conference. They reported that the meeting was well attended and very interesting.

— Mr. A. L. Holdridge, hardware dealer in Richardson Bros. block, has a full stock of the best and most popular oil stoves that are in the market, and his prices are low. Nobody ought to try to get along in hot weather without an oil or gas stove.

— If the seats for the Common are not put out for the accommodation of the public pretty soon a certain reporter who we have in our mind's eye will kick the bucket. Do, for pity's sake, get them out, Mr. Forester, and save the poor fellow from a fate so sad.

— This morning the City Assessors began the business of listing the property of our people for the purpose of taxation, Col. Grammer taking Wards 1 and 4, Mr. Ferguson Wards 2, 5 and 6, and Mr. Prior Wards 3 and 7, and an Assistant Assessor being with each of them.

— Particular attention is directed to the card of the Friday Night Club in which is set forth the particulars of the dramatic entertainment which they will give on the evening of May 8. First class talent has been employed for it. Fellow-citizens, you don't want to miss that entertainment.

— The directors of the East Middlesex street railway are perfecting plans for the equipment of their road from Woburn to Chelsea with electricity.—Boston Herald. It is only a matter of a short time before both the East Middlesex and No. Woburn lines will be run by electricity.

— We have received from the publisher, B. B. Russell, 57 Cornhill, Boston, a copy of "Russell's Map of Massachusetts," which is a revised and corrected map of the Bay State, 22x35 inches in size, printed in colors on paper, put up in covers, and sold for 40 cents. Thanks for the same.

— Dr. Munhall's revival meetings will close this evening. He is an able, honest, earnest evangelist and good fruit follows his work everywhere. For next week's religious programme see Dr. March's church notice. Mrs. Bailey therein mentioned sang at the Moody meetings in Boston.

— The action of Malden's city officials in cutting down the pay of policemen finds itself repeated in Woburn where Mayor Bean vetoed an order increasing the salary from $800 to $850 per annum.—Malden City Press. And then the Press goes on and prints Mayor Bean's reasons for his veto.

— A concert in aid of the building of the Scandinavian church in this city will be given some time next week. It should be patronized by everybody. The Scandinavians are among Woburn's best population and in their efforts to secure a house of worship here they deserve money and encouragement from all.

— By invitation of the proprietors, Johnson & Garvin, Postmaster Wyman and nine of his clerks and carriers enjoyed a very fine complimentary dinner last Saturday at the Windsor Hotel in this city, since which they have been enthusiastic over the cuisine and table service of that popular hostelry. They were treated to a great abundance of the "fat of the land," which elicited warm praise from them for the Windsor and its keepers.

— Mr. Edgar B. Thompson, son of Leonard Thompson, Esq., and brother of Mr. Waldo Thompson, has been visiting his old home here lately. For quite a number of years past he has been connected with the Engineering Department of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co., in the interest of which he was sent to the Paris Exposition three or four years ago.

— On Thursday evening, May 14, Rev. E. G. Porter, one of the best and most popular platform orators in Massachusetts, will give a lecture in the vestry of the Congregational church, under the auspices of one of the oldest societies of that church, on a very interesting theme, namely, "KOREA." Everyone who likes to listen to a good lecture should turn out and hear Rev. Mr. Porter.

— President Kenney of the School Board hit the nail square on the head in an argument against "executive sessions" at last Tuesday evening's meeting. It was the best speech in opposition to the antiquated, moss-backed, entirely useless practice by legislative or deliberative bodies that we have seen or read for a long time. President Kenney keeps up with the times. See report of meeting.

— Our former esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. L. Houghton Allen, has left the Grand Hotel, San Francisco, Cal., and turned his face and feet Milwaukeeward, which city he expects to reach about the middle of this month. For the last half dozen years Mr. Allen has been a great traveler in the South and West and there is nothing he enjoys better than to see new and interesting places, scenes, and things in his own country.

— In another column will be seen a notice of the death of the venerable Rev. Moses P. Webster, which was sent in by Mr. A. F. Morrill of this city, who was an intimate friend of the deceased. Some 25 years ago Mr. Webster was pastor of the M. E. church in Woburn and was held in high esteem by the people of that denomination as well as by the citizens of the town. He was an interesting preacher, a faithful pastor, and true friend to eveybody.

— A sewing machine run by electricity in one of the windows of Mr. Moses Bancroft's boot, shoe and sewing machine establishment on the corner of Main street and Montvale Avenue, attracts much attention from passers-by. The curiosity is, it takes so little to run it. Mr. Bancroft attached a wire to one which furnishes his incandescent lights, applied it to the sewing machine, and the trick was done. It runs like a daisy, and besides it does away with the noise of a treadle. It is a neat contrivance.

— The Woburn Free Manual Training School was opened in the Warren Academy building on Academy Hill last Wednesday morning with Mr. Willis S. Carter as teacher of the woodwork, etc. department, and members of the High School as members of divisions. The teacher for the Sewing, etc. department has not yet been engaged. There will be two sessions a week until after the close of the public schools for the summer vacation, when they will occur more frequently. The School bids fair to become a great success.

— Temperance people are not saying much just now, "if Chief McIntosh would do his duty there would be a good deal less rumselling in town," because everybody sees and it is generally acknowledged that Chief McIntosh is prompt, efficient and in dead earnest in the discharge of his official duties towards the rumsellers, as towards all offenders, and his vigilance yields good fruit. Last Sunday the kitchens of Michael Lynch, 314 Montvale Ave., and Frank Maguire, 17 Buckman st., were raided and liquor seized at both.

— Notices were given out some days ago that Crystal Fount Lodge, No 9, would celebrate the anniversary of the establishment of the Order on April 29, the Maynard Concert Company of Boston to furnish the entertainment. The company consists of Prof. J. W. Maynard, blind pianist and vocalist; Mr. Clement E. Coffin (blind artist), harmonica and novel instrumental soloist; Miss Alice E. Maynard, reader; and Master Fred Maynard, bone soloist. The exercises were to be held in Music Hall, and all Odd Fellows and families, and non-resident Odd Fellows and families only, admitted.

— At the poultry show given here several weeks since by the Woburn Fancier Club Mr. Thomas Hartz's coop of Minocuras took the first premium over a large exhibit of the finest birds of the breed in the State. As a successful raiser of plain and fancy fowl of course Mr. Hartz felt gratified to carry off the first prize from so many worthy competitors, but he would share the honors of a premium poultry breeder among his neighbors and to that end he offers to sell the eggs of fine fancy strain, at fair prices and in any quantities desired. People who are looking for such eggs are invited to call on Mr. Hartz at his home, No. 7 Wyers Court.

— The hearing before the Board of Aldermen on the license question last week was interesting and instructive. Mayor Bean presided and gave the petitioners a patient and courteous hearing from beginning to close. He allowed every man all the time he asked for and the Board paid interested attention to the speeches of the gentlemen who made them. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, the champion temperance advocate and worker of this city, was chief speaker, and he made out a strong case against the public bar by an array of legal authorities, opinions of eminent Counselors, and arguments of his own based on the law. Other prominent citizens who spoke on the same side with Mr. Montgomery were ex-Ald. Griffin Place, Hon. B. F. Whittemore of Montvale, Hon. Jos. G. Pollard, Messrs. Luke Warren Fowle, F. H. Lewis, Capt. David Strange, George F. Hosmer, F. B. K. Marter, and George Winchelcelfe. Each of these gentlemen made a good, strong temperance address. They were followed by M. T. Allen, Esq., Counsel for the applicants for licenses, who made an earnest appeal in their behalf. No doubt the hearing will have a salutary effect on the matter of granting licenses by the Board.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

ATR EASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

— A sight of those fresh Woburn-grown radishes, lettuce-heads and other crisp and tender home-made garden truck which is so plentifiully displayed at Durward's market next door to the JOURNAL office is enough to give a poor country Editor the blues. There are no early vegetables for the country Editor. No tender radishes, no succulent asparagus, no toothsome garden things fall to his earthly lot—only dandelion greens, potatoes, and such-like homely, cheap and plebeian spring staples, seasoned with lean salt pork boiled—but why go on in this melancholly, complaining vein? If we take our dandelion greens and boiled salt pork with thankful hearts we may be happy, for "a contented mind is a continual feast," only Durward's show of early vegetables is so tempting!

— After a residence of 17 years in San Francisco, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bulfinch, parents of Mr. Henry F. Bulfinch, the Main street marketman, have returned to their old home in this city where they expect to live the remainder of their days. It has been 10 years since he was last here on a visit, in which period many changes have taken place in Woburn. They will live in the same house on Pleasant street with their son Henry and family. The health of Mr. Bulfinch is robust, and his wife's was good until they struck Chicago when she took the grip and has not yet recovered from it. Mr. Samuel Dolliver, a brother-in-law of Mr. Bulfinch, former resident of Woburn, but for many years a successful business man of San Francisco, and family are expected to get here in a day or two to remain all summer.

— Mr. Charles H. Taylor, 23 Pleasant street, for several years superintendent of the big tannery of Loring & Avery at Winchester, and to continue in the same capacity with Beggs & Cobb at the same establishment, met with an accident last Tuesday which will lay him up for some time. He was removing a heavy desk on a dump cart from the factory to the barn when by a sudden movement of the horse desk and man were thrown to the ground, the man underneath. In the fall the desk struck the right leg of Mr. Taylor below the knee producing a compound comminuted fracture, from which Dr. Frank Graves, who was immediately summoned, removed considerable pieces of bone, and which will probably keep Mr. Taylor confined to his home for some weeks to come. Before Dr. Graves arrival Mr. Taylor had managed to get some splints fixed on his shattered limb, which was a pluckier piece of surgery than the average man would be likely to undertake, and his shift for more skilful treatment was very well done. Dr. Graves thinks Mr. Taylor will get on all right and be able to resume his daily duties in due time.

— If there is anything that the JOURNAL has a very very particular tooth for it is New Hampshire maple syrup on the half shell. The genuine article, hand boiled from the sap of real rock maples, is the kind we go for, while we religiously eschew and utterly condemn a certain article which sails under the name and flag of maple syrup but is made of old boot legs, wrecked hoop skirts, legless and footless stockings, oyster cans, bones, dilapidated rubber foot gear, etc., and sold by Boston dealers as the true-blue to people who don't know any better than to buy it and spread it on to their flapjacks and smack their lips over it just as though it was the juice of the sturdy New Hampshire maple drawn off, boiled down, cooled in a snow drift, and put up in clean firkins and buckets for the delectation of those who can tell the genuine from the spurious as soon as they touch a tongue to it. Of the clear quill, real maple syrup, Mrs. Susan T. Converse of No. 35 Sherman Pl., a lady whose eye and lip for it are unerring, sent a quart bottle last Monday to this office especially for the JOURNAL'S morning pancakes, and the minute it was tasted it took the establishment right back to its boyhood days, into the sugar orchards of Maine, the maple groves, amidst sap troughs, kettles, camps, hard boiled eggs, doughnuts, and a rousing jolly time to boot. It was genuine—Mrs. Converse warranted it—and then, we knew ourselves that no counterfeit was equal to such maple syrup as that was. It was indeed luscious, and we thank Mrs. Converse for remembering the JOURNAL so kindly.

— Mr. Jacob M. Ellis of this city is one of the heaviest contractors for stone work, road and bridge building, railroad jobs, etc., that there is living in this part of the Commonwealth. His business extends all over Eastern Massachusetts, into New Hampshire, Vermont, and other States, and it is increasing right along from year to year. The finest stone masonry on the Boston & Lowell Division of the B. & M. Railroad was done by Mr. Ellis, or his men, under his eye; two of the finest stations on the same road were built by him, and many costly bridges in this part of the country will stand as monuments to his skill a good deal longer than he will probably live. Mr. Ellis employs a large number of men and horses which are divided up into crews and detailed to the numerous pieces of contract work which he never fails to have on his hands. He always uses his employees well; they stand by him; while his weekly payroll exceeds in amount of money that of almost any other business concern in this city. Mr. Ellis is just now making the streets and roads for Winchester West Side Syndicate's purchase and has employed on the job 35 men and 24 horses, and even with this big crew of men and beasts it will take two months to finish the work. It is a large job, and it was Mr. Ellis's experience and superior knowledge of such work that induced the West Side Syndicate to employ him. He is about finishing his heavy railroad job at Lowell, but has many others on hand. Mr. Ellis is one of the busiest men in town, and his son Arthur who is his father's paymaster and general supervisor of his money matters is but a little less busy.

— The girls in Class '91, W. H. S., met a few days ago per previous notice given to canvass the question of dress on graduation day and to decide on what should be worn by them on that momentuous occasion. They were entirely equal to the undertaking of setting a conspicuous example of economy in attire to the "sweet girl graduate" as well as to others, and that duty so far as it related to the next graduation day costume they cheerfully undertook to discharge. It will be remembered that these plucky and sensible young ladies carried their point with the School Board as to what the graduating exercises of Class '91 should be, and having won their case before that august tribunal it was entirely becoming in them to assume dictation in the matter of graduating dress, and they assumed it. The concensus of opinion among them was strongly in favor of something "very simple" in the article of gowns, etc.—something plain, neat, sensible-like, and so inexpensive that every member of the Class might easily procure one. That being the sentiment of a large majority of the girls they proceeded to vote that the graduating dress for Class '91 should be made of WHITE LAWN, cut bias, and be worn entirely unadorned by ribbons, laces and furbelows. The dress must be wholly free from colors, except in the line of a few pretty flowers, and when a decision had thus been reached it was submitted to the teachers who heartily approved of it and commended the young girls on the wisdom they had shown in the selection of their graduating attire. Possibly a very few disloyal members of the Class may refuse to be governed by the decision of a majority, but it is by means certain that any will do so, and, if any, the number will be very insignificant. Thus the matter of graduating dress for '91, so far as the "sweet," etc., are concerned, is settled, and in a very sensible way. Everything will be "very simple."

— The Woburn Press Association, which is a large and flourishing society organized for self-protection and mental and moral improvement, and whose three members are the reporters for the Boston Globe, of the Boston Herald, and the Associated Press, launched their new yacht (built to order at Salisbury) into the clear waters of Horn Pond last Monday afternoon. It was a red letter day for the Association and it also marked with a white stone an epoch in the history of Horn Pond yachting affairs, besides adding a feather to Woburn's cap on general principles. The yacht came up from Salisbury in a horse and wagon Monday forenoon and was forthwith taken to the banks of the delightful sheet of water which every loyal citizen of Woburn loves to honor, namely, Horn Pond. The Association with great difficulty curbed their impatience for the trial trip and could hardly wait until things were shipshape for the start. At last all was ready for the drop of the hat. The Herald's position was on the quarter deck; the Associated Press, in the stern-sheets, and the Globe on the larboard tack. A more gallant lot of fresh water tars never before heroically breasted the gales and tides of Horn Pond or proudly trod a craft skimming her placid bosom. The Association were exhilarated to the verge of hilarity. As the vessel skipped over the bounding billows and sped on under a 6-knot breeze their spirits arose higher and higher. They were delighted with the speed and bottom of their natty new yacht and pronounced her a daisy. In their exuberance of spirit the Globe man arose to his feet and gave three cheers for the Abigail Ann (perhaps this is not her real name), three for her builder, and 9 and a tiger for the Woburn Press Association. Essaying to accomplish this feat in the most nautical manner possible the reporter leaped to the gun'ale on the thumb-hand side of the craft which caused her to run her nose under water instanter. This display of crankiness so alarmed the enthusiastic reporter that with a single bound he landed on the other side so suddenly and violently that, although his normal weight does not exceed a quintal, the shock tipped the vessel and in a moment the Globe man was floundering in the water and "blowing" like a whale. With an ice-hook and a small basket net he was speedily rescued from his perilous plight and as soon as the other officers had got him well spread out on the quarter deck to drain off the prow of the yacht was turned harborward and her nose was soon burrowing in the sands near the foot of Hudson's grove. Great satisfaction was expressed in the sailing qualities of the Abigail Ann by the entire membership of the Association except the Globe man who hereafter when he wants to take a sail on Horn Pond will go afoot.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

A Silver Service.

While Mr. Charles W. Ames was Assistant Engineer of the Woburn Fire Department he was very popular with the men of its different Companies. They thought a great deal of him and respected his qualifications for a right discharge of the duties of the position he filled. It is probable his associates regretted the circumstances which compelled Engineer Ames's retirement from the Department, but they respected discipline too highly to allow of "kicking" to be done: at any rate the boys concluded to present him a fine silver service which idea they carried out last Saturday. There was no formal presentation, no gathering in a hosehouse, no banqueting; the beautiful present was simply sent to the ex-Engineer with the following letter which is perfectly explanatory of itself:

WOBURN April 25, 1891.

To CHARLES W. AMES:—

The members of the Woburn Fire Department wish you to accept the accompanying gift as an expression of their esteem, and an appreciation of your services whil a member of the Department.

Chief A. A. Ferrin, Hose 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and Hook & Ladder, J. W. Shaw, ex-member.
CAPT. CHAS. STEWART,
CAPT. EDWARD E. STOWERS,
CAPT. GEO. H. NEWCOMB,
Committee.

The following reply was received:

WOBURN, April 27, 1891.

To CHIEF A. A. FERRIN:

Members and ex-members of the Woburn F. D.—Your courteous letter accompanied by your valuable testimonial received. It will always remind me of the pleasant associations of the past few years. If our relations and labors have been pleasant, they were largely made so by your willing co-operation and I can only wish that each of you when occupying a position of trust may be as warmly supported by those in your charge as I have been during my connection with the Department. Thanking you for this gift and your words of approval,

I remain your friend,
CHARLES W. AMES.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

Meeting of the School Board.

At a meeting of the School Committee, held last Tuesday evening, it was voted to divide the pupils of the Charles street school into two grades, on account of the accession of 70 scholars. The committee on graduation reported progress in the matter of a speaker. Voted to permit a lecture in the public schools by an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Voted to adopt Cushing's Manual for the high school.

After the regular order of business had been finished, Mrs. Adams called for executive session. The Chairman, Mr. Kenney, thought that in the absence of any specific rule of the board regulating executive sessions, the consent of every member present should be obtained before going into a secret session. Mr. Kenney called Mr. Smith to the chair, and took the floor to oppose Mrs. Adams's motion. He said: "In the first place I am opposed to executive sessions on principle. The people who elect us have a right to know what takes place here. Furthermore, I should never vote for a secret session without knowing the object beforehand. Mrs. Adams does not state the subject which she proposes to bring up behind closed doors. Executive sessions are a relic of past ages, and should never be revived unless for some extraordinary reason. Even then the representatives of the press should be allowed to remain. They are honorable gentlemen, and would respect the wishes of the committee." The board then voted to go into executive session.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

North Woburn.

Mr. Charles W. Newton and family have moved to Marlboro, Mass.

Miss Gertrude S. Watson has been quite sick with the whooping cough.

Miss Mary B. Anderson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Rufus F. Poole.

Mr. A. W. Tidd has returned from Malden where he has been visiting.

Mr. Herman F. Page has gone to Haverhill where he is at work in a shoe factory.

Mr. Harry G. Carter will be unable to attend college during the remainder of the year on account of poor health.

Mr. B. F. Kimball has opened his shop again and it is hoped that the leather business will improve so that he can run steadily.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cameron started for Colorado on last Tuesday, where it is hoped Mr. Cameron will recover his health. Great credit is due to the Rev. Mr. Murphy for his kindly efforts in securing funds to meet the expenses of the journey.

The only food for infants and invalids prepared by a scientific process in which the natural laws and duties of physiology are obeyed and carried out is Mellin's Food. This is the secret of its wonderful success.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,
12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

DRAMATIC.

Friday Evening, May 8,
The Friday Night Club

Will present at the
UNITARIAN CHURCH VESTRY
The new and witty comedy entitled

"A LION AMONG THE LADIES."

CAST OF CHARACTERS:

Ned Winslow	Mr. Clarence A. Pierce,
Jack Morton	E. G. Brackett.
Squire Morton	W. F. Davis.
Jonnie	Dr. M. H. Allen.
Marion Kimball	Mrs. Lottie Woodman-Ham.
Belle Morton	Miss Edia Davis.
Sarah Morton	Miss Annie B. Seeley.
Martha	Miss Alice M. Grammer.

Also, the favorite Commedietta

"MY UNCLE'S WILL."

Charles Cashmore	Mr. H. M. Aldrich.
Mr. Barker	Frank C. Goddard.
Florence Marigold	Mrs. Lottie Woodman-Ham.

Good music between the acts.

Tickets 25 cents.

Entertainment to begin at 8 o'clock.

If you wish to hire or buy a house in Malden, Mrs. C. P. Lacoste, 62 Pleasant street, can show you some of the most desirable.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

Unitarian—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by Pastor. Subject "What must I do to be saved?"

BAPTIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: Genuine Reformation. Communion at 3 p. m. Christian Endeavor Society at 6 p. m. Short sermon at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

METHODIST—At 9 a. m., Love Feast. At 10.30 a. m., Baptism and the Holy Communion. At 5.45 p. m., Epworth League. At 7 p. m., a short Sermon by the pastor followed by Revival Services. Text Rom. V-8. Revival Services Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Singing by large chorus choir.

CONGREGATIONAL.—At 10.30 a. m. the pastor will preach; Communion service at 2.30 p. m. Young Peoples' Meeting at 6 p. m.; at 7 p. m. Evangelistic service. Singing conducted by full chorus and Instrument. Evangelistic services continued Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Singing by full chorus. Solos at each meeting by Mrs Bailey of Somerville.

Married.

In this city, April 16, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. D. D. Winn, Mr. Walter A. Miles and Miss Margaret E., daughter of Mr. Ephraim Weldon, both of Woburn.

In this city, April 23, by Rev. D. D. Winn, Edwin B. Story of Woburn and Nellie A. Field of Stoneham.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, April 23, Edna B. Coombs, aged 6 years, 8 months, 28 days.

In this city, April 25, Daniel Coackley, aged 35 years.

In this city, April 28, Harriet Andrews, aged 78 years 28 days.

In this city, April 28, Alice Hill, aged 1 year, 2 months, 10 days.

In Arlington, April 25, Caroline A. Wells, daughter of William H. Richardson, aged 32 years, 11 months, 17 days.

In Leominster, April 28, Rev. Moses P. Webster, aged 80 years, 10 months.

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves the aid of a reliable medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to serve this purpose. It increases in popularity every year, for it is the ideal spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"My health was very poor last spring and seeing an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla I thought I would try it. It has worked wonders for me as it has built my system up I have taken four bottles and am on the fifth I recommend it to my acquaintances." JOHN MATTHEWS, Oswego, N. Y.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

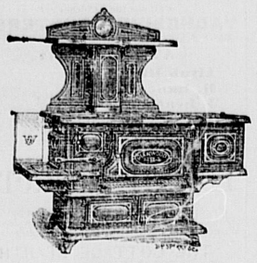
"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me

A New Assortment
— OF —
Scotch Ginghams
— ALSO, —
A FINE LINE OF
AMERICAN GINGHAMS,
At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser
355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,
AGENT FOR THE
Glenwood Cook
— AND —
Garland Oil Stoves.
Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

"Music Hath Charms To," Etc.

Woburn within the last 10 days or so has had almost a surfeit of the best quality of vocal and instrumental music, and evidently it has been greatly enjoyed. The Merchants Day music was fine all up and down the streets and in the bandstand on the Common.

Mr. C. Willard Smith employed Gowing's well known and popular Orchestra to entertain the visitors at his store in the afternoon and evening, and it drew immense crowds too. The music was fine and the people took in big draughts of it with evident delight.

Mr. C. M. Munroe had a German Orchestra from Boston which played all the afternoon splendidly to a "standing room only" house.

An oil stove, griddle, and hot griddle cakes galore were what Clough gave his customers in lieu of instrumental music.

There was a very fine orchestra at Hammond's Clothing store which attracted visitors by the 100s.

Marion Osgood's Ladies Orchestra discoursed exquisite music at the great millinery establishment of Mr. Amos Cummings and aided materially in selling more hats, bonnets, flowers and feathers than the urbane proprietor ever sold in one day before in all his life.

Then the Woburn Brass and National Bands contributed to the grand musical feast of Merchants Day and received therefor a full measure of praise.

The "Il Trovatore" by Mabel Davis and her corps of superb Boston and home artists—it was simply the best treat that Woburn ever had any hand in, either as performers or guests.

To wind up with came the Miles-Morgan concert on Fridry evening at Lyceum Hall. A good house greeted the Company—much larger than ought to have been expected after a whole week of such rare music. The performance was a very fine one and the people present enjoyed it very much indeed. The artists were: Miss Nellie Miles, cornetist and xylophone soloist, Miss Marian Osgood, violin soloist, Mrs. Laura Peasons, flute, Miss Kittie F. Osgood, pianist, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Morgan, soprano, of New York City, Miss Lena A. Curtis, reader, of Rutland, Vt., and Mrs. Annie E. Strout, accompanist, of Woburn, were the artists who appeared.

Woburn Conference.

The annual session of the Woburn conference of Congregational churches was held with the Melrose Congregational church Tuesday afternoon and evening. The conference comprises 21 churches, among the leading ones being those of Malden, Medford, Melrose, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Woburn and Winchester. About 400 delegates were present.

The exercises opened with devotional services conducted by Rev. William W. Sleeper of Stoneham. President Herbert M. Ackerman of West Medford presided. The statistical reports for the year submitted by Rev. J. G. Taylor, gave the following information:

Membership is 4775; absent members, 709 admitted during the year, by confession of faith, 126; by letter, 182; total, 308. There were 87 deaths, 113 removals by letter and 11 by discipline, making a total of 111. There were 11 baptisms and 3779 families represented in the parishes.

The membership of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor is 2035; of the Sunday schools, 5,864; average attendance, 3,675; added to church from Sunday school, 102; contributions for the year for benevolent purposes, $2,627; foreign missions, 4,363; education, $2,108; church buildings, $2,872; home missions, $4,349; American Missionary Association, $1,599; Sunday schools, $636: New West, $903; other expenditures, $9,326; home expenditures, $61,492.

The topic for discussion was "Hindrances in the Way of Attending Church." An able paper upon it was delivered by Rev. J. G. Taylor.

The paper was discussed by Rev. Edwin Smith of Bedford, after which the conference adjourned to the chapel, where a banquet was served.

The conference came together again at 7 o'clock in the evening, and renewed the discussion. Rev. Elijah Harmon of Wilmington was the first speaker, and was followed by Rev. Dr. William Barrows of Reading, Rev. William F. Obear of Maplewood, and Rev. A. G. Bale of Melrose.

The conference adjourned at 9 o'clock, Rev. R. W. Wallace of Wakefield pronouncing the benediction.

Why Will You
Allow your health to gradually fail? If you are closely confined indoors with little or no exercise, and desire good health, you must take care of yourself. Use Sulphur Bitters, and you will have a sound mind and strong body.

IS THERE
Anything Here
That You Want?

Ladies Spring Capes, new style and very pretty.

New styles in Ladies' Spring Jackets.

Black Henrietta all-wool $1.00.

Extra Value Black Henrietta, 75 cents.

Madrass for windows, 25 cents.

Handsome Curtain Muslins, 25 cents.

All colors in all-wool Cashmeres, 50 cents.

Ladies' Skirt Patterns, 39c.

Good Summer Skirts, 50 cents.

Good Style Corsets, 50 cents.

C. Willard Smith
399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The meeting took place on the evening of April 23. The business was transacted without any startling incidents worthy of being embalmed in printers ink, although all meetings of the branches of the City Government afford matter deserving to be reported.

Judge Charles D. Adams was elected City Solicitor in non-concurrence.——The Council concurred in the action of the Aldermen in the order for the purchase of land at Central Square for a school house, and in other orders of minor importance, including the order for a street crossing in front of the M. E. Church. The Council also elected Charles A. McDonald Assessor in Ward Four and W. A. Lynch Assistant Assessor in Ward Four.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a special meeting last Wednesday evening. Mayor Bean presided.

Petitions were received from Cyrus Cummings for a pool table license; John Daley, M. D. Newmeyer, D. J. Cassidy and John Welsh, junk licenses; all referred to police committee; Fred B. Leeds, for liquor license of sixth class, referred to committee of whole, and ordered to be advertised,——Jacob M. Ellis was granted a permit to obstruct Park street.——Joseph M. Gerrish was chosen Assistant Assessor for Ward 4 in non-concurrence receiving six out of seven votes cast.——The Mayor's communication nominating Arthur E. Gage and Elisha F. Hayward as registrars of voters, was taken from the table, and a ballot was taken on confirmation, but as only three votes were cast they we rejected.

On motion of Alderman Dearborn it was voted to go into executive session to consider liquor licenses.

The following licenses were granted: First and fourth class—John Maloney, John H. Connolly, Anthony ... Doherty, Peter Kenney & Co., Connolly & Kerrigan, Thomas H. McGovern, McNulty & McLaughlin, Rafferty & Martin, Samuel D. Thompson, Thomas Moore, Thomas G. Meriam & Co.

Sixth Class—Charles H. Buss, Elmer F. Blank, Daniel W. Kelley, Fred E. Lovell, James Madigan, J. J. Mahern & Co.

[We fail to find the names of Scally, Reynolds ann Meehan among those who were granted licenses last Wednesday evening. The Moreland-ites appeared to have it all their own way and licensed their own men.—Editor.

The moment catarrh becomes chronic it is difficult to overcome. However Old Saul's Catarrh Cure will cure the most obstinate case.

It is hard work for the baby to cut teeth, and it should be assisted by the use of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup which will cool the inflamed gums.

Board of Trade Banquet.

It was an extremely fashionable affair—in fact it was an evening dress parade. Likewise it was a very social party and everyone enjoyed it.

Some of the distinguised people from abroad were His Excellency Governor Russell; President Sprague of the State Senate; Speaker Barrett of the House (both expected); Mr. Adams of Lowell, a member of the State Board, and others.

A very fine supper was served by the well known and everywhere popular caterer Dill, which was done ample justice to by the nearly 200 people who surrounded the banqueting boards.

President Grant welcomed the guests in a happy speech and presided with dignity at the tables.

The Woburn Orchestra, one of the best there is, furnished very fine instrumental music, and Miss Whittemore gave some sweet songs in her customary artistic manner.

After supper toasts and responses were in order. Geo. Russell spoke in behalf of the Commonwealth; Senator Edwin F. Wyer replied to the "Legislature"; Mayor George F. Bean responded to "Woburn"; Col. W. T. Grammer spoke for the Military; Hon. B. F. Whittemore, responded to the toast "The Ladies"; and Mr. Adams of Lowell for the State Board.

The speeches were very fine and appropriate to the occasion.

At 10 o'clock the exercises closed after passing a most delightful evening.

Mrs. C. P. Lacoste 62 Pleasant St., is one of the most successful real estate agents in Malden.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, April 28, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mrs. Mary S. Bent, Box 25.
Miss Annie Finneran, Florence St.
Mr. E. R. Webster.
C. T. Woodbury, Esq.

A. E. WYMAN, P. M.

Bid me discourse, and I will enchant thine ear with tales of astounding cures of all sorts of suffering by Salvation Oil. Price only 25 cents.

An Indian boy wanted to hang himself after seven school girls had kissed him. He didn't for he found they had given him nothing more serious than a cold which he speedily cured with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and then married the prettiest one.

WINCHESTER.

A baseball club has been organized on the West Side.

The Winchester cooking school will close with a public exhibition.

Mr. Jacob M. Ellis has a big crew of men and horses building roads for the West Side Syndicate.

The late R. B. Sticknev of Somerville left by will $1,000 to the Winchester Home for Aged Women.

"Gyp, Jr., will be given here on the evening of May 7, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Strout of Woburn.

Appointments: Engineers of Fire Department—Chas. T. Symmes, A. E. Ayer, John Lynch. Registrar of Voters—P. W. Reardon. Special police, in addition to those already appointed—James H. Ramsdell, Mystic station.

Gen. S. C. Lawrence Camp, 54, Sons of Veterans, have accepted the invitation of A. D. Weld Post, 148, G. A. R., to act as escort to that body on Memorial day. The camp was inspected last Monday evening by Mustering Officer C. F. Cook of Whitman. The camp received a marking of 98 ont of a possible 99 per cent.

The following are the recently elected officers of the Winchester Savings Bank: President, Thomas P. Ayer; Vice-Presidents, Stephen Cutter, Moses A. Herrick, James F. Dwinell; Clerk, Edward A. Smith; Trustees, Thomas P. Ayer, Elisha D. Bangs, Geo. P. Brown, Joshua Coit, Charles H. Dunham, Jas. F. Dwinell, Jas. F. Dorsey, Henry A. Emerson, Moses A. Herrick, James Houston, Stephen A. Holt, Stephen S. Langley, Francis H. Nourse, Handel Pond, Edmund Sanderson, Edward A. Smith, Abijah Thompson, Stophen Thompson, Samuel B. White.

The Town Hall was beautiful in decorations of palms, ferns and flowers last Friday evening, and contained a large assemblage of the leading society people of the town. The occasion was a reception given by the Calumet Club to the lady friends of the members. Dancing to the music of Baldwin's Orchestra was indulged in, and supper was served in the small hall. The Reception Committee consisted of Messrs. Louis Barta, B. S. Briggs, William Keyes and Frank B. Sanborn, assisted by Mrs. Theodore C. Hurd, Mrs. Henry A. Emerson and Mrs. George S. Kellogg.

The Y. P. S. C. E. elected the following officers last week: President, Mr. Eben Caldwell; Vice-President, Miss Emily Rolfe; Secretary, Miss Eva M. Palmer; Treasurer, Mr. W. D. Middleton; Lookout Committee, Miss Josie Quimby, Mr. J. E. Canfield, Mr. A. Gilchrist, Miss Flora Whitney and Miss Cora Quimby; Prayer Meeting Committee, Mr. A. W. Hale, Mr. Arthur Swett, Misses Helen Pressey, Leslie Taylor, and Emily La Page; Social Committee, Miss Katherine C. Lane, Grace Stone, Grace Gutierrez, Emma Greeley and Messrs. Arthur Lunt, Ralph Redfern and Brainard Rowe. Welcoming Committee, W. E. Palmer, W. D. Erskine, Louis Hazelwood, Miss Lillian Richardson, Miss E. M. McElhany.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Feve, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Burlington.

Mr. Hersey seems to have special talents and fitness for his chosen profession.

The weekly prayer meetings at the church well be held on Friday evenings at 7.45 o'clock instead of Thursday evenings as heretofore. Immediately after the meeting Rev. Mr. Hersey will conduct a class for Bible study and all are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. C. H. Hersey began his work as pastor of the church here last Sunday. At the service Sunday morning he thanked the people for the confidence they had placed him in selecting him to be their minister. He said he should discard nothing because it was old and be afraid of nothing because it was new. He did not believe in the theory that the minister should do the work for the church, only by both working together could the best results be accomplished.

When you go to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla be sure to get it. Don't be put off with an inferior substitute. Insist upon Hood's.

FARM PROPERTY
FOR SALE
At a Great Bargain!
The Farm Property on the Cushing Payson Estate in BELMONT, MASS., consisting of large Farm House of 15 rooms, large Farm Barn, Office and Harness-room connected, Dairy, Cow Barn, Piggery and other buildings, all in good repair, together with as much land as the purchaser may desire. This property is located only about 5 miles from Boston, and close to Cambridge, and can be purchased at a very low price on easy terms. For further particulars, plans, photographs, &c., apply to
Payson Park Land Co.,
28 State St., Boston, Room 22,
P. S. The Agent of the Company can be found at their office on the property every afternoon.

WOBURN
Co-operative Bank.
NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.
A Special Meeting of the Corporation will be held in the BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS, Dow's Block, on Thursday, May 14, 1891,
At 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of electing a Vice President, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Buchanan; and to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting.
A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

FOR SALE
HOUSE of eight rooms and LAND.
Apply to
W. H. Slater,
639 Main St., near Central Sq.

FOR SALE.
House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.
Inquire of Wm. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

REMOVAL
To No. 19 Court Street,
On Monday, May 4.
Ready for business May 5.
Annie Vaughn.

The Great Clothiers of New England
ARE NOW READY TO SHOW THEIR
SPRING and SUMMER Styles
— IN —
MEN'S AND BOYS' RAIMENT.
The attention of the ladies of New England is particularly called to our Boys' and Children's Department, which is now replete with all the latest novelities. Special bargains in Kilt Suits, Jersey Suits, Boys' Reefers, Flannel Blouses, Shirt Waists, etc.
Kilts, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, Reefers, $3.50, $5.00, 6.00, 8.00.
Commonwealth Clothing House,
Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts.

TEN TONS OF PAPER.
It takes ten tons of white paper for a single edition of the
BOSTON HERALD.
SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.
The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.
Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Executors' Sale
— OF —
REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of May, A. D. 1891, on the several premises, and at the several times as hereinafter mentioned, the following described lots of real estate, all situated in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," such sales to be made for the payment of the debts against the estate of Abigail Winn, late of said Woburn, deceased; the legacies given by her will; and the charges of administration of settling her estate, viz:

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,829 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Prinitce S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hartly J. Tarr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Tarr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 10' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said day will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about seven thousand nine hundred and fifteen square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the westerly side of Main street, adjoining land of the North Congregational Church, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southeasterly corner of the premises, on said Main steet, at land of said Church, the line runs south 78° west, by land of said Church, about one hundred and five feet to land of the Rumford Association; thence the line runs north 25° 30' west, by land last named, about fifty-nine and eighty-five one-hundredths feet to Minot street; thence north 76° 30' east, on and by said Minot street, about one hundred and thirty-one and one-half feet to said Main street; thence south 02° 40' east, on and by said Main street, about seventy-eight feet to the point of beginning.

At thirty minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about four thousand five hundred and four square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southerly corner of the premises, on said Poole street, at land of James Murray; thence the line runs north 32° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, forty-five feet to a stake; thence north 58° east, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to a stake at land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land last named, forty-five feet to land of said Murray; thence south 58° 30' west, by land of said Murray, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, A. D. 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz:—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

At forty-five minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about five thousand eight hundred and sixty-six square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of said Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz—Beginning at the westerly corner of the premises, on said street, at land of John Connolly; thence the line runs north 58° east, by land of said Connolly, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land last named, fifty-eight and one-half feet to a stake; thence south 58° west, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to said Poole street; thence north 32° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, fifty-eight and seven-tenths feet, to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

Terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.
Woburn, April 30, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.
PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estates of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks, successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FOR SALE.
1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.
Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, }
Municipal Building, April 14, 1891. }

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney and Thomas W. Kenney, under the firm name of Peter Kenney & Co. have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main Street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Meriam and Joseph F. Carpenter, under the firm name of Thomas G. Meriam & Co., have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High st., in three rooms on first floor and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chap. 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin and Michael Reddy, under the firm name of Shinkwin & Reddy, have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main Street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the first class as common victuallers, at No. 3 Union Street, in two rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas G. Meriam and Joseph F. Carpenter, under the firm name of Thomas G. Meriam & Co., have applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers and bottlers, at building Nos. 32, 34 and 36 High street, in three rooms on the first floor, and stock in attic of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Peter Kenney and Thomas W. Kenney, under the firm name of Peter Kenney & Co., have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 443 and 445 Main street, in three rooms on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Thomas Moore has made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors as a grocer, at No. 3 Union street, of the fourth class in two rooms on first floor, and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that John Shinkwin and Michael Reddy, under firm name of Shinkwin & Reddy, have made application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the fourth class as wholesalers, at Nos. 45 and 47 Main street, on first floor of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Frederic B. Leeds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class, as a druggist, at No. 15 Pleasant St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.
DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

CITY OF WOBURN.

OFFICE OF
Sealer of Weights and Measures,
No. 400 Main Street.

NOTICE.

All inhabitants or persons having place of business or who do business within the city limits who use weights, measures, scales or balances for the purpose of buying or selling any goods, merchandise, wares, other commodities or for public weighing, are hereby notified to have their weights, measures, scales and balances adjusted and sealed.

JOHN LYNCH,
Sealer of Weights and Measures.

Bar Harbor, Newport, Nahant, and every other summer place should have the new Portuguese Rush-Chair the coming season. It is novel, it is odd, it will be the fashion. You can see them in our window. $6.50 and $8.00.

Keeler & Co.
91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,
BOSTON.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.
Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at
No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.
Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
M. D. STEVENS.

TO LET
MAY 1, 1891.
Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.
Inquire of Wm. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.
Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.
2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.
Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.
7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.
WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.
E. J. GREGORY,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.
Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR
Best Old Gov.
JAVA COFFEE,
36c. Per Pound.
We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch
Tea and Grocery House,
327 & 329 Main St.
FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,
345 Main Street, WOBURN.
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES,
Slippers, Rubbers, &c.
FULL LINE
Goodyear Glove Rubbers.
ALSO DEALER IN
Sewing Machnes
AND FINDINGS.

G. McGREGOR
FLORIST,
Church Avenue.
Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.
Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.
Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.
PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Ladies, if you would like to get full value for your money call
— AT —
BONELLI'S
22 Franklin St., Woburn.
The following are only a few of the good things to be had:
Cream Albatross, 37½c., Boston price 50c.
All-wool Shepherd's Plaid, 42 in. wide, 45 cents, Boston price 60c.
Steel Gray Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.
Electric Blue Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.
Children's Hose, 25c., Boston price 37c.
Misses and Ladies' Hose 37c., Boston price 50c.

ATTENTION
Ladies and Gentlemen.
Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Burd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Necktics. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.
Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

Mark-Down Sale
On Saturday.
12½ cent Sateens at 7 cents.
50 cent Mohairs at 33 cents.
12 cent Outing at 8 cents.
$5.00 Trimmed Hats at $3.98.
— AT THE —
Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,
367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.
Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.
Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.
C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,
Opposite Central House.

Genuine Bargains!
Always to be obtained by all who are in want of
Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,
For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,
In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.
The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.
All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.
Write for Samples or gives us a call.
The People's Dry Goods Company,
MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the
CASH MARKET,
DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received
In Every Style, Texture and Price,
— AT —
G. R. GAGE & CO.,
FINE TAILORS.
395½ Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
— AT —
DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.
PRICES REASONABLE.
347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Globe Dental Parlors
227 Tremont St., Boston.
GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.
ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.
Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.
C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, D. D. }
DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.
227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

No Strike
At Our Shop!
House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.
Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.
Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.
C. E. SMITH.

ISRAEL OFT REPROVED.

LESSON V, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 3.

Text of the Lesson, Amos iv, 4-13—Commit Verses, 6-8—Golden Text, Prov. xxix, 1—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H S Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

God's love for His people Israel is seen not only in His bringing them out of Egypt and placing them in the good land of Canaan, but also in His sending them His servants, the prophets, who showed them their sins and pleaded with them to turn from their sins unto God (chap. ii, 9-11).

The prophets were in themselves weak and fallible men, but God gave them a message for His people, and they had only to deliver that message faithfully in His name. But there were many false prophets who spoke lies in the name of the Lord and perverted His word (Jer. xxiii. 28-32, 36).

Amos was a prophet to Israel (the ten tribes) in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and Jeroboam, son of Joash, king of Israel. And about the same time lived the prophets Isaiah and Hosea (Amos i, 1; Isa. i, 1; Hos. i, 1). Amos was called to be a prophet while keeping sheep, and the chief place of his prophecy was Bethel (chap vii, 10-13). Israel's sin was that because prosperous they were at ease and indifferent to the claims of God (vi, 1-6); greedy of gain and oppressing the poor (ii, 6, 7. iv, 1. v, 11, 12; viii, 4-6); heeded not the voice of God in judgment (iv, 6-11), and despised the word of God (ii, 4; v, 10; vii, 10-13). Yet He loved them, and bore patiently with them, and entreated them, and kept before them the blessings of the sure covenants with Abraham and David. Read very carefully chapter ix, 11-15.

4 "Come to Bethel and transgress; at Gilgal multiply transgression."

With all their sin they were outwardly very religious. At Bethel and at Gilgal they had many altars; Hosea says they were as plentiful as heaps of stones in the field. But there was only one altar in all the land where, since the building of the temple, God commanded sacrifice to be offered (Deut. xii, 10, 11; Ps. cxxxii, 13), so that all sacrifice at Bethel or Gilgal was simply transgression.

5 "And offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God."

Leaven is everywhere in Scripture a symbol of evil. With the meal offering there was to be neither leaven nor honey, and at the Passover there was to be no leaven found in their houses.

6 "And I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places; yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord."

Observe in this verse and in verses 8, 9, 10, 11, the five times repeated sad refrain, "Yet have ye not returned unto Me, saith the Lord." This shows us the heart of God and His one great longing for His erring people, that they in true penitence return to Him.

7 "And also I have withholden the rain from you when there were yet three months to the harvest; and I caused it to rain upon one city, and caused it not to rain upon another city."

That He would also thus chasten them is recognized by Solomon in his prayer at the dedication of the temple (I Kings viii, 35, 36). Who among us ever stops to consider that when it rains in one place and not in another God has anything to do with it, or that when in one place there is a drought and in another much rain, it is the hand of the Lord that doeth this? And yet if we believe His word we must believe that "the balancings of the clouds are the wondrous works of Him who is perfect in knowledge; who saith to the snow, Be thou on the earth, likewise to the small rain and the great rain of His strength."

8 "So two or three cities wandered into one city to drink water, but they were not satisfied; yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord."

They forsook God, the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that could hold no water.

9 "I have smitten you with blasting and mildew."

This also he had forewarned them of when He set before them the blessings and cursings which would surely follow obedience or disobedience (Deut. xxviii, 22).

10 "I have sent among you the pestilence after the manner of Egypt."

This, too, He had threatened (Deut. xxviii, 27, 60), while at the same time He had promised that if they would diligently hearken to His voice and do right in His sight He would put none of the diseases upon them which He had brought upon the Egyptians (Ex xv, 26; xxiii, 25; Deut vii, 15).

"Your young men have I slain with the sword."

The result of obedience would have been that one would have chased a thousand, and two have put ten thousand to flight (Deut. xxxii, 30), but instead of this their enemies oppress them and slay them.

11 "I have overthrown some of you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and ye were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning."

Zech. iii, 2, Jerusalem is called a brand plucked out of the fire, and in Isa. i, 10, they are called rulers of Sodom and people of Gomorrah, while in Matt. xi, 24, Jesus says it will be more tolerable in the day of judgment for Sodom than for disobedient Israel. By famine and sickness and war and by direct judgment He pleads with them to return unto Him, but they refuse.

12 "Therefore, thus will I do unto thee, O Israel, and because I will do this unto thee, prepare to meet thy God, O Israel."

The long account of love slighted, commands disobeyed, blessings abused, gifts transferred to other lovers, while all the time keeping up an outward profession of devotion, must some day be settled, and now will Israel meet her God, whose most loving and persistent entreaties she has spurned? The only preparation is true penitence and consequent forgiveness, followed by fruits meet for repentance.

13 "For, lo, He that formeth the mountains and createth the wind. And declareth unto man what is his thought."

If it is man's thought that is meant, then we remember that He searcheth reins and hearts to give unto every one according to their works (Jer. xvii, 10; Rev. ii, 23).

"That maketh the morning darkness."

If this had been reversed it would seem more like God, but we must take it as we find it, and we remember that "the Lord hath His way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of His feet" (Nah. i, 3; Ps xcvii, 2).

"And treadeth upon the high places of the earth."

He is the most High God, possessor of Heaven and earth, and does as it pleases Him both among the armies of Heaven and the inhabitants of the earth.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

There is no offensive partisanship in President Harrison's speeches, but he is cleverly contriving to show the Southern people that there is a vast difference between the policy of the Administration as it really is and its policy as it has been represented to be by the Bourbon press and politicians.

SEAWARE.

A bit of driftwood tossed upon the shore;
By wave and rock and sea grown creatures torn,
And bruised sore,
And left to perish as a useless thing
In sight and sound of its own ocean lore,
Alone and lorn!
A bit of driftwood. Oh, the poets sing
Of flowers by children loved, by maidens worn:
But who is there would turn aside to pore
Upon the seatang which the waves do fling
On land galore?
There came that way a savant who had thought
To spend on seeming trifles, for God taught
His heart to find fair Love in Nature's creed,
So he could bring
His great soul to the study of a weed.
He stooped and caught
The ocean castaway in his hand,
And—that it had been formed by God's command—
He found much beauty in it. So 'twas brought
To rest among his relics. None might scorn
That humble thing—
The work of Nature, therefore nobly born.
—Jessie M. E. Saxby in Chambers' Journal.

Personal Advertising.

A popular western novelist remarked the other day that sometimes a fool gets talked about so much that the other fools think he is a great man.

There is something in this view. But it is a mistake to limit the proposition to fools. It is of very general application, and hits sensible persons as well as others.

Some years ago a busy journalist said to a friend, "I am done with what you call work for the remainder of my life." His friend was surprised. "How will you live?" he asked. "By advertising myself," was the calm reply.

And the audacious newspaper man was as good as his word. He sauntered about and the papers began to print little paragraphs about his brilliant gifts and his phenomenal capacity to do anything and everything. People talked about the man, hunted him up and offered him money-making opportunities. In a short time he was making $10,000 or $12,000 a year as a sort of general manager or boss of half a dozen enterprises.

Perhaps it was work, but he did not call it work. He simply traveled, talked and allowed himself to be interviewed. And yet all the time he was putting in a few words for the enterprises with which he was connected.

Without his self advertising he would never have enjoyed such good fortune. Say what you will, judicious advertising will make enterprises and men, if they have anything in them, and sometimes it will float them on the high sea of prosperity when they are altogether unworthy.—Atlanta Constitution.

Very Absent Minded.

This story was told by a woman about her father. He was in his library and his cries brought the whole family to the room. They hurried in and found him near his favorite table, poking under it and around it among his papers and everywhere with his walking stick. When some one asked him what he was looking for, he only continued to poke with his stick.

Finally he turned in disgust and said: "Some one will have to find it for me. I laid it up against my desk. It slipped down to the floor, and I thought I picked it up; but I don't seem to be able to find it now." "What is it you are looking for?" asked his daughter. "Why, my stick, child," cried the old gentleman, "and I don't see where it can be." Of course the stick which he was thrusting into the waste paper basket and into every corner was the one for which he was searching.—New York Tribune.

Reptiles Were Land Animals at First.

"Reptiles as they are found in the world at the present day are but degenerate survivors of their kind as they existed in epochs long ago," said Professor Cope. "The first reptiles of the world made their appearance at the close of the paleozoic period, when the coal was in process of formation. They were all land animals. Among them there were no flying creatures, no marine swimmers, no gigantic types and no especially herbivorous kinds."—Washington Star.

Among the great counties of the Union are San Bernardino and San Diego, in California, which are not only vast regions, but contain a very great amount of productive territory; Humboldt and Lincoln counties in Nevada, which are exceedingly sparsely populated, and Lincoln county in New Mexico, which may some time have a large population.

A wrench, called a sprain, which is a twisting of the ligaments that hold the bones together, shows itself by a great swelling and pain. The way to treat it is to bind the parts in cloths wrung out in hot water as hot as can be borne, or, as in a foot, put it into hot water. Then bind with a bandage to make the joint immovable.

It is commonly believed in England that a good way to get rid of cockroaches is to address to them a written letter, saying: "Oh, roaches, you have troubled me long enough. Go, now, and worry my neighbors." The letter must be put where they most swarm, properly sealed. It should be written legibly and properly punctuated.

The dog in history has frequently served as executioner. From an early period, whether in the course of war or in the mock administration of justice, thousands of poor wretches have been torn to pieces by animals trained to that horrible purpose.

Owing to the difficulties that have so often been found with the closed type of engines for electric light machinery, the English admiralty has abolished them and substituted open engines of the compound type.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nerve Tonic and Alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

The free trade papers pretend that the free list of the McKinley tariff is insignificant, but the fact is that at the port of New York for the first three months of the present calendar year the increase in free importations was nearly $15,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1890, while there was a falling off of $7,000,000 in the dutiable imports. The change will be much more apparent when free sugar begins to enter into the list.

VENEERING MILK WITH CREAM.

One of Life's Golden Illusions Dispelled by Getting Up Too Early.

I can never, never—no, not if I live to the age of Methusaleh—forgive the man who invented early rising. He has done me irreparable injury. He has destroyed one of the fondest illusions of my lifetime.

I had such a good milkman. He was one of the sealed bottle breed. He had the loveliest kind of a red wagon, and he brought our lacteals in beautifully branded glass jars, with the name of the farm and—I was almost going to say the hour of delivery—stamped in the glass.

How I praised the fellow to my friends! I have no doubt that at times I made a perfect nuisance of myself. At the dinner table, if I had company there, I would have Clarissa bring in a bottle of milk so that I could make display of the yellow cream at the top. This was a grievous fault, I own. Let him who is without similar sin cast the first stone at me.

At any rate the milking stool was the hobby I bestrode, and I rode it almost to death.

But one morning I was forced to get up early in order to do a piece of work. Alack the day! I set the alarm clock, little thinking that it was to ring a knell to one of my fondest hopes. I groped my way into the habiliments of day, and with sleepy eyes launched forth into the frosty and lonesome street.

Just around the corner I heard the musical sounds of tin implements striking against each other—the city man's nearest approach to that loveliest of discords, the tintinnabulation of the cowbell's clangor—and looking up beheld the little red wagon of my own pet milkman drawn up close to the curb.

He was bending over some work, in which he seemed to be absorbed, and as I drew near I had a chance to see what its nature was before he caught sight of me.

And oh! what do you think the rogue was doing? It chokes me so that I can scarcely speak the sentence. He was "topping off" milk bottles from the cream can. He was putting that final and convincing head of gold upon the surface of the fluid which I had been taught to believe was "bottled at the dairy."

The same old forehead of brass and feet of clay! I turned aside and wept.

It matters to me no longer what the fluid underneath really was; whether it ever saw a cow; whether it had done service in other capacities—paid tribute to the churn or come in the first place from the pump or hydrant. My bottle of milk was a cream topped fraud, and I had been paying worship to a false and hollow idol.

Henceforth I forswear milk as a beverage, and will confine myself to wormwood and gall.—New York Herald.

A Hint for Reading Clubs.

Let each member write on a bit of paper what book he or she would like to read during the next week or two weeks—that is, between the lapses of the club meetings. Then, when the votes are all collected—for these really are votes—let the book that has the greatest number be the one that is read at home and at the next meeting every member will come with a little notebook in which is written what the opinion of the book is.

Any little anecdote about the characters or the places where the scene is laid, something that has been heard or read about the author, and a short personal opinion of the book as a specimen of good English, as to what its influence would be on the average reader, and whether it is a book that might be called permanent or evanescent. These written opinions should not occupy more than five minutes in reading, and you will be surprised to find what a fund of information is yours when the evening is over.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Wealth of the Rothschilds.

The Rothschilds are believed to have $50,000,000 invested in American securities. Only the Rothschilds themselves know what they are worth, and they never tell family secrets. One of their mottoes is, "Gold never repeats what it sees," and another, "A man will not tell what he has not heard." But some idea of their riches can be gained from the fact that since 1815 they have raised for Great Britain alone more than $1,000,000,000; for Austria, $250,000,000; for Prussia, $200,000,000; for France, $400,000,000; for Italy, nearly $300,000,000; for Russia, $125,000,000; for Brazil, from $60,000,000 to $70,000,000, and for smaller states, certainly between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 more—perhaps $3,000,000,000.—Detroit Free Press.

A Nice Beginning.

A young couple have just gone through the marriage ceremony. On reaching their new home the bride throws her arms round her husband's neck and bursts into tears.

He—What is the matter, darling?

She—Alas! I never told you that I know next to nothing about cooking!

He—Calm yourself, my sweet! you will have precious little to cook, for I am a poet.—Dresdener Frauenzeitung.

A Logical Sequence.

A tramp, putting his head inside the door of a grocery, asked:

"Please, mister, gi' me a piece o' paper to wrap su'thin' in."

A piece was given him; the door closed, but in a second opened again.

"Please gi' me su'thin to wrap in it."—Judge.

They All Failed.

The following letter from Mr. W. A. Thomsom, of Columbus, Wis., is peculiarly interesting: "My wife," says he, "has been treated for her head, stomach and nervous prostration by three doctors in New York, two in Chicago, one in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati, and at the large institute in Buffalo for 16 months. They all failed. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine helped her wonderfully." This should be used in all headaches, backaches, changes of life, nervous disturbances, fits, rheumatism, etc. Ask at Charles H. Buss drug store for a free trial bottle and Dr. Miles' new book on the Nerves and Heart.

If the city could afford to build a bridge to East Boston on the plan of the great Brooklyn structure, perhaps such a project might be favorably regarded, but it is hard to see how a candid man can read the testimony at the recent hearing without seeing that a drawbridge such as is contemplated would be a grave injury to the commerce of the port.

To Give Away.

A boy of five or six years was made happy by the arrival of a baby sister. He had been the only child in the family, and being a good and obedient boy had been humored till he was perhaps in some danger of being spoiled. Before the little new sister was many weeks old, however, Master Fred began to feel that his own position was sadly altered.

The stranger had supplanted him. Father, mother and servants were all the time talking about the baby. There was no mistake; Fred was no longer king.

The boy began to be unhappy, and just then he remembered a placard which his father had put up at a conspicuous point on the premises some months before: "Ashes to give away. Inquire within." Fred had taken great interest in this notice, and had inquired minutely into its meaning. He remembered now that very soon afterward a man called and carted away the ashes.

He had been to the kindergarten, and could spell and print after a fashion. So with such helps and hints as he was able to get slyly from the servants, he managed to concoct the following sign, which his astonished father one day found posted in a sightly position as he came home to dinner:

A BaBy tO give awaY.
INquire of FRED.

—Chicago Herald.

Labels on Trunks.

The labels on a trunk that has seen service would not generally be regarded as things of much value, yet there are plenty of persons who regard them among their most highly prized assets. One day a man who was going on a short journey sought the loan of a trunk from a gentleman who had just returned from a European trip. The owner of the trunk was very glad to let him have it, stipulating, however, that none of the express labels should be removed.

"You see," said he, "it cost me a good deal of money to get those Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna and Rome labels on that trunk, and they furnish me not only a pleasant recollection of my trip abroad, but they also furnish absolute proof to all who may see this trunk that I have done Europe and have seen something of the world. You can take the trunk with pleasure, but I will hold you responsible for those labels." In many cases where trunks are sent to the shops for repairs, instructions are sent with them that none of the labels shall be removed.—New York Times.

The Term Yankee.

There are many different stories as to the origin of the term Yankee. That which is most generally accepted, however, is that it came from the Indian attempt to pronounce the word English or the French equivalent, Anglais. This explanation would put the origin of the word Yankee at a date in the early English settlement of the Atlantic coast of this country. Another theory is that it was a cant word in eastern Massachusetts nearly 200 years ago, which meant very fine, as a "Yankee good cow," a "Yankee good gun," etc. The designation is usually applied to residents of New England. Immediately before and during the civil war it was held to mean a citizen of the northern states as distinguished from a southerner, while Europeans often extend the term so as to include residents of the whole country.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Horrid Looking Pet.

A short time ago a New York merchant received a curious present from Australia. It was a horned toad of an aspect so hideous and forbidding that it is known to naturalists as the Moloch Horridus. The little creature, in spite of its dragonlike appearance, proved to be docile, intelligent and affectionate. As a faster it was a rival to Succi, having passed six weeks of its life going through the mails without either a drink or a meal. "Moloch Horridus" is now an established favorite in the family, the goodness of his heart having shone through his forbidding exterior.—New York News.

Brunettes in the East.

In New York city any one who walks about with his eyes open cannot fail to observe the noticeable preponderance in numbers of brunettes. In both sexes the brunette type of beauty largely predominates, and the women, while dark complexioned, are also quite small and usually of well rounded figures. In Boston and Jersey City practically the same conditions obtain, but Brooklyn has a rather larger percentage of blondes.—A. B. Kardin in Epoch.

The merry antics of monkeys are many and diverting. Humboldt was acquainted with a monkey in India which took delight in riding a pig. Every morning the creature caught one, leaped astride his back, and cling ing there with great firmness took his fill of riding. Another monkey, domesticated by a missionary, used to put the family cat, a strong, good natured animal, to the same use.

An excellent way of testing tea is to put a teaspoonful in a glass of water and shake it thoroughly. If the tea is pure the water will be a clear amber tint, but, if adulterated, strongly colored.

There is a curious grapevine at Habersham Park, Ga. It grows from a large oak tree about five feet from the ground. The tree is perfectly sound and no roots of the vine are discernible.

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles, of Everett, Pa., says: "I suffered for years from kidney and gravel trouble. No physicians or medicine at home did me any good. I finally visited my former home at Rondout, N. Y., and began using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a perfectly well and happy woman once more."

A girl in Kentucky has recovered $500 damages from a steamboat company for naming a boat after her without asking her permission, and they must rename the boat. She took offence at a marine item stating that "Kittie Marshal took the lower chute and run her nose into a plantation."

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Peculiarities of Chinese Gordon.

Conversation with Gordon was not a colloquy—an interchange of ideas. When interested in a subject he talked, and you listened to his monologue, delivered in a low, monotonous tone, without apparent excitement, for he was very seldom animated. The stamp of earnest sincerity and strong conviction was on all his utterances, but he did not care to argue or discuss any question, and you saw it would be useless to attempt to change any of his opinions or beliefs. Nor did he seem to care much what your appreciation of his views might be. On men's judgments he set but little store.

On one occasion when we were sitting together near a window he rose up suddenly and said, "It is rather dark," and to my great surprise thrust his hand through a pane of glass to open the outer shutter—not remarking that the sash was down. He cut his hand in several places, but tying it up in his handkerchief paid no further attention to it, but resumed our conversation, resisting my attempts to see whether any pieces of glass had remained in the hand.

My wife was a great favorite of his, and he would call at Shepheard's hotel to see her shortly before the dinner hour. If engaged in earnest conversation he would entirely ignore the gong for dinner and refuse to dine at the table d'hote with us, but would frequently remain an hour longer, utterly oblivious of dinner and its duties.—E. de Leon.

General Sherman at School.

A man who was well acquainted with General Sherman the other day said: "The things that General Sherman seemed to have excelled in in later life were those in which he was the most deficient while at West Point. During the time he was a cadet he never was selected as a cadet officer or even a non-commissioned officer, as he was never deemed soldierly enough.

"As to the general's standing in his class when he graduated he was seventh in engineering, seventh in ethics, fourth in minerology and geology, twelfth in infantry tactics, eighth in artillery tactics and in deportment he ranked 216 out of a class of 233. Now the idea that a good scholar will not make a good commanding officer is disproved in this case. Had it not been for the general's low average in conduct he would have in all probability been a star scholar; that is, he would have had a star affixed to his name, as the first five men are given this honor. The general's low grade was not due to bad conduct, but to his unsoldierly appearance."—Philadelphia Press.

Taking an Oath.

The topic of kissing the Bible upon the taking of an oath was the subject of a discussion by the Cogburn club the other evening. Nobody seemed to know just why the discussion was started, but several members who have not been heard from lately had pronounced views upon the subject.

One of the members declared that the kissing habit was a relic of an idolatrous age, when men kissed the mouths of idols to such an extent that they wore them away, and it was believed that he who kissed the mouth of an idol and then told a lie would immediately die. Said he: "The practice of kissing the Bible in courts of justice is more than ten centuries old. In every court or upon the table of every justice you will find a soiled book, upon which you are sworn—a book not soiled by reverent hands in turning its pages, but made unclean and unhealthy by the constant handling of unclean witnesses and the contact of impure lips and mouths."—Utica Observer.

Spiders' Webs.

The webs of those spiders which spin snares out of doors, as the geometrical garden spider, are formed of two sorts of silk, one of which is used for the main cables and the radiating threads, the other for the concentric threads. The latter are thickly studded with minute globules of a viscous substance, which retains the fly, gnat or moth that may blunder against them, while the former are quite dry and harmless. A third kind of silk is produced by the busy little spinner when some such large insect as a wasp has become entangled in the web and threatens to break the delicate structure in its struggles. This takes the form of an enveloping mass, which is suddenly produced, and which effectually prevents any further gyrations on the part of the captured insect.—Cornhill Magazine.

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE

Cures Catarrh in all its forms.
Cures cases of long standing.
Clears the nazal passages.
Strengthens the air passage.
Has been used for years.
Is prescribed bo Physicians.
Instantly relieves cold in the head.
Sold by all Druggists. Try it.

$1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00.
Manufactured only by
JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist,
259 Essex St., LAWRENCE, MASS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
L. G. WALDEN
MERCHANT TAILOR,
7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.
PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.
We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.
Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.

The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

SALESMEN — WANTED —

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.
F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

The Line He Worked On.

There is a prominent clergyman in New York who resembles John A. Girven, of Columbus, Ga. He was on his way to Brooklyn bridge when he was stopped by a salesman who is quite near sighted.

"Hello, John," said he, very heartily. "How is business?"

The clergyman, who is about as bright and quick a man as there is to be found in this town, instantly saw that there was no desire to bunco him, and that the salesman was honest in his greeting.

"Well, business in my line is not as good as I would like it to be. You see the devil is firmly established, and he is a hustler. We get no business from him without a hard pull, for he never lets up if there is any possibility of holding a customer."

The voice betrayed the man, and the drummer knew that he had made a mistake.

"Excuse me, I thought you were a friend of mine."

"No excuse necessary, we all make errors."

After a laugh on both sides the salesman said:

"What line of goods do you carry, anyhow?"

"I carry the Bible," replied the unclerical looking clergyman, "and I am trying to run the devil into bankruptcy."

"Oh!" cried the salesman, "don't tell anybody about this mistake of mine, will you? The boys might hear of it."—Dry Goods Retailer and Jobber.

Fashions in Lace Curtains.

Only a few years ago you in search of lace curtains would go into a store and buy either a Brussels or a Nottingham, a tambour or antique. That was the variety. Today the fashions change, as in dress goods. A novelty in muslins is in old gold tints, with different colored embroidery. The effect is very swell. White muslin with chic little figures in colors is catchy, too, and the embroidered hemstitch border is another new feature. The Irish point a jour is an entirely new effect in a lace curtain, the border being hemstitched with a wide "daylight" stitch between the lace and hem. A new feature in muslin curtains is what is called the "Holl" effect, which adds largely to the appearance of these goods.

Muslins with space or slits left through the border design for ribbon to be run through ought to become popular. The color of the ribbon can harmonize with the other decorations of a room and produce a very pretty effect. One of the most illusive, fairy like bits of texture is a white crete, printed in what, for want of a better term, we will say rainbow colorings, of pale pinks, blues and yellows. You see the fabric from a distance of eight or ten feet, and you instinctively look back of you or above for a stained glass window, for the colorings are of that vague, gentle character produced by the reflection of light through colored glass. The colors are of the softest character imaginable, and they run and merge, one into the other.—Philadelphia Upholsterer.

Why He Thought So.

The mingling of all ranks and trades in the territorial militia now maintained by almost every European country is a great source of amusement, because such mixing of different elements is not very common in that part of the world.

It is related that, at a recent sham battle, a young lieutenant, posted with his company behind a wall, ordered his men to fire at a detatchment of troops who were marching by.

The guns were loaded with blank cartridges, and no harm was done; but the detachment happened to be on the same side of the sham fight as the company which had fired at it.

The commanding officer came riding up.

"Why did you fire at those men?" he demanded of the lieutenant, hotly.

"I supposed they were the enemy," said the lieutenant.

"And what led you to suppose they were of the enemy?"

"Because my tailor was at the head of them, and I saw my butcher in the ranks. What else could I suppose, sir?"—Youth's Companion.

She Was Worth It.

The marriage fee often reveals odd traits of character. Once the bridegroom presented to a clergyman a bit of paper on which was written: "A wife is a crown to her husband. If she turns out to be a good one in ten years I'll give you twenty dollars."

The minister pocketed the paper, thinking the woman would "turn out to be a good one" and that the man would never remember the promise.

But time brought a surprise. Before seven years had passed the clergyman received a gold double eagle and a note saying:

"She is good clear through. There is no need of waiting any longer. I ought to have paid you on the spot."—Youth's Companion.

True Politeness.

Mr. Staylate—Y-a-as, I hate those—ah—simple minded country people that show everything they feel.

Miss Westend—It is a mere matter of training. One of the first things I was taught was the art of appearing interested when bored half to death.—Good News.

He Was Too Particular.

Beggar (to Glanders, who has given him a coin)—Say, mister, this dime's plugged.

Glanders (examining it and replacing it in his pocket)—Ah! so it is.—Judge.

A Safe Guard—Always on Duty.

Thousands make a practice of taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., whenever they have symptoms of possible sickness, and through the prompt action of this remarkable medicine they are really never ill. It is a perfect safeguard against all forms of malaria, sick and nervous headache, palpitation, dyspepsia and heart burn.

Here are more fruits of that "odious McKinley bill." A woolen mill to employ from 500 to 1000 operatives is to be erected at Woonsocket, R. I., by English and Belgian manufacturers. Within a month four new knitting mills have been started at Cohoes, and last week six new factories were reported.

It Is Foolish

To send for the doctor every time you don't feel just right. My doctor's bill for years was over a hundred dollars a year, which made a pretty big hole in my wages. For the past two years, I only spent ten dollars, with which I bought a dozen bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and health has been in my family since using them.—ROBERT JOHNSON, Machinist.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main treet?

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES
EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
NONE SUCH CONDENSED
Mince Meat
HIGHEST AWARD
received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.
Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.
MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop'rs, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Your Kidneys are your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest, best and most out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS and convenience to housekeepers. made.
BLUE PILLS
Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! It is your only cure. Sulphur Bitters will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow.
Try a Bottle To-Day!
PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.
A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards Free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
JOLIBER-GODDALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

SALVATION OIL TRADE MARK
KILLS ALL PAIN. 25 C A BOTTLE
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25 c.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

CUT RATES!
— AT —
Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Pacific.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE!
WEAR

M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.
EVERY PAIR WARRANTED $2.99 POPULAR PRICES
FOR SALE BY $4.00 $2.00
M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.
The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.
IVERS & POND PIANO CO.
181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

Gold Silver Bronze Medals
The highest honors have been awarded for these Instruments.
Bay State Guitars,
MANDOLIN'S and BANJOS

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1891. NO. 21.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.
361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.35, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.05, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.48 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.48 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.48 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 6.48 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6.22, 6.35, 6.54, 7.05, 8.02, 9.23, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., *12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, †5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.55, *10.10, 10.40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, †5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.55, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 9.30, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, ‡6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, ‡6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.35, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, *10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10.10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queahey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S,
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH. 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 43 at Office: 4-2 at House.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, - - MASS.

The Woburn Journal

BESSIE'S LOVER.

"You want to hear how I came by all these scars on my face and hands?" said the man, rolling up his sleeves and showing the bare, sinewy arms, marked and seared as with a red-hot iron. "Twenty years ago I first met Bessie Morton. She was going across the clover fields yonder, taking her father his dinner. He was a miner in the works of the great Bergen Coal company, and Bessie was all the kin he had.

"At that time I was young and handsome, and had just been installed foreman of the blast furnace of the Bergen Iron company.

"I stepped aside for Bessie to pass, and lifted my hat as I did so. She smiled—the faintest shadow of a smile, but it made me happy all day. You know how it is, if you have ever been in love.

"Then I did not even know her name, but I lost my heart to her and never got it back again. After, I learned who she was, with the disagreeable fact that Mark Gaillaird admired her. Gaillaird was one of the members of the coal company—a millionaire—middle-aged, handsome and unprincipled.

"It made my blood boil to hear him speak of Bessie in that cool, supercillious way of his in which he spoke of every woman.

"And the scoundrel lit his choice Havana and strolled off to what he called his work, which was sitting in a luxurious office signing checks and reading French novels.

"I had been some two months acquainted with Bessie, when one day I told her that I loved her, and won her sweet consent to become mine. And truth to tell I did not feel quite sure of my Bessie until I had a legal right to her. Not that I doubted her, but in a sort of indefinite way I feared Gaillaird.

"So you can understand that I was anxious to make her my wife, and have her under my own protection as soon as possible.

"One morning eight or ten days before the time set for our marriage, Gaillaird came to the works, and under pretense of looking at the working of the furnaces, he got speech with me, for generally I avoided him.

"'Look here, Gilbert,' he said, 'is this bosh that I hear about you marrying Bessie Morton true?

I answered him cooly:

"'Yes, sir; I am to marry her.'

"He put his face close to mine, so close that I felt his hot breath like the blast of an oven upon my cheek.

"'I love her myself,' he said hoarsely. "At first I thought only to amuse my self, as I had done with a score of silly girls before her, but since I have come to know her royal nature, to know what a very queen she is among women, I have decided to make her my wife. Now listen to my proposition. Resign Bessie Morton and you shall have Hamburg's place at $5,000 a year—the best office in the gift of the company and with that you can take your pick from the youth and beauty of Bergen. Refuse these and I swear to be your utter ruin I have warned you. I give you three days to decide.

"'I told Bessie something of this—making very light of it as I saw how pale and frightened she was, but she clung to me and wept, and begged me not to trust myself alone with Gaillaird.

"'I promised to keep clear of him, to satisfy her, though truth to tell I did not feel any fear of him, for I judged him to be a coward, and hardly believed he had courage enough to lay violent hands on any one.

"'Three days after my interview with Gaillaird I was going my rounds as usual to see after the furnaces. It was after dark, but I carried no lantern—the light of the molten metal made objects sufficiently visible for my purpose. Have you ever examined one of these blast furnaces? They were vast piles of masonry—hollow like a barrel—with a capacity of seven tons of ore. Some of these were 20 or 30 feet in diameter.

"'The furnace was full of ore to within five or six feet of the top, and the intense heat from below was steadily rising, until before my eyes I saw the grayish yellow mass grow lurid red and I knew that it was fusing.

"'As I stood there I heard a step by my side. Some subtle presence told me that I should see Gillaird when I looked up. He was standing close beside me. The sullen red light of the metal played over his face, and showed me the cruel eyes and the white teeth gleaming savagely under the dark mustache. He took a step forward and looked into the seething crater at my feet, then lifted his eyes to my face.

"'"Well" said he, 'do you accept my offer and give up Bessie?'

"'"Never," said I, "I would rather see her dead, well as I love her, before I would yield to a fiend in human guise!'

"'Then feel my vengeance!" he cried, fiercely, and hurled at me a blow, which off my guard as I was, sent me down, down into the mouth of the horrible pit I had been regarding with such feelings of strange fascination!

"'In the brief seconds of time before I touched the red-hot iron, I realized my position fully. I knew that as the ore melted it would sink down, down, down and I along with it, until at last! Oh, Heaven! I closed my eyes at the terrible picture and was hopeless! Only a second the excruciating pains which filled me at the touch of that fiery heat nerved me to superhuman strength. Bounding upward I seized upon a staple set in the side of the furnace to fasten a lid to, and exerting all my power I swung myself upward to the platform, the flesh dropping from my feet as I did so."

"'Gaillaird fell upon me like a demon, and I, burned and bleeding and half dead as I was, closed with him and fought for my life.

"'It was a sharp and frenzied struggle. He had the strength of a madman in those delicate arms of his, and for me it seemed as if I had the power of ten men. One last desperate wrench I freed myself from him and flung him backward. Ah! even now I see his demoniac face as he went down, down into the furnace shouting out against me his dying curse! In a moment I was cooled. I rushed forward—I sought to save him, but great heaven! when I looked into the fiery grave I saw that the ore was all fused and had sunk fully ten feet. And do not ask me to speak of what I saw struggling in the billows of liquid fire!

"'I was found there lying insensible on the brink of the furnace an hour afterward by one of the workmen and for months succeeding I lay on a bed of sickness and delirium. Bessie nursed me through it, and when I was able to sit up we were married.

"'I left my business at the furnace forever—the sight of the place filled me with horror. Did they ever find any trace of Gailliard? Bless you, only a few fragments of bone, crumbled to white ashes by the heat, were among the contents of the blast when the furnace was 'drawn' next morning."

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. E. Lovell, Druggist.

The English Conservatives, in their suddenly-announced free education policy, are adopting their old tactics of stealing the thunder of their opponents. They are in a fair way, however, of getting into an embarrassing tangle with denominational questions.

Tried and True

Friends are scarce, but if you are suffering with that horrible disease scrofula, you will find Sulphur Bitters will cure you as it did me, after suffering eight years, and paying out hundreds of dollars to doctors and druggists.—Jeannette Hanscom, Troy, N Y.

The Sultan of Turkey is reported as saying that if it were not for his duty to his subjects he would emigrate to America.

A WET SADDLE.

Baleful Influence That a Pair of Thin Pants Exerted on a Farmer Boy.

The great farmhouse is ablaze with lights twinkling from every room. Long tables groan beneath the loads of good things the busy housewife has been days preparing.

From the barn come merry voices, joyous laughter.

Let us stand, unobserved, in the open door.

What a happy, merry lot of young folks—stalwart, handsome young men and healthy maidens!

They are ranged round the walls with rapidly diminishing piles of corn before them, which they husk and throw upon the golden heap which is growing in the center.

Ah! That young man has found a red ear in his pile! He leaps to his feet and dashes at one of the prettiest girls! A short chase—a struggle—a resounding smack—and it is over. He has kissed her—maybe on the collar or her back hair; but that doesn't matter; she counts it all the same.

How happy they all seem.

But no. Over there in a dark corner sits a tall, powerful, handsome fellow all alone. He speaks to nobody unless addressed, and then his answers are short and sullen.

Ever and anon he casts a piercing glance at a young man of about his own age who sits at the end of the row opposite, chatting with a pretty young girl. His face darkens. There is murder in his eyes. He is in love, perhaps, and jealous.

The bell rings for supper just as the husking is done, and the huskers jump up and scamper pell-mell toward the house, but the tall, handsome young man remains seated and drops his face in his hands with something that sounds like a sob.

For a long time he sits thus alone; then a light, hurried step is heard, and a sweet voiced girl asks:

"Joe, what is the matter? Had trouble with Mary? You haven't spoken to her tonight hardly. Sick? Better come in to supper. It will do you good, maybe."

"No, sis, it ain't that."

"Tell me, Joe," said his sister kindly.

"Well," he answers, "I've got on my thin pants—I rid Dobbin over—thar wuz a nail or a chafe in th' saddle."

And the stalwart young hayseed Adonis broke down and shed a drenching shower of salt and bitter tears.—Short Stories.

Why the Dog Recognized It.

I called on a certain portrait painter in Indianapolis. We had gone to school together. Since then he has acquired a national reputation as an artist. I complimented him on his life like work. "Yes," he replied, "I suppose it is creditable now, but it was not always so. I remember the first job I ever had. A wealthy lady came to see me and wanted her full length portrait painted. I did the best I could, but that was nothing to brag of. When the lady came to look at the picture she gave a cry of disappointment.

"'Why, that's not at all like me,' she said; 'I shall not take it!'

"I assured her it was a perfect likeness, and declared that even her little poodle would recognize it. 'I am willing to take that risk,' she said. 'I'll bring my dog this afternoon and if he recognizes me I'll take the picture.' Later in the day she brought in the canine, and the sagacious little animal, after surveying the portrait for a moment, ran up and licked the painted hand. My lady took the picture without any further objections."

"But the likeness must have been striking," I said, "to deceive the dog."

"Not necessarily," replied the artist. "I took the precaution of rubbing a piece of bologna sausage over the hand before the dog arrived."—Philadelphia Times.

Poisons.

The most familiar poison is probably morphia or some similar narcotic. Prussic acid is the most rapidly fatal of all poisons in its action. Chemical tests can now be applied to detect with great certainty poison in food or water, and in the body after death. If scientific examination and judicial inquest be possible, almost any poison can be detected after death, either by the lesions produced in the organs affected or by the extraction from the corpse of the victim of the poison itself, and by a study of the properties. As for poisoning being a lost art possessed in a higher degree of perfection by the Borgias and others, that belief is a fancy. The people of any other age could have taught us nothing new in that regard. The poisons of the Borgias would not now be considered beyond detection, or, in fact, at all difficult.—New York Ledger.

Don't Use a Knife on Corns.

Apply to corns and callouses any of the remedies that kill the calloused skin in three or four days and render it easily picked off after soaking in hot water. The toe is usually a little sore after this operation. Apply vaseline for a few days till this inflammation is gone, and then if there is any of the hard skin remaining repeat the operation as many times as necessary until not a particle of the corn, bunion or callous remains.—New York Tribune.

A Mythological Phantasy.

Bright Boy (gazing at the Venus of Milo)—Mamma, was Venus just like that?

Mamma—Yes, I think she must have been.

Bright Boy—And I suppose Jupiter punished her in that way for letting the other gods hold her hands.—Judge.

An eminent Presbyterian divine announced to his congregation that he must take a vacation on account of bronchitis, the elders raised his salary and gave him Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. He was cured.

My daughter suffered greatly with neuralgia in the face and forehead and was unable to secure any relief. I saw Salvation Oil advertised, sent for a bottle, and one application gave entire relief.
J. S. McCAULLEY, (Policeman.)
Residence, 204 N. Bond St., Balto., Md.

A CHINESE VENDETTA.

The Terrible Oath of Revenge Taken by Two Murdered Fathers' Sons.

The vendetta seems to be carried out in Asia as well as in Corsica, judging from the following article taken from a Chinese exchange:

Whether the particulars which we are now about to give are strictly correct or not is more than we can say, but we are content to believe that there is nothing improbable in the story. The recognized eccentricity of Chinese customs is in itself excuse enough for giving entire credence to the singular narrative, the details of which come to us from a reliable source and are as follows:

On the night of Nov. 2, 1886, a Chinese carpenter employed at Mr. Brand's sugar plantation, Shoal Bay, was murdered in his hut. Information was at once given to the police, who proceeded to Shoal Bay, took up what appeared to be the tracks of the murderer, followed them to the jungle, coming toward Palmerston, and there lost them. In course of time the search was entirely abandoned as fruitless, the last act being the offer of one hundred pounds for information that would lead to the capture of the murderer. The murder itself was a most determined one. An examination of the body revealed bullet wounds and knife gashes enough to have killed half a dozen men. At the back of the left shoulder there was a bullet wound bearing inward toward the spine; there was a severe stab on the back of the right shoulder; there was a terrible incised wound behind the collar bone which severed several veins; there was an incised wound and bullet wound combined at the end of the heart on the right side (each wound cutting the liver); there was a bullet wound through the heart, the bullet having gone through the chest, and there was another stab wound through the heart.

From the nature of the man's wounds, however, two things were inferred; first, that the murder was perpetrated by more than one person, and, second, that there was a fiendish desire on the part of the murderers to make sure of Ah You's death. Now comes the sequel. Some years previous to the Shoal Bay crime being committed a certain Chinaman conducted a pirating enterprise on the coast of China. One day while taking out a small boat ing party under cover of respectability, this pirate foully robbed and then murdered the unsuspecting occupants of the boat, and then cleared from the neighborhood. The friends and relatives of the murdered persons searched the coast high and low for traces of the freebooter, but in vain. In the midst of their grief at the bereavement under such circumstances, two who had each lost a father registered a terrible oath to be revenged on the pirate. Accordingly they pursued inquiries with unbroken diligence, and at last learned that the man they were in quest of had gone to Port Darwin, in Australia.

Thither they followed him, and in the quiet of that night at Shoal bay, in 1886, the life of Ah You was taken in fulfillment of the vow of vengeance which had been recorded against him years before on the coast of China. The story is completed when we tell that the murderers, after leaving the plantation, returned to Palmerston and remained in Chinatown until a boat arrived from south, in which they went back to their native land. Such is the narrative as we obtained it.

Runaway Horses.

I heard an interesting distinction made the other day by an experienced driver of horses, not a professional, as to the degree of danger to which a person was exposed from a runaway horse. The distinction made was between the horse that runs away from fright and the horse that runs away because he is out of temper. In the former case the animal is said to be perfectly reckless. He is as likely to dash across the street as he is to go straight ahead, and the only safeguard for a team approaching him is to get as far away from him as possible. But the horse who is the victim of an ungovernable temper has a method in his madness. He rushes straight ahead and is careful to avoid obstacles in his path. Such an animal is much less to be dreaded than the victim of fright, and there is no necessity for taking unusual precautions against a collision with him.—Boston Post.

It Was Not Prolonged.

One of Hartford's prominent ministers was pacing a hotel corridor not long ago when a colporteur approached him with this question:

"Are you a Christian?"

"I hope so," replied the clergyman modestly.

"Hope so! Don't you know so?" persisted his interlocutor.

No response from the divine.

"Well, now," said the stranger, "if a man should strike you on the right cheek would you turn to him the other also?"

"No, I wouldn't if he had as much cheek as you have."

The interview was not prolonged.—Congregationalist.

The Artichoke.

The artichoke has nothing to do with art or the choking of it. The artichoke is an innocent vegetable, known to the Arabians as the ardischauki, or earth thorn. The Jerusalem artichoke was never seen near Jerusalem. Its first name is a corruption of the Italian girasole, which means turning to the sun. It is a species of sunflower, bearing a tuber like that of a potato.—Harper's Young People.

What It Costs

Must be carefully considered by the great majority of people, in buying even necessities of life. Hood's Sarsaparilla commends itself with special force to the great middle classes, because it combines positive economy with great medicinal power. It is the only medicine of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar," and a bottle taken according to directions will average to last a month.

Munroe's Clothing House.

COME AND LOOK OVER OUR GREAT STOCK OF

Spring Styles for Men's and Boys' Wear.

For Variety, Excellence and Durability our Stock is far superior to any shown in this vicinity.

Our Prices Always The Lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Literary Notices.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH for May is a superior number. Its literary contents are finely illustrated, a feature which this excellent monthly is showing more and more every month. Everything appertaining to this magazine is unexcelled in literature and art. We give THE WOBURN JOURNAL ($2 per an.) and THE COTTAGE HEARTH ($1.50 per an.) for $2.00 INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for May opens with the first of a series of attractive papers on The Warwickshire Avon, by A. T. Quiller Couch, superbly illustrated by Alfred Parsons. The Venerable F. W. Farrar, Archdeacon of Westminster, contributes an impartial and appreciative sketch of the origin and work of The Salvation Army. Some of the other papers are, Roman London, ill., Some American Riders, ill., In the Strange Peoples Country, Argentine People, etc., The English Ancestry of Washington, and others.

HARPER'S is sold by the New England News Co., Franklin St., Boston, and by Horton at the Old Woburn Bookstore.

The May ARENA which closes the third volume of this phenomenally brilliant and successful review contains a remarkably fine picture of the Rev. Minot J. Savage, made from a recent photograph of the great liberal divine. In this issue Mr. Savage appears in a debate with Julian Hawthorne on the subject Is Spiritualism Worth Investigating? An admirable picture of Julian Hawthorne and one of Prof. Abram S. Isaacs, are also featuress of the May ARENA. Probably the four papers which will attract most attention outside of the Hawthorne-Savage debate in this issue are those by C. Wood Davis on The Wheat Supply of Europe and America; Professor Emil Blum on Russia of to-day; E. P. Powell's critical study of the political life of Thomas Jefferson and the editor's paper on Is Socialism Desirable?

Buy a Hen.

Too poor to take a home paper. Well, that is a distressful condition. Buy a hen, feed her on crumbs and waste from the kitchen and she will lay eggs enough to pay for a year's subscription; then work her up in a pot pie and she will pay first cost, so the paper will be clear profit. Repeat this process year after year and you will see how easy it is to pay for your home paper.—Ligonier Leader.

The advice of the Leader would be excellent if it was not for the fact that nine out of ten who don't take a paper don't know how to set the hen.—Walkerton Independent.

It is related that Potter Palmer was cunningly duped lately by one of the employes of his big hotel in Chicago. Going down into the engine room he got into a dispute with the engineer, who was quick tempered, and discharged him. The manager of the house not being willing to lose so excellent a man as he knew him to be, advised the engineer to shave off his heavy whiskers, cut his abundant hair, put on his best clothes and apply to Palmer for the vacant place. The ruse succeeded and Palmer, who re-engaged him, says he is altogether superior to the saucy fellow he discharged.

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

REPUBLICAN BANQUET.

The Republicans of Woburn will hold a Mass Meeting and partake of a Banquet on next Wednesday. Several distinguished Speakers will be present, among them Congressman Lodge, ex-Congressman Greenhalge, Gen. J. L. Swift and Maj. Geo. S. Merrill.

Hon. E. D. Hayden of this city will preside.

Sec'y E. G. Preston writes to the JOURNAL that great enthusiasm is felt in the coming Banquet.

A CORRECTION.

These columns contained an editorial statement last week to the effect that a meeting had recently been held at the residence of Mr. Lawrence Reade, at which Mr. Thomas Salmon was a prominent actor, to take the preliminary steps towards bringing Mr. Reade to the front as the Democratic candidate for Mayor of this city next fall.

The statement was made on what the Editor supposed was good authority. This was not, however, the case—the entire story as told to the JOURNAL was without foundation. No such meeting was ever held. True, Mr. Salmon had called at Mr. Reade's residence a few evenings previous on business connected with the Woburn Co-operative Bank, with which both gentlemen are connected, but politics had nothing whatever to do with the call, as we have sufficient reason for believing.

Furthermore, Mr. Salmon and Mr. Reade are both warm political friends of Mayor Bean; they endorse his present administration in every particular; and both are free to say that they propose to do all they can towards his nomination and election for a second term.

The above statement is based on the word of honor of reliable men, and is no doubt correct in every particular.

☞ The Gypsy Moth season is about over, and many of the G. M. Commission are being discharged. The Commission feel great satisfaction with their work this spring.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Caswell—Lacoste.
Cahill—O'Callahan.
Niles—Alaska Ref'g.
No. Woburn—To Let.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
G. L. Taylor—Citation.
C. Cummings—Horses.
L. Reade—Undertaker.
F. A. Jones—Blush Rose.
Charitable Society—Lecture.
Woburn Gas Co.—Gas Stoves.
Standard Fuel Co.—Kem Kom.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Ice again Wednesday morning.

— Mr. William Dean has got home from the West.

— Mr. W. W. Hill has been ailing with a sore throat.

— The Hustlers beat the Leatherses last Saturday 24 to 8.

— Mrs. Arthur B. Wyman is visiting at Edgartown on the Cape.

— The annual inspection of the Fire Dept. occurred yesterday afternoon.

— There are indications of considerable building here in the near future.

— Keep your eye open for Mullett's advertisement in next week's JOURNAL.

— Tickets to the grand Republican Banquet can be obtained of Major Hall.

— The Hustlers downed the Allenvilleonians last Friday by a score of 19 to 11.

— A note from friend Warren Teel of Davenport, Iowa, will be used next week.

— Rev. D. D. Winn's wife, who has been very sick lately, is getting better.

— City Treasurer Buck's son John has been ill for a week or two, but is now better.

— Judge Johnson is at last able to crawl out doors and shake hands with his friends.

— Geo. C. Conn, of the B. & M. freight department, Boston, has returned from the South.

— Mr. D. B. Morrill, the old ice man, has moved back to this city after being away 3 or 4 years.

— If anyone wants to have a good house he or she should enquire at 1073 Main street, North Woburn.

— A fine Wilmington ball last Saturday night attracted many of Woburn's young ladies and gentlemen.

— The May Party of the Ladies Auxiliary of St. Charles C. T. A. will be given on May 20 at Music Hall.

— Collins who bought the Skelton property on Academy Hill has broken ground for a 6-tenement house on it.

— Bro. Nute, the shoemaker over Buckman's, is getting his hand out of the sling that has held it for 2 or 3 weeks past.

— Rain enough fell last Sunday afternoon to give the fresh grass a nice washing and help the foliage to a more rapid growth.

— Communion services were held at the residence of Dea. G. R. Gage last Sunday afternoon by the First Congregational Church.

— Dr. Annie Felton Reynolds of Boston was the guest of her relatives Ald. and Mrs. Jacob A. Ham of this city last Sunday.

— Mr. George Bowers and wife have returned to this city to live. Their residence for some time has been at Barnstable, N. H.

— Our Public Library acts as a magnet for artists. Several from the School of Technology were seen sketching it last Saturday.

— The East Middlesex Street Railroad Co. are talking strong of changing the propelling power of their cars from horses to electricity.

— The new stone railroad station at Laconia, N. H., is to be built by S. S. Ordway & Co., of this city. The job will be a large one.

— Charlie Buckley has a neat store on Main street well filled with tobacco, segars, fruit, stationary, etc., and is doing a good business.

— Last Sunday 19 persons joined the First Congregational Church of this city on profession of faith, and 5 by letter, making 24 in all.

— Weil, Dreyfus & Co., of Boston, manufacturers of men's furnishing goods, expect to open a factory in this city and employ 50 girls.

— Frank Colby, the Montvale newsboy, is smarter than a whip. If nothing happens to him he will cut his way through the world in good shape.

— Especial attention is directed to the announcement of the play by the Friday Night Club which is to be given this evening at the Unitarian Church.

— The Woburn Dramatic Club, under the management of John J. Weldon, gave a fine entertainment in Post 161 Hall last Wednesday evening.

— Lampton Skinner serves James Skinner & Co. at their Boston store and office every forenoon and gives his afternoons to the manufactory here at home.

— The Dow hothouses, under the skilful management of Mr. McGregor and his men, are just now alive with floral beauty. The flowers are splendid to look at.

— Clouds and wind doubtless saved the pear and cherry blossoms and this summer's crop of fruit from destruction. The frosts of Sunday and Monday night were tough ones. There was snow in Vermont.

— Last Sunday illegal rumholes on Wade Ave. and Canal street were officially visited by Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott, and quantities of "stuff" seized at them.

— All the luxuries of the early vegetable garden can be bought cheap at Sylvester's "Cash Market," and spring lamb, young chickens, juicy beef, etc. to go with them.

— The fire which summoned the department on Tuesday evening was a small oil shed belonging to Beggs & Cobb standing in the rear of their tannery near Cross street. Damage slight.

— Mr. Robert B. Eaton and Mr. James Folsom represented Trinity parish as lay delegates to the 106th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of the diocese of Massachusetts.

— Mr. Thomas Moore, the grocer, says that last Monday night water in tubs on his premises froze to a considerable thickness. Tuesday came very close to being a pretty stiff winter day.

— Officer Thomas Mulkeen, the long time Woburn school census-taker, has begun his annual visits on the residents of the city and erelong will give the JOURNAL the exact result of his labors.

— Dr. Murphy of this city and Dr. Winn of Winchester entertained the East Middlesex Medical Society at the Board of Trade Rooms last Wednesday. Hardy of Arlington was the caterer.

— Quite a severe earthquake was felt in this city on last Friday evening, if human testimony counts. It was also felt in Winchester, Wilmington, Everett, and at several points in New Hampshire.

— We are in receipt of the Annual Reports of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society for 1890. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor of the M. E. Church in this city, is a member of the Board of Directors.

— City Solicitor Curran's written opinion on a certain phase of listing property for taxation addressed to Col. W. T. Grammer, Chairman of the Board of Assessors, is crowded out of the JOURNAL this week.

— Rev. Mr. Porter's lecture on "Korea" next Thursday evening will be something worth listening to. Dr. March did not visit Korea with Mr. Porter and therefore has not lectured on that particular theme.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe speaks to the public through the columns of the JOURNAL to-day in a manner that "the who runs may read." Personal examination convinces us that what he says in his card is strictly true.

— Rev. Arthur J. Smith will continue his singing and preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday. He is powerful both in song and sermon. Pastor Montgomery reports a deep religious awakening in the church.

— All but about 20 of the "mite boxes" were opened in the First Congregational church last Saturday afternoon and were found to contain $212, which proved quite a gratifying surprise to the good ladies who have had the business in charge.

— Last Sunday 38 applicants were received on probation at the Methodist church in this city. Meetings are being held there this week supplementary to the revival meetings of Dr. Munhall, at which Rev. Mr. Smith of Philadelphia is the preacher.

— Editor John L. Parker and Madame Parker, people well and favorably known in this city, have made arrangements to feed the W. H. S. B. who attend the annual muster of the Second Mass. School Regt., to-morrow at Lynn, which shows that they are kindhearted and still remember their old Woburn home.

— As strange as it may seem and as incredulous as some people will be about it, the fact remains all the same that quite a heavy frost was seen on the ground, fences, trellises, etc., in this city on last Monday morning. How much the earthquake (?) of last Friday evening had to do with it we are unable to say.

— Cushing's Manual, the best authority in the world on parliamentary law, is used as a text-book in our High school. But, for the Land's sake, what have our public schools got to do with parliamentary law? Better give the boys and girls a little better acquaintance with the "3 Rs" before cramming them with Cushing's Manual.

— About 11 o'clock Wednesday a. m. Mr. John Curley of Harrison Ave. was driving along Pleasant st. and when turning the corner at the Baptist church, his horse becoming unmanageable, he fell on the stone crossing and broke one of his hip bones. Dr. Harry Blake was called who attended to the injury and then ordered him to the Mass. Gen. Hospital.

— Rev. Mr. Beach of Cambridge, preached at the Congregational Church on Tuesday night; Dr. Arthur Little of Dorchester, on Wednesday night; Rev. Mr. Newton of Winchester will preach this Friday night. Mrs. F. W. March addressed the Ladies' Missionary Society last evening. The preaching was with power and a strong revival spirit was manifest.

— The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall on the afternoon of Friday, May 15, at 3 o'clock. Miss Antonia Maury, a graduate of Vassar, teacher of sciences in Prof. Gilman's school in Cambridge, and assistant to Prof. Pickering in the astronomical department at Harvard College, will lecture on "Lookout Towers of Astronomy."

— Modern Democracy has no attractions for Mr. L. W. Cooper of 30 Union street, this city. He can't fellowship with anything that has a tincture of it in its composition, so when he runs across a good, hot basting of it in the newspapers it pleases him. Thus it comes about that the Taunton Gazette is a favorite daily of Mr. Cooper's, and why the Editor of the JOURNAL gets a copy of it once in a while.

— Waldon, tailor, whose place is on Walnut street, just off Main, is a master hand at making gent's old suits look better than new ones. He will take a coat, vest or pair of trousers that look almost bad enough to go into the Home Missionary box and put them through a rejuvinating process that makes them look just as nice as new and will wear full as well. Mr. Waldon is worthy of public patronage and we hope he will get a plenty of it.

— Mr. J. W. Hammond and wife have returned from a protracted visit in Florida and other Southern sections very much improved in health and physical vigor. They made a long absence of it but report an exceedingly pleasant winter and spring in that delightful "land where the cypress and myrtle," and oranges, and crocodiles and such like novelties abound, and much enjoyment ever since they left home. The JOURNAL welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Hammond to Woburn again.

— Not only are the members of the Woburn Press Club tars, but where can anybody be found who can ride a bicycle in a more graceful fashion than they? They are expert wheelmen, to keep up with whom in a race professionals would have to hump themselves big. In knickerbockers, beach shirts, tanned colored low cut prunellas, and yellow and white striped headgear, they are as dashing and handsome a crowd of fellows as were ever seen spinning along the streets of this town on a bicycle.

— Miss Maud Ronco is successfully teaching pupils on the violin at her home on Sturgis st. and would like to secure a few more for her spring class. Having been a student of Henry Hendl, the celebrated Boston violinist for several years she has become a proficient on the instrument and is not only a fine player but a careful and efficient teacher. Miss Maud makes easy terms for lessons and those who contemplate learning the violin cannot do better than to call and consult her at the residence of Mr. David Ronco on Sturgis st.

— Mr. Charles Cummings is doing a big stroke of business in Canadian horses this spring, having sold two car-loads within as many weeks and waiting for the third one to come next Wednesday. It does not take him long to rush off a car-load of such horses as he imports for he makes hard-pan prices and gives "the best" for the money. Next Wednesday he will unload as fine a bunch of roadsters, workers and general utility horses as ever struck Woburn, which can be seen at Mr. Cummings's farm, No. 35 Cambridge st., this city.

— At the regular monthly meeting of the Co-operative Bank which will occur on next Thursday evening, May 14, there will be offered for sale, so Treasurer Whitcher informs the JOURNAL, $3000, to purchase which a plenty of people probably stand ready. The Treasurer further says that every one of the 400 shares of the 9th series has been sold; and also that there was a net gain of the Bank's membership during the month of April last of 37, the total number of shareholders being at the present time 420. These figures indicate a very successful financial career from its organization to the present time, due entirely to the excellent practical manner in which it has been managed.

— The floral procession and exercises of the pupils of St. John's Parochial School at St. Charles church last Sunday afternoon was a very pretty affair indeed. The juvenile procession marched from the school-rooms to the church where the boys and girl, paraded in the isles, presented a nice appearance. Rev. Fr. Slattery delivered an appropriate address, there were recitations by pupils, fine music, and a march back to the school. The rain was a little against the children but they had a nice time nevertheless. The school gave a May-day party on the Friday previous and enjoyed it very much. The teachers know how to interest their pupils and make them happy.

— Once A Week for May 5 contains a portrait and biographical sketch of Mrs. Hannah Winship Boutelle of Defiance, Ohio, who was 100 years old on March 25 last. She was born in Woburn, Mass., and her maiden name was Hannah Winship. She married John Boutelle on Oct. 21, 1812; they moved to Little Valley, N. Y., in 1833; to Atlanta, Ga., in 1855, where Gen. Sherman left them unmolested on account of their loyalty to the old flag. Mr. Boutelle died in 1865, soon after which the subject of the sketch moved to Ohio and has lived there ever since. What Woburn people know anything of Hannah Winship, or John Boutelle?

— Mr. John R. Carter and wife returned from their Western trip last Friday night, as previously announced in the JOURNAL, and proceeded to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hill, No. 3 Prospect street, where it was their purpose to remain until their future residence on Winn street was got into proper condition for their reception and occupation. They had been away several months during which period they visited many interesting sections of the Union, including Texas and other Southern States, many points of note on the Pacific coast, spending considerable time in the chief cities of California. They enjoyed the journey through and amid new scenes and their protracted visit on the other side of the Rocky Mountains very much. We have heard that Mr. and Mrs. Carter were favored with excellent health while away and that nothing occurred to seriously interrupt a cantinuous season of great pleasure and enjoyment. Many friends gave them a warm welcome on their return to this city.

— The JOURNAL has more than once or a half dozen times asked the manufacturers of this city whose counting-rooms are in Boston and who consequently buy their postoffice supplies in that city to consider for a moment how much they might add to the revenues of their home office and thus indirectly benefit the city by taking their post-office patronage from Boston and giving it to Woburn. Doing a large business the amount of supplies which our manufacturers buy during the year is represented by big figures. Alone it would make a very pretty plum for the incumbent of our office; and not only in this light had the matter ought to be viewed, but local pride and loyalty to the old town and new city ought to induce every inhabitant to patronize home institutions and industries, and especially the home postoffice. It is more than probable that if our manufacturers whose stores and counting-rooms are in Boston would stop and think of this thing for a moment they would withdraw their patronage from Boston and bestow it when it legitimately belongs. They mean all right but don't think about it. Will they not turn the matter over in their minds and change their present practice in this respect?

— A few words on the subject of gas stoves for domestic use may not be out of place in this issue of the JOURNAL as a companion-piece to what Mr. Monks, the Treasurer of the Woburn Gaslight Co., has taken a whole column to say on the subject. It does not require any more elucidation than that afforded by Mr. Monks's contribution, especially when the splendid backing he has from the ladies of Woburn is taken into account. The people whose names are attached to the certificate commending the gas stove for household purposes are intelligent and honest, therefore the facts they recite can be relied on as perfectly straight and correct. The consideration that deters many people from ordering of the Woburn Gaslight Co. a gas cooking stove is the cost of running it. This oughtn't to be so, for the cost is extremely low and the addition which it makes to the regular gas bill for illumination is hardly felt by those who use the stoves. In the summer season, for cooking, heating water, ironing and other such purposes, the use of the gas stove costs less than that of the range. Even in the winter, when the kitchen fire is always going, the thrifty housewife frequently employs the gas stove in preparing breakfast and tea. After using it one is really surprised to find out how cheap it is to run it, and how much more satisfactory in every respect it is than they had any idea of.

Mothers and nurses should always remember that disappointment never attends the use of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price only 25 cents.

No wonder people say the climate is changing, with all the queer weather we are having lately, and to be free from catarrh is a privilege. We have, however an excellent remedy for this ailment, Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

I. O. O. F.

Last Wednesday morning when the 9 o'clock train arrived here from Boston wonder and surprise on our streets was caused by the great influx of fine looking ladies wearing unfamiliar faces and evidently attired in holiday garbs who were soon seen wending their way in bevies, groups, small knots, pairs and singly towards Lyceum Hall, through the portals of which edifice they were soon lost to view. The cause of this extraordinary inflow of ladies was the holding of the 11th Conference of the Daughters of Rebekah, to attend which delegates came from almost everywhere. It was said to have been a very satisfactory gathering.

The exercises were varied and entertaining, consisting in part of: Introduction of Grand Officers and Guests; Welcome by Augusta Corbett in behalf of Hope Lodge; stirring Speeches; election of Officers; Exemplification of Work, Music, etc. Mrs. Sarah A. Woodside contributed two appropriate Odes, and Hardy of Arlington provided a fine supper for all hands.

General Muster.

To-morrow will be general muster day at Lynn of the Second Mass. School Regiment to which the W. H. S. B. belong, at which a great military display and grand time are confidently looked for. A committee from the Woburn City government, all or a part of the School Board, Drill-master Mendum, many relatives of the boys, base-ball clubs, and citizens generally will attend if the weather is propitious, and they will go with the expectation that our own Battalion will carry off the grand prize. The boys have been successful in securing funds from exhibition drills etc. to defray their expenses for the Lynn field-day, but a little more money would be found very handy by them therefore it wouldn't be a bad plan at all for the people to chip in and give them a pecuniary lift. The Battalion is a credit to our High School and city, and it is clearly a duty of the public to give them aid and assistance as the same may be needed. The boys ask no odds of anybody on this score, being self-reliant and self-supporting, but let it be remembered that a boost now and then wouldn't hurt them any.

Board of Trade.

The following sub-committees have been appointed: Membership, Alexander Grant, F. H. Lewis, Frederick A. Flint, Winthrop Hammond, Horace N. Conn, Charles M. Strout, Fred J. Briggs; Finance, Joseph B. McDonald, Winthrop Hammond, George Buchanan; Business, Horace N. Conn, Lawrence Reade, Charles E. Eaton, A. N. Webster, George F. Hosmer, E. B. Parkhurst, Fred E. Lovell; Printing, Fred H. Lewis, G. F. Hosmer, W. N. Titus; Legislation, W. N. Titus, James Skinner, Alexander Grant, J. I. Monroe, John G. Maguire; Public Improvements, B. F. Whittemore, C. M. Strout, J. M. Ellis, C. F. Jones, A. B. Wyman, A. W. Whitcher; H. L. Richardson; Railroads and Transportation, James Skinner, F. H. Lewis, J. B. McDonald, George Buchanan, A. Grant; Lective, A. Grant; S. F. Trull, H. W. Deans, Dr. C. E. Chase.

The matter of incorporation was referred to another committee.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

The Banquet.

The history of the Woburn Board of Trade for 1890-'91 closed on last week Thursday night in a blaze of glory. In other words, it ended with the finest party, best music, more inviting banquet, and happier social intercourse, not to mention the speeches, than the Board has ever before given or enjoyed.

The management of the closing ceremonies of the official year, including the welcoming speech and presiding at the annual banquet, always devolves on the retiring President, and it was observed by everyone how gracefully ex-President George Buchanan discharged the delicate duties of the position, and how easy and at-home-like he made everybody feel. The functions of the new presiding officer were likewise well performed by Mr. Alexander Grant.

Mayor Bean's after-dinner speech was a happy oratorical effort. He is a very pleasant talker on such occasions—bright, lively and interesting. The speeches were all good, to the point, and entertaining, and none more so than Gov. Russell's, and Pres't Buchanan's. Rev. H. C. Parker of the Unitarian church conducted the religious exercises. Miss Grace Whittemore of Ashley Hall sang some songs sweetly, and Prof. F. H. Lewis's performances on the pianoforte added much to the postprandial enjoyments. Of course, as the best wine needs no bush neither is it necessary to say that the Woburn Orchestra contributed much to the pleasure of the occasion. Dr. George H. Clarke, a member of the famous Ruggles Street Male Quartet, rendered "The Old Street Lamp" most charmingly.

Thus everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner to everyone connected with the Banquet and as we said before, the history of the Board for 1890-91 closed in a blaze of glory.

The following were some of the prominent citizens present:

President Buchanan, and wife, Mr. L. Thompson and wife, Col. W. T. Grammer, Mr. E. F. Blank and wife, Mr. J. Skinner and wife, Mr. S. W. Mendum, Maj. Ambrose Bancroft, Mr. C. D. Adams, Alderman Pushee and wife, Mr. Clarence A. Pierce, Miss Pushee, Mr. D. W. Brown, and wife, Alderman Davis and wife, Mr. J. F. Ramsdell and wife, Miss Edith Ramsdell, Mr. M. Bancroft and wife, Alderman Ham and wife, Mr. W. Hammond and wife, Mr. Elmore A. Pierce, Mr. Frank B. Dodge and wife, Dr. D. F. Murphy, Mr. P. J. Goodrich, Mr. Herbert I. Richardson, Mr. G. Kimball, Dr. Conway and wife, Mr. F. H. Lewis, Mr. E. B. Parkhurst and wife, Mr. E. J. Gregory, Mr. F. E. Lovell, Mr. B. F. Whittemore and wife, Mr. H. N. Conn and wife, Miss Whittemore, Mr. George Hudson, Mr. R. P. Turnbull, Mr. F. H. Elliot and wife, Judge Converse and wife, Dr. Chase and wife, Mr. C. H. Delano, Mr. Chas. Fitz, Dr. J. H. Hutchings, Miss Mamie Parker, Dr. Springer, Mr. John C. Nichols, Mr. M. Hayward and wife, Senator Wyer and wife, Mr. A. V. Haynes and wife, Mr. F. C. Nichols and wife, Mr. F. E. Wetherell and wife, Mr. W. J. Delorica, Miss Delorica, Mr. Frederic A. Flint, Dr. Scantlebury, Mr. M. J. Walsh and wife, Mr. S. Horton and wife, Mr. C. M. Munroe and wife, Mr. W. W. Hill, and wife, Mr. Thomas Salmon, Dr. Chalmers and wife, Mr. E. A. Dow and wife, Mr. R. Duncan and wife, Mr. E. C. Cottle and wife, Mr. C. M. Strout and wife, Mr. Fred McDonald, Rev. Henry C. Parker, Mr. R. Carton and wife, Rev. Hugh Montgomery and wife, Dr. James Madigan, Mr. E. C. Colman and wife, Mr. Alex. Grant, Mr. Thomas Cannon, Mr. George Hartshorn, Mr. J. Lynch and wife, Councilman O'Donnell, Dr. Blake and wife, Mr. H. Deans, Mr. Fish, Mr. L. A. Sylvestor, Mr. A. R. Linscott, Mr. John Brauer, Mr. John Duncan, Jr., Miss Duncan, Mr. James M. Kimball, Mr. Albert F. Converse, Mr. James Marrinan, Mr. A. N. Webster and wife, Mr. P. McGowan and wife.

A call on Mrs. C. P. Lacoste 62 Pleasant street will result in seeing some of the best property in Malden, either for rent or for sale.

Kem Kom—The Coal Saver.

We have received a copy of a pamphlet issued by the Standard Coal and Fuel Company of Boston, setting forth the wonderful qualities of this chemical compound prepared and sold by them, to wit:

It saves twenty-five per cent of the coal.

It makes a quick, ready fire with any kind of coal. It reduces the quantity of ashes and dust, and consumes the soot and smoke.

It will cause a furnace to give more heat with the dampers closed than with them open.

It destroys all poisonous coal gasses, and protects the family of the consumer against all diseases of the throat, lungs, headache, etc., which are occasioned by such gases.

This compound is now in use on the New York & New England Railroad upon all their locomotives, and the superior qualities claimed for it are fully sustained by those who have used it. One barrel of this compound, containing four hundred pounds, costs twenty (20) dollars, and when used under the most favorable conditions will effect a saving of $125. Mr. Herbert Radclyffe, the former Secretary of the Home Market Club, is the agent for this preparation. He regards Kem Kom as capable of rendering the greatest possible service to all consumers by reducing their coal bills.

Those interested should write to him, Agent Standard Coal and Fuel Co., Equitable Building, Boston.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

Dr. Munhall's Meetings.

After a preaching, praying and exhorting service of nearly two weeks at the Methodist and Congregational churches in this city, Dr. Munhall of Philadelphia, the eminent evangelist and (under God) successful revivalist, closed his meetings on last Friday evening and departed on Saturday for new and more promising fields for evangelistic work. He left just at the moment when, to all human appearances, a great reformation was all ready to burst forth, and although he felt that such was the fact, and although he would have been glad to have remained a week longer, there were reasons (which ought not to have existed) which compelled him to leave when he did. Of course, Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, the sweetest and best revival singers ever heard anywhere, went with the Doctor.

But Dr. Munhall's mission here was very far from being a failure. There was a great deal more accomplished by his labor than was generally imagined because so little hue-and-cry was indulged in over the many souls saved. In all, 160 persons arose in the meetings, proclaimed their desire and intention of becoming Christians, gave in their names for record, and designated the church which they preferred to become members of. Many others solicited the prayers of Christians. Now, we suppose anyone who has got real, genuine religion in his heart will not hesitate to say that the winning of only one soul to Christ would be worth a million times more than Dr. Munhall's and Mr. and Mrs. Lowe's services cost here. The value of one human soul can't be measured in dollars and cents, and yet under Dr. Munhall's preaching, praying and exhorting during the two weeks he was here, supplemented by the gospel songs of the Lowes, 160 people were converted and that number of souls saved! It was mete then that the Christian people in the Woburn churches should adopt the following resolution when the evangelists left here last Friday night:

Resolved, That the thanks of the committee and of the united churches are tendered to Dr. L. W. Munhall and Mr. and Mrs. Lowe for their labors with us for the past two weeks. While parting with them with regret, we desire to record our appreciation of Dr. Munhall as a faithful soldier of Jesus Christ, whose clear interpretation of Scripture, and whose marvellous familiarity with its word and truth, have been a delight and a refreshment to our souls. The tender spiritual songs of Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, and their devotion in service in behalf of the children, have greatly endeared them to us, and we wish for all these servants of God a great and increasing success in their work, and an abundant entrance into the heavenly kingdom.

The Woman's Club.

Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs of Andover lectured before the Woburn Woman's Club on Friday afternoon, May 1. Her subject, "A Tour in Kentucky including Mammoth Cave," was presented in her own delightful way and it contained much valuable information. In the mountains of Kentucky yet exist heroes and heroines of unwritten books. Mrs. Downs's descriptions of Louisville, of Ashland—the home of Henry Clay; of Lexington—named in honor of that town where was shed the first blood of the American Revolution; of Frankfort—full of memories of Aaron Burr—were graphic. The schools for the colored people of Kentucky are commendable institutions.

In Kentucky the colored people and the white people occupy the same cars, attend concerts in common, and the privileges granted the colored people are almost as many as the white people enjoy. Her curiosity to visit the Mammoth Cave was stimulated by the many inquiries concerning it she received while traveling abroad, from Europeans who evince as much interest in this cave, in Plymouth Rock, and in Niagara, as we do in the Alps. The hotel for tourists is built over a portion of the cave and is in every way uncomfortable. The guides are many and they present a pitiful sight wound about with rags and tatters. Mammoth Cave is situated almost close to the Tennessee line and it is thought to be the largest of the five hundred caves in close proximity. The Cave was discovered in 1809, all by chance. As a Mr. Hutchings was in hot pursuit of a bear he came upon the cave which he purchased for forty dollars. This cavern contains three hundred and fifty explored passages and it has two hundred and fifty miles of dark avenues. Here has preached Henry Ward Beecher, here is a Washington Hall—so named by Lafayette; here has burst into song the voice of Jenny Lind, and many other people of note have rejoiced in the wonders of the Cave and increased its fame.

In this Cave a young man was lost, who was discovered after three days so exhausted bodily and disturbed mentally that he passed the rest of his life in an asylum for the insane. There is little danger now of being lost for strict precaution is taken to prevent accidents. In summer and in winter the temperature is 55 degrees. A curtain of mist—the result of the difference in temperature between the cave and the outside world—is drawn over the inside entrance. In form, the cave resembles a large winding river that is constantly being fed by tributaries which in turn are fed by creeks and brooks of varying lengths.

The Star Chamber is a chamber of wonders; its ceiling seemingly studded with brilliant stars is a most exquisite optical illusion caused by the white efflorescence of sulphate of soda.—G. M. B.

Will Not be Reinstated.

Capt. William C. Parker of Company G, 5th Infantry (Mechanic Phalanx), of this city, has received the following:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
May. 2, 1891.

Dear Sir: I am directed to inform you that the petitioners before the recent hearing by the Judge Advocate-General have been notified by the Commander-in-Chief that, upon the report of the Judge Advocate-General in the hearing referred to, he can see no reason for any action on his part. Respectfully, SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant-General.

The petitioners were William J. Brown, James Durward, Neil McColgan, three prominent young men and active members who had been discharged by Capt. Parker who requested a hearing and asked to be reinstated.

Capt. Parker says the hearing has covered a period of about two months, and a large number of witnesses have been examined.

For more than a year there has been trouble in the ranks of the Company, and considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting new men to enlist.

The time of ten men will expire before muster, which will occur July 21, and it is said that several members of the Company are talking strongly of joining the Stoneham Company.

It is hoped that Company G will again fall in line with the first-class Companies of citizen soldiery and continue to be the pride of our people as it has been for so many years.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

A Reception and Banquet.

Capt. Luke R. Tidd was very pleasantly remembered last Monday evening by his comrades of Company K, 39 Massachusetts Infantry, the occasion being his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary. It took place at Grand Army hall.

There were present beside Captain Tidd, his friend, the historian of the 39th Regt. Captain Charles H. Porter, ex-Mayor of Quincy; Oscar Persons of Hudson; Ferdinand Spokesfield, Plymouth, N. H.; William P. Brown, Cambridgeport; Charles H. Colgate, Somerville; Joseph W. Garfield, Lynn; Albert S. Leslie, Boston; Micah B. Baldwin, Stoneham, and the following named residents of Woburn: Albert P. Barrett, Alonzo D. Carpenter, Charles K. Conn, Parker L. Eston, George E. Fowle, John Gilcreast, Charles H. Johnson, Andrew R. Linscott, William H. LeBaron, J. Fred Leslie, Timothy Mahoney, Rufus F. Poole, T. Marvin Parker, Newall Z. Tabor, Abijah Thompson, William P. Warren, William Arnold; and Elmore A. Pierce, George S. Hudson, Frank D. Wetherell, press representatives.

For nearly an hour the party divided itself into groups and talked of old times, and at 8 o'clock they set down to a banquet provided by Caterer Gooding.

This was satisfactorily disposed, when Comrade Abijah Thompson who presided, called the party to order, spoke a word of welcome, and, after referring happily to the guest of the evening, introduced Comrade Porter, who explained some of the details of the war, and answered numerous questions.

Comrade Andrew R. Linscott was called on and taking position at the side of Capt. Tidd addressed him, referring to the experiences of the war, and alluding to the fact that the guest always had the affections of his command.

He then presented him a beautiful gold headed cane, suitably inscribed, the gift of members of his Company.

Capt. Tidd in responding said he was pleased to know that he had the confidence and respect of those who knew him so well as did his comrades in arms. The cane was to him a great surprise and he should use it in a practical way as he was now quite lame, the result of injuries in the service. He thanked all who had contributed in the least to the pleasure of the occasion.

Comrade George E. Fowle developed war reminiscences which elicited interest, and Comrade Orcar Persons of Hudson paid an eloquent tribute to Capt. Tidd and was followed by Comrades Garfield, Barrett, J. Fred Leslie, William P. Brown and others, all making pleasant reference to the guest of the evening.

Some letters from absent comrades were read among them one from General Charles L. Pierson:

BOSTON, May 1, 1891.

ALBERT P. BARRETT,

Dear Sir:—I regret very much that I shall be in New York and therefore unable to be present with you to do honor to our comrade and friend, Capt. Tidd, by celebrating his 69th birthday. We honor ourselves when we commemorate any birthday of so good a man so faithful a soldier and so valuable a citizen as Luke R. Tidd. Joining you in all the pleasant things that you will say to Capt. Tidd on this occasion and wishing him and all my friends of Co. K many happy returns of all their birthdays, I am

Faithfully Yours,
CHARLES L. PIERSON.

It was a late hour when the comrades dispersed to their homes, and all pronounced the occasion one of the most pleasant ever held by them.

Mrs. C. P. Lacoste 62 Pleasant St., Malden, has reason to be proud of the success she has achieved in the real estate business.

Woburn Equal Suffrage League.

The regular monthly meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlor Monday evening. There was a good attendance of members. Mrs. C. M Murdock gave a comprehensive account of the progress of women during the month. It was a model report of its kind. Mrs. Lucy E. B. Converse gave an interesting paper on the National Council of Women recently convened at Washington. The members of the League certainly felt grateful to Mrs. Converse for giving them such an excellent account of the sayings and doings of that wonderful body of women.

Mrs B. A. Stearns then read in her own pleasing manner a witty selection from Miss Holley's latest book showing how "Josiah" divided the applications of the Constitution between men and women, giving each a just (?) portion.

The remainder of the time was spent in the study of the "Citizen and Neighbor."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Burlington.

The Assessors are making their annual tour.

Supt. Rounds and his force of men are busy on the roads this week.

A social dancing party was held at the Town Hall Thursday evening April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed will soon come to their summer residence here for the season.

Mr. Fred F. Walker and Miss Bertha Wood were married April 29, and have taken up their residence in Burlington at the farm formerly owned by Mr. Walker's father. Mr. Walker promises to make one of our most successful farmers. Our hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Walker.

At the adjourned Town Meeting Saturday evening the Selectmen reported that owing to the death of Mr. George Skelton the owner of a part of the land proposed to be bought for the enlargement of the cemetery they had been unable to do anything in the matter. It was voted that they proceed to take further action and report at the November meeting.

A beautiful piece of sculpture from ancient Ephesus has reached the British Museum. The relic forms part of a marble bull, the head being exquisitely carved, while the figure of a goddess appears on the body. It is supposed to be 2000 years old.

A healthy, robust child has a better chance of escaping or of resisting disease than a sickly one. It is therefore the duty of every mother to obtain such a food as will insure the life and health of her little one. Mellin's Food promotes in infants a healthy growth, a full development and a vigorous constitution.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOL

A New Assortment

— OF —

Scotch Ginghams

— ALSO, —

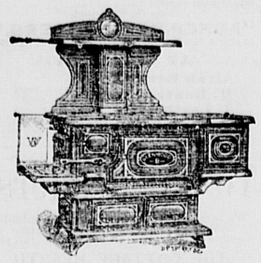
A FINE LINE OF

AMERICAN GINGHAMS,

At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

A LECTURE.

Rev. E. G. PORTER

The eminent Lexington Lecturer will address the people of Woburn on Thursday Eve'ng, May 14,

IN THE VESTRY OF

The Congregational Church,

— ON —

"KOREA"

Tickets, - 15 cents.

For sale at the stores of C. Willard Smith and G. R. Gage & Co.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all others interested in the Estate of Julia A. Taylor, late of Wilmington in said County, deceased, intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to George L. Taylor of Wilmington in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

CANADIAN HORSES,

Wednesday Next, May 13,

CHARLES CUMMINGS

Will receive his 3d CAR-LOAD of firstclass Canadian Horses within 3 weeks, which will be offered for sale at

HIS FARM, 35 CAMBRIDGE STREET,

at very low prices. The lot will be composed of Roadsters, Working and General Utility Horses—all sound and prime.

"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

First come, First served.

CITY OF WOBURN.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, }
Municipal Building, April 14, 1891. }

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 100 of the Public Statutes, that Frederic B. Leeds has made an application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors of the sixth class, as a druggist, at No. 15 Pleasant St., on first floor and stock in cellar of said building.

DAVID F. MORELAND, City Clerk.

FARM PROPERTY

FOR SALE

At a Great Bargain!

The Farm Property on the Cushing Payson Estate in BELMONT, MASS., consisting of large Farm House of 15 rooms, large Farm Barn, Office and Harness-room connected, Dairy, Cow Barn, Piggery and other buildings, all in good repair, together with as much land as the purchaser may desire. This property is located only about 5 miles from Boston, and close to Cambridge, and can be purchased at a very low price on easy terms. For further particulars, plans, photographs, &c., apply to

Payson Park Land Co.,
28 State St., Boston, Room 22.

P. S. The Agent of the Company can be found at their office on the property every afternoon.

House To Let

Containing 8 rooms for two families with Garden in front, lot of ground for planting in back, 1051 Main street, North Woburn.

Inquire at

1073 MAIN ST.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,

Winchester, Mass.

Wanted—A lady who will do writing for me at her home will receive good wages. Address, with self-addressed stamped envelope, Miss Flora D. Jones, South Bend, Ind. Proprietor of the Famous "Blush of Roses" for the Complexion.

A JOURNEY

— FROM —

China and Japan

To Woburn.

800 yards of Straw Mattings have now arrived at C. Willard Smith's Carpet Room, 399 Main St., Woburn.

This is the Largest Stock we have ever shown.

The styles are all new and very desirable.

The prices are very low.

Our 17 cent Straw Matting is as good as many that sell for 25 cents. It is a bargain.

The Mattings we offer at 25 cents are very good styles, and the quality heavy and fine.

At 35 cents we have a fine Seamless Matting.

Our 38 cent Seamless Straw Mattings are a great bargain, and very fine and very heavy.

The usual Boston price on these goods is 50 cents a yard.

We save you twelve cents on every one.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

---

500 MILES OF WIRE.

The two special telegraph wires running from the

BOSTON HERALD

Office to its New York correspondent used up five hundred miles of wire.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Vose & Sons PIANOS

ESTABLISHED 1851.

28,000 SOLD AND IN USE.

NEW STYLES
ELEGANT DESIGNS,
SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
GREAT DURABILITY,
EASY TERMS.

New and Second-hand Pianos rented, and one year's rent allowed on the purchase price.

100 Second-hand Pianos, in good order, ranging from $50 to $275 in price. Some have had but little use.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont St.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estates of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks, successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

WOBURN

Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

A Special Meeting of the Corporation will be held in the BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS, Dow's Block, on

Thursday, May 14, 1891,

At 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of electing a Vice President, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Buchanan; and to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

Executors' Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of May, A. D. 1891, on the several premises, and at the several times as hereinafter mentioned, the following described lots of real estate, all situated in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," such sales to be made for the payment of the debts against the estate of Abigail Winn, late of said Woburn, deceased; the legacies given by her will; and the charges of administration of settling her estate, viz:

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,820 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Printice S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hartly J. Tarr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Tarr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 10' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said day will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about seven thousand nine hundred and fifteen square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the westerly side of Main street, adjoining land of the North Congregational Church, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southeasterly corner of the premises, on said Main steet, at land of said Church, the line runs south 78° west, by land of said Church, about one hundred and five feet to land of the Rumford Association; thence the line runs north 25° 30' west, by land last named, about fifty-nine and eighty-five one-hundredths feet to Minot street; thence north 76° 30' east, on and by said Minot street, about one hundred and thirty-one and one-half feet to said Main street; thence south 2° 40' east, on and by said Main street, about seventy-eight feet to the point of beginning.

At thirty minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about four thousand five hundred and four square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southerly corner of the premises, on said Poole street, at land of James Murray; thence the line runs north 32° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, forty-five feet to a stake; thence north 58° east, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to a stake at land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land last named, forty-five feet to land of said Murray; thence south 58° 30' west, by land of said Murray, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, A. D. 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz:—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

At forty-five minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about five thousand eight hundred and sixty-six square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of said Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz—Beginning at the westerly corner of the premises, on said street, at land of John Connolly; thence the line runs north 58° east, by land of said Connolly, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land last named, fifty-eight and one-half feet to a stake; thence south 58° west, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to said Poole street; thence north 32° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, fifty-eight and seven-tenths feet, to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

Terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.

Woburn, April 30, 1891.

Portuguese Chairs.

A very attractive novelty for seashore and country residences. Extremely comfortable—high and low backs and arms. Made of genuine Portuguese rushes. A direct importation, just arrived only $6.50 and $8.00

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,
BOSTON.

CITY OF WOBURN.

OFFICE OF

Sealer of Weights and Measures,

No. 406 Main Street.

NOTICE.

All inhabitants or persons having place of business or who do business within the city limits who use weights, measures, scales or balances for the purpose of buying or selling any goods, merchandise, wares, other commodities or for public weighing, are hereby notified to have their weights, measures, scales and balances adjusted and sealed.

JOHN LYNCH,
Sealer of Weights and Measures.

Ladies, if you would like to get full value for your money call

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

The following are only a few of the good things to be had:

Cream Albatross, 37½c., Boston price 50c.
All-wool Shepherd's Plaid, 42 in. wide, 45 cents, Boston price 50c.
Steel Gray Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.
Electric Blue Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.
Children's Hose, 25c., Boston price 37c.
Misses and Ladies' Hose 37c., Boston price 50c.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Burd's old reliable stand, 34 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

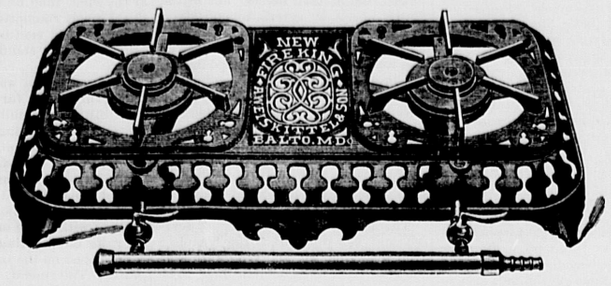
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING



— AND — HEATING.

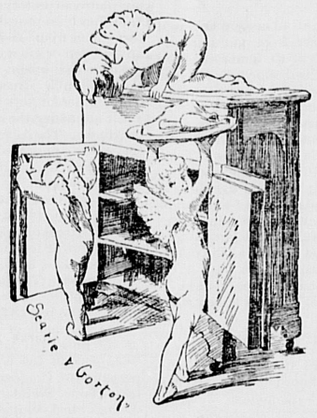
WOBURN, May 1, 1891,

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIAGES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets,

BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

The Great Clothiers of New England

ARE NOW READY TO SHOW THEIR

SPRING and SUMMER Styles

— IN —

MEN'S AND BOYS' RAIMENT.

The attention of the ladies of New England is particularly called to our Boys' and Children's Department, which is now replete with all the latest novelities. Special bargains in Kilt Suits, Jersey Suits, Boys' Reefers, Flannel Blouses, Shirt Waists, etc.

Kilts, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00. Reefers, $3.50, $5.00, 6.00, 8.00.

Commonwealth Clothing House,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2¼ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x 4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING,
5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS,
30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING,
1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each,
$6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

FOR SALE

HOUSE of eight rooms and LAND.

Apply to

W. H. Slater,

639 Main St., near Central Sq.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $25 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Main's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

Mark-Down Sale On Saturday.

12½ cent Sateens at 7 cents.
50 cent Mohairs at 33 cents.
12 cent Outing at 8 cents.
$5.00 Trimmed Hats at $3.98.

— AT THE —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers,	5c.
Gilt " "	10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, first-class Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

C. E. SMITH.

ISRAEL'S FALL FORETOLD

LESSON VI, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 10.

Text of the Lesson, Amos viii, 1-14. Commit Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text, Luke viii, 18—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold a basket of summer fruit."

In our last lesson we heard Jehovah reminding Israel of the many ways in which He had sought to win them back to Himself. In chapter v, 4, 6, 14, 15, they are repeatedly entreated to seek Him and live. Then they are warned of the day of the Lord and its terrors, yet they conspire against the prophet Amos and refuse to hear his words (vii, 10-13). Now, in a vision, the nation is shown to the prophet as a basket of ripe fruit, ready to be consumed; they will not be warned and therefore judgment must come.

2. "Then said the Lord unto me, The end is come upon my people of Israel; I will not again pass by them any more."

Similar words are found in chapter vii, 8, and in Ezek. vii, 2, 3. Long and patiently He forbears, and lovingly seeks in every way to win them back, but there is a point where mercy stops and judgment must fall.

3. "And the songs of the temple shall be howling in that day, saith the Lord God; many dead bodies in every place; they shall cast them forth with silence."

In Isa. xiii, 6-9, and in many other places howling is associated with the Day of the Lord, and the expression "in that day" found in this verse and in verses 9 and 13 also signifies the Day of the Lord (Isa. ii, 11, 12). The Great Day of the Lord is yet future, and is everywhere associated with judgments upon the ungodly and deliverance for the faithful remnant (see Isa. xxxiv, 8; xxxv, 4; lxiii, 4). But the approaching judgment in the days of Amos was a foreshadowing of the Great Day yet future.

4. "Hear this, O ye that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail."

They were panting for the goods of the poor, that they might fall out of the land. They are described in Prov. xxx, 14, as "a generation whose teeth are as swords, and their jaw teeth as knives, to devour the poor from off the earth, and the needy from among men."

5. "Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the Sabbath that we may set forth wheat,"

They outwardly kept these days religiously, but all the time their hearts were longing for the business of the morrow.

"Making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit."

Not only were market days better to them than Sabbaths, but they were full of deceit even in business, giving their purchasers short weight and taking from them more than was due. Not scrupling to cheat God out of His appointed worship, they found no difficulty in cheating their fellowman.

6. "That we may buy the poor for silver and the needy for a pair of shoes, and sell the refuse of the wheat."

Compelling the needy to sell themselves as slaves and eat refuse corn. They sold the righteous for silver and the poor for a pair of shoes (chap. ii, 6). They had no heart for God or His commands or His poor.

7. "The Lord hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works."

"He will remember their iniquity and visit their sins." "The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond" (Hos. viii, 13; Jer xvii, 1).

8. "Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? And it shall rise up wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt."

This shaking world would be great and sore, but nothing when compared with the great shaking of heaven, earth, sea, dry land and all nations in the day of the Lord (Hag. ii, 6-7, Heb. xii, 26).

9. "And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord God, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day."

The physical signs shall happen as accompaniments and intensifications of the awful state of things which the description typifies.

10. "And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation."

The mourning, lamentation, sackcloth, baldness and bitterness of this verse all indicate the great judgment that would overtake them because of their sins.

11. "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land; not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord."

Multitudes in our day would not worry much over that kind of a famine. It was just so in Israel.

12. "And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east; they shall run to and fro to seek the Word of the Lord, and shall not find it."

Blessings lost are apt to be prized when it is too late.

13. "In that day shall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirst."

This is the third reference in our lesson to "that day." In chapter ix, 11-15, observe how it is associated with the national restoration, never again to be broken up, but before that there will be the great tribulation of Jer. xxx, 7; Dan. xii, 1. The sufferings of the captivity were foreshadowings of the time here spoken of as "that day." The fainting for thirst will be because of continued impenitence, for in Isa. xli, 17, it is written, "When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirst, I, the Lord, will hear them; I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them."

In Lam. i, 15; ii, 21, He speaks of His people as young men and virgins.

14. "They that swear by the sin of Samaria, and say, Thy God, O Dan, liveth; and, The manner of Beersheba liveth; even they shall fall, and never rise up again."

In Deut. ix, 21, the golden calf which Aaron made is called Israel's sin. The calves of Jeroboam at Dan and Bethel were also Israel's sin, and are here called the sin of Samaria. While there is a great and glorious future for Israel as a nation, all individuals who sin against God and die impenitent, whether Jews or Gentiles, shall surely perish. The only way to have life now, real life consisting of forgiveness of sin and fellowship with God, and be able to look forward with joy to the future, is to be in Christ by simple faith in Him, and, turning away from all idols, abide in Him and in His love. We must take heed lest we in any way by unbelief turn away from the only living and true God.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

A Patria Club has been organized in New York by members of the American Institute of Civics, for the promotion of American ideas and American patriotism. Nobody will deny that there is a tremendous field for such a club in a Tammany-free trade city like the metropolis.

PUBLIC OPINION.

I see him steppin' by to church
A-lookin' pore an' thin,
His collar 'thout a smell o' starch
An' fastened with a pin.
His coat is ripped along the arm—
I jest can't he'p but see;
I want to mend him up, but, sho!
The town 'ud smile at me.
His wife's ben dead two year er more,
An' folks 'ud gossip, fer
He uster go with me afore
He ever went with her.

I dassent sweep his kitchen out
Or send a batch o' bread,
Or neighbor him no way at all
Fer fear o' hevin' said
Thet I'm a-settin' out fer him—
A widower—whilse I
Am older than I was, ertho'
Onlest there's young folks nigh
I look some like I uster look
When he—when love times were.
He uster go with me afore
He ever went with her.

When he was layin' high an' dry
With janders, this gone May,
I never felt right free to ast
Erbout him day by day.
I uster watch the doctor pass,
'N' skrike him fer the news;
An' onct I sent a glass o' jell—
He never 'spicioned whose.
I know he thinks I harbor spite
Agin' him likely, fer
He knows he uster go with me
Afore he went with her.

Ef he should die I'd hev to miss
The tuner'l, like ez not,
Fer folks 'ud watch me close to see
Ef tears was comin' hot.
An' ef I wep' they'd smile an' wink,
An' ef my eyes was dry
They'd 'low thet some folks wouldn' keer
Ef all their kin shud die.
An' ef I didn't go at all
They'd jedge I dassent, fer
They know he uster go with me
Afore he went with her.
—Eva W. McGlasson in Judge.

He Was a Good Pointer.

In an inward bound Cambridge horse car sat a young lady who carried an oblong pasteboard box. Young ladies with boxes are by no means uncommon in Cambridge cars, but what attracted attention to this particular one was the singular persistency of a pointer dog that had smuggled himself into the car. With head and tail in a straight line, with one paw raised and with attention expressed in every line of his motionless body, the dog pointed to the young lady. The dog's master, who at first did not notice his queer actions, whistled to him and commanded him to come to him. The dog looked round at his master, wagged his tail and immediately resumed his pointing.

"I am sorry my dog is annoying you, miss," said the master. "Come here, Sport! I don't see what makes him act so."

"He isn't annoying me at all," responded the young lady; "but he'd feel awfully sold if he knew he was 'pointing' a dead bird. I've got a parrot in this box. I'm taking it into Boston to have it stuffed."

All the way into Boston the dog pointed the dead parrot with a persistency worthy of the finest partridge that was ever flushed.—Boston Transcript.

The Charge Was Unjust.

A young French advocate, in the course of his address to the court, flourished about his hand in such a manner as to show off a magnificent diamond ring. He was young, good looking and pleading for a lady of quality, who demanded a separation from her husband. The husband, who happened to be present, interrupted him in the middle of a period, and, turning to the judges, exclaimed theatrically, "My lords, you will appreciate the zeal which M. M—— is displaying against me, and the sincerity of his argument, when you are informed that the diamond ring he wears is the very one which I placed on my wife's finger on the day of that union he is so anxious to dissolve."

"The court," said M. Berryer, who relates the story, "was struck, and rose immediately. The cause was lost, and the advocate never had another. To add to the poignancy of the catastrophe, the husband's insinuations had no foundation in fact."—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Mesozoic and the Tertiary Epochs.

The so called mesozoic epoch was brought to a close by the cataclysm, due to contraction and consequent crumbling of the earth's crust, which upheaved the Rocky mountains and Andes on this hemisphere and the Alps, Pyrenees, Balkans and Himalayas on the other side of the world. Incidentally to this tremendous alteration in the face of the earth all the giant reptiles were wiped out of existence. This event opened what is called today the tertiary epoch. It is in the tertiary epoch that we live now. At the beginning of this epoch the only reptiles which survived were the snakes, lizards, turtles and crocodiles, all of them resembling closely those of their kind which exist today.—Professor Cope in Washington Star.

Literary and Intellectual.

Carl is a shrewd observer and something of a philosopher as well, as you will see from the following choice bit of discrimination:

"Papa," he said to his father one day, after scanning reflectively his father's scholarly face, "papa, are you a literary man or an intellectual man?"

"What do you call an intellectual man, and what is a literary man?" asked the father.

"Well," said Master Carl, thinking it out slowly as he went along, "a literary man is a man who writes, and an intellectual man is a man who thinks."

Which is often sadly true, the more's the pity.—New York Evening Sun.

Look Out for the Menagerie.

First Broker — Hard times, aren't they? Hope you will be able to keep the wolf from the door.

Second Broker—I'm afraid not. We can't keep the bear from the street now.—Kate Field's Washington.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. E Lovell's Drugstore.

It is cheering news that the per cent of gain in public school enrollment in the Southern States during the last decade has outstripped the gain in population. The Democratic party cannot long withstand this kind of thing.

Wanted.—A good appetite. You can have it easy enough by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It tones the digestion and cures sick headache.

INCREASE OF BLINDNESS.

The Loss of Sight Is Often Due to the Neglect of Parents and Nurses.

"The latest statistics show that blindness is on the increase in the United States," says Dr. Guernsey. "This increase in New York state is attributable to the failure of carrying out the law which requires midwives to report to the board of health all cases of blennorrhea in new born children. In fact the law is a dead letter, which is a great pity, because in the asylums for the blind there are more people who have become blind from having been neglected when infants than from any other cause. This purulent inflammation of the infant's eyes, which is so often neglected by the poor, is bad for everybody in the house, owing to its decidedly infectious character.

"Children should not be admitted to schools if they have any contageous disease of the eye, to detect which requires expert examination, for it cannot always be seen; for example, granular lids contain an infectious secretion. Just as children in the public schools are required to show a certificate of vaccination before they can gain admission, so should children likewise be required to prove that the condition of their eyes is not such as to endanger the eyes of their little comrades.

"Most persons are born far sighted; some remain so throughout life; the sight of others becomes normal, and still others become near sighted. Americans as a class are not so near sighted as people of older civilizations. The Germans are the most near sighted people, probably because they study the most and with the poorest light. There are at best very few normal eyes—we are all of us generally either near sighted or far sighted. Color blindness is at times congenital, in which case it is incurable, but color blindness may be acquired later in life, and then it yields to treatment. Statistics show that about 4 per cent. of all men are color blind, but only 2 per cent. of all women.

"Too great care cannot be exercised in the marine service and in the railroad service not to employ the color blind, for their inability to distinguish green from red causes them to confound the danger signal, to the great danger of the traveling public.

"I want to enter my protest against badly lighted horse cars, in which reading is both difficult and dangerous. In traveling by rail I do not think that much harm is ordinarily done to the eyes by reading unless the car shakes a good deal. When the jolting movement is easy it is rhythmical, so to speak, and you can almost foresee each jolt and adapt yourself to it. It is too much of a hardship to forbid reading in the cars, unless the road is very shaky.

"Those who travel an hour a day should not be debarred from informing themselves of what is going on in the world. And the same may be said about reading by artificial light in our homes. Of course it is much better for the eyes to read during the day; nobody can deny that. But it will not do to lay down a hard and fast rule not to read at all at night.

"We must take some risk; we can't put ourselves under glass cases. It is with the eye as it is with everything else. If the body is sound and the eye is good I can see no objection to reading moderately at night under a good light. How many people do their best work at night when everything is quiet in the house and they are not disturbed."—Epoch.

The Literary Traitor.

If a clever writer exposes to public ridicule private persons whose likenesses are unmistakable, and whom he is able to draw only because he is their friend, he is a social traitor, a dishonorable man, who deserves to be sent to Coventry quite as much as a man who cheats at cards. Literary talent of this kind is open to immense abuse.

Drawing a portrait which is at once recognized by the circle which is familiar with the original, the artist may weave into the woof of his tale incidents not improbable, and with skill introduce situations which are essentially compromising.

It is a peculiarly malignant treachery, and although no honorable writer can be guilty of it it is an offense sure to be perpetual. The blow is one of masked cruelty; it is poison in a precious ring.—George William Curtis in Harper's.

The Laureate's Dread of Being Mobbed.

Apprehension of being mobbed by the "profane vulgar" amounts, as is well known, almost to monomania with the Poet Laureate. Many good stories are told in illustration of this weakness of his. One of the best of them will perhaps bear repetition.

Lord Tennyson was taking a country walk with a friend, when a fellow creature was espied in the distance. "We must turn back," said the poet, "that fellow means to waylay us." His companion persuaded him, however, to continue on their path. They caught up to the enemy and passed him. He took no notice of them whatever. "What an extraordinary thing!" cried the irate poet; "the fellow seems to have no idea who I am!"—London Tit-Bits.

The Suez canal has a waterway of eighty-eight miles, of which sixty-six miles were made by cuttings and the remainder through existing lakes, which only required deepening by dredging. It is twenty-eight feet deep, with a width of 229 feet at the bottom. The total cost was £17,518,729.

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and mecicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambery & Murphy, of Battle Creek, Mich.; C. B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly, or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at Charles H. Buss.

Nebeker, the new Treasurer of the United States, is a short, stout man, with a round and rather florid face marked by a black mustache. He is about forty years old.

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles, of Everett, Pa., says: "I suffered for years from kidney and gravel trouble No physicians or medicine at home did me any good. I finally visited my former home at Rondout, N. Y., and began using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a perfectly well and happy woman once more."

WHAT THE FRESH AIR FUND DOES.

Though Children Go Back to a Life of Squalor They Never Forget the Trip.

Is there in the fortnight's outing for the poor anything more than a merely pleasant holiday? What good can accrue from taking a child out of its wretched home, and after two weeks of comfort and decent living sending it back to its old surroundings? One minister writes: "It will only make the child discontented with the surroundings where God placed him."

I contend that a great gain has been made, if you can only succeed in making the tenement house child thoroughly discontented with his lot. There is some hope then of his getting out of it and rising to a higher plane. The new life he sees in the country, the contact with good people, not at arm's length, but in their homes; not at the dinner, feast or entertainment given to him while the giver stands by and looks down to see how he enjoys it, and remarks on his forlorn appearance, but brought into the family and given a seat at the table, where as one boy wrote home, "I can have two pieces of pie if I want, and nobody says nothing if I take three pieces of cake;" or as a little girl reported, where "we have lots to eat, and so much to eat that we could not tell you how much we get to eat."

This is quite a different kind of service, and has resulted in the complete transformation of many a child. It has gone back to its wretchedness, to be sure, but in hundreds of instances about which I have personally known it has returned with head and heart full of new ways, new ideas of decent living, and has successfully taught the shiftless parents the better way.

One little girl talked so much of her trip and described the country life in such glowing terms that her father came to inquire where it was his child went, adding, "I should think it was heaven from the way she talks about it."—Rev. Willard Parsons in Scribner's.

Explaining the Case.

Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, who visited America not many years ago, is a man of great ability and wide learning. During his tour through the country he stopped at one capital where he was given a dinner at the expense of the state.

The feast was an abundant one, and all the great men from miles around were invited to it to honor the lord chief justice. His honor had the governor on one side of him at the table, and the lieutenant governor of the state on the other side. As the party sat down the menu cards had already been laid beside their plates. These cards were very fine. They cost twenty-five dollars apiece, and they bore at their heads the state coat of arms, upon which was engraved a motto in Latin.

As Lord Coleridge sat down he took up this card, and looking at the motto, said to the man on his left, "Very good, indeed, and very appropriate."

"What's good?" asked the lieutenant governor.

"I refer to those words," said Lord Coleridge, as he pointed to the motto.

"Yes," replied the lieutenant governor, with a knowing look. "Them words is Latin."—Exchange.

Pleasure of Walking.

There is no need to say that the exercise of walking is good for the deportment. It is incomparably the best kind of motion from this point of view, and the simplest. Though one may be ever so stiff jointed at the outset, after a few miles the stiffness has worn away. Each sinew does its work. One seems to rise an inch or two in height, and the chest swells. How one pities poor fellows who are doomed for their sins, or their father's misdeeds, or their own love of pounds, shillings and pence, or for no reason at all that one can determine—doomed, I say, to sit at desks through the prime of the day!

It is one of the worst of those hard laws which civilization has imposed upon us. The victims may not feel it very much; it is to be hoped they don't. But none the less it seems curious that when the lark—an inferior kind of creature—is choiring away toward the blue in an ecstasy of happiness, man, the lord of creation, is toiling under a plasterer's ceiling some six or eight feet only above his brain pan. —All the Year Round.

The Stockholders' Idea.

Treasurer Below Par Railroad—Let me help you to some more of the money.

First Director—No, thank you, I have all I can spend without attracting attention.

Treasurer—Permit me——

Second Director—No, no! Thanks, no. I couldn't carry another cent. Pockets all bursting now. Same way with all the others.

Treasurer (in despair)—What shall I do with all this pile? It's ten times too much for the sinking fund.

First Director (after deep meditation) —By Jove! I have it. Let's declare a dividend.—New York Weekly.

Cured.

The following is a Chinese joke:

In a certain house there was a baby that annoyed every one by its continual squalling. At last a physician was called in. He administered a bolus of the soothing virtues of which he had a high opinion, and offered to pass the night in the house to observe the effects of his remedy. After a few hours, hearing no noise, he exclaimed, "Good! the child is cured." "Yes," replied the attendant, "the child has indeed stopped crying, but the mother has begun to mourn."

No Other

As good. This is the statement of Professor Smith, Analytical Chemist; I have analyzed all of the popular blood purifiers and medicines now sold. Many of them I found to be worthless, some dangerous to use. Sulphur Bitters contains nothing poisonous, and I think it is the best blood purifier made.

I. R. Greene is still in the active practice of the law at Louisville, Ky. He served in the Black Hawk war, and was admitted to the Bar in 1831.

I am an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease. —Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Att'y, Washington, D. C.

I suffered for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which Ely's Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I., N. Y.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

They Are So Delicate That They Have to Be Carefully Protected.

The collection of standard weights and measures preserved in the fireproof building of the coast and geodetic survey in Washington is described by a correspondent. Many of them are now of purely historical interest, the more recent ones only being accepted as absolute standards.

Among the weights are the cruder ones originally used in this country as standards.

Three are of special interest. One, which is nearly cylindrical in shape, with a slight groove around its upper part, is known as the gilt pound, and it represents the British unit of weight. "The committee kilogramme" is a brass weight, and is one of a number made at the same time under the charge of the French committee that near the end of the last century established the original metric standards of measurement.

Its true weight was within one-half milligram at the furthest. It is a cylinder fifty-three millimeters in diameter, the height being equal to the diameter. The committee had a peculiar stamp, which consisted of an eclipse, supposed to represent a meridian section of the earth, with three quadrants shaded, and with the figures 10,000,000 marked within the unshaded quadrant near its outer perimeter. That stamp is impressed on the bottom of the kilogram. The metal now has minute holes.

A weight known as the Arago platinum kilogram is cylindrical in shape, Albert Gallatin, when minister to France in 1821, procured it. In 1879 it was compared with the platinum kilogram, and its specific gravity was determined by Chancy. In 1844 it was taken to Paris for comparison with the international standard.

The national prototype kilogram is kept under a glass case. It was constructed by the co-operation of the principal governments of the world as represented by delegates at a convention in Paris in 1872. The standard meters and kilograms established by them were reproduced and distributed by them in 1889. The reproductions are termed national prototypes.

For the preservation of the original international prototypes a subterranean vault has been provided in Paris to protect them from accident and against any sudden or great change in the temperature that might cause a change in the molecular structure of the metal. Three different keys to the locks of the vault are under the charge of three individuals. The American national prototypes are preserved with similar precautions in Washington.

The kilogram is of standard alloy of 90 per cent. platinum and 10 per cent. iridium, with a tolerance of 2 per cent. in excess of deficiency. The form is that of a cylinder, with slightly rounded edges, its height being equal to its diameter. The national prototype meter is of the same alloy as the kilogram. The bar 1.02 m. long.

The ceremony of breaking the seals of the prototype meter and kilogram took place in the White House in the presence of President Harrison, Secretary Blaine, Secretary Windom and a distinguished company Jan. 2, 1890.

The apartments were represented by officials who signed a memorial to the effect that they had witnessed the ceremony.

The standard yard, as supplied by the government to the states, consists of a yard proper and a template that protects the terminal points.

Snails Are Queer Creatures.

The snail is found everywhere, 3,332 species being known, serving in France as an important item of diet, and in this country an attractive inhabitant of the fernery. Some of the large tropical snails, as bulimas, form nests of leaves, their eggs being as large as a pigeon's.

The snail is extremely skillful in mending its shell, and some curious experiments may be tried with them. Thus I have seen a helix of a yellow species attached to another shell of a reddish hue by cutting off the top whirl of the latter, when the snail will proceed to weld the two shells together and occupy both, using the addition as a door, and possibly wondering at this sudden extension of its house.

In the winter some of the snails hibernate, or lie dormant until warm weather, just as the snakes do in California. A snail of the Philippine islands has a faculty of throwing off its tail when seized; this is also true of a West Indian variety—stenophus.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S
GERMAN CATARRH CURE
Cures Catarrh in all its forms.
Cures cases of long standing.
Clears the nazal passages.
Strengthens the air passage.
Has been used for years.
Is prescribed bo Physicians.
Instantly relieves cold in the head.
Sold by all Druggists. Try it.
$1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00.
Manufactured only by
JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist,
259 Essex St., LAWRENCE, MASS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
L. G. WALDEN
MERCHANT TAILOR,
7 WALNUT STREET,
Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.
PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.
We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.
Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

SALESMEN WANTED
To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.
F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

"No, Thanks."

An English traveler who never had learned at home how discourteous is the use of the phrase, "No, thanks," was taught the lesson when he visited Norway and ventured to translate that brief and slangy substitute for "No, I thank you," into Norwegian. The lesson was given him by the waitress in a restaurant at Hamer. The young woman asked him if he would take coffee, and he replied, "Ikke tak," which is a literal translation of "No, thanks."

The young woman, writes the Englishman, answered in quick, strong and unintelligible jargon. I knew that magnates and menials intermix in Norway, and concluded that here was a lineal descendant of some fierce Viking princess. Fearful tragedies might have ensued had not a Norseman crossed over to my rescue, and on bowing to each other I understood him to say to me:

"If you please, what was it that you said, or wanted to say? She says you were not asked to give her anything; and she serves here gratuitously; and she is a free and independent elector; and you ought, at any rate, to have thanked her for her attendance, whereas you would not give her a 'thank you' for her coffee."

"I said 'Ikke tak.' I want no coffee, and I said 'No, thanks,' did I not?" said I in self defense.

"Ah! you should always give 'Tak!'" said the interlocutor, insinuating that I needed instruction.

"Tell me, then, how you say 'No, thank you,'" said I, bewildered.

"Nai, tak! Nai, tak!" said he, bowing himself away.

Work to Do at Home.

Women of slender or reduced income who are compelled by stern necessity to do home work of some kind might secure remunerative occupation by embroidering spangled flowers upon gauze and silk. This kind of material is in great demand, and, being a novelty, is expensive. This question of home work is a very puzzling one, and often leads to much disappointment for those who cannot get employment because they have no real technical knowledge in any branch. Newspapers have daily to refuse "copy" sent to them by women who think that the field of literature is a golden one and that anybody capable of holding a pen and of spelling correctly can make money in that way.

Now this is a great mistake; and, moreover, it is not so much the way of treating a subject as the subject chosen that is of importance, and many a well written article is refused because it treats of matter of small interest to the general public. To succeed in the painting of dainty trifles for sale it is necessary to possess not only talent, but the chic belonging only to true artists. Ordinary embroidery or needlework does not pay at all. China painting as a professional pursuit seldom pays outside of the factories, except in the case of artists of great merit.—New York Tribune.

A Persevering Hen.

I have seen one or two good hen stories, but I think this one beats them. One day it happened that not far from my house a board was resting on two barrels which were about ten feet apart, and somebody had laid an old, discarded straw hat on the board, the crown lying on the board. An old hen, which was a great pet with the family, saw this arrangement and evidently decided that the old hat was just the thing for a nest. So she carefully hopped into it and laid an egg.

We decided to humor her whim, and therefore fastened the hat to the board. She continued to lay in this queer nest for some time. But one day the hat became unfastened in some way and blew off the board. When Biddy saw this she began to sing disconsolately, and we thought she would give up the hat and seek another nest. But we were mistaken. In a little while she seized the hat in her bill and flew with it on the board, where, after a great deal of fussing, she adjusted it so that she could lay in it. After that we fastened it so that it could not blow off.—Cor. New York Tribune.

A Peculiar Fact.

Two young men stood in front of Perry's soda fountain the other evening. They were well dressed and intellectual looking. One of them took something not on the list of sirups, and the other said in response to the interrogatory glance of the fizz drawer, "I'll take some vanella and ceram, please."

"You mean vanilla, don't you?" said his companion.

"Yes, I guess I do, but I'll bet you that one person out of every ten who comes into this store calls for vanella when he wants vanilla."

"What will you bet?"

"I'll give you five cents for every person that calls for vanilla if you'll give me one cent for every one who asks for vanella."

"It's a go."

Within the next ten minutes twenty lovers of the most popular sirup indulged in it. Eighteen called for vanella and two wanted vanilla. The philological clerk declared himself in favor of vanella by inquiringly repeating the word when uttered by soft voiced customers.—New York Sun.

Amusing Liabilities.

Master Thief—What yer so glum about? Didn't yer git ther chap's over coat?

Apprentice—Yes, but ther wuz a lot er bills in ther pocket. Will I hev to pay 'em?—Puck.

A Safe Guard—Always on Duty.

Thousands make a practice of taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., whenever they have symptoms of possible sickness, and through the prompt action of this remarkable medicine they are really never ill. It is a perfect safeguard against all forms of malaria, sick and nervous headache, palpitation, dyspepsia and heart burn.

A schooner arrived at Norfolk, Va., a few days ago with the extraordinary number of bluefish that were caught in two days in the Gulf Stream. A vessel that arrived on the day following had been cruising for weeks without a fish.

"Tired All the Time."

So many poor men and women, who seem overworked, or are debilitated by change of season, climate or life. If you could read the hundreds of letters praising Hood's Sarsaparilla which come from people whom it has restored to health, you would be convinced of its merits. As this is impossible, why not try Hood's Sarsaparilla yourself and thus realize its benefit? It will tone and build up your system, give you a good appetite, overcome that tired feeling and make you feel, as one woman expresses it "like a new creature."

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES
EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
NONE SUCH CONDENSED
Mince Meat
HIGHEST AWARD
received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.
Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.
MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE
EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR
Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's,
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Headache? Why Rheumatism? Why Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty? Why are you troubled with that terrible Nervousness? Why suffer with Dyspepsia? Why have such a bad taste in the mouth? Why have such poor appetite? Why are you all run down? Why have such a tired feeling? Why have such a poor memory? Why have such a dull pain in the back part of the head? Why have such a hot flushing sensation? Why have such a cold feeling? Why have such a nervous dread of impending evil? Why have such a sinking feeling at the pit of the stomach? Why have such a faint, all gone feeling in the morning? Why have such a general lack of energy? Why have such a desponding feeling? Why have such a weak back? Why have such a loss of appetite? Why have such a coated tongue? Why have such a foul breath? Why have such a sallow complexion? Why have such a variable appetite? Why have such a pain in the region of the kidneys? Why have such a frequent desire to pass water? Why have such a scanty supply of water? Why have such a painful passage of water? Why have such a diseased bladder? Why have such a torpid liver? Why have such a lack of ambition? Why have such a lack of vitality? Why have such a lack of nerve force? Why have such a lack of will power? Why have such a lack of self confidence? Why have such a lack of moral courage? Why have such a lack of physical courage? Why have such a lack of mental courage? Why have such a lack of spiritual courage? Why have such a lack of courage? Why have such a lack of anything? Why have such a lack of everything? Why have such a lack of nothing? Why have such a lack of something

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1891. NO. 22.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.15, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.50, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A.M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.36, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M, 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.15, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6.52, 6.23, 6.34, 7.03, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.37, 4.27, 5.21, 8.15, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., *12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, †5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.55, *10.10, 10.40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, †5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.50, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 9.30, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.35, †6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.30, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, †6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, †10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10.10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9 55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Morcland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Morcland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetery. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kirby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, NICHOLS REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,
MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS
ESTABLISHED 1851.
28,000 SOLD AND IN USE.
NEW STYLES
ELEGANT DESIGNS,
SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
GREAT DURABILITY,
EASY TERMS.
New and Second-hand Pianos rented, and one year's rent allowed on the purchase price.
100 Second-hand Pianos, in good order, ranging from $50 to $275 in price. Some have had but little use.
VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont St.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 43 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, MASS.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

The Woburn Journal

[Written for the Woburn Journal.]

SAS-QUA-NA.

A LEGEND OF WOBURN.

By Parker L Converse.

Many years ago, but within the memory of the oldest people of Woburn, there was to be seen in the pasture, on a spot over which Church street now runs, and some 6 to 8 rods from Main street, in Woburn, the remains of an old cellar, over which, in the middle of the 17th Century, stood a little country tavern, which bore the comfortable name of "The Ark" as appeared by the sign over the front door. Now this Inn, like all Inns at that time, had a barroom, in which was a hugh fireplace with chimney throat large enough to allow the stars at night to be seen by looking up, piled in winter time with logs of blazing wood, placed on andirons, against which leaned a loggerhead; while over the fire swung a long crane, from which amid the smoke hung an iron kettle; constituting a nightly place of resort for the male gossips of the neighborhood, as well as for the few travellers putting up there.

Now this loggerhead, or Flip-Dog, as it was sometimes called, consisted of a piece of iron about two feet long, one end being quite thick, while the other dwindled down to a handle; such an article being a main spoke in the furniture of every such place in those days. It was used in making flip, which was a mixture of beer, spirit and sugar, into which the loggerhead, hot from the fire, was thrust, heating the compound and causing a froth on top which usually ran over the sides of the mug.

It was on a cold sleety evening in December that several of the settlers were here gathered discussing the news over their mugs of flip and especially the rumors of suspicious actions by the Indians, which were thought to indicate mischief. "I tell you" said one, "those varmints are tarnation treacherous and sly. Last night as I passed Mianomo (Rag Rock) just at dusk, I saw two of them skulking in the woods under the rock."

"Yes" said R——, "and I saw across Lake Innitou (Horn Pond) one dodging about and evidently reconoitering."

"And" said another, "we all know their trails with remains of recent camp-fires have been seen by the hunters north of here. And it is even told that scouts from the Pequots and Narraganasets have visited the Indians; that war dances have been held, creating so much fear that our officers are quietly taking precautions against the tarnal critters."

Just then the door opened and a tall savage in fur robe and moccasins entered the room, almost frozen, and with a famished look on his swarthy features. At once several guns were raised and cocked, but as quickly lowered as the Indian threw open his robe, showing that he was not armed, and meant no mischief. So all resumed their places around the hugh fire. Susquana, the Indian, begged in broken English to be allowed to warm himself but he was sternly repulsed, while several arose with the intention of ejecting him from the premises as a spy, when C—— spoke up and said: "No, he is cold and hungry; let him be what he will he ought to be kindly treated." So saying he got up, gave him his chair and place at the fire, saying "warm yourself in peace."

The savage looked his thanks as he stretched his shivering form before the heat, while C—— proceeded to the bar, and after mixing a mug of flip he stuck the hot loggerhead into the compound and presented it, all foaming, together with some cold venison and corn cake, to Sasquana, who quietly ate, drank and warmed himself under the protection of his friend.

After having thus refreshed himself Sasquana slowly got up, gave a profound look of gratitude at his benefactor, a scowl at the rest, then strode out, and was soon lost in the darkness.

It was not long before the suspicions were verified; war broke out, and Woburn, with other towns, furnished her quota of troops, among whom were most of those in the barroom that night; and in an engagement that soon followed three of those men, including C——, were taken prisoners, bound to stakes, ready to be despatched the next morning. In the middle of the night C—— saw stealthily approaching a tall savage armed with tomahawk and knife, who after peering into the faces of the prisoners, stopped before him and said, "white man know Injun?" The astonished man answered "No." The Indian replied, "Me know you; you good to poor Indian once: Sasquana no forget." So saying he drew his hunting knife, cut the cords that bound him, then taking him by the hand, ran rapidly with him some distance, then suddenly stopped, placed in his hand a package wrapped in birch bark tied with a willow withe, pointed the direction he should go and quickly disappeared.

C—— ran till daylight when stopping for a moment to quench his thirst at a spring he opened the package and found it contained cold meat and pounded parched maize, which the thoughtful savage had provided him with. Resuming his flight he soon heard noises behind him which grew louder, and found that the Indians were in close pursuit and gaining upon him. In desperation, unarmed as he was, he plunged into a brook and concealed his head in the dense brakes hanging over the edge. Soon on came his pursuers, but before they reached his hiding place he suddenly heard the words in good English, "take to shelter, quick," and soon the whistle of bullets over his head gave him notice that a body of Colonists marching to attack the foe had met them to the surprise of both. The battle soon waxed hot, when C——, thirsting for revenge, sprang out of the water, grabbed the musket of a fallen soldier and rushed into the fight. Soon the redskins began to yield and flee, when he saw a stalwart savage engaged in a desperate struggle with two white men; and while rushing to their support, he recognized his friend and deliverer Sasquana wounded and likely to be killed. With a rapid movement he knocked aside the muskets, stepped between them, crying "stop, stay your hands; he has just saved my life, I now will save his," and told the story of his escape from a horrid death through the interference of the savage at the risk of his own life.

Sasquana returned with the troops to Woburn; often visited the settlements and his old friend; becoming quite a favorite with the Colonists, who allowed him full liberty to go and come at his will till his death which occurred, it is said, in Woburn near the present Wilmington line.

Woburn, May 7, 1891.

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1 00.

Professor Keyes notes a remarkable effect of gravitation in the form of some shells belonging to the genus Capulus. When the creature existed in situation to cause an attachment beneath, so as to be inverted, as it were, the shells would assume an elongated form. The same species when found where they had to be "right side up," or on the top of a flat surface, had wide, depressed shells. Some would consider these forms as requiring new specific names. Professor Keyes contends that a true description of the species should be so drawn as to allow for such variations.

A Safe Guard—Always on Duty.

Thousands make a practice of taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., whenever they have symptoms of possible sickness, and through the prompt action of this remarkable medicine they are really never ill. It is a perfect safeguard against all forms of malaria, sick and nervous headache, palpitation, dyspepsia and heartburn.

A physician has hit upon an excellent way of utilizing rubber in the treatment of wounds. He places one end of the strip of rubber upon one lip of the wound and then stretches the rubber to fasten the other end to the opposite lip. In this way he draws the several parts closely together, and the elastic rubber continuously holds them there. The efficiency of the sheet rubber used was increased by painting it over with a thin gutta-percha cement.

Don't Feel Well.

And yet you are not sick enough to consult a doctor, or you refrain from so doing for fear you will alarm yourself and friends—we will tell you just what you need. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will lift you out of that uncertain, uncomfortable, dangerous condition, into a state of good health, confidence and cheerfulness. You've no idea how potent this peculiar medicine is in cases like yours.

King Humbert, of Italy, has sent $100 to each child left an orphan by the steamship Utopia disaster.

A WOMAN ANGLING.

Mr. Izaak, Jr., Takes His Wife Fishing and She Spoils His Day's Sport.

I arrived at the hotel in time for dinner, and having gone through with that formality I at once prepared for a trial angling trip. Mrs. Izaak, Jr., concluded to accompany me, and retired to her room to put on her fishing attire. When she returned she was attired in a rubber ulster and carried a parasol. I mildly argued against the propriety of raising an umbrella in a boat while fishing, but of no avail. And then she wanted to know if she had not better take her knitting along, in case the fish did not bite. I replied, "Certainly, by all means," and kindly volunteered to send for the family sewing machine. I think my satire was useful, for the knitting was left behind.

We finally got safe into the boat, and in the delight of the moment my spirits visibly rose as I rowed away toward the fishing grounds, and I actually smiled to myself at the pretty figure of Mrs. Izaak, Jr., and her parasol as she reclined comfortably in the stern of the boat. Reaching a spot where I thought we might take fish, I "heaved" the anchor overboard and prepared the tackle for business. First I had to put the minnow on Mrs. Izaak, Jr.'s, hook, which operation she watched with great anxiety. "Don't it hurt the minnow to put a hook in it that way?" But I answered that it was no time to moralize when one was on a fishing excursion, and that if a man had a fish on the end of his line and stopped to argue about the hook hurting the fish he would lose the fish, and deservedly too. No, when one goes a-fishing he must leave his society for the prevention of cruelty to animals at home.

By this time our lines were cast, and I settled down to the glorious expectancy of getting a bite. I had my back to Mrs. Izaak, Jr., when suddenly I heard her pole splash in the water, and my heart came into my mouth at the thought that she had the first bite. I turned my head, and—shades of Izaak, Sr., must I say it!—she had let her pole fall into the water while attempting to raise her parasol. I groaned inwardly, and fixed a stony glare at my bobber, which obstinately refused to be pulled under water. With the stubbornness born of disgust I sat and sat. The sun was well down in the western sky. The bell at the hotel was ringing for supper. A big frog set up a croak in the bushes by the shore. The—"I've got a bite!" came thrilling me to my ears.

The parasol tumbled into the lake, there was a struggle with the pole, a splash by the side of the boat, and Mrs. Izaak, Jr., landed a bass at my feet to be unhooked. She looked at me with one of her old time glances and asked if I didn't want to borrow her parasol; maybe I might get a bite then. "Parasol be ribbed," I ungraciously murmured as I impaled another minnow on the hook. But why prolong the story? My score was a goose egg; Mrs. Izaak's was two bass. We were both tired, and I was told that I might go alone in the morning; she "had enough of fishing."

A good supper at the hotel restored our spirits, and as we were strolling on the beach afterward Mrs. Izaak, Jr., remarked to me in her sweetest manner: "My dear, I had a delightful time fishing this afternoon, and I think I will go along with you in the morning." But I determinedly protested against such a course. The morning air was full of malarious vapor, and it was a very rash thing for a woman to go out fishing on an empty stomach at 5 a. m. She retorted that she didn't propose to fish on an empty stomach; she was going to "fish from the boat." I saw it was useless to philosophically discuss the matter, so I dropped it.—Forest and Stream.

Careless People.

Two students of human nature spent ten minutes at the foot of one of the stairways leading to the up town platform of the Park place elevated station Friday afternoon counting the persons who went up stairs with the points of their umbrellas sticking out behind them. The time selected for this interesting observation was between 5 and 6 o'clock, when an almost unbroken stream of humanity was passing up the stairway. Within the ten minutes specified 142 out of perhaps 600 persons climbed the stairs with their closed umbrellas pushed out behind them in such a manner that persons following were obliged to dodge in order to escape being stabbed in the face. Of these 142 careless individuals 106 were men and the remainder women. The proportion of the men to the women in the moving crowd was about two to one.—New York Times.

Gave Himself Away.

"Darling," muttered the young man in pleading tones. The young girl rose to her feet with a gesture of indignation.

"Sir!" she exclaimed haughtily,

"You mistake me," replied the youth coldly. "Darling—present participle of verb to darl—dar to ponder. I got it out of Bohn's Saxon Dictionary.

"Well, Mr. Marks," said the maiden admiringly, "I was darling."

"Was what, precious?" said the young man hastily.—New York Telegram.

A Suitable Dog.

Lady—I wish to select a pet dog.

Dealer—Live in the city, I suppose, mum?

"Yes, I live in a flat."

"Then I would advise an Italian greyhound, mum. No matter how much you feed a greyhound he allers stays narrer."—New York Weekly.

Tried and True

Friends are scarce, but if you are suffering with that horrible disease scrofula, you will find Sulphur Bitters will cure you as it did me, after suffering eight years, and paying out hundreds of dollars to doctors and druggists.—Jeannette Hanscom, Troy, N Y.

Lord Stanley, of Preston, Governor-General of Canada, is an enthusiastic player of foot ball.

Munroe's Clothing House.

COME AND LOOK OVER OUR GREAT STOCK OF

Spring Styles for Men's and Boys' Wear.

For Variety, Excellence and Durability our Stock is far superior to any shown in this vicinity.

Our Prices Always The Lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Literary Notices.

THE MUSICAL RECORD, published by O. Ditson & Co., Boston, for May contains two pieces of new music and many good things beside.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for April 25, and May 2, contain John Wesley, The Anabaptists and their English Descendants, The Influence of Democracy on Literature, and John Wesley, The Fair Ophelia of a Highland Glen, A Suffolk Parson, Ancient Lights in the Gaelph Exhibition, An Irish Landlord, and Archæological Nomads in Rugged Cilicia, A Village Obituary, Butter Making in Jutland, and My Witches Caldron, Sark, Military Tactics of Animals, The Baboo's English, with instalments of My Old Drawing Master, Eight Days, and A Young Wife, and poetry. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each the subscription price $8 is low. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

ST. NICHOLAS for May presents a very tempting table of contents, beginning with an imaginative poem, Morning, by the late Emily Dickinson, whose work has been so cordially praised by the critics. Nora Perry's Siege of Calais, a ballad with striking illustrations by Birch, will delight little students of history, who will also read the second paper on The Land of Pluck, by Mrs. Dodge, with keen delight, supplemented as it is by two very interesting letters on Holland in the Letter-box Department. J. O. Davidson, the marine artist, has written and fully illustrated a short serial of adventure entitled, Chan Ok, which describes the capture of a noted Chinese pirate of the present day; it is based on fact, and, indeed, but a few months ago a steamer was destroyed by these piratical Chinese outlaws in the very waters wherein the action is supposed to take place. The excellent serials by Trowbridge and Noah Brooks are continued. The table of contents offers many other attractions in pictures and letter-press which intelligent readers will appreciate.

The May CENTURY begins a new volume, and in it are begun several new features of what the CENTURY calls its summer campaign. The Squirrel Inn, by Frank R. Stockton, is one of the principal and most popular of these new features. The Inn itself is carefully depicted in a picture which is the joint product of the artistic skill of both the author and Mr. Frost, the illustrator. Mr. Frost brings out also several of the principal characters of the story—which promises to be one of the most curious and characteristic of Mr. Stockton's inventions. The long promised papers (two in number) on the Court of the Czar Nicholas I. are now begun, the frontispiece of the magazine being a portrait of the Emperor Nicholas. These papers are by the late George Mifflin Dallas, in his day one of the most distinguished statesmen of the country. A brief sketch of his life appropriately accompanies this paper. Mr. Dallas describes minutely the social movement and the luxury of the court. He tells of A Court Presentation, the Burning of the Winter Palace, The Russian New Year's, etc. These papers furnish a remarkable contrast to those by Mr. Kennan. Pioneer Mining Life in California is a description from personal experience of adventure and mining methods in 1849 on the tributaries of the Sacramento River and of the Trinity. It is a day-to-day description of the conditions of mining life in '49 and '50. The writer is the Hon. E. G. Waite, Secretary of State of California, and the narrative is supplemented by illustrations of a typical character and by caricatures of the time. These are only a few of the good things which the May CENTURY contains, for proof of which the reader is respectfully referred to the number itself.

The World's Fair.

The excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equaled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr. Miles—the Restorative Nervine. It speedily cures nervous prostration, change of life, pain, dullness and confusion in head, fits sleeplessness, the blues, neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. C. W. Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbot & Moss, of Greensburg, Ind., and A. Blackburn of Wooster, O., say that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold, and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and trial bottle free at Charles H. Buss's drug store.

Woman's Column.

The Press on Kansas Women.

The women of Kansas are on the right track. They struck out bravely in those municipal elections; and whether they voted right or voted wrong, they certainly spoke for themselves.—Springfield Republican.

The ladies acquitted themselves nobly and in no case did they descend to anything unladylike. There was no boisterous talk at the polls, and no lady had cause to feel that she was doing what a true lady ought not to do when she deposited her ballot. There was no preponderance of the lower classes of women among the voters, and some of the very best women in the city were among those who voted yesterdy.—Topeka Capital.

Women came out and voted in full in Kansas cities Monday, in spite of the old question which the opponents of woman suffrage always consider a clincher:—who will take care of the babies while the women go to the polls?" It is found in practice that this matter is easily settled. The women engage the same persons to take care of the babies when they go to the polls that they previously engaged when they went to pay their taxes.—Boston Globe.

At the the annual exhibition of the National Academy of design, New York, last week, the Norman W. Dodge prize of $300, for the best picture painted in the United States by a woman, was awarded to Mrs. Mary Sargent-Florence, of Nutley, N. J.

Mrs. Lelia Robinson Sawtelle, the first woman admitted to the bar in Massachusetts, is contributing to the Ch

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 5d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE REPUBLICAN BANQUET.

Woburn Republicanism received an impetus from the meeting and banquet given by the party in Lyceum Hall last Wednesday evening that will be sensibly felt all through the summer and with still greater force at the polls in November. The meeting which by the way was a complete success in every particular will have an effect to place Woburn Republicans in straight line with the party throughout the State and Nation at once and to so imbue them with life and enthusiasm as to greatly augment their strength, increase their numbers, and insure victory at the ballotbox in the next gubernatorial contest in this Commonwealth.

Nearly 300 stalwart Republicans composed the assemblage and enjoyed the grand banquet. Party enthusiasm reached boiling pitch, and the cheering of the speakers was immense. Baldwin's Boston Orchestra furnished splendid music all through the evening.

Rev. Daniel March, D. D., asked a blessing, and with him at the guests' table on the platform were many leading Republicans of this city including Hon. Edward D. Hayden, who presided; Senator Edwin F. Wyer; Hon. J. G. Pollard; Dr. John M. Harlow; M. W. True, Chairman of Republican City Committee; City Auditor, E. G. Preston, and the distinguished orators of the evening: Hon. F. T. Greenhalge, of Lowell; Hon. W. M. Olin, Sec'y of State; Hon. H. H. Sprague, President of the Senate; Gen. John L. Swift, the Eloquent.

The stage was beautifully decorated with heaps of hydrangeas, palms, geraniums, ferns, and other plants and foliage; there was a great display of bunting; and the illumination of the hall was very brilliant indeed.

President Hayden sat at the head of the guests' table flanked by the gentlemen above mentioned and other eminent party leaders and, after Dr. March's invocation, introduced the orators with a few good, sound Republican remarks. He said:

"It does me good to preside over the this meeting because I am a Republican way to the backbone [applause] and I want to see this good old Commonwealth redeemed. I want to see the Republican party step up to the front, flaunting its banners, and whip the other side next fall. [Voices, 'We will do it!' and applause.] I am a Republican because I believe that, take it all in all, it is the party whose policy will work the greatest good to the greatest number." [Applause.]

President Sprague of the Senate was the first speaker, and in his opening he paid ex-Congressman Hayden and Senator Wyer handsome compliments for their loyalty, leadership and good work for the party in well chosen words.

Next came Gen. Swift who was followed by Sec'y of State Olin; and ex-Congressman Greenhalge wound up the meeting with one of his characteristic and most rousing speeches.

It was a big thing—ringing speeches, fine music, rich banquet, and all.

AN EXPLANATION IN ORDER.

The city, it is said, will lose several thousand dollars by the adoption last Thursday evening week of Ald. Dearborn's motion to reduce the price of a 4th class license from $1800 to $500. We understand that Ald. Dearborn has always claimed to be a temperance man but somehow the course he took at that meeting has a different look to it.

The JOURNAL is opposed to the license plan of dealing with the sale of rum first, last and all the time; but if we must have it let us get all the money out of it possible—make the privilege of ruining people as expensive as possible to those would enjoy it.

Ald. Dearborn evidently takes a different view of the matter and champions a cheap license fee.

It would be interesting just now to hear what the people of Ward 6 think of the course of their representative on the Aldermanic Board regarding the license question.

JUDGE ADAMS ELECTED.

The election of Charles D. Adams, Esq., Associate Judge of the Fourth District Court, to the office of City Solicitor was a well deserved compliment to his ability and integrity as a lawyer and a man. The JOURNAL suggested some weeks since that Judge Adams would make an excellent compromise candidate for the office and that the City Council could do no better than to elect him. The suggestion it seems was taken under advisement and last week he was chosen.

Judge Adams possesses good legal talent; he will make a safe public Counselor; and time, we believe, will demonstrate the fact that the authorities made no mistake when they elected him City Solicitor.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

S. B. Niles—Coal.
Caswell—Lacoste.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
G. F. Jones—For Sale.
Wm. Kimball—To Let.
Wm. Kimball—For Sale.
Judge Johnson—Citation.
Unitarian Society—Drama.
A. & M. Association—For Sale.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Strawberries are plenty and cheap.

— Baldwin's Cadet Orchestra of Boston can't be beat.

— Business at Mr. J. F. Ramsdell's tannery has slacked up a little.

— To-morrow the Woburn Juniors will play ball with the Howards.

— A 250 H. P. engine has just been put in at the Electric Light works.

— A brush fire at No. Woburn called out the firemen on Monday afternoon.

— Anglers are taking quite a good many fish from Horn Pond nowdays.

— Everybody said ex-Congressman Greenhalge's speech was a splendid one.

— The Adjt. and Sergt.-Major of the 5th Regt. will inspect Co. G on July 9.

— Thomas H. Marrinan has returned to work at Freeman & Co.'s machine shop.

— The tables were handsomely spread and abundantly laden with the fat of the land.

—Last Sunday afternoon the weather was 87 in the shade. It was fully as warm on Monday.

— Mr. Charles Taylor, whose leg was so badly broken 2 or 3 weeks ago, is getting on finely.

— There are more baseball clubs in this city than a dozen boys can shake a stick at in a month.

— Many prominent citizens were at the Republican Banquet who seldom attend political meetings.

— Mr. Fred A. Hartwell is at his post of duty again after a severe illness of two weeks from the grip.

— The JOURNAL prints another interesting Woburn legend from the pen of Judge Converse this week.

— Miss Livingstone conducted the physical drill at the Cummings School last Friday in the very best of shape.

— A corrected time-table of the B. & M. Railroad Southern Division is presented on page 1 of the JOURNAL.

— The remains of John Lane came here from Methuen on Wednesday and were interred in the Salem street cemetery.

— The employees of the Johnston Electric Train Signal establishment want Saturday afternoon for a half holiday.

— Mr. Hayden was in the best of plight for presiding and his brief speech on taking the chair "brought down the house."

— Don't fail to read the notice of a fine dramatic entertainment to come off at the Unitarian vestry next Friday evening.

— Mr. Peter Kenney was taken suddenly ill on Tuesday evening with pneumonia and his case is considered hopeless.

— So far as we have been able to find out that $20,000 lawsuit against Dr. Harlow has failed to materiaiize up to date.

— Policeman Austin G. French has been assigned to duty at the Highlands. Officer Marrinan will be given special duty to perform.

— Members of W. H. S. Class '91 contemplate the approaching graduating day with great complacency and with out fear and trembling.

— Mr. Thomas Carey of Buckman street, was sent to the Mass. Gen. Hos. last Sunday evening with a broken hip bone caused by a fall.

— By referring to our columns it will be seen that Mr. Gilman F. Jones has some desirable property on Beech street to rent and for sale.

— "Some Old Programmes," an article in which many Woburn old people will be interested, will appear in the JOURNAL next week.

— The Innitou Canoe Club will start from here about June 12 for a week's paddle on the Merrimac. They enjoy the annual cruise very much.

— The May Party by the Ladies Auxiliary of the St. Charles Temperance Society on May 20 promises to be a very high toned and enjoyable affair.

— Miss Antonia Maury, a highly educated lady, will address the Woburn Woman's Club at Music Hall this afternoon on "Lookout Towers of Astronomy."

— The Massachusetts Rifle Association are about to build a magnificent Club house at Walnut Hill Rifle Range. Mr. Charles H. Eastman is the architect.

— We thank Mr. Joseph Kelley of Church street for a copy of the Exeter News-Letter Supplement containing the public laws of the last New Hampshire Legislature.

— Smith, the wideawake painter, glazier, and paper-hanger, has newly painted his store on Main street. Smith keeps step with the march of internal improvements.

— The thunder and lightning of Monday night lowered the 90 degrees of heat of the day preceding quite materially and Tuesday morning was cool and comfortable.

— Bonelli, on Franklin street, is selling very stylish dress goods for ladies at exceedingly low prices. Mrs. Bonelli keeps the finest and best wares there are going.

— The remains of Mrs. Kate Lawrence Lothrop, whose tragic death occurred in New Hampshire three weeks ago, were brought here and buried in the Woburn Cemetery.

— Mr. Lawrence Reade and family, Mr. W. F. Kenney of the Globe, and many other Woburn people attended the funeral of Rev. Fr. Murphy at Lawrence last Wednesday

— Mr. Moses Bancroft has a stock of ladies and gentlemen's boots and shoes unsurpassed by any in this city. And Manager Lahey says Bancroft beats the world on low prices.

— A bold one got young Mr. Hartwell at the City Market to cash a 20-dollar check purporting to be drawn by J. R. Carter & Co. and endorsed by Mr. Benjamin Hinckley, the other day.

— We should like firstrate to have a suit of Sunday go-to-meeting clothes made out of some of those handsome and very stylish cloths at G. R. Gage & Co's popular merchant tailoring establishment.

— The Boston clothing house who have been looking for a room with power in this city for an overall factory to employ 50 girls will probably locate here. The Board of Trade Committee think so, at anyrate.

— The Innitou Canoe Club are making great preparations for celebrating, on May 20th, the 5th anniversary of their organization. Its chief feature will be a supper at Young's, Boston, with trimmings.

— The hardware, tinware, stove, and building materials store of Mr. Leonard Thompson on Main street, is one of the best filled in Middlesex county. Mr. Waldo Thompson is its General Superintendent.

— Our esteemed friend, the landlord of the Jefferson House near Lake Ave. in this city, has been treated very unfairly this year in respect to licenses, which all comes from his being on the wrong side of the political fence.

— Dr. N. A. Springer has pulled Landlord Thompson of the Central House through in good shape. The patient was in sore straits, but the Doctor's skill was equal to the emergency and health returned to the Landlord.

— The Woburn Workers will tender a reception to Rev. F. W. March and family in the parlor of the Congregational church, on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. It is hoped that everyone who can will attend this gathering.—C.

— Every good temperance person in this city ought to subscribe for Our Message, the official organ of the Mass. W. C. T. U., for it is a bright, wide awake, true-blue temperance monthly, the subscription price of which is only 25 cents a year.

— Edward F. Wyer, Homer B. Grant and George W. Buchanan have been appointed Sergeants of G, 5th Mass. Vol. Regt.; and Philip O'Bryne, Clarence E. Littlefield and William S. Murdock have ben appointed Corporals of the same Co.

— The dramatic entertainment given by the Friday Night Club on the evening of May 8 at the Unitarian church was entirely satisfactory to everybody including Mr. Harry B. Brackett who holds the Club's money-bags, and likewise business Manager Thompson.

— Why don't the Cemetery Commissioners, or those who may have the authority to do so, give the Salem Street Cemetery a name? "The Salem Street Cemetery" don't sound well; "The Woburn Cemetery" is meaningless; therefore why not give it a suitable name?

— Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Dolliver arrived in this city last Saturday from San Francisco, Cal., where they have resided for many years. They spend every other summer here and return to the Pacific coast in the fall. Mr. Dolliver is one of the successful business men of California.

— We received a call from Mr. H. W. Pinkerton of Taunton last Saturday in company with Mr. L. W. Cooper of this city. The two gentlemen have been fellow alewive-catchers at Taunton for many years, hence the strong fellow-feeling that exists between them. The visit was an agreeable one to the JOURNAL.

— Medford Rum was made as early as 1735, at which date the civil authorities of the Province of Massachusetts Bay issued an address to the British Parliament in which they said: "Rum is the chief manufacture in Massachusetts, there being upwards of 15,000 hogsheads manufactured in the Province yearly."

— Mrs. Charles A. Fowle, formerly of this city, after a pleasant winter at the American House in Boston, has gone to West Newton to reside for the present. She will be with her son-in-law, George A. Blaney, Esq., one of Boston's successful lawyers, whose home is at the Newtons—the garden spot of New England.

— The operetta of "Gyp, Jr." was most successfully given before a very large audience in G. A. R. Hall, Thursday evening. The stage was hardly suitable for the accommodation of so many children, and there is talk of producing it in the Town Hall some time in the future where it can be given with grand effect.—Winchester Star.

— J. T. Freeman & Co., machinists of this city, are building a big gristmill for a Boston Company on the So. Boston Flats, on which they have about 15 men now at work. The job has been underway several months and its completion will take 3 or 4 weeks longer. It is one of the largest mill-building contracts Freeman & Co. have ever handled.

— At the annual meeting of the Woburn Firemen's Relief Association held Wednesday evening, May 13, the following officers were elected: President Albert A. Ferrin; Vice-President, Charles Stewart; Secretary, G. H. Newcomb; Financial Secretary, H. L. Andrews; Treasurer, E. E. Stowers; Auditors, J. C. Larock, J. H. Bates, G. H. Brauer.

— Some time last Thursday night week, the residence of Mr. John M. Willoughby, 38 Sturgis street, was honored with a visit from burglars, who escaped with a sum of money stolen from the clothes of Mr. W. The burglar secured entrance through a back window with the help of a wheelbarrow. Burglars are getting quite plenty hereabouts.

— Mr. Henry B. Wood, Executive Engineer in the Street Department of the City of Boston, has left his home in this city and gone to 35 Linden St., Allston, to reside. In renewing his subscription to the JOURNAL he says: "This will keep me posted in Woburn affairs, in which I shall ever cherish a deep and abiding interest. "Which certainly has a good patriotic ring to it.

— Woburn was well represented last Tuesday evening at the concert in Town Hall Stoneham given in aid of Mr. Edward McKay by Miss Lizzie F. Smith of Montvale Avenue, Woburn. Miss Smith is a talented singer and did much to render the concert a success, for which she received hearty thanks. Thanks were also extended to Mrs. C. E. Smith for her fine piano selections.

— It was announced last Sabbath that the Woburn Workers would give a reception to Rev. F. W. March, son of Rev. Daniel March, D. D., of this city, and for several years a missionary in Syria, and family in the parlors of the First Congregational Church, between the hours of 3 and 5 to-morrow, Saturday, afternoon. Rev. F. W. March and family will sail on the last of this month for their Eastern home and the proposed reception will doubtless be numerously attended as it will be in the nature of a farewell or goodbye to the excellent Christian people in whose honor it is to be given.

— After a sharp contest the will of the late Mrs. Stephen Dow was admitted to probate last week. An appeal was taken by the contestants. The estate disposed of by the will is valued at nearly $500,000, and the 8 grandchildren (3 of whom are children of Mrs. Emma T. Dow of Court street), who are the contestants, if successful in their appeal, will get somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000.

— To lay out and make a public park of the Capt. John P. Crane lot on the corner of Main and Warren streets, for which a petition has been presented to the Park Commissioners, would be a good thing to do. It would make a pretty spot, a nice opening, a pleasant resort, and its establishment would increase the value of real estate in the neighborhood very much. A city can't very well have too many pretty parks.

— The Mishawum Club observed their 24th anniversary in fitting manner last Monday evening. A nice entertainment was given and a supper served. The newly elected officers are: President, Squire B. Goddard; Vice President, William Beggs; Secretary, Frederic H. Lewis; Treasurer, Edwin B. Blanchard; Directors, the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, and William F. Davis, George A. Simonds, George Buchanan.

— Mr. Charles Cummings appeared out yesterday morning with a pair of Canada chestnuts whose beauty, style, step and perfect match couldn't but rejoice the heart of any lover of good horseflesh to look at. They were from the car-load of fine animals received by Mr. Cummings from Canada on Wednesday and to say that he felt just a little proud of the span of beauties would be drawing it mild. The horses can be seen at the Cummings farm barns on Cambridge street.

— We had a pleasant call from Associate Editor (Madam) Theodore Wilson of that bright, breezy, and popular weekly, the Winchester Star, last Monday. When the very sensible Star people get tired of the genteel and highly proper monotony of the delightful little village on the South of us and begin to get just a bit afraid of growing rusty in brain and joints they hop on to a street car and take a trip to this big, bustling, busy, noisy Woburn, and get refreshed, stirred up, out of the ruts and humdrum of super-rural life, and feel better for it. We like to have them come up here too, more particularly the Associate Editor.

— The following members received the Phalanx badges for marksmanship: Sharpshooters, Private John W. Blake; first class, Sergt. George F. Hanson, Private A. W. Nason, Private G. H. Nason; second class, Capt. William C. Parker, Sergt. G. W. Buchanan, Sergt. George S. Cutler, Corp. Clarence E. Littlefield, Privates George Durward, Frank W. Hanson, Harry G. Wyer, George H. Wyer; third class, Sergt. Homer B. Grant, Corp. Winfield S. Fetridge, Corporal William L. Murdock; Privates Irving R. Bancroft, Frank E. Stone, Thomas McCarthy, Thomas Cosgrove, Frank W. Winn, Thomas J. Dunn, John F. McSweeney.

— The Agricultural and Mechanic Association of this city, for many years owned principally and carried on by Mr. John Johnson, are winding up their affairs as rapidly as possible and have got so they can see the end of their career. They have some estates yet to close out, one of which is advertised in the columns of the JOURNAL to-day, and to which we especial attention. The property is very desirable and its central location insures a steady increase in its value, making it a very nice piece of real estate to buy for a rise. The advertisement sets forth the principal facts concerning the property and will be found to be perfectly reliable.

— If we have reckoned right and haven't skipped anybody there is not a single rum licensee in Ward 1 in this city. Just think of it! And it is Ald. Davis's home too! How do Tenney, Dever and other prominent and influential constituents of Ald. Davis who were applicants for licenses think of it? From his frequent speeches before the Board one would naturally conclude that Ald. Davis is a great stickler for right and justice in municipal affairs; for "business" methods in looking after the public interests; a sort of pro bono publico Alderman, whose sole end and aim is to serve the people regardless of personal considerations; and yet Tenney and Dever and others in Ward 1 are left out in the cold on the license business. What excuse has Ald. Davis to offer for this?

— It was a grand celebration of St. Tammany Day that Shawsheen Tribe, I. O. R. M., indulged in at their wigwam last Tuesday evening. There was the biggest kind of an attendance and enthusiasm and good cheer reigned supreme. The programme included remarks by Sachem A. T. Webber, lightning drill by J. E. Darmody, recitation, by Master Eddie Bryant, piano solo by Miss Mabel Dickson, song by Don C. Page, reading by Prof. E. A. Pierce, recitation by Miss Lena Harrington, whistling solo by L. W. Britton, recitation by J. C. Knight, piano solo by Miss Winnie Page, song by Master Harry Boutwell, piano solo by Sister Boutwell, recitation by L. W. Britton, banjo and guitar solo by Miss Lucia Patten and Master Frank French, recitation by Miss Edith Bryant, song by Miss Hannah Whitty, reading by A. L. Perham.

— The 1st Div. of the Sewing Class at the Warren Academy Industrial School lately established as a result of earnest and continuous work on the part of Mrs. C. D. Adams of the School Board—its late President—and Supt. Frank B. Richardson, is composed of the following girls: May D. Caulfield, Edna W. Rice, Sarah Graham, Louise Richardson, Ella Kennedy, Marion E. Conn, Bertha W. Tidd, Marguerite B. Dorr, May F. Simonds, Dora Boyle, Ethel Burbeck, Edith M. Leathe, Maude S. Waters, Sybil Shaw, Dory F. Parkhurst, Florence S. Porter, Elsie S. Jones, Annie R. Wyer, Carrie L. Morrill, Alice M. Haynes, Lucia K. Patten, Isabel M. Wetherell, Bertha L. Cutter, Kate Barker, May Barker, Susie Mabel Carlisle, Margaret E. Rix, Winnie Robertson, Marion Holland, and Hattie Robertson. Fifty candidates applied but only thirty of these can be accommodated at present. The others will be placed in the next division, which will be formed soon.

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

ATR EASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

— The Barbers Protective Union of this city were entertained in royal style at the Windsor Hotel last Monday. The whole-souled proprietors of that popular hostelry threw their hearts and doors wide open and gave the Woburn members of the Union such a feed as some of them haven't laid their jaws to since the year one. They were the jolliest and happiest set of mortals that ever assembled over a feast at any Woburn hotel before. The Windsor will continue to feel the boom for a year to come. The gentlemen who sat at the tables were William Roulo, Louis A. White, B. Mathews, Frank A. McSheffrey, Eugene Sullivan, James Roulo, James Mathews, John Doherty, David Ronco, John Harney, Edwin G. Piper, William E. McDonald, Alexander B. Barrett, James Darmody.

— Mr. Waterman Brown of this city takes pains to inform our paper that on May 8, 1835—56 years ago last Friday—work on cutting down Pemberton Hill in Boston was commenced, and he was one of the crew of men who struck the first blow and removed the first shovelful of the earth from it that now constitutes the foundation of the Boston & Lowell Railroad station in Boston, Causeway and other streets, and many present building sites, in that city. Mr. Sheldon of Wilmington was the contractor to reduce Pemberton Hill, and with big crews of men and oxen (he employed ox-teams altogether) he did the job thoroughly and well. Mr. Brown remembers all about the tri-capped mount, the homes and fine estates on it, the names of the people who owned and lived happily in them—everything concerning it was so indelibly stamped on the tablets of his memory then that it seems as plain to his mental vision now as it did to his physical vision 56 ago.

— George H. Taylor, salesman for Dodge, Haley & Co., ironmongers, Boston, with residence on Pleasant street, this city, had one of his thumbs badly wrenched last Saturday afternoon in a baseball game played on the old Medford grounds by a team from the house he serves and one from the house of Bradlee, Hastings & Co. of Boston. It was thought at first that the thumb was displaced, but happily it was not. The Boston Sunday papers published the result of the game as 19 to 18 in favor of the Bradlee house team, which was not correct—the teams tied each other on a score of 19 a side. The boys from the house of Dodge accomplished this handsome feat nothwithstanding the Bradlees, contrary to mutual stipulations, had professionals among their 9, and also paid the umpire. Everybody knows what that latter statement means without being told by the JOURNAL. Young Taylor's accident didn't prevent him from resuming his duties on Monday morning.

— It was 27 years ago last Friday morning that Charles K. Conn was taken prisoner of war and hustled down to the Land of Dixie. It was at the Battle of Spottsylvania that the mishap occurred to him which kept him confined in a Rebel prison for 4 months and gave him more than a taste of its beauties. In the early stages of that memorable battle Conn fell pierced clear through the body by a Rebel bullet and of course was easily made a captive of. He was reported dead and his family and many friends here at home mourned for him as such. There was no other thought among them but that he had been fatally shot and was filling a soldier's grave in the South until a letter, which he managed to get through the prison guards, addressed to Mr. George H. Conn, a cousin of his, reached its destination here in Woburn. Its receipt caused great rejoicing because the supposed dead soldier was then, as now, well liked and had many friends. In due time he reached his Regiment again and was subsequently promoted. Captain Conn is very reticent on the subject of his retirement from the Rebel prison in which he was confined, but the JOURNAL hopes to be able to tell all about it one of these days.

Obituary.

Mr. Henry A. Aldrich of Mendon, who died very suddenly of apoplexy on May 7th at the age of 78, was appointed Postmaster of Mendon by President Van Buren, and served continuously under every President since, resigning the office only a few months ago. He was probably the oldest Postmaster in the United States in point of service. He was a stanch Democrat. Mr. Aldrich was elected to the Legislature of 1852 and was for many years a leader of his party in the county. He was born in Mendon, Aug 23, 1813, was married in the town and had always lived there. Personally, he was genial and popular. He leaves a widow and two sons, who are in business in Boston.—Boston Journal.

The deceased was the father of Mr. Henry M. Aldrich, a prominent and worthy citizen of Woburn.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

The Lynn Field Day.

The Second Massachusetts School Regiment held their annual muster at Lynn on last Saturday and it was a great event for Lynn and the military. The shoe city was alive all day long with music, muskets and martial trappings, and the people thereof made it a holiday. The boys were welcomed with warm cordiality and were treated splendidly by the citizens, although some of the School and civil authorities there seem to have lost their heads a bit and some things went just a little awry. For example: Gov. Russell was compelled to take his entire dinner, from soup to dessert, on the self-same plate; a distinguished local civilian was forced to dine from a single loaf of bread of uncertain age; the School Board women of Lynn were "not in it;" high dignitaries from Lowell, Woburn and other places were not properly provided with carriages for the grand march; but there was no growling—everybody was happy and the goose hung high.

City and country papers unite in giving the Regiment of Schoolboys great credit for fine military deportment, the exhibition of the martial spirit which characterizes the true soldier, for soldierly bearing, and gentlemanly conduct. In respect to these things the Woburn H. S. B. was not a whit behind any Company on the muster field; on the contrary, their deportment was quite generally a theme for complimentary remarks. Mr. John L. Parker said: "it good behavior counts in the award of prizes to-day General Orders for the coming year will be dated at Woburn," which wasn't a bad thing to say about the Woburn boys, by any means. But then, that is just Drill-master Mendum's style of doing things—he would make of his boys fine gentlemen as well as good soldiers.

Hundreds and thousands of deeply interested people, not only residents of Lynn but of Boston and surrounding towns, including municipal and school officials, members of the State Military, the Press, besides Gov. Russell and many Mayors of neighboring cities, with a big sprinkling of admiring damsels and many dames, witnessed the marches and parades of the Regiment during the day and were profuse in their praises of the gallant manner in which the youthful soldiers carried themselves. And none more so than the W. H. S. B.

Lynn opened her doors, hearts and hands to the boys, and wasn't it a galaday, though! Banquets were provided for the soldiery, distinguished civilians, and invited guests of eminence. Through the kindness and enterprise of Mrs. John L. Parker (the better half of Editor J. L. P. of the Lynn Item) and other former Woburn residents the W. H. S. B. were the fortunate partakers of a rare good dinner, for which these kind friends received volleys of hearty thanks.

Mrs. Parker was a graduate of the W. H. S, in Class '55.

Our boys started off from here for the muster early Saturday morning with the Woburn Drum Corps, city officials, private citizens, and high hopes of winning the Colonelcy, and in due time landed at the Shoe Town, where they were received with open arms.

During the day they discharged their duties promptly and well, and their personal conduct was worthy of all praise. They marched in the best soldier style and their evolutions elicited words of commendation from officers, judges, and spectators. But it was of but little use for any of the other Companies to try and wrench the honors from the Malden Battalion, and that was plain enough to be seen from the start. Malden won the Colonelcy and Gloucester Lt. Col. They were entitled to the honors, especially so the Malden boys. And this is the wherefore of it: Owing to the school rules in that city the Malden Battalion has devoted twice as much time to the study of military tactics and drill as have the Woburn and most other Companies, and in the business of winning prizes that makes all the difference in the world. The Gloucester soldiers too have had extraordinary advantages which gave them the second place. But they all did remarkably well.

Mayor Bean attended the muster; so did William F. Kenney, Esq., of the Boston Globe, Chairman of the Woburn School Board; likewise Ald. Pushee; Drill-Master Mendum, Principal of the W. H. S., was conspicuous among the military, civil, and educational dignitaries present, and other Woburn people were reported as honoring the occasion with their presence.

It was a great Field Day for the Regiment and Lynn, and the W. H. S. B. came out of the trial in the very best of shape.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

GREAT SALE OF

REAL ESTATE!

In order to close up its business the WOBURN AGRICULTURAL and MECHANIC ASSOCIATION will sell on the premises on

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1891,

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon,

The Simonds Estate so-called, situate on Main Street, in Woburn, nearly opposite the Cummings Grammar Schoolhouse.

This property consist of a large Dwelling-house in good repair and with modern conveniences, a Stable, a large Grain-house (now occupied by Jacob A. Flesh), a large brick building and 102,648 square feet, or about 2½ acres of land. This land has a frontage of 415 feet on the railroad and 402 feet on Main Street. The southerly bound of the property, extending from Main Street to the railroad, measures 325 feet, and the northerly bound 192 feet. The property is valued by the Assessors at $15,600. The sale is peremptory and will take place rain or shine.

The estate will be sold to the highest bidder.

Full possession of the property will be given immediately. $1,000 will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the sale. $10,000 of the purchase money may at the option of the purchaser remain on mortgage at 5 per cent. interest. Others terms will be announced at the sale.

WOBURN A. & M. ASSOCIATION,

By JOHN JOHNSON, Treasurer.

For further information apply to EDWARD F. JOHNSON, 424 Main Street.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Last Friday evening the Board held a special meeting.

Voted to accept the invitation of Post 161, G. A. R., to attend the celebration May 30, also to attend the field exercises at Lynn of the School Battalion.——Concurred with the Aldermen in the choice of Joseph M. Gerrish as Assistant Assessor in Ward 4; laying edgestones and concrete sidewalks; laying crossings at the intersection of certain streets; placing electric lights corner of Pearl and West sts., New Boston st. and Cleveland Avenue, Middlesex and Chestnut; corner of Arlington and Carter sts.; corner Main and Lowell.——W. C. Foster was given leave to withdraw on his petition for a light on Vernon st ——Councilman Larkin introduced an order which was passed, providing for the revision of the City Ordinances, the Mayor and two others to have charge.

ALDERMEN.

This Branch of the City Government held a regular meeting last week Thursday evening over which Mayor Bean presided.

Appointment of Elisha F. Hayward and Arthur E. Gage Registrars of Voters rejected.——The Mayor appointed and the Board confirmed Austin G. French, as regular police officer and James H. Marrinan and John W. Graham, special officers.——Following petitions received and referred: Fred H. Clark, Edward F. Maguire, John Garvin and S. B. Pooley, for license to collect junk; Thomas Marriam and Patrick McLaughlin, to keep pool tables; Philip Haggie to clean vaults; Charles T. H. Kendall for auctioneer's license; Woburn Electric Light Co., for permission to locate poles; W. H. Bartlett and others for electric lights on Mill st.; Cyrus Day, for State Aid; Henry B. Hayes, to have the line of Main street established; Winthrop Hammond for license for Lyceum Hall.——Vote of thanks tendered to Commander Frank W. Graves of Post 161, G. A. R., for invitation of Mayor and Aldermen to a lunch on Memorial Day.

A communication was received from Thomas Moore calling attention to irregularity in regard to the granting of his license, inasmuch as the requisite ten days had not intervened between the advertising of his application and the granting of the same. Alderman Dearborn moved that the licence be revoked, but the Mayor said the revocation was not necessary.——Woburn Gaslight Co. asked for p rmission to open streets.——A communication was received from High School Principal Mendum calling attention to the coming Field Day of the Second School Regiment of Massachusetts, and expressing a desire to have the members of the City Government represented, and as guests of the boys.——F. P. Curran sent word that he couldn't serve as City Solicitor any longer, whereupon Hon. Charles D. Adams was elected to that office in concurrence.——Milk Inspector Leeds and Chief of Police McIntosh submitted monthly reports.——Reports and orders were offered in favor of electric lights on corner of Peal and West streets, New Boston, Cleveland Avenue, corner of Middlesex and Chestnut sts., Chestnut and Willow, Arlington and Carter, and Garfield and Carter.

Committee of Police reported in favor of license to clean vaults etc., to Geo. D Nelson and John B. Davis ——In accordance with the notice previously given by Alderman Dearborn, that gentleman moved the reconsideration of the order fixing the price of licenses. The Board voted to reconsider. Then Alderman Dearborn moved to amend the order as originally adopted, so as to fix the rate of a fourth-class license at $500 whether the applicant took out a first-class license or not. This amendment was adopted by the Board. In the original order the price of a fourth-class license, when the party desiring the same had not taken out a first-class license was to be $1800, exactly the rate of both first and fourth class combined.——On motion of Alderman Walsh the Board went into executive session to take action in regard to the granting of two remaining licenses necessary to complete the requisite thirteen. In this private session Messrs. Shinkwin and Reddy, and John F. Scally, were the parties to whom licenses were granted. The Mayor also signed the licenses of Messrs. John Maloney, Thomas Moore, John H Connolly, A. A Doherty, S. D. Thompson, Peter Kenney & Co., Connolly & Kerrigan, Shinkwin & Reddy, McNulty & McLaughlin, and Thomas G Merriam & Co.——Signatures await to be appended to the licenses of John F. Scally, Martin & Rafferty and Thomas McGovern.

Good Appointment.

The Governor did well in re-appointing Rufus R. Wade, of this city, to be Chief of the District Police. Mr. Wade is a competent and painstaking official, who has kept his office out of politics. No doubt the Governor had plenty of invitations to give the place to a Democrat but by ignoring party claims and re-appointing an efficient officer he has shown far more wisdom than would have been evinced by a different course. He serves his party best who serves his country best.—Somerville Citizen.

Mr. Wade has served long and honorably at the head of the District Police and it would have been a grave mistake for Gov. Russell not to have continued him in that responsible office.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, May 9, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

H. B. Buck, John Howe, Cherry St., Mr. Wm. Ward.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Houses for sale in Malden at great bargains. Mrs. C. P. Lacoste 62 Pleasant street.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: "Mercy and Truth Meeting Together."

CONGREGATIONAL.—At 10.30 a. m. the pastor will preach. Young people's meeting at 6 p. m. Preaching by the pastor at 7 p. m. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evening.

METHODIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Prelude, Granting licenses to Criminals. Subject: "Weighed in the balance and found wanting." Epworth League at 6 p. m. Revival Services at 7 p. m. Preaching by Miss Jillie N. Mayhew of Boston. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Class meeting Friday evening.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, May 13, Ellen Cullen, aged 3 months.
In Somerville, May 6, Deborah M. Page, formerly of this city, aged 66 years.
In Methuen, May 10, John R. Lane, formerly of this city, aged 66 years, 10 months.

Spring Medicine

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained as a Spring Medicine is simply wonderful. It is recognized everywhere as the leading preparation for this season, and no other article in the market begins to reach the sale which this medicine has gained. Any druggist will confirm this statement. Hood's Sarsaparilla has reached this position of the people's favorite spring medicine, because it does all that is claimed for it. It contains those properties which are known to medical science as powerful in removing poisonous impurities from the blood, and by their tonic effect to restore waste tissues and drive away weakness and debility.

"I am having a good trade on Hood's Sarsaparilla now, and those who use it think it the best blood and tonic remedy on the market." J. F. HITZ, Owensboro, Ky.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it e

A New Assortment

— OF —

Scotch Ginghams

— ALSO, —

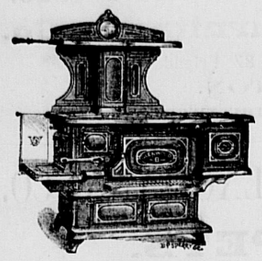
A FINE LINE OF

AMERICAN GINGHAMS,

At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Other Side.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL:—It would appear to be the misfortune of Mayor Bean and the Aldermen who have thus far supported him that the local papers have been arrayed against them. The JOURNAL has, however, displayed a disposition to deal fairly with the Mayor and I write this letter because I feel that the public should be told some things which may not be generally known. The Mayor has done well not to notice the attacks which have been made upon him, the motives for which can be easily discerned. The citizens did their own thinking before the last election and may be expected to do so now.

Now with regard to the matter of licenses. There were some 30 or more applicants for licenses. Of these 30, three were known to have supported Mayor Bean last Fall and 27 more or less opposed him. The public has been asked to watch and see whether these three get licenses. Would it not be as pertinent and appropriate to ask them to see how many of the 27 are among the fortunate ones? If it were true that the Mayor proposed that those three should be licensed, would it be a more serious offence than that certain Aldermen were determined that the right to sell liquor should be given only to those selected from the 27?

It has been stated that in order that J. F. Scally might get a license the Mayor would sign 12 licenses to parties selected by the four Aldermen who have opposed him. Has not his course demonstrated the falsity of the claim? It is well known that he has constantly asserted that his action as to the licenses he would not be controlled by the action of the Aldermen as to Scally. It is known that the Mayor has repeatedly stated both in public and private that he had no man for whom he should ask or demand a license, but that he did object to certain parties being licensed. It is known that the Mayor tried to bring about a satisfactory compromise between the two parties in the Board but such effort was futile. It is known that he signed such licenses as he proposed to sign before action was taken as to licensing Scally, and that if he would now sign the licenses which he refused to sign, Scally would get his license at once.

The facts which have leaked out about the first executive session of the Aldermen, when 11 licenses were granted, indicate rather high handed dealing. Under the watchful eye of the leader of the majority 11 licenses were granted, instead of 15; these 11 were voted on one ballot; the four Aldermen each voted for the same list, they refused to grant the other two by a vote of 4 to 3 and gave no reasons. A 15 minute and then a 10 minute recess for consultation was asked for by the minority and each request refused, 4 to 3. No discussion was allowed. The majority wanted none. The thing they were to do was mapped out for them and it was no use to consider the minority.

After this meeting rumor says the Mayor was beset by requests to sign all licenses and requests and advice to sign none. He kept his own counsel. He signed none till the evening when the price of licenses was to be finally settled. To sign before would have done no good. Then he signed nine of the 11 granted. He was ready to give reasons for not signing the other two. He gave them and stood firm upon them. I believe, Mr. Editor, that fair minded men will approve those reasons and commend the Mayor for taking the stand he did and not yield to threats or bluff. He refused to sign McGovern's license because his place which he had built under a promise from some one that he should be licensed was nearer the parochial school than it could by law be to a public school. Those in charge of the parochial school objected to the license and the Mayor took the ground that a private and a public school should be treated alike. He is reported to have refused to sign a license for Rafferty & Martin at Montvale because Martin is foreman of the hose company there, because a licensed saloon in Ward 5 becomes a place of resort from Stoneham and other no license towns near by and derives much of its support therefrom, and because he believes all the licenses should be at the centre where they can be under close police guard. Are these not valid reasons?

Now the disappointed applicants propose, it is said, to apply to the Supreme Court under the inspiring leadership of the Ex-City Solicitor to compel the Mayor to sign common victuallers' licenses and thus force him to sign the first-class liquor licenses. Whatever may be the outcome of this proceeding it seems to me that Mayor Bean is deserving of credit for the stand he has taken in the matter. He has been egregiously misrepresented in this and other matters, but he has conducted himself with dignity; has displayed ability to handle the important question of the city's finances in a competent way, winning the approval of many who did not support him when he was elected; and has endeavored to do his duty as a public official. He has been handicapped and it looks as though a determined effort had been made to discredit him and his acts, but in spite of this the writer believes, as do others who know all the circumstances, that the Mayor has fully justified the confidence reposed in him by the citizens last Fall when they rebuked the same elements in our local politics which are now opposing him. FAIR PLAY.

A JOURNEY

— FROM —

China and Japan

To Woburn.

800 yards of Straw Mattings have now arrived at C. Willard Smith's Carpet Room, 399 Main St., Woburn.

This is the Largest Stock we have ever shown.

The styles are all new and very desirable.

The prices are very low.

Our 17 cent Straw Matting is as good as many that sell for 25 cents. It is a bargain.

The Mattings we offer at 25 cents are very good styles, and the quality heavy and fine.

At 35 cents we have a fine Seamless Matting.

Our 38 cent Seamless Straw Mattings are a great bargain, and very fine and very heavy.

The usual Boston price on these goods is 50 cents a yard.

We save you twelve cents on every one.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

Found the "Satisfactory Solution."

Woburn is threatened with serious interruption, if not total loss, of her tanning and currying industries in consequence of an order issued by the Supreme Court to restrain Stephen Dow & Co. from discharging the sewage of their tannery into Horn Pond, because by so doing Mystic Pond, from which Boston receives a part of her water supply is thereby polluted.

The injunction is causing much alarm for the future prosperity of the city, as the works are entirely closed in consequence, and should the injunction be made perpetual that firm will look for a location in another town. The Woburn JOURNAL, in an editorial last Friday, called on the Board of Trade to take some active measures to assist the Dow firm in resisting the petition to make the injunction perpetual.

Woburn has comparatively recently adopted a city form of government, having for quite a number of years past made rapid strides in growth of population by reason of her large tanning and currying industries, and not many years ago she was conferred the further boon of being made a main line station of the Boston & Lowell railroad, and to crush her main stay a single blow, as the order is likely to do, would be a serious detriment to her future prospects. Although naturally well fitted for a residential suburb, she is so far from Boston, and so many attractive towns intervene, that many years may elapse before the overflowing tide of population reaches her border. Boston must of course have pure water, but it is to be hoped that Woburn may find some satisfactory solution of the difficulty and retain her hitherto growing and prosperous industry—Peabody Press.

Happily all trouble between the Boston authorities and Stephen Dow & Co., of this city has been brought to a permanent close and leather making will be speedily resumed at the old Dow tannery. Last Friday afternoon Boston's application for an injunction against the Dows was dismissed and those gentlemen were placed in statue quo ante bellum by the court with an additional entry on the docket of "no further action for the same cause," providing always the proprietors of the tannery use due care and diligence to prevent the pollution of the waters of Horn, Wedge, Mystic, and other Ponds, which of course they will do.

Thus the trouble is settled not only between Boston and the Dows but other cases will be regulated and adjusted on the same basis and our great industry will have no more headflows of a serious character from Boston to contend with. The come-out of this suit will prove to be a good thing for Woburn and insures her future prosperity. What effect the JOURNAL'S position had on the dismissal of proceedings against Stephen Dow & Co. we are not able to say; but that its influence was felt is fair to conclude.

As to Woburn's future growth the Press is respectfully informed that that is assured. There has been no period in the last 20 years when her population was not on the increase, and her growth in the future is morally certain of being much more rapid than it has been in the past.

Death of Rev. Fr. Murphy.

The above well known and popular Catholic priest died at his home in Hopkinton at 2 o'clock last Monday morning after an illness of 48 hours of inflammation of the bowels. He was pastor of St. John the Evangelist church in that town to take charge of which he went from Woburn six years ago after a devoted and successful service of 8 or 10 years. While a resident here he was for several years a member of the School Board and took a lively interest in the affairs of the town and had many warm friends outside of the church. Fr. Murphy was born in Ireland, April 25, 1849, and came to America with his parents when but 16. He availed himself of all the means of education accessible in the land of his birth, and on coming here began attending the public schools of Lawrence. Later he entered Holy Cross College, Worcester, and, after winning scholarly distinction there and at the Troy (N. Y.) Seminary, he was ordained a priest in 1875.

After his ordination he was assigned to labor at Arlington, Salem, Lawrence and Woburn. On June 6, 1885, he was appointed pastor of the Hopkinton parish, and at once threw his whole energies into the upbuilding, not only of the uncompleted church, but of the parish itself. Personally suave, dignified, astute and of winning manners and bearing, he made himself beloved by his charge as well because of his great labor for his flock as for his ability. His face was expressive alike of power and benevolence. His form was sturdy, active and shapely, and his bearing was at all times worthy of his calling.

Burlington.

Great improvements and alterations are being made at the "Pines."

James Russell Reed, Esq., of Boston has come to Burlington to spend the summer.

Mr. Nathan Simonds has returned to Burlington and is occupying for a time the house belonging to his brother, Mr. Otis Simonds.

On Thursday of last week, there was a severe fire in the woods on the Turnpike road, which burned over about fifty acres

At the annual election of the Sunday School last Sunday the following officers were chosen. Thomas I. Reed, Superintendent; Mrs. E. S. Curtis, Secretary and Treasurer; Fred F. Rogan, Librarian. Miss Abbie D. Sewall, Mrs. Leila J. Marion and Mrs. J. Foster were chosen to repair and replenish the books in the library.

About Assessing.

WOBURN, MASS., April 30, 1891.

WM. T. GRAMMER, ESQ., Chairman of the Board of Assessors.

Dear Sir:—I beg leave to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, addressed to me as City Solicitor, inquiring what is the legal and proper course for the Assessors to pursue in the matter of assessing buildings erected on leased land.

There are two courses equally legal and equally proper which may be pursued, and a third which, although perfectly legal it is not advisable to follow, having in view the ultimate collection by legal process of the tax so assessed in case of failure upon the part of the person assessed to voluntarily pay the same.

This third course is that of assessing the building so erected to the owner of the building as real estate, and the land upon which stands to the owner of the land. While the building may be legally so assessed, it is difficult to see how, in the event of the tax collector being obliged to sell such building to enforce the payment of the tax so assessed, the purchaser at such a tax sale could get any title to the building for which he would be willing to pay value. And as collection by tax sale is the surest way to enforce collection of taxes upon real estate and as such a method would be impractical under the circumstances described, it seems to me that the practice of assessing buildings erected upon leased land to the owner of the buildings a part from the assessment of the land should be discontinued. Of the other two courses that of assessing the buildings and the land upon which it stands to the owner of the buildings is practical when the building is situated on a lot of land the boundaries of which can easily be determined, but this course is open to some objection for the reason that it leaves to the assessors the, at times, somewhat difficult task of discovering who is in fact the owner of the building. And as the only other course avoids all the objections which can be offered to the two already described, it can safely be adopted by the Assessors with the absolute certainty that the collection of taxes assessed in pursuance thereof is insured by a lien upon the land and the building for two years from the first of October of the year in which such taxes are assessed.

I would therefore advise that hereafter the assessors tax to the owner of the land and the building erected on it through the owner of the building and the owner of the land be different and distinct persons. I have the honor to be

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS P. CURRAN.

Two Duets.

At the entertainment of the Friday Night Club, given last Friday evening, Mrs. Robert J. W. Phinney and Miss Mabel Davis sang very sweetly indeed: "Breezes of Night," and "Spanish Duet."

Some idea of the amount of coal consumed in this country may be derived from a few statistics in the last report of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company. The total output of this Company for the year ending Nov. 30, 1890, averaged over twenty-three thousand tons per day; the lands owned by it comprise one-third of the entire anthracite coal fields of the world; the value of the property with its equipments is over eighty million dollars; and it alone owns fifty-seven collieries on its own lands and works twelve on leased lands. The new management has been most energetic; under President McLeod's and General Manager Henderson's active administration, so ably seconded by General Coal Agent T. M. Richards, the facilities for sales have been greatly increased, and the demand is constantly growing for the Reading coals, which include every variety of coal that is mined, from the hardest white ash to the famous free-burning Brookside, which is the deepest red ash mined. Mr. Edward Sherwin, the sales agent of the Eastern department, at Boston, has been mainly instrumental in bringing the New England business to its present flourishing condition by his unflagging efforts.

WINCHESTER.

It isn't "thunder shower" any longer: it is "electrical storm."

The Assessor has broke loose again and is abroad in the land.

The general impression is that there will be a great deal of building here this season.

Collections from the street letter boxes are now made at 9.30 a. m.; 3.30 and 5 p. m.

After 40 years of valuable service Mr. Charles T. Symmes has resigned from the Fire Dept.

The new boat house of the canoe club is to be an ornament to the town and a credit to the owners.

Capt. C. D. Rooney has been appointed adjutant of the Massachusetts division, Sons of Veterans.

The Highland Bethany Society are going to hold a Fair on the 17th of June at their chapel at the Highlands. If nothing happens to upset their calculations it will be a very nice thing, and worthy of liberal patronage.

On account of illegalities in former proceedings we have got to have some more Town Meetings here this spring. It is a little singular that, with so much native ability and intellectual training—so many astute lawyers and keen parliamentarians—that Winchester can't hold a simple Town Meeting in legal form, isn't it?

Our most petted fad, the Cooking School, has petered out for lack of financial support. And it is a good thing for the public that it is gone. Hereafter the number of dyspeptics in this town will greatly decrease. Cooking School, Forsooth! Can't Winchester find some other silly "Boston Notion" to imitate?

The gangs of gypsy moth slayers sent out by the State Commissioners struck Winchester last week and now "the woods are full of them." "Commission" business may well be said to be "running to emptins" indeed when it gets down to creating one to fight catapillars—pretty small business for a big Commonwealth to worry itself about. But it is a fashionable fad just now.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

The prevalent idea in regard to thick food being the most nourishing is erroneous. Mother's milk is quite thin, yet very nutritious. Mellin's Food, when prepared for use, is thin like breast milk and corresponds physiologically to mother's milk.

Dramatic Entertainment

FOR BENEFIT OF THE

Unitarian S. S. School,

Friday, May 22, 1891,

at 8 o'clock, P. M.,

In Unitarian Vestry.

"Champion of Her Sex."

"To Meet Mr. Thompson"

Music and Readings.

Tickets, - 25 cents.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

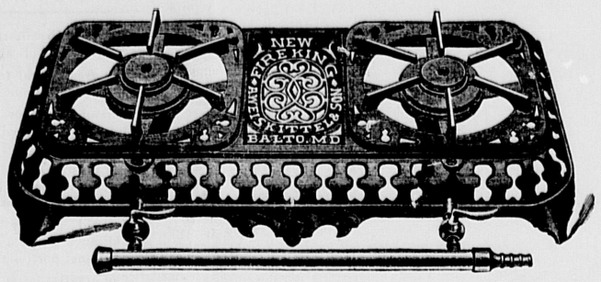
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING



— AND — HEATING.

WOBURN, May 1, 1891,

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.

TWO TONS OF LEAD.

The plates on the new mammoth presses of the

BOSTON HERALD

Will weigh nearly two tons.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

CLUB WINDOWS

Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

THE PHILADELPHIA & READING COAL AND IRON COMPANY,

Miners and Shippers of

Hard White Ash, Free Burning White Ash, Schuylkill Red Ash, Shamokin and Lorberry

COALS,

Also of the celebrated BROOKSIDE COAL of Lykens Valley.

DEEP RED ASH, VERY FREE BURNING.

Unexcelled by any coal for use in open grates or cooking stoves.

All retail dealers in New England can furnish these choice coals.

Office of Eastern Department, 70 Kilby St., BOSTON.

Distributing depots at Boston, Salem, Newburyport and New Bedford.

FOR SALE.

House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

House on corner of Beach and Salem streets: Also,

TO LET: Tenement, No. 64 Beach Street. Rent $10 a month.

Inquire of G. F. JONES.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all others interested in the Estate of Julia A. Taylor, late of Wilmington in said County, deceased, intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to George L. Taylor of Wilmington in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Eliza Annie Quimby Stevens, late of Woburn in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, William H. Cummings, the Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the est. te of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, first-class Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

BLUE STORE.

C. E. SMITH.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty. also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING,

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

TO LET

MAY 1, 1891.

Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING, Winchester, Mass.

Wanted—A lad, who will do writing for me at her home will receive good wages. Address, with self-addressed stamped envelope, Miss Flora D. Jones, South Bend, Ind. Proprietor of the Famous "Blush of Roses" for the Complexion.

Executors' Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of May, A. D. 1891, on the several premises, and at the several times as hereinafter mentioned, the following described lots of real estate, all situated in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," such sales to be made for the payment of the debts against the estate of Abigail Winn, late of said Woburn, deceased; the legacies given by her will; and the charges of administration of settling her estate, viz:

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,820 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Prinice S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hartly J. Tarr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Tarr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 10' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said day will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about seven thousand nine hundred and fifteen square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the westerly side of Main street, adjoining land of the North Congregational Church, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southeasterly corner of the premises, on said Main steet, at land of said Church, the line runs south 78° west, by land of said Church, about one hundred and five feet to land of the Rumford Association; thence the line runs north 25° 30' west, by land last named, about fifty-nine and eighty-five one-hundredths feet to Minot street; thence north 76° 30' east, on and by said Minot street, about one hundred and thirty-one and one-half feet to said Main street; thence south 02° 40' east, on and by said Main street, about seventy-eight feet to the point of beginning.

At thirty minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about four thousand five hundred and four square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southerly corner of the premises, on said Poole street, at land of James Murray; thence the line runs north 52° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, forty-five feet to a stake; thence north 58° east, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to a stake at land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land of said Murray, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, A. D. 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz:—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

At forty five minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, will be sold on the same, a certain lot of land containing about five thousand eight hundred and sixty-six square feet, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of said Poole street, and bounded as follows, viz—Beginning at the westerly corner of the premises, on said street, at land of John Connolly; thence the line runs north 58° east, by land of said Connolly, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to land late of Alfred Eaton, deceased; thence south 32° east, by land last named, fifty-eight and one-half feet to a stake; thence south 58° west, by other land of said Winn estate, about one hundred and one-tenth feet to said Poole street; thence north 32° 34' west, on and by said Poole street, fifty-eight and seven-tenths feet, to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the condition set forth in a deed of Alfred Eaton to said Abigail Winn, dated January 24, 1876, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1383, Page 13, viz—"That no building shall ever be erected or stand on said lot within fifteen feet of said Poole street."

Terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.

Woburn, April 30, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles Bond, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. Bond, the Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estates of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks, successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Ladies, if you would like to get full value for your money call

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

The following are only a few of the good things to be had:

Cream Albatross, 37½c., Boston price 50c.

All-wool Shepherd's Plaid, 42 in. wide, 45 cents, Boston price 50c.

Steel Gray Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.

Electric Blue Cashmere, 40c., Boston price 50c.

Children's Hose, 25c., Boston price 37½.

Misses and Ladies' Hose 37c., Boston price 50c.

Mark-Down Sale

On Saturday.

12½ cent Sateens at 7 cents.
50 cent Mohairs at 33 cents.
12 cent Outing at 8 cents.

— AT THE —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Blue Store.

Blue Store.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

TRY OUR

Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

36c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Henery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

MAIN STREET.

Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.

CANAL STREET.

7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

THE CAUSE OF SORROW.

LESSON VII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 17.

Text of the Lesson, Hosea x, 1-15—Committ Verses, 12, 13—Golden Text, Isa. lix, 2—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Israel is an empty vine; he bringeth forth fruit unto himself."

In Ps. lxxx, 9-11, and Isa. v, 1-7, Israel is compared to a vine for which everything possible has been done, but which after all yieldeth no fruit, or if any, only sour grapes. In Matt. xxi, 33-41, our Lord Jesus, in the parable of the vineyard, describes God's love to Israel and her treatment of Him and His servants and Son.

2. "Their heart is divided."

"With their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness" (Ezek. xxxiii, 31). They were like those who try to serve God and mammon, to love God and at the same time love the world that hates God.

3. "For now they shall say, We have no king, because we feared not the Lord."

Jehovah was their king, He brought them out of Egypt, and they accepted Him as such; but when they wanted a king like other nations then they were guilty of rejecting the Lord as their king.

4. "They have spoken words, swearing falsely in making a covenant."

In chap. i, 1, we read that Hosea prophesied in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah; and in II Chron. xxvi, 16, we read that Uzziah, although for a while trusting in God, afterward transgressed against the Lord his God. And although Jotham did right in the sight of the Lord, yet the people did corruptly (II Chron. xxvii, 2). In the reign of the next king the Lord brought Judah low because of Ahaz, king of Israel (II Chron. xxviii, 19), and even the great and good Hezekiah failed sadly before he died.

5. "The inhabitants of Samaria shall fear because of the calves of Beth-aven."

The abounding judgment spoken of in the last clause of the previous verse (with which compare Amos v, 5, 12) would cause both people and priests to turn to their idols, the golden calves at Dan and Bethel, here spoken of as Beth-aven (the house of iniquity), but they would find no help.

6. "Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel."

Ephraim seems to stand here for the ten tribes, and Israel for the whole nation. Ephraim had relied upon Jareb the Assyrian instead of upon Jehovah (chap. v, 13), and the result was that the Assyrian would receive for himself that which Ephraim so highly prized.

7. "As for Samaria, her king is cut off as the foam upon the water."

Quickly cut off as the crest of the wave which is gone in a moment. In chap. vi, 4, the goodness of the nation is compared to a morning cloud and the early dew. In Jas. iv, 14, it is written: "What is your life? It is even a vapor which appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away." If we have Christ as our life, and delight to trust in Him and do His will, then, come what may, nothing can affect our welfare; but the ungodly when taken from this present life lose everything. See this in Deut. xxx, 19, 20.

8. "They shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us."

In I Kings xii, 30, the calves at Dan and Bethel are called a sin. While God may bear long with sin He will in due time surely destroy it.

9. "O Israel, thou hast sinned from the days of Gibeah."

The earliest story of Gibeah is in Judg. xx, where the sinful people gained two great victories over those who wanted the sin put away. The sense of this verse seems to be that because God in mercy restrained His wrath, Israel, instead of being by His goodness led to repentance, only increased in sin.

10. "It is in my desire that I should chastise them."

The last clause of this verse is in the R. V. translated, "When they are bound to their two transgressions," referring, no doubt, to Dan and Bethel as the two centers of their idol worship. He will chasten them that He may win them back to Himself, as when He says in Amos iii, 2, "You only have I known of all the families of the earth, therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities." "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth" (Heb. xii, 6).

11. "I will make Ephraim to ride, Judah shall plow and Jacob shall break his clods."

The R. V. says, "I will set a rider on Ephraim." The people have been unsubdued, left to themselves, enjoying God's goodness to the full, but rebelling against Him. But now if they will not turn to Him, He will by their enemies subdue them.

12. "Sow to yourselves in righteousness; reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground."

The expression "fallow ground" is found only here and in Jer. iv, 3; but the same word is found in one other place and translated "tillage." "Much food is in the tillage of the poor, but there is that is destroyed for want of judgment" (Prov. xiii, 23).

"It is time to seek the Lord till he come and rain righteousness upon you."

"The righteous Lord loveth righteousness" (Ps. xi, 7), and the righteousness which He loves and requires of His people He provides for them.

13. "Thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men."

And therefore they reaped iniquity and ate the fruit of lies. On sowing and reaping see Gal. vi, 7, 8; Hos. viii, 7, and contrast John iv, 35. As to the folly of our ways and thoughts see Isa. lv, 8, 9.

14. "Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy fortresses shall be spoiled."

Their God and King is the Prince of Peace; the Lord will bless His people with peace; He will speak peace unto His people (Isa. ix, 6; Ps. xxix, 11; lxxxv, 8). But if they will not have Him, and choose lies instead of truth, they must accept tumult and spoliation as the consequence. "The hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters shall overflow the hiding place" (Isa. xxviii, 17). Happy the one who can truly say, "The Lord is my rock."

15. "So shall Bethel do unto you because of your great wickedness; in a morning shall the king of Israel utterly be cut off."

While this had a literal fulfillment a few years later, we are carried forward in thought to the great fulfillment when "the prince that shall come," "the man of sin," "the one coming in his own name" (Dan. ix, 26, 27; II Thess. ii, 3; John v, 43), shall make the seven years covenant with Israel, break it after three and a half years, and bring in the time of Jacob's trouble, after which he (the beast of Rev. xi, 4-6; xix, 20) shall go to the lake of fire, cut off in that morning when Jesus shall appear in power and glory as Israel's Messiah, and then shall He bring in everlasting righteousness (Ps. xlv; 5, margin; xlix, 14; Dan. ix, 24; Isa. xiv, 17).

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Rev. Asher Moore, formerly pastor of the Roxbury Universalist Church, died at Hammonton, N. J. Mr. Moore was pastor in Roxbury, Mass., about 1838-39, and went from there to Philadelphia. He was over 80 years of age.

KORNER'S BATTLE PRAYER.

Father! I cry to thee!
Round me the billows of battle are pouring—
Round me the thunders of battle are roaring;
Father on high, hear thou my cry—
Father, oh, lead thou me!

Father, oh, lead thou me!
Lead me, o'er death and its terrors victorious—
See, I acknowledge thy will as all glorious;
Point thou the way, lead where it may—
God, I acknowledge thee!

God, I acknowledge thee!
As when the dead leaves of autumn whirl round me
So, when the horrors of war would confound me,
Laugh I at fear, knowing thee near—
Father, oh, bless thou me!

Father, oh, bless thou me!
Living or dying, waking or sleeping,
Such as I am I commit to thy keeping;
Frail though I be, Lord, bless thou me—
Father, I worship thee!

Father, I worship thee!
Not for the love of the riches that perish,
But for the freedom and justice we cherish
Stand we or fall, blessing thee all!
God, I submit to thee!

God, I submit to thee!
Yea, though the terrors of death pass before me—
Yea, with the darkness of death stealing o'er me,
Lord, unto thee bend I the knee—
Father! I cry to thee!

—Eugene Field.

He Was Ahead.

As we swung into line at the battle of Williamsburg to advance on the Confederate sharpshooters posted in a slashing, the regiment halted to dress. I was within one man of the extreme right in the front rank. To the right of us was a narrow lane, and about forty rods up this lane the Confederates were getting a gun into battery.

"That's for us," said the man on the right.

"Yes."

"Solid shot, probably?"

"Guess so."

"It'll hit me first?"

"Of course."

"How much'll you take to trade places?"

"How much'll you give?"

"Five dollars."

"Couldn't think of it."

"Ten."

"Not enough."

"Will you take twenty?"

"No."

"Well, I'll give you twenty-five dollars cash down and my note——."

At that moment the gun was discharged and the missile went screaming twenty feet above our heads, and my comrade finished——

"—For not one durned cent! Thankee, Johnny—I'm fifty dollars ahead on this!"—Detroit Free Press.

Much Passing.

When a stranger comes upon a person living in a lonely place he is usually struck by the complete identification of the man with his locality, and the effect is often droll enough. An illustration of this is given in a scrap of conversation between a traveler and a man who lived in an isolated house on a western prairie.

"You must find it terribly lonely here," observed the visitor, who was prospecting with a view to establishing a cattle ranch. "I suppose there is never any passing?"

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "sometimes there is considerable. Why, only day before yesterday there was three hundred went by."

"Three hundred people!" the visitor exclaimed in amazement. "I shouldn't have thought it possible."

"Oh, not people," said the other, equally surprised at being so mistaken. "Three hundred head of cattle."

"I see," the stranger answered, smiling at his own error. "I have not become part of the country yet or I should have known what you meant."—Youth's Companion.

A Mother's Eyes.

Mistress—Do you like children?

Domestic—Depends a good deal on the children, mum.

"Well, yes, I presume it does. Where did you work last?"

"With Mrs. Goodheart, mum. She had only one child."

"Oh, well, if you could stand that horrid little brat of Mrs. Goodheart's I'm sure you will not object to my six little darlings."—Good News.

A Harmless Symposium.

Spriggs (who is bald)—What makes your whiskers so thin on the right side of your face?

Figgs—Oh, that comes from always sleeping on my right side. That rubs away the hair.

Bliggs—If that's the rule, then I suppose Spriggs must sleep while standing on his head.—Exchange.

The simplicity of mechanism and the total absence of all reciprocating parts make the electric motor peculiarly adapted to the operation of a high speed car, and to these features its decreased weight, in comparison with the steam locomotive, lends additional value.

As the peasant woman of Europe, by her universal application of the handkerchief, suggests its origin in the Dark Ages, so the small boy, who exists forever in a state of barbarism, is by the use of his sleeve also a reminder of the primitive uncleanliness of the past.

Don't treat the hotel clerk as if he were a personal enemy because he does not give you the best room in the house. There is only one best, and the other honored guest arrived first and agreed to pay the price for the room.

Martin Luther, the sturdy old reformer, informs us that the devil appeared to him and so enraged him that he threw a heavy inkstand at him, whereupon the father of all evil vanished.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c, a bottle, at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

By a new device pieces of metal may be shaped with rapidity by being forced under dies while rendered soft or plastic by an electric current.

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles, of Everett, Pa., says: "I suffered for years from kidney and gravel trouble. No physicians or medicine at home did me any good. I finally visited my former home at Rondout, N. Y., and began using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a perfectly well and happy woman once more."

HOW HE WORKED IT.

A Boy Sells His Newspapers and Charitable People at the Same Time.

As I was ascending the steps of the "L" road station, not long ago, I nearly stumbled over a very small boy seated at the bottom of the second landing. He was an Italian, about eight years of age. Under his arm was a couple of newspapers, although the hour for selling them was late—10 p. m.

Stopping on the landing above to finish my cigar before boarding the train, I again noticed the boy, who had settled his head comfortably upon his arm and lay apparently fast asleep.

A man came up stairs, lingered a moment at the lad's side and then softly slipped a coin in the boy's hand, making no attempt to awake him. When his benefactor's footsteps died away the urchin started up to examine the coin, spat upon it for luck and stored it away.

The rumble of a downcoming train caused him to prick up his ears and fall back again into his somnolent attitude. A certain infantile grace peeped forth from his smudgy face as it lay upturned, partially revealed by the flickering glare of the gas. His papers dangled carelessly under his left arm, that hung limply and dejectedlike by his left side.

It was an effective pose in its pathos.

Interested, I still watched the artful little fraud.

Passengers began to ascend. The first, a prim, spinsterlike female, stopped short, handed him a coin, bade him keep the change, took a paper, advised him to go on, and went on.

After her tripped an airy, fairylike miss, amid a great rustling of skirts, radiant in beauty that set off to advantage sparkling jewels and rich raiment. She threw up her hands in dismay and emitted a little cry of horror.

"Oh, George," she cried, "see there!"

George was her escort.

He gallantly rose at once to the situation. Diving into his pocket he transferred therefrom quite a little sum of jingling change into the boy's hand.

Sympathy seemed contagious.

Other passengers contributed liberally and went their ways leaving the boy alone.

He sat upright, carefully counted the spoils and then settled down again for more business. How long this lasted, whether the little fellow had evolved this scheme from his own inner consciousness or been padroned, so to say, into it I had no time to ascertain.

This is but one incident in a thousand in metropolitan life which reveals that charitable people are hoodwinked very often in their indiscrimate almsgiving—New York Herald.

Portable Bath.

An ingenious arrangement has been designed to enable a stream of water to be thrown in any direction by means of a pump worked by the feet of the person using the arrangement. A small platform is provided, on which two pedals are fitted in such a way that the heels of the user can rest upon them, and by the pressure set up and a slight muscular action a small pump is operated. This enables the water to be drawn from a vessel detached from the main device and ejected by means of a nozzle. This device is adapted for several purposes, one of which is a portable bath.

In this application the platform is placed in the middle of a tray, in which the water can be received after use, and the outlet pipe terminates in a combined brush and rose. The chief feature in this arrangement is that it leaves both hands free, the mere swaying of the body being sufficient to give the necessary power for pumping. The contrivance is also being applied to such purposes as window cleaning, garden sprinkling and carriage washing.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

What He Was Trying to Think Of.

The doctor had been called to see a German who hadn't been able to retain anything on his stomach. In the examining interview he was telling of how he had tried milk in lime water and so forth, but he could not remember what kind of milk it was.

"Oh, how I do wish I cud tole vot kind of milk dot vas!" he exclaimed.

"Wasn't cow's?"

"No."

"Goat's?"

"No."

"Maybe it was mare's milk.

"No; oh, how I do vish I cud tole vat kind of milk dot vas, anyhow."

Then after studying awhile he suddenly turned to his wife and said:

"Vive, vat vas der shackasses' vife's name?"

That was the kind of milk he was trying to think of.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Descent of Man.

She—How terribly shabby looking that man is? Who is he?

He—Sh! He is descended from one of the oldest families in England.

"I thought he looked rather come down."—St. Joseph News.

First Impressions.

First impressions are always important, and I once knew a dear old gentleman who told me that he "had quite given up calling on a lady because her butler never looked glad to see him."—Fortnightly Review.

Her Choice.

Mr. Charles Clasper—Dearest, of all countries, which is your favorite?

Miss Clara Cuddlesome (softly)—I rather think, Charlie dear, that I prefer Lapland.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searles, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Charles H. Buss's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

According to the latest observations which Dr. Finsterwalder has published, as stated in the Scottish Geographical Magazine, the region occupied by advancing glaciers is extending from west to east, and has lately crossed the limits of the eastern Alps. The glaciers in this region have been receding during the last thirty years, but now there is undeniable proof that those of the Ortler group, at any rate, are in a state of progression.

Shrewdly Done.

"Some time ago I was trading in a village store," says a correspondent, "when one of the clerks came to the junior partner, who chanced to be waiting on me, and said: 'Won't you please step to the desk a moment. Pat Flynn wants to settle his bill and insists on having a receipt.'

"The merchant was evidently annoyed. 'Why, what does he want of a receipt?' he said; 'we never give one. Simply cross his account off the book; that is receipt enough.'

"'So I told him,' answered the clerk, 'but he is not satisfied. You had better see him.'

"So the proprietor stepped to the desk, and after greeting Pat with a 'good morning' said, 'You wished to settle your bill, did you?' to which Pat replied in the affirmative.

"'Well,' said the merchant, 'there is no need of my giving you a receipt. See! I will cross your account off the book;' and suiting the action to the word he drew his pencil diagonally across the account. 'That is as good as a receipt.'

"'And do ye mane that that settles it?' said Pat.

"'That settles it,' said the merchant.

"'And ye're shure ye'll never be after askin' me fur it again?'

"'We'll never ask you for it again,' said the merchant, decidedly.

"'Faith, thin,' said Pat, 'and I'll be after kapin' me money in me pocket, for I haven't paid it yet.'

"The merchant's face flushed angrily, as he retorted, 'Oh, well, I can rub that out.'

"'Faith, now, and I thought that same,' said Pat.

"It is needless to add that Pat obtained his receipt."—Youth's Companion.

The Attachment Was Accidental.

The cars on the Fourth street cable running east were almost deserted on Saturday afternoon, when one, with fewer passengers than any that had preceded it, was passing Lafayette park. It had almost reached the corner of Mississippi avenue when a young lady of attractive appearance and genuine refinement boarded it. She was evidently a young schoolma'am. She had reached the center of the platform and was facing the interior of the car, where a pleasant faced police officer of Hibernian extraction was seated, together with one or two other passengers. As she was about to step into the car it started with that sudden jerk peculiar to the Fourth street cable. She was of course thrown forward, and in trying to fall into a seat fell into the police officer's lap.

Every one in the car saw just how the accident had occurred, and there was nearly a smile at the young lady's predicament? She, however, was not the kind to be overcome by an accident of this kind. By the time she was on her feet again she discovered that the lace of her dress had become entangled on the brass buttons of the officer's uniform. The officer saw it at the same time, and while trying to disengage it said, "Madam, I am attached to you." The young lady fully appreciated the situation and pertly answered, "Sir, the attachment is mutual."—St. Louis Republic.

He Was Fresh but Obtuse.

A merchant in St. Louis had been annoyed by a New York drummer until he felt that the time had come to give him a lesson. He was a good man in every other respect, but his freshness more than counterbalanced his merits. One day when he was in the store the merchant asked him to step into the back office. "I've got something to show you that will do you good if you will take it."

Together they walked back, and then suddenly the merchant opened his vest, and over the front of his shirt he had a placard fastened on which was printed in large letters:

"You're too fresh!"

The drummer burst into a hearty laugh, and, slapping the merchant on the back, said: "That's a good one. That fills the bill exactly. Say, let me have that for tonight, will you? I know a fellow up at the hotel who needs that thing badly. He's the freshest duck you ever saw. Let me have it, and I will spring it on him when the boys are all there."

The merchant gave up after that. He said, "Nothing short of a cannon would do that fellow any good."—Dry Goods Retailer and Buyers' Guide.

Getting a Bigger Fee.

Jovial Uncle L., of Poughkeepsie, visits New York about four times a year, and he is a loyal patron of a cozy and conservative hotel not far from Union Square. The waiters there know and like him because he is a cheerful dispenser of dimes. Uncle L. was in town a few days ago for the first time in four months. He enjoyed a comfortable dinner at his favorite hotel and tendered the waiter the customary dime, remarking, "Here's ten cents to get you a cigar."

"Thank you, sah," said the sable attendant. "I s'pose you know, sah (insinuatingly), that cigars hev gone up."

Uncle L. promptly raised the fee to fifteen cents.—New York Times.

Had Enough.

"What sort of a man is young Cadley?" asked the tailor at the commercial agency.

"One of the most promising on our list."

"Thanks. That's all I want to know. I've enough promising young men on my books now to bankrupt a richer man."—Munsey's Weekly.

Thin and impure blood is made rich and healthful by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cures scrofula, saltrheum, all blood disorders.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop'rs, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

Barry Sullivan, the eminent Irish tragedian, is dead, aged 62.

The great Lick telescope, of California, reveals about 100,000 of stars.

Senator Matthew Stanley Quay, of Pennsylvania, earned his first money sawing wood.

The most beautiful unmarried royal girl in all Europe is Princess Alix, of Hesse-Darmstadt.

General Hawley declares that he would much prefer a seat in the Senate to a Cabinet portfolio.

The greatest ocean depth ever found by measurement was in the Atlantic near Puerto Rico, 4651 fathoms.

Mr. Justice Stephen, who resigned from the British bench a week or two ago, will have a pension of $17,500.

Mr. Ernest Morris, a naturalist, died at Indianapolis. He was the author of several important works on entomology.

It is stated that uncleaned tin plates will give an electric current in common water when one is exposed to the light and the other screened.

Bishop McIntyre, the Catholic bishop of Prince Edward Island, died suddenly at the house of Bishop Cameron of Antigonish, P. E. I. He was 73 years of age.

Mr. Archibald Andrews, the oldest men in North Carolina, died near Hillsborough, that state, aged 107 years. He leaves a brother, now over 100 years old.

Dr. John Frederick May, an eminent physician of Washington, D. C., died of pneumonia, in the 79th year of his age. He was a son of Dr. Frederick May of Boston.

Jerome C. Burnett, chief of the national bank division of the United States treasury department for 15 years, died of paralysis, resulting from the grip, aged 58 years.

Mr. Milton Griffin, a well-known Lynn, Mass., business man, died suddenly in this city. He was 47 years old, a native of Epsom, N. H., and went to Lynn in 1861.

Bill Nye and James Whitcomb Riley, who fell out a year or two ago while on a lecture tour because of Riley's over-fondness for the flowing bowl, met in Indianapolis a few days ago and made up.

A new roofing paper is made by applying to the paper a composition of boiled linseed oil and pulverized charcoal. The paper so prepared is said to be perfectly air and water proof under all circumstances.

When Mrs. Ye Cha Yan, the wife of the Corean charge d'affaires at Washington arrived in this country a few years since she knew no English. Now she can converse fluently in the language on any current topic.

The residuum of petroleum distillation, which at one time was a by-product of little value, has now, owing to the increased demands for lubricating oils and wax, become more valuable than the first product.

It is proposed doing away with the old system of lightning rod protection and replacing the rods with narrow ribbons of copper, which will use up the energy of the lightning and save the building from destruction.

An English engineer has designed, and is now manufacturing, a portable cross-cut saw; that is, a large two-man saw that can be folded up into small compass. It is really a flexible chain of saw-teeth riveted together.

Henry H. Smith, the journal clerk of the National House of Representatives, is considered the most able legislative expert in the country, and his knowledge of parliamentary law is unexcelled. He has held his place for twenty years.

The Salem Gazette admonishes Massachusetts Republicans not to waste their energy and ruin their prospects by a partisan contest between the friends of candidates, and it suggests that it is safe to look with mistrust upon any "legislative" candidate.

The ratio to the circumference to the diameter of the circle was computed by Archimedes as 22.7, and P. Metius made it 355.112. After a tedious calculation Shanks has now fixed it as far as 530 decimals, and Rutherford has verified the result up to the 440th decimal.

Mr. Joseph H. Sanford, who died in Chelsea, Mass., aged about 70, was a member of a Boston firm over thirty years ago, and for the past eighteen years has been connected with the house of Williams & Coburn on Federal street as book-keeper. He was a native of Brewer, Me.

The Philadelphia Press says the census returns show that Philadelphia leads all the cities of the country in the value of their annual product. The city has risen from a "bad second" in 1880, when New York led by $150,000,000, to first place in the present census, in which Philadelphia leads by about $58,000,000.

"A clear conscience is a sure card." There's no surer card for cure of piles than Old Saul's Pile Ointment. Price 25 cents. At all dealers.

"Much coin, much care;" much catarrh, much fear. Cure the catarrh with Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. Don't accept substitutes.

No Other

As good. This is the statement of Professor Smith, Analytical Chemist; I have analyzed all of the popular blood purifiers and medicines now sold. Many of them I found to be worthless, some dangerous to use. Sulphur Bitters contains nothing poisonous, and I think it is the best blood purifier made.

Mr. Philo S. Shelton died at his home in New York, aged 55. He was a night starter for the Broadway railroad. He was born in Boston and had a college education. His father, Philo S. Shelton, who died a year ago at Swampscott, Mass., was a prominent cotton broker.

I am an old man and have been a constant suffrer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease. —Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Att'y, Washington, D. C.

I suffered for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which Ely's Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I., N. Y.

The latest freak of the German Emperor, before setting out on his travels, was to bring up the torpedo boat Potsdam and manœuver her in person on the Spree, in the presence of an enormous crowd of much astonished spectators.

Many a babe is hurried out of the world by powerful opiates. Mothers, use Dr Bull's Baby Syrup the safest and best baby medicine in the world.

Many diseases arise from vitiated or impure blood, therefore keep the system healthy and proof against the inroads of disease by using Laxador.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why rave with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain with Rheumatism? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink to be sold by the glass like other preparations which taken by the TO DESTROY Rock, Hark and Berries, combined with the PURE TRACT OF SULPHUR is such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT ALTERATIVE.

SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT, GET IT AT ONCE.

A. P. ORDWAY & Co., Chemists, Boston, Mass.

Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Laxador An infallible regulator of the Human System. Cures Liver Complaint, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Giddiness, &c. Laxador Cures Bilious Affections, &c. Laxador 25c. At all dealers. Laxador

Use Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. 25 Cts

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN MERCHANT TAILOR, 7 WALNUT STREET,

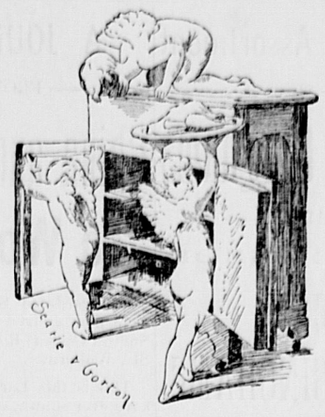
Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 391 Main Street, Woburn.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIAGES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets, BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2¼ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING,
5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS,
30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING,
1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each, $6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO. make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester."

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS." SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR

M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY

POPULAR PRICES $2.99 $4.00 $2.00

M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.

The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO. 181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston

Gold Silver Bronze Medals

The highest honors have been awarded for these Instruments.

Bay State Guitars,

MANDOLIN'S and BANJOS; also Wm. B. Tilton & Haynes Excelsior Guitars. Send for Catalogue for all Musical Instruments.

J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 581 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND, 388 Main St., cor Park St., Woburn, Mass.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main treet?

SALESMEN — WANTED —

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.

F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the Woburn Journal with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32 page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the Woburn Journal. Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address Woburn Journal, Woburn, Mass

CUT RATES!

— AT —

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Paine.

PublicLibraty 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1891. NO. 23.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.10 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.56, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A.M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.30, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.30, 5.52, 6.23, 6.34, 7.05, 8.02, 9.23, 10.21, 11.23 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., 12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, †5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.55, *10.10, 10.40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, †5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 9.30, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.35, ‡6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, ‡6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, †10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10 10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9 55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kirby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

Vose & Sons PIANOS
ESTABLISHED 1851.
28,000 SOLD AND IN USE.
NEW STYLES
ELEGANT DESIGNS,
SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
GREAT DURABILITY,
EASY TERMS.
New and Second-hand Pianos rental, and one year's rent allowed on the purchase price.
100 Second-hand Pianos, in good order, ranging from $50 to $275 in price. Some have had but little use.
VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont St.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.
MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnisheh with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, MASS.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

The Woburn Journal

A HERO OF MARBLEHEAD.

In the year 1808, the good people of Marblehead were aroused to indignation and compassion by the arrival among them of a lad of about eighteen, rescued from a horrible death by one of their own captains.

For a while Robert Jeffrey, for such was the boy's name, was quite a hero, and, ere long, not only the seaport town but all England was ringing with his name. There is a bit of a love story woven with this tale, in which one Dorothy Cutter figures, to which we listened, as we drank from cups of "rare old china, quaint and blue," with one of her descendants, but of that hereafter.

As the good ship V— was passing the island of Sombrero, the captain ordered her hove to, that he might examine the birds that were flying in great numbers around it.

A more naked, desolate and barren spot than this island, one of the Carribean, could not be found. The Atlantic hurled its billows against its rocky sides as if threatening to engulf it. Life was not on it except as the sea gulls made it a resort and the turtle sought it as an occasional playground. Lonely and melancholy, without brooks, springs or verdant vegetation. Great was the surprise to find on it a human being, dying from hunger and thirst. Left to such a fate, by the commander, of his Majesty's sloop of war, the Recruit, on the 13th of December, 1807.

He was picked up by the American "skipper," as the captain was familiarly called, on the 22d of the same month.

His condition may be imagined when we consider that the only food he had partaken of was a dozen limpets that he picked off the rocks, and some bark that was cast ashore. Had it not been for a providential shower of rain that fell, he would have died of thirst. By inserting a quill into the crevices of the rocks, he was enabled to suck up a sufficient quantity of the precious fluid to allay his thirst for nine days.

Let us inquire the cause of this inhuman punishment.

Robert Jeffrey was born in Polperro, a village in Cornwall; he was of a nervous, retiring temperament; but physically strong, as he was brought up to the trade of a blacksmith in his father's shop.

Little did any of his masters think that Bob Jeffrey's name would be brought before the nation until public interest was at fever heat; and a ship, under command of a captain of the navy, would be sent to Boston to find him and bring him home. But such was the case, for at the age of eighteen he was seized by a pressgang, which carried him on board the Recruit, where he was made armorer's mate.

She sailed for the West Indies. Her stock of water ran so low that the crew were allowanced to a small quantity daily.

Jeffrey's crime was drawing off about two quarts of spruce beer in a bucket, a part of which he drank. For this he was landed on the island without food or drink, shoes or stockings, and without covering. A strip of canvas, on which was painted thief was sewed on his back. One of the boat's crew humanely gave him his shoes, another a knife and handkerchief.

When the Recruit joined the admiral's squadron the cruel deed came to the admiral's ears, and he not only severely reprimanded Captain —— for his cruelty, but commanded him to return and look for the man. What were the feelings of the same officer and men who landed the poor victim, as they climbed the craggy, sharp ascent, traversed the flat summit, naked unless a little wire like grass can be termed a production. A thin coat of sand covered the rocks, but the many sparkling pools of water were salt of the ocean.

A rude tomahawk handle and a pair of ragged trousers convinced them that Jeffrey had met a violent death.

The Recruit again quitted Sombrero for Bardadoes, and captain L— assured the admiral that the lad was safe, in all probability picked up by some passing vessel.

For two years the matter rested; then some one, having a pique against the admiral, appealed to a member of parliament.

Then followed a court of inquiry, court martial, and the dismissal of captain L— from his Majesty's service.

The verdict received the entire approbation of the country, but where was the victim, was he dead or alive? A report went out that an American ship had rescued him.

In the meantime, what was our hero doing, and why did he not write to his poor mother?

He charged the men who landed him on Sombrero not to tell her of his fate. Surely if he were living he would seek to let her know it, thus reasoned the simple folks of Cornwell.

He was soon restored to health, and the people of Marblehead supplied him with clothes, work and wages. In the worthy smith's family, where he found a home, were no children; but the good wife's niece, mistress Dorothy Cutter, was staying with her aunt.

Dorothy was the daughter of a wealth farmer and distiller in Connecticut. Her home, by the pleasant Housatonic, was dear to her heart, but she loved the seaport town, we are told.

Doubtless Rob sat in the gallery in the "strangers' seat" on Sundays, and he watched the fair maid as she sat demurely, with eyes fixed on the sounding board and a sprig of fennel in her hands. Perhaps he lunched with her on "seed cakes" in the graveyard "between meetings." Tradition saith not.

Possibly her skill in adjusting a huge kettle on the crane, or handling the long shovel and oven broom, won his heart.

The only description of her that has come down to us is that she was comely to look upon." Rob was musical perhaps, and could whistle the Battle of Prague, Blue-eyed Mary or Flueve du Tage, for music had its power over the feminine heart then as now.

In the Times for Feb. 13, 1810, appeared the full particulars of this singular cose, and in Cobbett's famous Weekly Register articles that showed public excitement to be extremely great.

A popular leader in the House of Commons made a motion that further inquiries be made.

Official instructions were forwarded to the plenipotentiary in the United States. Jeffrey was found, taken before a magistrate, made his declaration which he signed with a cross.

This appeared in all the newspapers in England. Public news paper interest was at once rekindled by a letter, which was published, from hi smother, declaring it to be a fabrication, as her son could write a good hand.

The cross was a confirmation of this opinion.

Mr. Cobbett fanned the flame to a fierce blaze by asking:—

"Is this the treatment our 'jolly tars' are to expect?"

This proved the climax in young Jeffrey's history.

Those in authority took a decisive step, and a ship was sent to bring him home.

An announcement, after due time, appeared in the Morning Post!

"Jeffrey, the seaman, was this day discharged from the navy, by order of the Lord Commissioners of the Admiralty. He was immediately brought on shore and set off for London."

All was joy, the bells of his native village rang out a joyous welcome and the Times of that date says "It is scarcely possible to express the cordial greeting and exulting transports that attended his arrival."

The meeting between mother and son was affecting.

There are several circumstances in this curious history that require explanation.

The tomahawk was a part of a fisherman's hatchet, the trousers did not belong to Jeffrey.

The signing with a cross, instead of writing his name, was the caprice of a moment.

This wonderful fellow was so engrossed with his mother and the warm-hearted villagers, that he forgot (or was he saving postage?) to write to his little sweetheart until she was the wife of a worthy young Welshman, with a Cambrian name and a marked tinge of the Welsh dialect. If this was fiction, Dorothy would have died of a broken heart instead of living to good old age. Or the jolly tar would have crossed the Atlantic in a cockle shell to wed his beloved.

But such is life.

While Robert was in London, he became one of the metropolitan lions, and was visited by crowds of persons to his pecuniary advantage. Captain L—— came to an agreement by which Jeffrey was compensated for all his wrongs, on condition that he should remove to his native village.

So you see, gentle reader, he could not go back and marry Dorothy, or was she a myth, born of the hour and the enchantment of old china?

As we drained the last drop of tea from those precious little blue cups, my heart was filled with admiration for Dorothy.

Daughter of the land of "blue laws" believer of "what is to be will be," you are a model for the girls of the nineteenth century.—Portland Transcript.

THEY ALL HAD SOAP.

Chicago Politicians Fall Easy Victims to the Persuasive Fakir.

The other evening as a representative of The Post walked down the corridor leading to the Mayor's office he met Private Secretary O'Neil wending his way homeward. The genial Tom carried under his arm a lengthy and somewhat peculiarly shaped parcel. On being asked passingly what it contained Mr. O'Neil blushed, but, like the father of his country, he couldn't lie about it, so in a low tone he answered:

"It's a bar of soap."

A moment later Deputy Comptroller Frank Barrett was encountered. He, too, carried a parcel. The curiosity of the reporter was aroused. "What's that?" Frank was asked. Mr. Barrett glanced around him, and he replied hastily:

"Oh, it's only a bar of soap."

Just then Alderman John Summerfield was stepping out of the city clerk's office. Deputy Clerk Van Cleave brushed past him quickly; both carried parcels.

"Bet a quarter I can tell you what you've got under your arm," shouted the alderman after Van's retreating figure.

"I'll go you," said Van.

"It's a bar of soap," interrupted Mr. Summerfield.

"Right you are," interrupted the deputy city clerk. "I owe you a quarter."

"So's mine," mutered the alderman, as he decended to the street floor.

A scene enacted in the mayor's office in the early morning explains this mysterious occurence. About nine o'clock a picturesque looking gentleman, carrying a huge cage, entered and placed the cage on John Fitzsimmons' desk. John took a look at it, and then beat a hasty retreat. The object that had disturbed the equanimity of Mr. Fitzsimmons was a bat of enormous dimensions, with gauzy, filmy wings, each at least two feet long, and the head and body of a monstrous rat.

"What's that?" exclaimed Tom O'Neil in horror stricken accents.

"The great vampire of South America, whose food is the blood of sleeping victims and whose home is"— and the gentleman with the cage talked until he ran down.

"What do you feed it on?" asked Alderman Summerfield, who had just happened in, and was glancing timorously at the cage. "Raw beef and liver," was the prompt reply.

By this time a crowd of goodly proportions had gathered round the vampire and its owner. Just then the latter drew from his pocket a long slab of something that looked like a sheet of cork and placed it against the cage. It was gnawed on one edge, and everybody thought it was the vampire's food. With that wonderful unanimity which, like the proverbial "touch of nature," often shows the whole world to be kin, the entire crowd cried out:

"What's that?"

This was the vampire man's opportunity. "That, gentlemen," he exclaimed, while a ray of luminous intelligence played round his countenance, "is a piece of bark of the soap tree of South America. From it has been manufactured a preparation unrivaled in cleaning gloves, taking grease spots from hats"— And before any one could break away the fakir had the respective hat of at least six in the crowd, diligently rubbing away at them with his preparation. That's how the alder men, the deputy city clerk, the mayor's private secretary and the deputy comptroller went home that evening each with a bar of soap under his arm.—Chicago Post.

Formation of Coal.

There are half a dozen or more theories to account for the formation of coal, each of which differs from all the others in some particulars. It is known, however, that most of the coal was formed in what the geologists call the carboniferous age, which was far earlier than the appearance of the higher animals or man upon the earth. In that period large areas of the globe were covered with a vegetation much more luxuriant than is found even in the tropics now. The atmospheric conditions were favorable at that time to the formation of beds of peat from this vegetation after its death. This peat, being submerged by the downward movement of the earth's crust and eventually buried under an immense weight of sediment, lost much of its moisture by distillation, and at last, after hundreds of centuries of time, became hardened and changed into the condition in which it now appears as coal.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

She Stopped for Breakfast.

A Dominican, in vogue in Paris as a preacher, the Rev. Pere Ollivier, is renowned for calling to order, without scruples, his pretty hearers. A lady arrived very late at his sermon. The noise of the moving of the chairs, as she walked up the church, much disturbed the reverend father, who spoke to her ironically in these words: "Madame is late. She doubtless stopped to take her cup of chocolate." At first surprised and embarrassed, she grew very red, and then replied, in a clear voice that resounded in the deep silence of the church, "Yes, my reverend father, and a little roll with it."

Couldn't Have Made One.

Hoffman Howes—I may wemind you, sir, that my ancestaws left me an honored name.

Tom Knox—And a very thoughtful act it was in them, to be sure.—Puck.

The system of riveting by hydraulic power is being successfully applied to the shell planting of vessels in course of construction on the Tyne, England.

Munroe's Clothing House.

COME AND LOOK OVER OUR GREAT STOCK OF

Spring Styles for Men's and Boys' Wear.

For Variety, Excellence and Durability our Stock is far superior to any shown in this vicinity.

Our Prices Always The Lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Whiskers.

"You may shave them off—all, all," said a stout man with a wealth of brown beard, as he settled down into the red plush depths of a barber chair in the Burnet House and sighed feelingly as the barber picked up the glittering shears. "I have been worried to death by my beard," the stout man explained, "and I'm tired of it. You may give me a clean shave." He had been referred to so often as "Whiskers" that it had made him tired. That was why he bought a clean shave and sacrificed his beautiful hirsuite chest protector. It seems to be true that a more exasperating epithet than "Whiskers!" cannot be applied to a man. He resents the use of a word which describes his personal adornments a thousand times more indignantly than he would a word of brutal and insulting significance. The word whiskers has become so thoroughly identified with slang that its use in any way at all by a comedian nowadays is sure to call out a howl of laughter from an audience.

Men who wear whiskers are often guyed by the small boys in the street, particularly if the wind is strong. The ridicule of the mob, however, seems to be based on sensible ground. There is a certain amount of attractiveness about a well trimmed and symmetrical mustache, and a look of martial dignity is often imparted by a mustache and imperial. Men wear close trimmed and gracefully fashioned beards with good effect, and the beards are often a great protection to delicate throats. But there is no reason except misguided vanity for the cultivation and nurture of long side whiskers, which are always in the way, and invariably make a man look like an amiable caricature of the late lamented Lord Dundreary.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

All Around the House.

There is upon the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, just below Conewago, the connecting station of the Lebanon railroad, a house' standing near the broad steel belt, of which every side can be seen when the landscape slides by as the train speeds over the rails. This is an historic old mansion of stone, which has withstood the winds and winters of a century. Just as the train turns the sharp curve below Conewago station the eastern side of the mansion looms into view, and as the distance narrows the southern walls and windows seem to turn toward the eye.

In another instant, as the curve still winds, the western end takes the place of the southern, and while the iron horse speeds on in its rapid passage the train gives another turn and brings the northern side of the house into plain view. This is regarded as a curiosity by railroad men, and though few of the thousands who travel between the east and the west know of this curious location, it is always interesting to hear the engineer talk through the noise and rattle of the train to his fireman, telling him for the thousandth time that "that 'ere crazy house is looming up before."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Why People Like Each Other.

One of the first and longest steps of progress toward intimate acquaintance is made by the discovery of some point of agreement. No matter how small it may be it serves to a certain extent. Jones, who does not like butter, may find that Brown has a similar distaste for it. Immediately a gleam of friendly recoguition shoots from the eyes of each. However slight and weak, there is a link of human sympathy between them. They may even remember each other, although they never meet again, simply because neither likes butter. Then, if it should transpire that there are other points of agreement, the delighted surprise and confidence deepens; Brown and Jones are cronies for life.

Or it may not be Brown and Jones, it may be John and Arabella; then more may come of it, as in the case of the pair in the "Story of an African Farm," wherein the lady asks the swain, "Did you ever have convulsions when you were a baby?" "Yes," said the young man. "Strange," said she; "I had convulsions too; wonderful that we should be so much alike!" And agreement progresses to matrimony.—Boston Transcript.

When Knowledge Is Valuable.

The faculty of having one's mind pigeon holed is of great value. Some people have their mental bookcases and storerooms piled up with a mass of material, all valuable, perhaps, in its way, but jumbled up and piled together so that when any one thing is wanted it is not to be had without overhauling ten times as much other material, which, however valuable it may be in itself, has no particular use at the moment of search. Other people can lay their mental hands on any particular fact or fancy at a moment's notice, and can keep on pulling out other facts and fancies of the same general character until they have told or found all they know. There is such a thing as an embarrassment of riches in one's mental treasury as well as in matters material.—New York Continent.

Hard Work Will Count.

An able man, himself a hard worker, has said, "Fourteen hours' hard work a day will make any man a genius," and in this has added a new epigram to the world's store. It is the plodder who "gets there." This is to be considered no argument in favor of "puttering," for puttering and plodding are as far apart as night and morning. It is simply a point in recognition of the merits of pertinacity as a virtue.—New York Continent.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cures him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

There is no safeguard like a newspaper. Nothing can do more to keep up a town and help business. The town that supports a good local paper is the town that is successful and growing, and the newspaper that keeps up with and a little in advance of the town's growth is the one that will live long and prosper.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world is Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high. But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. This wonderful nerve medicine builds up worn out systems, cures fits, sparms, headache, nervous prostration, dizziness, sleeplessness, monthly pains, sexual troubles, etc. Mrs. John R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Ta

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE NEW DISTRICTS.

So far as heard from the Committee's report on the Congressional re-districting of the State under the census of 1890 falls far short of satisfying any considerable portion of the Republican party. Complaints reach the State House from all quarters of the Commonwealth, so it is said, and not without good reason.

It was expected that a Committee composed of a majority of Republicans would make a report that would at least deal fairly by their party and not yield up to them everything the Democrats might ask for. It would naturally be supposed that they would give their own political friends a fair shake but instead of that, if the Democrats on the Committee had had everything their own way, they would not have had the impudence to demand more than the Republicans have given them without asking.

It was generally believed that the Committee would divide the State up in such a way as to make 9 solid Republican Districts, 2 solid Democratic Districts, and 2 pretty evenly balanced ones to be captured by the best fighters and smartest workers. But instead of of doing that almost the reverse of it was done, the Democrats being given 6 or 7 Districts sure for their candidates, 2 or 3 made solid Republican, and the others more Democratic than Republican. On the basis of the last Presidential vote a division such as was expected by the Republicans, to wit, 9 Republicans, 2 Democratic, 2 doubtful Districts, would have been a just and equitable.

What excuse do these week-kneed and weaker-minded Republicans give for surrendering everything to the enemy before a blow had been struck? Simply, that any arrangement of the Districts more favorable to the Republicans would not have commanded the support of the Democratic Senate or the approval of the Democratic Governor, and therefore could not have gone through. It ought to be added that a few sentimental Republicans had insisted from the start that the Democrats should be dealt generously by. Wouldn't it have been a better way to deal justly by all rather than generously by some at the expense of others? The reasons given are too shallow for anything.

The Republicans of this State don't ask for anything but what is fair and right. They are not pleading for any favors from the Democracy. All they want is what actually belongs for them, and on that ground they demand to have the report of the redistricting committee thrown overboard and a new bill brought in. If the Republicans on the Committee (who were in the majority) had had the grit to give their party what in justice belonged to them without fear or favor and regardless of Democratic kicking, they would have done themselves honor and helped the Republican party; but the cowardly manner in which they surrendered everything nearly into the hands of the Democracy comes far short of meeting the approval of the Republican masses however it may be regarded by members of the Legislature.

The bill ought to be killed, and judging from present appearances such is likely to be its fate.

SENATOR WYER'S VIEWS.

"I am just looking over the bill, and exactly what I think of it I am not prepared to say.

"My views on the subject are quite pronounced. In my opinion these endowment orders and bond companies are no more or no better than any enterprise which carries on horse racing, pool selling or gambling of any kind or character.

"What amendments I shall vote for of course I cannot say, but I shall favor any wholesome legislation governing such orders and associations. The promised profits which these companies hold out to unsuspecting persons are ridiculous in the extreme, and are not in keeping with ordinary business transactions."—Boston Herald.

Few matters have come up in the present Legislature in which a more lively interest was felt than the subject of endowment companies, and few bills have been fought more earnestly pro and con than that which virtually prohibits such companies from doing business in this State. While the bill was pending Senator Wyer of this District expressed his opinion of it to a Herald reporter as above set forth. The opinion which he holds respecting these organizations is shared by at least three-fourths of the people of the State, and the Legislature did a good thing to cut short their career and prevent the farther spread of them.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Caswell—Lacoste.
H. Dodd—Hudson.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
T. C. Evans—Wanted.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
W. R. Putnam—For Sale.
W. A. Mullett—Wall Paper.
No. 237 Main Street—Dog Cart.
J. G. Maguire—Mortgagee's Sale.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Mr. Williams has got back from New York.

— Read the important change in the card of the Boston Branch.

— Hose 3, Cummingsville, have bought a new horse for their cart.

— The National Band will furnish the music for Memorial Day here.

— Mr. John Burns of York State is revisiting the scenes of his childhood here.

— Mr. Jones is putting our city highways into the best of shape for summer use.

— Mr. A. V. Haynes is laying out some money in repairs on his nice residence on Pleasant street.

— The Celtics will hold their annual picnic in Baldwin's Grove on the afternoon and evening of May 30.

— Undertaker Reade bought a fine span of horses of Mr. Charles Cummings the other day for his hack.

— Miss Maggie Graham of the West Side has been making a pleasant visit among friends in New York.

— Commander Graves and the committee have arranged for impressive ceremonies here on Memorial Day.

— Miss Nellie Platts has returned to Brooklyn, N. Y. She has been visiting Mrs. Miller on Mt. Pleasant st.

— Last week Mr. F. E. Lovell, the popular druggist, enjoyed a pleasant visit from his father, Mr. J. L. Lovell.

— A new shop is about to be built by Gowing and Parker on Broad st., for the manufacture of shoe stock, etc.

— There was quite a heavy frost in this vicinity last Monday night. In parts of New Hampshire it was severe.

— The oldest daughter of City Clerk Moreland, who has been very near death's door with pneumonia, is getting better.

— The Hibernians will hold a grand picnic in Pierce's Grove, Horn Pond, on June 20. Boat races will be a chief feature of it.

— Senator Wyer was quite ill at his home on Warren st. last week. Monday was the first time he was outdoors for several days.

— Charles Cummings of Cambridge street sold some fine Canadian horses to the well known Boston dealers, Moses Colman & Son.

— Miss Elsie R. Francis enjoyed a visit from her cousin Miss Minnie Gray of Lowell last week. They had the best kind of a time.

— Mr. Robert Webber of Court st. has got back from the Provinces. He brought a bride with him who was Miss Maggie M. Johnson.

— Mr. Amos Cummings is making a big cut in the prices of overalls, working shirts, outing shirts, etc. He has run them down to hardpan.

— The Veterans have accepted an invitation from Rev. Mr. Murphy and will attend church at the North Congregational church on Sunday before Memorial Day.

— Gilbert's Concert Company who gave a concert to empty seats here last week Thursday must have learned a lesson in advertising that they will not forget very soon.

— The Friday Night Club gave their annual supper on last Friday evening and as usual it was a complete success. There was great enjoyment all round the board.

— Lovers of a good play well played will be sure to go to the Unitarian vestry this evening and take in the drama to be presented there by the very best of home talent.

— An effort is being made to get Frank White out of prison where he is serving a sentence for forgery or embezzlement, we disremember which. He used to live and run a tannery here.

— The old Dow tannery establishment has resumed business in good shape and every body is glad of it. To have lost that leather manufactury would have been rough on Woburn.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery smote the sumsellers of Woburn hip and thigh last Sunday. He carries a sharp tongue in his mouth and when dealing with rum and its vendors he can say as cutting things as the next man.

— Mr. W. R. Putnam advertises for sale about 3 acres of very desirable land, with buildings, etc., located in one of the pleasantest sections of this city. For a summer residence nothing more desirable can be found anywhere.

— At the competitive drill of the W. H. S. B. in June the past officers will present a regulation sword and belt to the Captain of the Company which makes the best showing in the drill. There will be a good deal of scrabbling for that sword.

— Mr. Porters's lecture on Korea last week Thursday evening netted the Charitable Society of that church $24. That was doing remarkably well, but Mr. Porter is a very interesting and instructive lecturer and nowhere is he more popular than in Woburn.

— At the Innitou Canoe Club's regatta on Memorial Day the chief feature will be a single-stroke race which is already exciting a good deal of interest. The prize is to be a silver cup appropriately inscribed, for the possession of which the boys will make a strong pull.

— The recently elected officers of St. Charles C. T. A. are: President, D. D. Begley; Vice President, Thomas J. Feeney; Recording Secretary, Bernard F. Curran; Financial Secretary, John E. McColgan; Treasurer, James Begley; Trustees, Edward McDonald, J. Carey, D. S. Doherty.

— No contraband was found at the Jefferson House, near Lake Ave., kept by our esteemed fellow citizen Mr. Patrick Tenney, by Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott when they raided it last week. Of course! Mr. Tenney is not the man to sell rum without permit of the Excise Board.

— If Editor O'Neil hangs to it good and strong, or in the familiar old phrase, "like death to a defunct darkey," and repeats it often enough, he will be likely to make somebody believe between this time and next Christmas that Mr. Charles E. Eaton has sued Dr. John M. Harlow for $20,000.

— Mr. Thomas J. Feeney has left the Boston Record, on which he has served for a year and a half as reporter, and secured a good situation on the Reportorial Staff of the Boston Herald. He is an uncommonly smart young man and bids fair to reach the top rung of the journalistic ladder at an early age.

— A copious rain on Friday night and Saturday did a deal of good, for everything, but our Woburn saloons, had become very dry. On Saturday morning there was considerable thunder and lightning and the rain poured in torrents. On Sunday the weather was cool and windy but clear and very bracing.

— We learn with regret that Mr. Benjamin B. Brown has, after 25 years of faithful and efficient service, retired from the position of Sexton of the First Baptist Church in this city. After 25 years of the old one we should think it would come rather hard for the church to be obliged to put up with a new Sexton no matter how good a one.

— At 4 o'clock to-morrow, Saturday, afternoon will be sold at public vendue the N. J. Simonds homestead on Main st., for the A. and M. Association of this city, as is more particularly set forth in the Association's announcement in another column, to which the reader is respectfully referred. It is a fine piece of property and will doubtless fetch a good price. The gathering at the sale will probably be a large one.

— At the regular monthly meeting of the Woburn Co-operative Bank held last week Thursday evening Mr. George Buchanan was elected Vice President in place of Mr. J. W. Hammond. All the money that the Bank had in hand—$2000—was readily sold at 5 and 10 cents premium per share, and more was wanted. This money was taken for building purposes. The affairs of the institution are in a very healthy condition.

— Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Atwood of No. 13 Lawrence street, this city, last Wednesday morning were cordially congratulated on the first appearance at their home of a bouncing boy, hale and hearty, and as lively as a dozen crickets. During the forenoon Mr. Atwood was busy "set'n 'em up" for "the boys," and it is expected that "Old Jed Prouty," a Bucksport (Me.) neighbor of Mr. Atwood, will stand as god-father to the lad.

— Mrs. Susan T. Converse's property, 35 Sherman Place, would make a good one for the firm of Boston clothing manufacturers who want to start a factory in this city. Having been engaged for some years in the manufacture of woolen underwear Mrs. Converse can furnish a plenty of room for the new enterprise with steam power, and everything else necessary for a thoroughly equipped factory. The Committee might think of this with profit.

— The retail traders of this city have organized a Merchants Commercial Agency for mutual protection against beats. At a meeting held last Friday evening an address was delivered by Y. J. McAneney of Chicago, after which a Woburn organization was perfected, and the following officers chosen: President, H. S. Dickinson; Vice-President, A. L. Holdridge; Secretary, L. A. Sylvester; Treasurer, E. G. Clough; Executive Board, W. H. Curtis, N. Z. Tabor, Thomas J. White.

— Speaking in last week's JOURNAL of the success of the drama rendered by the Friday Night Club on the Friday night before we unintentionally omitted to state that Master F. H. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis of the Lewis Music School in this city added largely to the pleasure of the occasion by their contributions of pianoforte music which they generously donated for the good of the cause. Their kindness as well as their music was highly appreciated by the Club, its friends, and the many lovers of the piano among the audience, and the highly artistic performances of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were greeted with warm applause.

— Mr. William A. Mullett has an illustrated advertisement in this issue of the JOURNAL to which attention is called. He has just opened a fine stock of wall papers, borders, shades, mouldings, etc., at his new store on Walnut street, to an examination of which he respectfully invites the public. There is no better stock or greater variety of styles than Mullett keeps, and his prices are very low. As a house, sign and fresco painter he has no superiors, especially as a frescoer, which the new M. E. church, the Mechanic Building, and others will testify to. Mr. Mullett asks and deserves a fair share of public patronage.

— It is reported that the Park Commissioners have received and have under advisement a petition signed by many prominent citizens to purchase and convert into a Park the triangular piece of land lately the site of Capt. John P. Crane's residence, corner of Main and Warren streets, and dedicate it to public uses. We hope the petition will meet with favor at the hands of the Commissioners, for a few hundred dollars of the city's money could not be put to better use than the purchase of that piece of land for such a purpose. The Cummings Schoolhouse, one of the best in Middlesex county, needs and ought to have it for an extension to its lawn, and if it is not put to public Park use in a few years it will be covered with shanties and rumholes, and then how about your beautiful Cummings Schoolhouse?

— Last Friday evening, at W. H. Roulo's rooms on Main st., Mr. James E. Darmody, the lightning drill champion, was presented with a drum-major's baton, which will be christened on Memorial Day. The present was accompanied by an appropriate speech to which the recipient feelingly replied, after which the party adjoured to the Central House where a fine spread was enjoyed. The gentlemen engaged in the pleasant affair were: W. H. Roulo, Thomas Callahan, J. Burke, James McGrath, Dennis Walsh, M. Bowe, J. O. Moffett, George Nason, Charles Brown, John Lynch, William Leary, J. Callahan, Victor Le Counte, H. N. Conn, William J. Brown, James Roulo, Neil McColgan, John McSweeney, Dr. M. H. Allen, D. S. Doherty, Andrew McHugh, J. Mahern, Herbert Bryant, A. Moffett, G. Moffett, P. T. McEleney, L. J. Finn, E. Gendron, P. Duran, G. B. Bere, Thomas McCarthy and A. Dickinson.

— Corr. Boston Globe: Last Saturday afternoon Edward, the 11-year-old son of John Warren Johnson, saw the account in a local paper of the scheme by which Mr. F. A. Hartwell was swindled recently, and informed his parents that he was the boy who did the errand for the stranger. The latter is unidentified. The boy's story is that one evening he was sent by his mother to a store near his house, and when returning he met a man who asked him to go on an errand for him. The boy at first declined, but the offer of a quarter of a dollar induced him to take the envelope to Mr. Hartwell's. He was instructed to return what he was given to 38 Warren street. At the store he found that Mr. Hinckley lived at 38 Warren street. He had no trouble in getting the money, and with it started for Mr. Hinckley's, but while on Warren street, he heard a whistle, and turning saw the man who sent him, who said he would take the package and save the boy the journey.

— On the receipt of a neatly engraved card bearing the following words a few days since surprise and pleasure had a severe conflict for the mastery in the JOURNAL's susceptible heart. It read in this wise: "Mr. Willard J. Heacock, Miss Clara Barton Perry, Married, Thursday, May fourteenth, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-one, Weeping Water, Nebraska, At Home," etc. The Perrys, ancestors of the bride, were true-blue Massachusetts Yankees, her father having emigrated to Illinois not far from the time of the Blackhawk War, in which Abraham Lincoln, then anything but a prosperous limb of the legal profession, served as Captain, where he has lived a prosperous and useful life ever since. In the course of years his father (Dr. Perry of Williamstown, Mass.), mother, brothers and sisters followed him to the broad, beautiful prairies of the Sucker State where they settled, became leading and influential members of society, and some of them and their children still remain, the latter esteemed equally with the parents before them. The bride Clara is remembered as a wee chunk of a damsel when her family and the writer's were neighbors and friends in one of the most beautiful little cities in Illinois, and now here she comes modestly holding out her wedding card and giving us a surprise party just as pleasant as pleasant can be. The JOURNAL feels sorry that the condition of its wardrobe, the diminution of its "surplus," and a very foolish rule of the tailor's which makes full payment a condition precedent to delivery of his work to customers, prevented its attendance at the wedding, but here's hoping the fair bride and happy groom may live long to enjoy together the good things that come to them while pleasantly floating down the stream of life.

General Secretary Bailey Gone.

General Secretary J. P. Bailey severed his connection with the Woburn Y. M. C. A. nearly two weeks ago and left this city on last Wednesday for Freeport, Illinois, to take charge of an Association there. Mrs. Bailey and children have been visiting at Troy, N. Y., since the Secretary's resignation here, where he joined them on his way to the West. After duly considering invitations to take charge of Y. M. C. Associations at various places in and out of Massachusetts Mr. Bailey finally concluded to accept the one from Freeport, and in doing so no doubt acted wisely.

Secretary Bailey is in every respect well adapted to and fully equipped for the successful discharge of the duties of a Y. M. C. A. General Secretary and during his stay of two years or so here he has done excellent work. He is a thoroughly good man; a man of undoubted piety; he always works with an eye single to the salvation of his fellowmen and the glory of God; is deeply interested in the spiritual welfare of young men, youth and boys, and by these of the Woburn Association he is held in high esteem and is warmly beloved. Briefly, Mr. Bailey has accomplished a great deal of good during his tenure of office here, and he will do good in Freeport or anywhere else if allowed freedom of plan and action. Freeport, Illinois, Mr. Bailey's future field of labor, is a beautiful city, with a highly intellectual and cultivated population mainly of New England origin; large, wideawake churches; the best of schools; wealth; business; and within easy hailing distance of Chicago, the metropolis of the rich and growing West. Mr. Bailey in making the change has chosen wisely, but he will be missed here and by the Y. M. C. A. Associations all about Boston, to the General Secretaries, managers and members of which he is well and very favorably known.

Mr. Bailey made many fast friends in religious and social circles in this city and the regret at his leave-taking was general and sincere. As a token of the high esteem in which he was held, last Saturday evening, a number of his good friends presented him with a handsome gold watch. Mr. B. A. Tripp, in neat and appropriate language, presented the valuable gift in behalf of the generous donors, which was happily responded to by Secretary Bailey. It was a delightful episode in his Woburn life and work.

At the Boys Meeting at 3 o'clock and the Mens Meeting at 4, last Sunday afternoon, Mr. Bailey took formal leave of the Association and delivered feeling addresses of farewell to those present. At each the parting scene was very affecting, for the boys and men too loved their Secretary and grieved that necessity compelled them to part.

The "experiences" and "testimonies" at the Men's Meeting showed, in part, the magnitude of the work accomplished by the Secretary, and were a tribute to his piety, efficiency and worth more valuable than all the formal sets of "resolutions" that could have been composed and adopted. Many sinners have been brought to Christ through his instrumentality.

When he left for Illinois Mr. Bailey took with him the best wishes of all the most worthy people of Woburn.

That May Party.

The party given by the Ladies Auxiliary to the St. Charles C. T. A. Society at Lyceum Hall last Wednesday evening was a highly fashionable and very delightful affair. The great Hall was literally crammed with the youthful beauty and gallantry of our city, and the Grand March was a brilliant and inspiring spectacle. It was one of the most hightoned social events of the season, and as the Inauguration Ball of the recently organized Auxiliary it was a signal and very gratifying success. Many rich and elegant dresses were seen among the dancers; jewels flashed in the brilliant gaslight; many of the gentlemen appeared in full evening dress, while the Reception Committee, Floor Managers, Aids, etc., were handsomely attired for the notable and happy occasion.

To Mr. William McGregor of the Dow greenhouses was due the credit for the superb manner in which the Hall was decked out with flowers, plants, ferns and other foleage.

To strains of lively music by Calnan's popular Orchestra the Grand March began at 9 o'clock and formed a brilliant spectacle. It was led by Mr. Dennis D. Begley and Kate McEleney, and Thomas J. Feeney and Lizzie Calnan, and was followed by the dance, in the charming mazes of which the happy party continued until it was almost time for Aurora to put in an appearance above the eastern hills. A merrier dance or one more thoroughly enjoyed was never heard of in this city.

The Reception Committee were: Miss Mary Regan, Miss Susie McDermott, Miss Rose Murray, Miss Mary Crosby, Miss Mary Hickey; Committee of Arrangements, Miss Susie Burns, Miss Nellie O'Brien, Miss Nellie Dever, Miss Katherine Scally, Miss Nellie McDonough, Miss Nellie Fitzgerald.

The floor was in charge of Miss Katherine McEleney, assisted by Miss Lizzie Calnan, with the following-named aids: Miss Annie Keliher, Miss Maggie McKay, Miss Kate Mahoney, Miss Maggie Farry, Miss Mary McEleney, Miss Katherine Looby, Miss Mary Kelley, Miss Julia Mahoney, Miss Nellie O'Brien, Miss Annie Harris, Miss Nora Burns, Miss Lizzie McGovern.

Large delegations attended this splendid May Party from Boston, Lowell, Malden, Winchester, Stoneham and elsewhere, and all were delighted with it.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

ESTABLISHED 1817.

JOHN H. PRAY, SONS & CO.

CARPETINGS.

Oriental RUGS and CARPETS,

Curtains, Draperies, Wall Hangings, Furniture Coverings, Shades, &c.

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

558 and 560 Washington St., Boston.

Latest Local News.

No. 237 Main st. wants to sell a dog-cart.

Yesterday the weather was summer-like.

Winter Pond is quite a resort for fishing parties now-a-days.

Prior, auctioneer, sold the Abigail Winn lots at No. Woburn last Wednesday.

Memorial Day and Independence Day fall on Saturday. Isn't that just lovely, though?

According to Auditor Preston's report for April the finances of the city are in good condition.

A large number of Y. P. S. C. E. attended the quarterly meeting at Medford last Tuesday evening.

Officer Thomas Mulkeen is looking after the cleansing of the ditch at Conn st. for the Board of Health.

Mrs. Phillips, Assistant City Collector, has returned to her post of duty after an absence of several weeks.

The authorities at Municipal Building are in possession of plans for the new school house at Central Square.

On Wednesday Mr. Charles S. Parker, Editor of the Arlington Advocate, paid us a visit which the JOURNAL enjoyed.

The 5th anniversary of the Innitou Canoe Club at Young's last Wednesday proved to be a most delightful occasion.

The First National Bank of Woburn escaped from the great Davis failure at Lynn with only an insignificant scratch.

Miss Emma Fowle, who is a popular and valuable teacher at the Lawrence school, has had quite a serious attack of the grip.

Prof. E. A. Pierce has just completed a history of the Stoneham Public Library for the volume in course of publication by Whittaker Bros.

Principal and Mrs. F. H. Lewis of the Lewis Music School are preparing for one of their delightful concerts to be given next week, the 29th.

The Board of Trade discussed "Sidewalks" and a most excellent spread last Wednesday evening. A letter of regrets from Mayor Bean was read.

The Fifth Mass. V. Regt. will hold their reunion this year at Salem Willows, on June 26. Co. G will be on hand like a box of Day & Martin's blacking.

Yesterday morning Officer Callahan was assaulted by an intoxicated man with a murderous looking knife near Green st. The chap was locked up.

The Callahans were on the rampage last Tuesday night and on Wednesday Bridget got 18 months in the House of Correction, and the other 5 got $5.00 apiece.

Col. W. T. Grammer made a good practical speech on "Sidewalks" before the Board of Trade last Wednesday evening. The Col. always makes a good sensible speech.

Miss Jillie M. Mayhew, a student with Rev. Hugh Montgomery, will preach in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening. She is a highly cultivated lady and a fine public speaker.

A collection of mail from the street boxes at 6.15 p. m. is a new and very handy thing. It gives business men a chance to get their letters into the 7.45 p. m. mail to Boston.

It was said that Mr. Frank Flagg, the great market gardener of this city, had some of his early vegtables nipped by the late frost. Others were heard making the same complaint.

Principal Crocker, Master of the Cummings School, entertained pupils of the 9th grade at his home, 96 Garfield Ave., on Wednesday evening. Plays, games and nice refreshments were enjoyed by all present.

In company with Mrs. Gage, F. B. Richardson, and Dr. Harlow, Dea. G. R. Gage rode out last Wednesday for the first time in 6 or 7 months. Everywhere along the line citizens were overjoyed to see him out once more.

Mr. John R. Carter and family will soon move into their future residence on Winn st., the improvements in which will soon be completed. It is a large house, a pleasant location, and very handy to Mr. Carter's business.

When a hand-car with 6 trackmen on it had just passed the Church Ave. crossing going south last Wednesday noon it gave a flop and car, men, crowbars, shovels, et cetera, found themselves in the ditch and nobody injured. "Wat." saw it all and laughed.

Yesterday forenoon the ladies chosen to perform the duty opened the Mite Boxes containing the Home Missionary contributions of the women of the First Congregational church in this city for the past year and found the sum total to be $236.17.

Lawyer Curran has taken steps to find out whether Mayor Bean can be compelled to sign Martin & Rafferty's license or not. He proposes to test the virtues of a mandamus on His Honor and see how he will like it—that is to say, if the S. J. Court will give him one.

Increase of business necessitates an increase of facilities and that is why Mr. Joseph B. McDonald is putting up a large addition to his coal shed on Jefferson Ave. He is getting ready for a big July, August and September business, and finds he must have made room. Hence the addition.

Co. K received a letter from Capt. Benj. A. Witcher at Point Peter, Ga., yesterday in relation to the reception given to Capt. Tidd of the old Co. two weeks ago, which made pleasant reading. The writer was an officer in the Confederate Army and the gentleman who a few years ago returned a sword to Capt. Tidd which was lost on the field of battle.

Rev. Hugh Montgomery had nine cases in the District Court yesterday afternoon against licensed liquor dealers in this city. He is after their scalps and revocation of their licenses. They say, the Dominie's conduct is making a big fluttering among the rumsellers. They don't like his spies and informers. Pretty likely he will pay his respects to Ald. Dearborn and his letter in the JOURNAL to-day.

By the unexpected breaking down of a staging on a house on Second st. last Tuesday afternoon, Donald W. Stewart and Hibbard Thompson, who were building the same, were thrown to the ground, a distance of 25 feet, and received serious injuries. Drs. Frank W. Graves and Harmon were summoned and attended to the cases of the unfortunate men. Stewart was so badly injured that he was sent to the Mass. Gen. Hospital; but Hibbard, although seriously shaken up, was able to walk to his home.

[For the Journal.]

An Explanation.

In your issue of the 15th of May you call for an explanation from me on the position I took in the Board of Aldermen in regard to granting liquor licenses. I will say that I did not receive my election to the Board of Aldermen upon the temperance issue.

In order to get at the facts in regard to granting the liquor licenses we must go back to the time of the first discussion of the matter, not in open Board but in confidence when it was understood among members of the Board of Alderme. with the Mayor, that we should grant only to those who would take both first and fourth class licenses together; and also the druggists; and that we should place them at a higher figure than they were two years ago. March 31, we passed an order making the price of an innholders license $1000; first class $1300, which was $300 more than two years ago; fourth class $500 or $200 more than the old price; and druggist $10. Mr. Fowle filed a notice to reconsider this action. On April 16, it was voted to reconsider the action taken March 31, and the new order read that the price of an innholders license be $1500, first class $1300, fourth class $500, druggist or sixth class $1. An amendment was made to this providing that when a fourth class was taken alone the price should be $1800, which was the price asked for the first and fourth class together.

After the adoption of the order in its amended form, for which I voted, there seemed to be an unfairness about it in my mind and the next day, April 17, I filed a notice to reconsider our action.

April 29, we voted to grant first and fourth class licenses to 11 applicants namely: John Maloney, John H. Connolly, Anthony Doherty, Peter Kenney & Co., Connolly & Kerrigan, Thomas H. McGovern, McNulty & McLaughlin, Rafferty & Martin, Thomas Moore, Thomas G. Merriam & Co. and an innholders license to S. D. Thompson.

May 7, my notice to reconsider was taken up and we made the price of the fourth class license $500, simply striking out the provision made in the amendment that when the fourth class alone was taken the price should be $1800, then voted to grant the remaining two licenses of the first and fourth class, making 13 in all. All of the parties granted licenses had asked for and were voted first and fourth class licenses together.

Now the point of contention is why did I make a motion to reconsider and make void the amendment to the order passed April 16? My reason is, as I stated in support of my motion, that when a party applied for a first and fourth class license and the Board of Aldermen voted to grant them, it then laid within the power of the Mayor to deprive the applicant of the first class license by witholding his signature from the common victuallers license which must go with the first class liquor license, thus obliging the applicant if he took any, to take the fourth class which had also been granted to him by the Board of Aldermen and does not require the Mayor's signature (for as a matter of fact the Board of Aldermen granted thirteen first and fourth class licenses the two classes being granted together) and he would be obliged to pay as much for it as his next door neighbor who has the first and fourth class together, which we were not justified in doing. There was nothing fair about it, we placed the price of licenses high enough and they were obliged to pay it in order to get them, and it is the duty of the Mayor and Police to see that the provisions of the licenses are lived up to.

I do not think we would be justified in passing an order that would keep money out of the City Treasury, when we might have it as well as not. The applicants would never have paid $1800 for a fourth class license which gives them the privilege of selling by the quantity not to be drank on the premises, rather than by glass as allowed by the first class license, which facts are proved by the refusal of McGovern and S. D. Thompson to take out the fourth class license as the price was so high they could not make it pay.

As for keeping thousands of dollars out of the Treasury that is absurd. There is no money being kept out of the Treasury by any act of mine as the one party who has taken a fourth class license alone was granted a first class by the Aldermen and his victuallers license was signed by them but the Mayor withholds his signature, so it is the Mayor who is keeping the money of the Treasury for the party referred to would not have taken the fourth class at the high price of $1800, so that I figure it the city loses by the Mayor's refusal to sign two common victuallers licenses the price of two first class and one fourth class license or $3,100.

Now bear in mind these dates: we first made the price of licenses March 31; April 16, it was voted, on Mr. Fowle's motion, to raise the price of innholders license from $1000 to $1500; and the provision was adopted to fix the price of a fourth class license when taken alone at $1800; April 17 I filed notice to reconsider; April 29 we granted the first lot of 11 first and fourth class licenses then together and not until May 7 was any action taken on my notice to reconsider when we simply struck out the provision about the price of fourth class when taken alone and left the order in its original form, for it was tacitly understood that the first and fourth class should be taken together and all of them were so granted.

No action has been taken since May 7, when we granted Shinkwin & Reddy and J. F. Scally theirs which made the 13 that the law allowed us to grant. Please notice that all the licenses but the two last were voted upon and granted 8 days before any action was taken on my notice to reconsider and those two applied for and took both first and fourth class at the price $1800.

My contention is when a city votes to grant licenses the price of any license should not be placed beyond a reasonable figure as by so doing it would deter persons from taking them out; but by putting them high and at the same time within reason they may be taken by a better class of dealers.

I am satisfied with the position I have taken and I think those who have the best interests of the city in view will sustain my action. As for the opinion of the people in Ward 6. I desire their good opinion and do not look for a forfeiture of it by the action I have taken in the matter of granting licenses on in fixing the price for the same for I can show them that the receipts for licenses will be $7,800 more than they were 2 years ago; but if the people do think otherwise I shall submit to it and still be of the opinion that I have done what was for the interest of the city.

C. T. DEARBORN,
Alderman from Ward 6.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

GREAT SALE OF

REAL ESTATE!

In order to close up its business the WOBURN AGRICULTURAL and MECHANIC ASSOCIATION will sell on the premises on

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1891,

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon,

The Simonds Estate so-called, situate on Main Street, in Woburn, nearly opposite the Cummings Grammar Schoolhouse.

This property consist of a large Dwelling-house in good repair and with modern conveniences, a Stable, a large Grain-house (now occupied by Jacob A. Ham), a large brick building and 192,548 square feet, or about 4½ acres of land. This land has a frontage of 415 feet on the railroad and 402 feet on Main Street. The southerly bound of the property, extending from Main Street to the railroad, measures 328 feet, and the northerly bound 192 feet. The property is valued by the Assessors at $15,600. The sale is peremptory and will take place rain or shine.

The estate will be sold to the highest bidder.

Full possession of the property will be given immediately. $1,000 will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the sale. $10,000 of the purchase money may at the option of the purchaser remain on mortgage at 5 per cent. interest. Others terms will be announced at the sale.

WOBURN A. & M. ASSOCIATION,

By JOHN JOHNSON, Treasurer.

For further information apply to EDWARD F. JOHNSON, 424 Main Street.

Woman's Club.

The Woburn Woman's Club assembled on the afternoon of Friday, May 15, to listen to a scholarly and interesting paper given by by Miss Antonia C. de P. Maury entitled "Lookout Towers of Astronomy." Miss Maury is a bright young woman of twenty-five, a graduate of Vassar College, and a teacher of sciences in Prof. Gilman's school at the Harvard Annex.

In her work as assistant to Prof. Pickering in the Draper Observatory at Harvard College, Miss Maury made the discovery that the star Beta Aurigael, by the doubling of the lines in its spectrum at regular intervals, is a close lunary, revolving once in about five days.

Miss Maury is the niece of Henry Draper, the Astronomer, to whom her aunt, Mrs. Draper, has given the Draper Memorial at Harvard.

To those unfamiliar with the terms of Astronomy this lecture may have seemed deep; yet, all could enjoy the beautiful thoughts expressed in such pure English, the apt quotations, and the many explanatory charts and drawings. It was tantalizing to be told we must fly hastily by all the wonders and beauties of the solar system: only a glimpse could we obtain of the sun's spots, the solar cyclones; only a peep at Mars, and Saturn with his eight moons and accompanying rings, and Jupiter—weird amid his dusky cloud bands—was only a phantom in the distance. We were carried on and up into the deep seas of space—leaving behind us Neptune freezing in the pale sunbeam—way out of sight of the planets, to a distance where the sun has dwindled to a star. We approach Vega which is equal to nine hundred suns, we near Arcturus, three thousand times as large as our sun being eleven million times as far away.

The wonders revealed by the spectroscope were shown us by colored charts. The solar spectram showing by its one thousand dark lines that iron and hydrogen are found in the atmosphere of the sun.

A patient study of these signs of substances such as salt and potassium reveals richer results than a study of hieroglyphics on the Rosetta Stone. We were given a description of double stars, and the methods used to prove they were double.

In the milky way do the stars most congregate, growing fewer in number as we go towards the poles of this circle.

The stars collect in clusters so thick that, as can be seen in the Harvard Photographs, they look "as if pepper had been spilled on the plate."

The handle of the sword of Perseus, the cluster forming Hucules, and the Bee Hive in Cancer, are fine examples. Other cloudy patches of light shine in the heavens of extraordinary forms, like rings or spirals, some globular, others irregular.

"These bodies, the true nebular, are the most interesting objects in the sky" for they are thought to be the material from which all heavenly bodies are made.

A summary of the Nebular Hypothesis was given.

The creation of a sphere, with its planets and moons, was explained.

It has been discovered that not only iron but almost all of the earth's metals, also, belong to the sun.

Mrs. Fleming, assistant to Prof. Pickering, aided by several young women, has made a full catalogue of ten thousand plates, whose spectra belong to as many as four or five types.

The dense black lines seen in their spectra are a clue to the presence of Hydrogen which is the most abundant substance in the entire universe. By means of photography are we enabled to peer deeper and yet deeper into space: the sensitive plate—unlike the human eye—retains the images, and accumulates steadily the faint light until stars not to be seen by the telescope have made their tiny impressions.

The whole number of stars now visible in our telescopes is about 100,000,000. We were shown drawings of the sun in eclipse, the Nebula of Andromeda, the Nebulia in the sword of Orion, and some others.

At the close of the lecture the speaker gladly answered many questions, and exhibited numerous photographs of the starry heavens taken at the Harvard Observatory.

—G. M. B.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall, on the afternoon of Friday, June 5, at 3 o'clock. It will be an afternoon spent with Mrs. Browning and it will be the summer "home talent" meeting.

It is hoped that each member will be prepared with a short quotation from this poet.

At the close of the exercises a Director's meeting will be called to vote upon a matter of importance. A full attendance is desired.

Going For Them.

Rev. Hugh Montgomery is after the liquor dealers of Woburn with all his might and main. A conference yesterday morning between him, Hon. B. B. Johnson of Waltham, Judge Converse and Clerk Bond, resulted in issuing warrants at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon for various alleged violations of the liquor law, against: J. Maloney, J. H. Connolly & Co., Anthony Doherty, Connolly & Kerrigan, T. H. McGovern, Rafferty & Martin, S. D. Thompson, Thos. Moore, T. G. Merriam & Co.

The respondents will be arraigned in the District Court next Wednesday.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANI

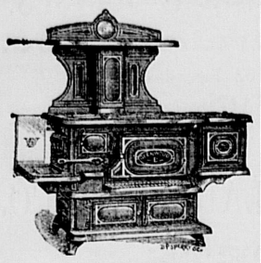
A New Assortment
— OF —
Scotch Ginghams
— ALSO, —
A FINE LINE OF
AMERICAN GINGHAMS,
At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.
Copeland & Bowser
355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,
AGENT FOR THE
Glenwood Cook
— AND —
Garland Oil Stoves.
Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds.
Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Mortgagee's Sale
— OF —
REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by James McGaffigan to Charles McEleney, dated May 4, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1907, Page 417, and assigned by said Charles McEleney to John G. Maguire by deed of assignment dated May 20th, A. D., 1891, for a breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Saturday, June 13th, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake in the northerly side line of a private way leading in an easterly direction from Main street to the Boston & Lowell Railroad and at land of Garvey; from thence the line runs northwesterly by said land of Garvey and by land of Nelson, one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet, to a stake at land of Edward W. Hudson; thence turning the line runs easterly on and by said land of Hudson forty (40) feet to a stake at land of John P. Crane; thence turning, the line runs southerly on and by said land of Crane parallel with the first line above described and forty (40) feet distant therefrom about one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet to a stake at said private way; thence turning the line runs westerly by and with said private way forty (40) feet to the point of beginning; containing about five thousand (5000) square feet; together with a right of way to and from Main street over the private way above described; being the same premises described in deed of John P. Crane to said McGaffigan, dated March 22, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1896, Page 370.

$100.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid by purchaser at time of sale, other terms will be announced at the sale.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Assignee
and present holder of said mortgage.
Woburn, Mass., May 21, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law and others interested in the estate of Annie J. Lafferty, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Salmon, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Peter Kenney, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William F. Kenney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the estate of Michael Connell, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Connell, Executor of the will of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for a license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FINE REAL ESTATE
FOR SALE.
The subscriber has for sale about three acres of land finely located for a Summer Residence, being on a high elevation, on a good street, with water and electric light. There is now on the premises a good house and small stable. The land is well adapted for building or gardening purposes.
W. R. PUTMAN,
WOBURN, - - - MASS.

Buy Your
Carpets,
Straw Matting,
Oil Cloth
— AND —
Rugs
— OF —
C. Willard Smith
399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

Obituary.

In the demise of MR. PETER KENNEY Woburn has lost another of its old landmarks as well as one of its most highly esteemed citizens. Mr. Kenney was an honest man; thoroughly, conscientiously upright; a lover of justice and fair play; and for these characteristics the community held him in high regard.

There was hardly a day in his 40 years residence in Woburn that he was not seen on the streets pleasantly mingling with his fellow citizens, enjoying intercourse with them, for he was of a social nature, courteous and cordial in all his relations with the public. Now that he has gone one of the most familiar figures on our streets will be seen on them no more.

Mr. Kenney was born in County Roscommon, Ireland, June 29, 1826; came to America in 1849; and to Woburn in 1851. He has been in active business here ever since. He died on Friday evening, May 15, and left to sincerely mourn his loss a wife and five children: William F. Kenney of the Boston Globe, Thomas W., Peter J., Mary and Teresa, who have the kindest sympathy of this community in their great bereavement.

The funeral was one of the largest that ever took place in Woburn, some 50 hacks and as many private carriages comprising the funeral cortege that accompanied the remains to Calvary cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Of these and the funeral the Boston Globe said:

At the head of the coffin rested a large floral pillow with a broken pillow in the foreground and at the foot a large harp of roses and evergreen.

On either side were strewn wreaths, garlands and crowns almost without number. Among the latter was a large crown from Volunteer Veteran Firemen's Association and a garland of white roses from Mr. Edward A. Kenney.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the remains were conveyed to St. Charles Catholic church, where at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung.

Rev. John Quealy officiated as celebrant, assisted by Rev. James Gilday as deacon, and Rev. Lawrence Slattery as subdeacon. Rev. John F. Kelleher acted as master of ceremonies and Rev. Father Holland of Arlington and Rev. Richard Burke of Lowell occupied seats in the sanctuary. A selected quartet under the direction of Miss A. C. Murphy, rendered the Gregorian Requiem. The quartet was composed of Mrs. F. J. McQueeney, soprano; Mr. W. P. Quinan of St Mary's church Boston, tenor; Mr. C. J. Leary of Waltham, bass, and Mr. W. H. White of Weymouth, second bass. At the offering Mrs. McQueeney sang the the "Dominie" in a most feeling manner.

Among the mourners were ex-Congressman Hayden, Senator John Reade of Charlestown, Senator Wyer of Woburn, Representative T. D. Hever, also of Woburn, City Clerk D. F. Moreland and others of State and National reputation. The pall bearers were Messrs. William Guinan, Thomas Salmon, James McGuire, Richard Carton, Thomas Moore and Thomas Norton. —COM.

"Command your temper;" but cure your catarrh and influenza with Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

"The darkest hour, 's just before the dawn." The darkest hour with piles is just before you first apply Old Saul's Pile Ointment. The dawn comes soon after. Price only 25 cents.

To Furnish the House.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Standard Furniture Co., 23 Washington and 87 Friend St., Boston, which will be found in another column. Although this concern is comparatively new, the members of the firm have a long experience in the trade, and won for themselves a good reputation for honest dealing and polite attention to their customers. Mr. John Rossborough was several years with A. McArthur & Co. Joseph H. Symonds was identified several years with A. McArthur & Co., and the Home Furniture Co. Henry P. Worthley was a member of the old firm of Rossbrough, Symonds & Worthley. The other members have had a long experience in the wholesale trade. We feel justified in recommending any of our readers in want of furniture, carpets, etc., to give them a call before buying elsewhere. With their long experience and large capital we think they can give greater bargains than can be found any where in New England.

House Lots.

For real gilt edge house lots we know of nothing to equal the four just surveyed by W. W. Cummings from Mr. Eustace Cummings's beautiful lawn corner of Garfield Ave. and Green st. They contain 12,000 to 15,000 square feet each. J. I. Munroe, 452 Main st., has plan and prices and can be seen there morning and evening, or at 35 Congress st., room 32, Boston, from 10 to 3 o'clock.

A CARD.

In behalf of myself and family, I desire to thank the members of the Celtic Association, of the Veteran Firemen's Association, and Women's Relief Corps, No. 84, and many kind and thoughtful friends, for remembrances upon the occasion of my late husband's funeral.

MRS. CATHERINE KENNEY.

Woburn, May 21, 1891.

No one would think of feeding an infant on beef or mutton, yet the use of farinaceous foods is scarcely less detrimental to the life and health of the little ones. Mellin's Food is so prepared that it is readily assimilated by the youngest child and forms the only reliable substitute for mother's milk.

Some Old Programmes.

We do not know how much interest attaches to old programmes, but we do know that most people throw them away with the occasion that gave them birth. Once in a while there is a person who makes a collection of them, and such a collection is now before us gathered by a hand that many years ago ceased to perform its accustomed functions, being stilled with its owner by inexorable death. They are the gift of Dr. S. W. Abbott, of Wakefield, to our Public Library, who writes: "The enclosed old programmes turned up among some old papers which my good mother had collected, and if you can find any use for them, please to use them as you think best."

This gift is certainly a useful one to the institution to which it has been given, and we believe the public will be interested in a list of the titles of the ephemeral publications comprising the collection. Some of the earlier ones are very scarce, or in old-book parlance, rare, and some of the later ones are well remembered by the majority of people now living. The earliest dated specimen in the collection is what to the present generation would seem a dismal ode, entitled a "Funeral Piece written for the interment of Mrs. Mary L. Bennett, consort of Rev. Joseph Bennett, at Woburn, February —— 1846, by Rev. Wm. B. Pappan." It contains four stanzas of eight lines each, and is a paraphrase to some extent of the wellknown hymn that used to be sung at funerals to the tune of "China." And it is even more dismal than that, with hardly a ray of hope, and full of decidedly gruesome allusions; needlessly so, we think, in the light of present interpretations of Eternal wisdom and goodness. Still we do not wish to be too hard upon the sentiments expressed in this effusion, for they probably gave satisfaction to the friends of the deceased, or they would not have been printed, as they were, on this single sheet of blue paper within a border of black lines. The writer, who has seen very many Woburn publications, has never before seen a copy of this one, which he esteems, therefore, as very rare.

The next publication in order of date is the "Order of Exercises at the Public Recognition of Rev. John C. Stockbridge, as pastor of the First Baptist Church and Society in Woburn, Jan. 27, 1848." The next, the "Order of Exercises at the Ordination of Mr. Jonathan Edwards, as pastor of the First Congregational church and Society in Woburn, Thursday, Sept. 7, 1848." This is a four page publication, while the former was only one.

The next is a single sheet from the "Woburn Journal Press," entitled, "Order of Exercises at the Public Recognition of Rev. Joseph Ricker, as pastor of the Baptist Church in Woburn, Monday evening, February 14, 1853." Its companion is another issue of the same press, entitled, "Order of Services at the Ordination of Mr. John M. Marsters, as pastor of the First Unitarian Parish in Woburn, on Thursday, April 28, 1853." This is a four-page publication, and the two together, with the ones already mentioned, will restore, we have no doubt, a number of recollections to the minds of a few of our readers.

Next in order is an ode, written for the occasion, at the dedication of Woburn Lyceum Hall, February 25, 1856, by George M. Champney, Esq. The number of stanzas is ten. Next the order of exercises at the installation of Rev. Daniel March, October 1, 1856, from the press of John J. Pippy, printer, Woburn. Next, the programme of a juvenile concert by the children of the "Juvenile Singing School," held in the vestry of the First Baptist Church, on Thursday evening, October 9, 1856. This production was printed by H. N. Hastings, Bank Block, Woburn. Some of the songs sung at this concert were the popular ones of that day, such as "Ellen Bayne," "The Yankee Girl," "A Little More Cider," "Hazel Dell," etc. Some of the titles of the songs have a sober cast, if not a sombre tinge; such as "I have no home," "My Mother's Grave," "O take me home to die," and others. An interesting statement on the programme was, that "Master Frank Ellis will preside at the piano forte." An undated concert programme of this period contained such numbers as "Departed Days," "A Home on the Mountain," "My Father's Grave," etc. Other programmes are those of the "Town of Woburn Celebration of the 82d Anniversary of the National Independence of the United States" [1858]; Ticonderoga Academy, Samuel W. Abbott, A. M., principal, 1858; exercises at third anniversary of Woburn Young Men's Christian Association, June 4, 1860; dedication of Winchester Baptist church edifice, 1864; Woburn High School graduation, 1864; dedication of Woburn Methodist Episcopal Church, 1865; semi-centennial celebration of Charitable Reading Society, Woburn, 1865; fiftieth anniversary of Woburn First Baptist Sabbath School, 1868; Woburn High School graduation, 1868; installation of Rev. Stephen R. Dennen, Woburn, 1868; annual exhibition of Central Grammar school, Woburn, July 2, 1868; also a roll of honor of that school, for November, 1868; semi centennial celebration of Sabbath School of First Congregational church, Woburn, 1868; installation of Rev. W. S. Barnes, First Unitarian Parish, Woburn, 1869; and dedication of Soldiers' Monument, Woburn, Oct. 14, 1869.

There are also a few pieces such as the programme of a "Grand Concert and Exhibition of the New Organ in the Baptist church, Woburn, by Mr. J. H. Wilcox, of Boston, assisted by Miss Annie L. Cary, and Mr. P. H. Powers, on Thursday evening, June 1st, 1865." Miss Annie L. Cary, is now the celebrated Mrs. Annie Louise Cary-Raymond. There is also the printed invitation to a social gathering and pewletting of the First Baptist church, Woburn, on the evening of July 16, 1868, and the Memorial Day programme for Woburn, on May 29, 1869. There are besides two tickets, one admitting the bearer to a social festival in aid of the Woburn Branch of the Sanitary Commission, at Lyceum Hall, Woburn, on Tuesday evening, February 2, 1864, and the other to a Phalanx Associates' supper, at the Central House, on the evening of March 21, 1865. Such articles it is true, as the hand of time touches them, are certainly "worth keeping," and acquire of themselves an interesting value as exponents of the deeds and actions of a now distant past.—C.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The following is a skeleton programme of the public exercises to be observed on Memorial Day, a week from to-morrow, in this city:

As usual, G. A. R. Posts 161 and 33 will decorate the graves of the soldiers in the several cemeteries of the city in the forenoon and attend to such matters as are commonly attended to at that time.

There will be a short street parade by the Veterans escorted by the Mechanic Phalanx and W. H. S. B., preceded by a Band of music.

At 3.30 p. m. public ceremonies will be held at Lyceum Hall, to attend which a general invitation is extended to the public. They will consist in part of Ritual Work by the Posts; Oration by Comrade E. G. Prebble of Webster, Mass.; vocal music by the Apollo Quartett of Boston; Band music, etc.

At the close of the memorial exercises at Lyceum Hall both Posts will repair to their respective Headquarters and partake of a collation.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Burlington.

The apple trees are in bloom but the blossoms are not abundant.

Services of commemoration will be held in the cemetery on Memorial Day.

The Ladies Benevolent Society met in the church parlor Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. E. Winslip, mother of Mrs. G. L. Tebbetts, and a lady highly esteemed by her friends in this place, died in Fitchburg, where she has lately resided on Thursday of last week, May 14, after an illness of several months. The burial was in Arlington.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

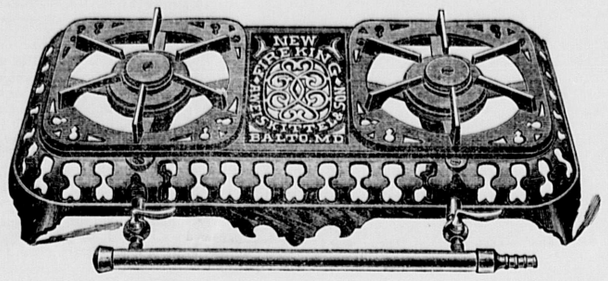
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING — AND — HEATING.



WOBURN, May 1, 1891.

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Bass,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.

Wm. A. Mullett,
House, Sign & Fresco Painter.
Paper Hanging
and Decorating
Done in the best and most workmanlike manner, at the lowest living price, and at short notice.
I have just opened a new Store on Walnut Street with a good selection of Wall Papers and Borders, also Window Shades, Mouldings, &c., and would solicit a share of your patronage, and guarantee to give satisfaction.
All goods sold at Boston Prices.
Store and Shop on Walnut St., House 22 Church St.,
WOBURN, MASS.

Dramatic Entertainment
FOR BENEFIT OF THE
Unitarian S. School,
Friday, May 22, 1891,
at 8 o'clock, P. M.,
In Unitarian Vestry.
"Champion of Her Sex."
"To Meet Mr. Thompson"
Music and Readings.
Tickets, - 25 cents.

THE PHILADELPHIA & READING COAL AND IRON COMPANY,
Miners and Shippers of
Hard White Ash, Free Burning White Ash, Schuylkill Red Ash, Shamokin and Lorberry
COALS,
Also of the celebrated BROOKSIDE COAL of Lykens Valley.
DEEP RED ASH, VERY FREE BURNING.
Unexcelled by any coal for use in open grates or cooking stoves.
All retail dealers in New England can furnish these choice coals.
Office of Eastern Department, 70 Kilby St., BOSTON.
Distributing depots at Boston, Salem, Newburyport and New Bedford.

No Strike
At Our Shop!
House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.
Also, first-class Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.
Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.
BLUE STORE.
C. E. SMITH.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency.
J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains; choice house lots in all parts of the city from Eustace Cummings's magnificent lawn to the N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres; located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interests by looking over Munroe's lot before closing any trade. No. 451 Main street, morning and evening; 35 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

WANTED.
Agents for this city to sell goods for a Boston house on the instalment plan; $20 to $40 per week can be made by the right party. Address
A. M. FLANDERS,
115 Meriden street, E. BOSTON.

YOUR GARDEN
HOSE IS BURST!
A CHILD CAN MEND IT
With a box of the HUDSON HOSE MENDER. Send for directions How to Do It. It costs you nothing if you mention this paper.
C. E HUDSON, Leominster, Mass.

FOR SALE.
House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.
Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.
House on corner of Beach and Salem streets:
Also,
TO LET: Tenement, No. 64 Beach Street. Rent $10 a month.
Inquire of G. F. JONES.

Dog Cart For Sale.
INQUIRE AT
237 Main Street, Woburn.

CLEAN HANDS
DENOTE
A CLEAN HEART.
The pages of the
BOSTON HERALD,
Both news and advertising, are clean. It is a family newspaper.
SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.
The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.
Just the Paper for your Family to read.

CLUB WINDOWS
Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.
Keeler & Co.
91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,
BOSTON.

TO LET
MAY 1, 1891.
Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.
Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.
1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.
Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all others interested in the Estate of Julia A. Taylor, late of Wilmington in said County, deceased, intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to George L. Taylor of Wilmington in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of May instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same;

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Eliza Annie Quimby Stevens, late of Woburn in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, William H. Cummings, the Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the est te of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the Estate under deed given by Oliver B. Coolidge to Ebenezer Lawrence, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, given in trust for the benefit of Abijah Thompson and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, the Trustee under said deed, has presented his petition for license to sell certain real estate therein specified, held by him as such trustee;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

G. McGREGOR
FLORIST,
Church Avenue.
Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.
Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.
Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Special Bargains at
— AT —
BONELLI'S
22 Franklin St., Woburn.
As we leave Woburn for the Summer by the middle of June, we will give our Customers some extra values in the following goods:
Black India Twill, 40 in. wide 50c., worth 75c.
Black India Twill, 44 in. wide 70c., worth $1.00
Black Henrietta, 40 in. wide 35c., worth 75c.
Black Henrietta 46 in. wide 90c., worth $1.20.
Fancy Brilliantine 25c., worth 50c.
Table Damask, Bed Spreads, Napkins and Doylies at less than wholesale prices.

ATTENTION
Ladies and Gentlemen.
Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.
Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.
Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at
No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.
☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
M. D. STEVENS.

WORKING MEN
OF WOBURN.
If you pay for good stout Overalls 50 cents
you are unwise for I ask only 39 cents.
Or if you pay for Working Shirts 50 cents,
I will sell you the same quality for 39 cents.
And so of Outing Shirts. If you pay 29 or 25c. I will sell you the same for 23c. If you pay 50c. I will sell the same for 39c.
And so of Jumpers and all Underwear.
In fact any goods that laboring men buy in my line will be sold from 25% to 33% under the regular price.
Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,
367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.
Blue Store.

Blue Store.
Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.
Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.
Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.
C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,
Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the
CASH MARKET,
DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Spring Goods Just Received
In Every Style, Texture and Price,
— AT —
G. R. GAGE & CO.,
FINE TAILORS.
395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
— AT —
DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.
PRICES REASONABLE.
347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

PRICE OF
Butter Reduced!
As the supply of new Butter is increasing we are enabled to quote lower prices than at any time since last fall.
We have a full assortment of all grades.
Our best Butter is very fine and warranted to please every time.
We have also reduced the price of Flour 25 cents per bbl.
Boston Branch
Tea and Grocery House,
327 & 329 Main St.
FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,
345 Main Street, WOBURN.
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES,
Slippers, Rubbers, &c.
FULL LINE
Goodyear Glove Rubbers.
ALSO DEALER IN
Sewing Machnes
AND FINDINGS.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on this part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.
SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.
BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.
MAIN STREET.
Valuable improvement property on the corner of Main and Mann's Court, opposite Salem street. 11 room house, fitted for two tenements, 36-6 feet front, 62-6 feet deep. About 2240 feet. This is a first-class opportunity to make this into store property. Terms easy.
CANAL STREET.
7 Room House, store underneath, biggest bargain in Woburn, must be sold to settle an estate.
Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.
WANTED. Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.
E. J. GREGORY,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent,
Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

Globe Dental Parlors
227 Tremont St., Boston.
GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.
ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.
Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.
C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.
DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.
227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

CAPTIVITY OF ISRAEL.

LESSON VIII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 24.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings xvii, 6-18. Commit Verses, 16-18—Golden Text, II Chron. xxiv, 20—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

6. "In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria, and carried Israel away into Assyria."

After more than 250 years of continued rebellion against God, during which time nineteen kings reigned over them, not one of whom did right in the sight of the Lord, Shalmanezer, king of Assyria, besieged Samaria, the capital of Israel (I Kings xvi, 24) in the sixth year of Hoshea, and after three years took it and carried Israel into captivity (vs. 1-5). That God would do this if they refused to obey Him He had plainly foretold by His servant Moses (Lev. xxvi, 27-33; Deut. xxviii, 63, 64), and by the prophets He had given them many a warning, so that they were without excuse.

7. "For so it was, that the children of Israel had sinned against the Lord their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, etc."

God through Moses, and through his servants Hosea, Amos and Jeremiah, makes frequent reference to His bringing them out of Egypt as a reason why they should obey.

8. "And walked in the statutes of the heathen, whom the Lord cast out from before the children of Israel."

9. "And the children of Israel did secretly those things that were not right against the Lord their God."

Not only publicly but secretly were they "mingled among the heathen and learned their works" (Ps. cvi, 35). In the dark they did wickedly, saying, "The Lord seeth us not; the Lord hath forsaken the earth."

10. "And they set them up images and groves in every high hill and under every green tree."

Even Judah did this also in the days of the son of Solomon (I Kings xiv, 22, 23), and then followed the plundering of the temple by the king of Egypt, only thirty-four years after its dedication (I Kings vi, 38; xiv, 25, 26). When we consider the plain commands of God not only not to set up these places, but to destroy all such things and places which the heathen had set up (Deut. xvi, 21, 22; xii, 2), we are apt to ask, "How could they thus fly in the face of God?" But we had better ask our own hearts.

11. "And there they burnt incense in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the Lord carried away before them; and wrought wicked things to provoke the Lord to anger."

12. "For they served idols, whereof the Lord had said unto them, Ye shall not do this thing."

Besides the second commandment recorded in Ex. xx, and Deut. v, listen to Lev. xxvi, 1, "Ye shall make you no idols nor graven image, * * * to bow down unto it, for I am the Lord your God." Jehovah their creator and covenant keeping God desired to be their portion. He wanted them all for Himself, and He would be wholly for them. He would be their shield and their exceeding great reward, as He said to Abram.

13. "Yet the Lord testified against Israel, and against Judah, by all the prophets, and all the seers, saying, Turn ye from your evil ways."

See some of His pleading with them in Isa. i, 16, 17; lv, 7; Jer. iii, 12; xxv, 5; Ezek. xxxiii, 11; Hos. xiv, 1. "Thus saith the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength; and ye would not" (Isa. xxx, 15).

14. "Notwithstanding they would not hear, but hardened their necks, like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the Lord their God."

On the last verse we quoted from Isaiah the sad words, "And ye would not." It was the same all through their history, till Jesus Himself uttered the same words shortly before they crucified Him.

15. "And they rejected his statutes, and his covenant, and they followed vanity and became vain."

He is wisdom, and wisdom is the principal thing, better than rubies or gold or silver; but folk despise wisdom; it is too high for them (Prov. iv, 7; viii, 11, 19; i, 7; xxiv, 7). In Jer. x, 8, 14, 15, idols and idolatry are called lies and vanity. When the people of Lystra took Paul and Barnabas for gods, and would have worshiped them, Paul exhorted them to turn from these vanities unto the living God who made all things (Acts xiv, 15).

16. "And they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, and made them molten images."

The calves at Dan and Bethel, and the idol groves everywhere, proclaimed their folly. They turned their backs on the Creator and worshiped the works of His hands, sun, moon and stars, rather than Himself. It seems to me that if we as believers think more of the gifts of God than of Himself; if it is Heaven or happiness, or our own personal welfare we are chiefly seeking, we are in danger of committing Israel's sin. God Himself is our salvation, and His commandments should be our delight because He has given Himself to us; and obedience to His last command, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature," should give us the greatest joy of all. But if we are more concerned about our idols, our own peace or happiness, or it may be the molten images we carry in our purses, what does He think of us?

17. "And they caused their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord."

The Molochs of today are society, fashion, pleasure, the dance, the theatre, the card table, and to this destroying fire from the pit how many sons and daughters are consecrated God only knows. For an evening's pleasure many who bear the name of Jesus will for the time being sell themselves to the devil. Jesus has bought our bodies and souls, and He wants all there is to us for His glory. Neither the world, the flesh, nor the devil has the least claim on us, nor any right to us.

18. "Therefore the Lord was very angry with Israel and removed them out of his sight."

He could see them as well in Assyria as in Samaria, so in that sense they were not out of His sight, but His face did not shine upon them, nor did they enjoy His favor (Num. vi, 24-26). They despised Him and His blessing, so he finally withdrew and left them to the idols they had chosen. So will He do with all who persistently turn their backs upon Him.

"There was none left but the tribe of Judah only."

These He would spare a little longer, for they had not sinned as grievously as Israel, and they had not been without sincere repentance on the part of some. Hezekiah, who did right in the sight of the Lord, was now their king (chap. xviii, 1-3), while in past days such kings as Asa, Jehoshaphat, Joash and others had led them in the right way.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

English manufacturers are bleaching paper by an electrical process without, it is stated, imparing its strength. A magnesium chloride solution is decomposed by a powerful electric current with the evolution of chlorine and oxygen.

THE ACTOR.

Oh, man, with your wonderful dower,
Oh, woman, with genius and grace,
You can teach the whole world with your power
If you are but worthy the place.
The stage is a force and a factor
In molding the thought of the day,
If only the heart of the actor
Is high as the theme of the play.

No discourse or sermon can reach us
Through feeling to reason like you;
No author can stir us and teach us
With lessons as subtle and true.
Your words and your gestures obeying,
We weep or rejoice with your part,
And the player, behind all his playing,
He ought to be great as his art.

No matter what role you are giving,
No matter what skill you betray,
The everyday life you are living
Is certain to color the play.
The thoughts we call secret and hidden
Are creatures of malice, in fact,
They steal forth unseen and unbidden,
And permeate motive and act.

The genius that shines like a comet
Fills only one part of God's plan
If the lesson the world derives from it
Is marred by the life of the man.
Be worthy your work if you love it;
The king should be fit for the crown:
Stand high as your art, or above it,
And make us look up and not down.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Oysters on the Maine Coast.

Though epicureans will say warm water is against a good flavor, I found oysters at the mouth of the St. Johns river, Florida, very fine. They were extremely fresh, the only trouble, and one easily rectified. Formerly oysters were common from Maine to Florida, but now Long Island is the most northern point. This is somewhat singular Some years ago while doing the Maine coast I pushed up a small river about ten miles to the town of Damariscotta, where there was an Indian mound. The latter I found made up entirely of oyster shells of remarkable size, piled one upon another for fifteen or twenty feet up, a big pine tree growing in the mass.

This showed that several hundred years ago the coast abounded in fine oysters, which had been carried up the river year after year until the pile of shells had reached the proportions of a hill. In it I found charred deer bones and fragments of simple Indian implements. That the Indian had exterminated the oyster is improbable, and I assume that the beds were destroyed by an exceptionally cold winter.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

Kept Drinking the Tea.

Many years ago a French gentleman was invited to 5 o'clock tea at Bath, where the guests sat around the room in a stiff circle holding their teacups in their left hands and eating hot buttered waffles and chipped smoked venison with the fingers of their right from plates in their laps. Waiters handed about tea and coffee, and the French gentleman, unaware that the position of the teaspoon in the empty cup returned to the waiter indicated whether or not it was to be replenished, politely drank fourteen cups of tea, and then in despair pocketed the cup and saucer, until the general rising of the company enabled him to rid himself of them.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Thought Tables Were Free.

In a certain restaurant there is kept a supply of newspapers which are given free to customers. These newspapers are on a fancy table near the door. Above them is a card on which is the legend, "Take one." One man read the invitation, "Take one," but the supply of newspapers had been exhausted. "Bless their hearts," said the man, in the fullness of his heart, "and they give tables away with every meal. That table is just what we want down at the farm." He was making tracks for the depot, with the table under his arm, when a breathless waiter overtook him and explained matters.—Philadelphia Record.

With the ancients the parrot was not a bird to be revered, so far as can be learned. It is not depicted on any of the sacred scenes in stone that tell the strange stories of the religions of the nations of old, nor has it ever been found mummified in the tombs of Egypt. Most likely the ancients thought it an uncanny bird, and also a dangerous one, with its capabilities of repeating what it heard.

If you have a cold on the chest the hot sandbag is the best thing applied over the lungs. Aches of the abdomen fly before a thorough heating by a hot stone and hot flannel or silk after, and one of the best remedies for the sleeplessness of nervous persons is to lay a hot soapstone against the stomach on going to bed.

As sand consists largely of silex, which water at the ordinary temperature does not dissolve, the water of a sandy region is comparatively pure. The "hard" water of other regions is due to earthy matter held in solution. This earthy matter, however, is seldom harmful to those who drink it.

An engineer on a Texas railroad found a big flock of sheep huddled together in a cut to get out of the storm, and in driving through them killed seventy-eight. Pieces of mutton were found on the platforms of the last car.

In London there are not less than forty manufacturing perfumers, some giving employment to over a hundred hands. In Paris there are some eighty establishments, which employ two or three thousand people.

The largest bell in actual use is at Moscow, and is said to weigh 128 tons. The great bell of Pekin, China, is recorded as weighing fifty-three tons, and that of the Cologne cathedral weighs over twenty-five tons.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

It is well known that vegetable and animal oils are unsuitable for cylinder lubrication, and recently in France where colza oil was used it was found necessary to burn out the deposits in the ports of the locomotive cylinders.

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles, of Everett, Pa., says: "I suffered for years from kidney and gravel trouble No physicians or medicine at home did me any good. I finally visited my former home at Rondout, N. Y., and began using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a perfectly well and happy woman once more."

HOW GOODS ARE SOLD AT A LOSS.

The Profit Comes in on the First Lot and the Remainder Is Closed Out.

We were talking with a leading up town retailer a few days since whose annual sales run up into the millions, and among other questions came up the one of "drives" or special bargains. "How is it," we asked, "that you people can every now and 'then advertise and sell some line of garments or fabrics or articles at prices which, on the face of them, show a heavy loss on the cost of the manufacture itself?"

The merchant smilingly replied: "With the enormous outlet which a business such as ours affords we are in a position to handle quantities which would stagger the average retailer. For instance, we closed out for cash 2,180 silk umbrellas, all the stock of one of the smaller manufacturers, who needed cash for the time being more than he did the umbrellas. The price, as you may readily understand, was a low one or we would not have closed the bargain.

"The goods we placed in stock, marking them in three different grades, viz., $2.50, $3.50 and $5. We advertised them in the daily press, and in a few days sold over 1,500 of this 'special drive,' every one of which was a bargain.

"Now, we said, 'we have made a handsome profit on those already sold. We will create a little excitement on the balance and stand a loss ourselves.' So we advertised 500 silk umbrellas at one dollar each. Every one of those we put in this special sale was worth from $2.50 to $5 at retail.

"The morning the sale took place the people flocked in as soon as the doors were opened, and in one hour and twenty minutes the last umbrella was disposed of. We sold one umbrella only to each individual purchaser at this low figure, and consequently placed this bargain with upward of 500 different persons.

"The actual loss to us on this sale was several hundred dollars, but on the whole lot of 2,180 umbrellas we averaged a very handsome profit, besides making ourselves talked about and bringing 500 special customers into the store who, it is safe to say, bought more or less in the other departments of the house at a profit."—Dry Goods Chronicle.

French Sentiment.

However soon the Frenchwoman may exchange the memory of her dear husband for that of another still dearer she may be trusted to do the decent thing by his grave. In some of the small towns in France it is the custom for the widow to put the favorite plant of her husband upon the grave. A woman recently returned from France tells of seeing a grave in one cemetery bearing a small cherry tree upon it because that had been the favorite fruit of the departed husband. In another corner she saw a grave that was a beautiful bed of rhubarb, and in still another a plot of cresses and another of cabbages.

"Ah, madame," said the keeper of the pension—herself a widow, when the amused American woman commented upon this to her—"Ah, madame, you Americans, you haf no nice little sentiments. My own husband he is planted wiz onions."—New York Evening Sun.

A Suggestion.

They were friends, and how they loved each other.

Scene: A public dinner. Brown is seated next to Smith, whose shirt front is decorated with three magnificent diamond (?) studs.

Brown—Excuse me, Smith, but I really can't help admiring those studs of yours.

Smith—Yes, I think they're pretty good.

Brown—Don't you run a great risk with them? I suppose you have them insured?

Smith—Insured! No. I should be glad to do so; but there isn't a company in existence that will take a risk of that sort.

Brown—My dear fellow, I beg your pardon, there are several plate glass insurance offices to be found.—London Tit-Bits.

The Easier Way.

Edwin Booth is quoted as telling this story: "I went one night to hear Fechter in a melodrama of a tragic cast. In one part of the play Fechter had to count out money. He was very deliberate and said slowly, 'One, two, three, four, five,' and so on. The interest of the play was hanging on the tragedian's having enough money and paying it over to the villain. He kept slowly counting and the audience grew more restless and anxious for him to finish. A witty son of Erin, in the topmost gallery, getting tired, yelled, "Say, Mister Fechter, give him a check!"

A Graceful Rebuke.

A rebuke administered graciously and in good temper is always a pleasure to me. It was at an "afternoon tea," so the story at the club ran, that Miss Beacon Street, ancient in lineage, said to the hostess as she was about leaving: "What a crush you have today. Hardly the 'cream,' I fancy," whereupon the hostess with delightful composure replied, "I always feel that I have the 'cream' when Miss Beacon Street is present." Noblesse oblige —Boston Post.

Sociability.

"That beggar there is a sociable fellow."

"How do you know?"

"Why, he extends a hand to all."—Kate Field's Washington.

Thousands Poisoned.

In a recent work on Heart Disease, Dr. Franklin Miles—the noted specialist—gives many new and startling facts. Thousands of people are slowly poisoning themselves, weakening their hearts by the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol These are Heart Whips, causing it to beat rapidly, thus gradually wearing it out, producing shortness of breath when exercising, pains in side and shoulder, hungry and faint spells. Finally heart failure and sudden death. For weakened and irritated hearts the press everywhere highly recommend the New Heart Cure discovered by Dr. Franklin Miles, which is for sale by Charles H. Buss.

Consider the man who is always punctual—how much time he wastes waiting for other people.

Cure Yourself.

Don't pay large doctor's bills. The best medical book published, one hundred pages, elegant colored plates, will be sent you on receipt of three 2 cent stamps to pay postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

A Pelican's Queer Appetite.

For several years a couple of patriarchal pelicans have fished for a living just off the end of my wharf. I have repeatedly begged their lives of sporting tourists, and so accustomed them to my presence that I could row within an oar's length of them without their taking flight. I have often watched their operations with curious interest, and was really much attached to the solemn looking couple, who, with their smooth pates and beard like pouches, reminded me of feathered caricatures of Father Time. One day on going down to the beach I discovered one of my pelican pets drifting helplessly toward land. When he came within reach I found that he was dead, while in his pouch, with its head completely closing the bird's throat, was a catfish still alive and measuring fourteen inches in length.

Its horns stuck out through each side of the pelican's pouch, and thus the unfortunate bird had been unable to either swallow or reject its unwelcome prey. The pelican's pouch was also torn and perforated in a number of places, showing that the struggle between the would-be-swallower and the wouldn't-be-swallowed had been a long and desperate one. The fish died a few minutes after being removed from the trap into which he had fallen. The bird measured 7 feet 8 inches from tip to tip of his extended wings, and, from his general appearance, was evidently a patriarch of his race.—Forest and Stream.

An Interesting Island.

A naturalist says: "One of the best shell collecting grounds it was ever my good fortune to visit was Long Key, in the Tortugas group of islands, about six miles from Cuba. This was the shell-picker's paradise, as an examination of the island (an island by courtesy of the ocean) showed that it was made up of shells, their broken fragments principally, the residue being plates of a line secreting alga and bits of coral. I have often sat here and picked until tired before moving from the spot, the treasures being mainly small univalves of many species.

"A curious and interesting feature of this picking was that numbers of the shells, especially the little periwinkles, as we called them, were inhabited by hermit crabs that, during the operation of collecting, made not the slightest demonstration, but once in the pocket of the finder they would assert themselves, and soon the shells which you had placed in these receptacles would appear streaming out—conchological processions that were productive of much interest and amusement to bystanders. After a gale I have seen the shore of this bay so lined with the beautiful purple ianthina and the little pearly coiled spirula that the white line could be traced for a long distance away."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Words That Sail Under False Colors.

Suppose we take up a few of the words that seem to be sailing under false colors.

The antelope is not akin to the industrious ant, nor is he given to eloping except when the hunter is after him with a gun. He is partly like a deer and partly like a goat, and received his name from two Greek words—an-thos, beauty; ope, eyes. Antelope means the animal with the beautiful eye.

Tulip suggests two lips, and has served the punster well on that account for many years; but it is the Spanish tulip, derived from the Persian dulband, a turban. The flower and the Persian turban are much alike both in form and in name.

Tenpenny nails are not sold at ten for a penny; nor do you pay ten cents apiece for them. Penny is in this word a queer corruption of pound. A tenpenny nail is so called because 1,000 of that particular size weigh ten pounds. Fourpenny nails weigh four pounds to the thousand.

Miniature is not a picture diminished, but (originally) one colored with minimum, or red lead.—Harper's Young People.

A Great Painter Surprised.

Meissonier, the great French artist, used to relate the following incident with great gusto:

One day while walking in a provincial town where he was unknown he entered a coach builder's establishment and began negotiations for the purchase of a dog cart which had taken his fancy.

"It is elegant enough," said the artist, but it is very badly painted."

Judge of his surprise when he received the following answer delivered in a contemptuous tone:

"If you don't like it paint it yourself, and then it will be sure to look nice."—London Tit-Bits.

The Transmigration of the Soul.

"That dog of mine sometimes makes me almost a believer in the theory of transmigration of souls."

"Yes; when one looks into the eyes of a faithful dog with their almost human expression"——

"Oh, that isn't it. But sometimes I got the idea that it must be the soul of some forgotten poet that inspires him to get out and howl at the moon for two hours at a stretch."—Indianapolis Journal.

Direct Answers.

In a Sunday school. "What did the Israelites do when they came out of the Red sea?" drew forth the answer, "They dried themselves." "Where was Bishop Latimer burned to death?" was immediately answered, "In the fire."—Cassell's Journal.

In advanced age the declining powers are wonderfully refreshed by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It really does "make the weak strong."

Dr. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies.

Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

Teeth an Index of Character.

A leading dentist says: "To determine a person's character by the teeth take the upper front teeth. They are a true index of the nature of a man or a woman. "Here," he said, "is the tooth of a young lady who has a lovely disposition and is universally beloved. See how regular and dainty the formation is, and yet possessing all the requisite points for a perfect tooth. Here you see the tooth of a man who is cruel, although his cruelty is of the refined kind; notice that the tooth is white and rather sharp and long. Then this tooth, stumpy and coarse in form, denotes brutality. It is from the jaw of a man of brutal nature. Here is a curious tooth from the mouth of a peevish, fretful woman. The crown has a sharp, fretful turn to it.

"Now we have the tooth of a sensuous woman. You see it is square, although of good shape, and depressed in the center. Now we come to one that belonged once in the mouth of a lady who is noted for her refinement and intellectual development. It is slender and perfect in shape—one of the kind of teeth going with long, slender fingers. Again, this tooth is from the mouth of a much grosser nature. This woman is selfish, but has, on the whole, a kindly nature and would not willingly hurt another's feelings, but it is her nature to be regardless of others."—New York Ledger.

The Heroism of a Child.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford is a most touching record of heroism and self sacrifice on the part of a child.

The lower door of St. Leonard's church, Bridgeworth, was left open, and two young boys, wandering in, were tempted to mount to the upper part and scramble from beam to beam.

All at once a joist gave way. The beam on which they were standing became displaced. The elder had just time to grasp it when falling, while the younger, slipping over his body, caught hold of his comrade's legs. In this fearful position the poor lads hung, crying vainly for help, for no one was near.

At length the boy clinging to the beam became exhausted. He could no longer support the double weight. He called out to the lad below that they were both done for.

"Could you save yourself if I were to loose you?" replied the younger lad.

"I think I could," returned the elder.

"Then goodby, and God bless you!" said the little fellow, loosing his hold.

Another second and he was dashed to pieces on the stone floor below.

His companion clambered to a place of safety.—Chatterbox.

Sublime Confidence in the Waiter.

In these days of popular cynicism as to the reliability of human nature an incident that occurred at a down town hotel a few days ago cannot be too widely disseminated.

A gentleman in the breakfast room who had just finished the extended perusal of all the morning papers, was startled by the unexpected reappearance of the waiter with his meal.

Warmly grasping the hash hander's disengaged hand he said in a voice choked by emotion:

"I knew you would return. They started a runor a couple of hours ago that you had eloped with the cook or something, but I said: 'No, give him time, gentlemen—give him a chance. It will all come out right in the end.' I knew you would turn up again, if only to bring me the oil cruet with a fly in it."

And the excited guests gave the lightning waiter an enthusiastic send off as he left again in ballast for an invoice of buckwheat cakes.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Cow with a Hobby.

The Parsons (Kan.) Sun tells this remarkable calf story: A cow belonging to Joseph Rowe, a Labette county farmer, recently gave birth to a calf which lived only a few days. After it died the cow transferred her affections to the fourteen-year-old son of the farmer, for whom she manifests a strange fondness. She licks him just as she would a calf, and no one but the boy can do anything with the dumb creature.

The other day young Rowe had occasion to go to town, and as he remained away until after milking time his sister put on a suit of his clothes and went into the barnyard and succeeded in deceiving the cow until she (the cow) happened to see the boy coming up the road, when she kicked the pail over and made a bound in the direction of the youth, showing the most unmistakable evidences of delight.

Juvenile Definitions.

Being asked what conscience was, a boy replied, "An inward monitor," Asked what a monitor meant, the ready answer was, "An ironclad vessel."

Another lad was asked what he understood by "celerity," and, perhaps from experience, he described it as "something to put hot plates down with."—Exchange.

Escaped the Greater Evil.

Gargoyle—In sixty-two years Mexico has had fifty-four presidents, one regency and one empire.

Glanders—What of that? It never had a baseball club.—Munsey's Weekly.

Fill Him Full.

Mrs. Larkin—Here's a paper which says, "The burglar should not be turned away empty."

Larkin—That's right. Fill him with lead.—West Shore.

Gas must be furnished at fifty-two cents per thousand feet to compete with electricity in lighting.

A Safe Guard—Always on Duty.

Thousands make a practice of taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., whenever they have symptoms of possible sickness, and through the prompt action of this remarkable medicine they are really never ill. It is a perfect safeguard against all forms of malaria, sick and nervous headache, palpitation, dyspepsia and heartburn.

A newly-devised insulated screw driver has the shank so thoroughly insulated, nearly to its tip, that shock can be avoided. The metal shank is flattened and bent into a loop at one end and then moulded into a rubber handle which gives perfect protection from the current.

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years, and I tried many remedies, but none did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm. It completely cured me. M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Ave., Boston Highlands Mass.

After using Ely's Cream Balm two months I was surprised to find that the right nostril which was closed for more than twenty years, was open and free as the other, and can use it now as I could not do for many years. I feel very thankful.—R. H. Cressengham, 275 18th St., Brooklyn.

Really Enthusiastic: "Oh, Mr. Brown, your picture is absolutely enchanting. Only one Italian word can describe it—and I have forgotten that."

Personal regard to the rules of living, and the judicious use of that superior alterative, Laxador, will insure that inestimable blessing—health.

Cutting teeth is one of the hardest pieces of work the baby does; why not then help it out by allowing it occasional doses of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.

When a bachelor is asked to rock the cradle he feels more like stoning the baby instead.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, do not fail to use SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and workshops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

DR. BULL'S BABY SYRUP

Facilitates Teething! 25c. At all Dealers. Regulates the Bowels!

Old Saul's Pile Ointment is infallible.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN

MERCHANT TAILOR,

7 WALNUT STREET,

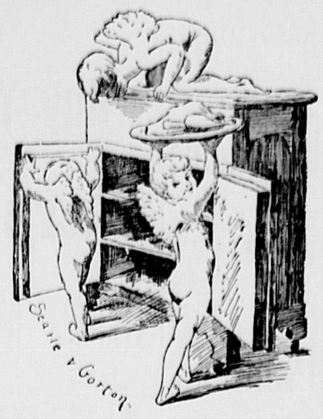
Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushelling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 454 Main Street, Woburn.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIAGES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets, BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2½ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x 4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING,
5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS,
30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS,
20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING,
1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each, $6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c.

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY $4.00 POPULAR PRICES $2.00

M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.

The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO.

181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

Bay State Guitars Mandolins Banjos

These have received the highest honors in competition, Six Silver, Three Bronze, One Gold Medal and Three Diplomas.

Musical Instruments of every description, including Haynes Excelsior and Wm. B. Tilton Guitars, Band and Orchestral Instruments, Strings, etc. Send for Catalogue.

J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 468 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 881 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated no Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND, 388 Main St., cor Park St. Woburn, Mass.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main treet?

SALESMEN WANTED

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.

F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL and HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, JAMES GRANT WILSON, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1891. NO. 24.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.35, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.59, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M, 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.23, 4.21, 5.01, 5.56, 5 52, 6.23, 6.34, 7.05, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., *12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, †5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.55, *10.10, 10 40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, †5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.30, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.31, 5.00, 5.35, †6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, †6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, †10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10.10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6 20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 5.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9 55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Monivale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Qaealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 139 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.
Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.55 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, JR.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

Have you smoked the famous La. Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main S

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Office No. 19 Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass.
Residence and Stables, Salem St. Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

Vose & Sons PIANOS
ESTABLISHED 1851.
28,000 SOLD AND IN USE.
NEW STYLES
ELEGANT DESIGNS,
SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
GREAT DURABILITY,
EASY TERMS.
New and Second-hand Pianos rented, and one year's rent allowed on the purchase price.
100 Second-hand Pianos, in good order, ranging from $50 to $275 in price. Some have had but little use.
VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont St.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, MASS.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

The Woburn Journal

THE CORSICAN'S REVENGE.

Toward the close of September, in the last year of the last century, a foreigner, accompanied by his wife and infant daughter, stopped in front of the palace of the Tuileries. He stood for a considerable time near the ruins of a house recently pulled down, with folded arms, and head almost reclining upon his breast; or, if he raised it, it was to gaze successively upon the consular palace and his wife, who was seated upon a stone by his side. Although the female seemed to devote her whole attention to her child, who was about nine or ten years of age, and whose long black hair she drew through her fingers, not one of the glances which her husband threw around escaped her notice. One same feeling, but not of love, appeared to unite them together, and to inspire their movements, gestures and thoughts by the same anxiety. Misery is, perhaps, the most powerful bond of union.

The stranger had one of those strongly marked heads, abounding with a forest of hair, large and stern, which the Carrachis delighted to put on canvass; but his raven-colored locks were plentifully varied with gray hairs, and his noble and haughty features were distorted by an unrelenting and cruel expression. He was tall and athletic, notwithstanding his age was about sixty. His tattered clothes showed that he had just arrived from a long and painful journey.

His wife was ten years younger. Her once lovely face seemed to be faded by sorrow and privation. He attitude indicated that she was a prey to deep and hidden sorrow; but when her husband looked upon her, she made an effort to smile, and tried to assume a calm and undisturbed aspect. The child was standing near her, although her young countenance, embrowned by the sun and weather, betrayed symptoms of weakness and fatigue. The tone of her features was decidedly Italian; large black eyes beneath perfectly-arched eye-brows, native nobility, and indefinable grace.

More than one passer-by felt moved and interested at the sight of this group, the parties of which did not attempt to conceal the marks of a despair which was as deep as its expression was simple and evident. But the spring of that transient and fugitive feeling which Parisians give way to, was quickly dried up; for as soon as the stranger observed that he had become the object of the marked attention of any lounger, he returned his gaze with so fierce a glance, that the most intrepid and inquisitive hurried on their way as if they were walking among serpents.

Suddenly the foreigner passed his hand across his forehead, as if to chase away the gloomy thoughts which had furrowed it with wrinkles. He seemed to nerve himself to some decided and desperate resolution. He turned a piercing look upon his wife and daughter, drew from under his coat a long poniard, which he handed to the woman. He then said to her in Italian.

"I am going to see whether the Bonapartes will remember us!"

So saying he moved with a slow and firm tread toward the entrance of the palace. He was, of course, stopped by a soldier of the consular guard, with whom the discussion did not continue long, for, perceiving the obstinacy with which the stranger persisted in his design, the sentinel presented his bayonet to his breast as a last and conclusive argument. It so happened that the relief was then going the rounds, and the corporal very obligingly pointed out to the adventurer where the officer who commanded the post was stationed.

"Let Bonaparte know that Bartolomeo di Piombo has something to say to him," was the stranger's address to the captain of the guard.

Persons who have energetically made up their minds to a thing, are frequently admirably seconded by accidents in its accomplishments. At the moment when Bartolomeo seated himself upon one of the stone posts which are at the entrance of the palace, a carriage drove up from which Lucien Bonaparte, then Minister of the Interior, alighted.

"Ah, Lucien!" cried the stranger; "Bartolomeo is very lucky to meet you!"

These words, pronounced in the Corsican patois, made Lucien stop, as he was hurrying under the dome. He looked at Bartolomeo, and instantly recognized him; the latter whispered into his ear; Lucien nodded to the sentinel, and they then ascended to the First Consul's apartment.

They went as far as the closet without stopping. Murat, Lannes, and Rapp were there. When they saw Lucien come in, accompanied by so odd-looking a person, their conversation ceased. Lucien took Napoleon's hand, and led him to a window; after a few moments' conversation, the First Consul waved his hand, and Murat and Lannes immediately withdrew. Rapp pretended not to notice it, and stayed behind. Bonaparte called to him sharply, and the aid-de-camp went into the adjoining room, grumbling. The First Consul, hearing Rapp's footsteps, passed hastily into the next room, and noticed Rapp walking up and down by the wall which separated the closet from the apartment.

It was in vain that the officer took much trouble to make the stranger understand that it was not the custom for the First Consul to receive anybody, unless an audience had been previously requested in writing; he continued to insist that the captain should go and personally inform Bonaparte of his visit. The officer, after again explaining the rule of the service, positively declined attending the wish of the pertinacious intruder. Upon this Bartolomeo knit his eyebrows together in such a manner as to make them meet, and cast an awful frown upon the captain, as if to make him responsible for any untoward event which might happen, in consequence of his refusal.

He did not utter another word, but crossed his arms fiercely upon his breast, and posted himself beneath the portico, which serves as a communication between the courtyard and the gardens of the Tuileries.

"You will not take a hint, then?" observed the First Consul. "Did you not perceive that I wanted to be alone with my fellow-countryman?"

"He's a Corsician! So"—responded the aid-de-camp. "That's additional reason why I should stay. I distrust all the tribe—"

The First Consul could not repress a smile, and gently pushed his devoted follower from the wall. Rapp then left the room.

"Well! what are you doing here, my poor Bartolomeo?" inquired the First Consul of Piombo.

"To beg an asylum and assistance from you, if you are a true Corsican," replied Bartolomeo, in a hoarse and impatient tone.

"What misfortune can possibly have driven you from the country? You, who six months ago, were the richest, the most ——"

"I have killed all the Portas!" said Piombo, with deeply modulated accents and drawing his brows together convulsively.

"Would you betray me" said Bartolomeo, casting a sombre glance at Bonaparte. "Remember there are four more Piombos left in Corsica!"

Lucien took his countryman's arm, and shaking it lightly, whispered to him. Surely you do not come here to threaten my brother?"

Bonaparte gave a nod to Lucien, who was instantly silent; then looking at Piombo, he said—

"Why did you kill the Portas?"

The Corsican eyes glared like a flash of lightning.

"We had made up our quarrels, and agreed to be friends through the mediation ofof Barbantini. On the day but one after we had dined together to drown all animosities, I was forced to leave them at my house, as business called me to Bastia. In my absence, they set fire to my vineyards at Longone—murdered my son Gregoria—and my daughter Ginevra and my wife only escaped their hands, doubtlessly, because they had that very morning taken the communion, and were under the protection of the Virgin. When I returned I could no longer find my home; I searched for it, while I trod upon its smouldering ashes!"

Bartolomeo paused, and appeared to be oppressed by the recollection of his sorrows.

"Suddenly I trod upon Gregorio's body, and, by the light of the moon, I recognized him. Oh! said I to myself this is the Portas' handiwork. I instantly made off to the mountians—collected together some persons to whom I had done service—do you understand, Bonaparte?—and we marched to the vineyards of Portas. We reached the spot at nine o'clock in the morning, and at ten they were in the presence of the God who made them. Giacomo pretends to say that Eliza Vanni had saved a child, the young Luigi; but I am sure I tied him securely to his bed, before we set fire to the house. To be brief; I left the island with my wife and child, before I could verify the report that Luigi was still living.

Bonaparte stood motionless, looking at Bartolomeo with curiosity, but without any indication of surprise.

"How many of them were they?" asked Lucien.

"Seven," replied Piombo. "They once persecuted you," resumed he; but the observation did not draw any expression of animosity from the brothers.

"Ah! you are no longer Corsicans," said he, with a bitter and despairing tone. "Adieu! I once sheltered and protected you," he added reproachfully. "If it had not been for me, your mother would never have reached Marseilles alieve," said he, turning to Bonaparte, who stood deep in thought, resting his elbow on the mantelpiece of the chimney.

"In very conscience, Piombo," answered Napoleon. "I do not see how I can hide you under my wing; for I am the head of the republic, and it is my duty to see that its laws are executed."

"Ah! ah!" said Bartolomeo.

"But I can shut my eyes" resumed the consul. "The predjudice of the Vendetta will long prevent the supremacy of the laws in Corsica," added he, speaking to himself. "It must be eradicated, however, at whatever cost."

Bonaparte kept silence for a minute, and Lucien made a sign to Piombo not to interrupt him. The Corsican shook his head disapprovingly.

"Stay here," said the consul to Bartolomeo, and we will not meddle with the affair. I will cause your estates to be purchased for you; at a fitting opportunity we will see what can be done for you. But no more of the vendetta. Remember there are no mountains to fly to in Paris and if you handle your poinard here you cannot expect a mercy which I should not dare to grant. Here every citizen is protected by the laws, and no one takes justice into his own hands."

"Very well!" said Bartolomeo, taking Lucien's hand and grasping it. "We are yours for life and death, and you can dispose of every one who bears the name of Piombo."

So saying, the brow of the Corsican relaxed its sternness, and he looked around him with pleasure and complacency.

"You are not badly off here," remrrked he, smilingly, as if he should like to live there. "It is a palace!"

"It depends upon yourself to be the most welcome here, and to have a palace of your own in Paris," said Bonaparte, measuring with his eyes the figure and proportions of his countryman. "I shall often have occasion to look around me to find a devoted friend on whose fidelity I can rely."

A sob of transport burst from the ample chest of Piombo. He held out his hand to the first consul and said: "There is still something of the Corsican left in you!"

Bonaparte smiled as he silently examined this man who brought back to him, as it were, the breath of his native ground; of that island, where he had been received with so much enthusiasm on his return from Egypt, and which he was destined never again to behold. He made a sign to his brother, who took with him Bartolomeo di Piombo. Lucien inquired with much kindness about the state of the finances of the old friend of his family. Piombo took the minister of the interior to a window and pointed out his wife and Ginevra seated upon a heap of stones. He then said—

"We came here on foot from Fontainbleau, and are absolutely penniless."

Lucien gave his purse to his country man, and told him to come to his hotel the next morning, to consult about the means to be adopted to secure his property. Bartolomeo filled with hope and happiness, rejoined his wife and Ginevra.

That evening the exiles obtained a refuge, bread and the protection of the first consul.

Great Discoverers.

What Bell and Edison are to the telephone and electricity, says the Pittsburg News, Dr. Franklin Miles, the well-known specialist in nervous diseases, is to the nervous system and nerve fluid. Among his numerous discoveries the Restorative Nervine is undoubtedly one of the greatest. It is unsurpassed in nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, epilepsy, neuralgia, backache, melancholly, sleeplessness, change of life, etc. Free trial bottles of it may be had of Charles H. Buss, Druggist. All should read his "New and Startling Facts for the Afflicted," a very able, interesting, and finely illustrated book. Free to all.

We take it that our Democratic friends are perfectly aware that one of the solid Democratic Congressional districts is mortgaged to that distinguished "tariff reformer," the Hon. John L. Sullivan.

Guaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with La Grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer, because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50 cents and $1 00.

A drainage scheme proposed for Melbourne, Australia, by the government engineer is estimated to cost $25,000,000.

A fire engine that does away with the use of horses and forces the water by means of power generated by a storage battery is a recent electrical invention.

All the while thou livest ill, thou hast the trouble, distraction, inconveniences of life, but not the sweets and true use of it.

Munroe's Clothing House.

COME AND LOOK OVER OUR GREAT STOCK OF

Spring Styles for Men's and Boys' Wear.

For Variety, Excellence and Durability our Stock is far superior to any shown in this vicinity.

Our Prices Always The Lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Literary Notices.

Always firstclass. PETERSON'S MAGAZINE continues to increase in popularity. The June number is a capital specimen of its general excellence and the great improvements made at the beginning of the year. To the ladies PETERSON is of special importance at this season when the thought necessarily uppermost in every woman's mind is What to Wear and How to Wear it. These are questions which PETERSON answers in the most simple and satisfactory manner. The beautiful double fashion plates give the newest Parisians toilettes, but give also designs of the freshest novelties in American costumes. PETERSON evidently agrees with Mrs. Cleveland and other prominent society leaders in their determination to make American styles and fabrics dispute the palm with those of France. The magazine caters also in every possible way to the needs of housekeepers and home-makers. In point of literary attractions and illustrations it compares favorably with the highest priced periodicals. A new volume begins with the July number, try it for the next six months. Terms, $2 a year; $100 for six months. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

The May WIDE AWAKE is made by Hon. John D. Long, Susan Coolidge, Margaret Sidney, Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey, Mrs. William Claflin, Alexander Japp LL D., Mrs. Katherine Foote, the author of Dear Daughter Dorothy, Marian Douglas, Kirk Munroe, Mrs. Clara Doty Bates, Miss Amanda B. Harris, Mary Felicia Butts, Edith Black, E. H. Hawley of the Smithsonian Institution, Agnes Repplier, Caroline Hunt Rimmer, Miss McKeag, Margaret Lake, Marietta Ambrosi, Maria Johns Hammond, together with the bright anecdoteretters who fill the pages of Men and Things, and the various picture-makers—Childe Hassam, Brennan, Miss Plympton, Bridgman, Garrett, Miss Rimmer, Virginia Gerson, Mente, and Hiram Barnes. All the stories, articles and poems are capital. WIDE AWAKE is $2 40 a year; 20 cents a number. A specimen (back number) will be sent on receipt of 5 cents. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH for June has considerable of the beauty and fragrance of apple blossoms, and June roses, buttercups, and other favorite flowers about it, which is as it should be at this blooming season of the year. The literary contents of the number and their illustrations were never more interesting and attractive nor are they excelled in real merit by any magazine published in the country.

We give THE WOBURN JOURNAL ($2 a year) and THE COTTAGE HEARTH ($1.50 a year) for $2 payable IN ADVANCE.

Stand Your Ground.

When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation instead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's" and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled. Therefore we have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building up medicine.

Mysterious Mines of Cinnabar.

There are mines of cinnabar at Daghestan, in the district of Kyreen, but no effort and no artifice of the Russian authoritie san as yet avail to ferret out their exact locality. The natives know that the Government will take possession of tse mines as soon as it is known where they are, and, therefore, keep their knowledge secret. They use the mineral as a medicine and sometimes carry it in bags to sell in the neighboring towns. If a native is caught with a bag or basket of cinnabar and asked whence he had taken it, he will tell twenty lies to account for qis possession, and neither by bribes nor by threats can the truth be gotten out of him.

How Repulsive

Is bad breath, and yet how many otherwise attractive, polite, and particular people afflict their friends with the foul odor of their breath. If there was no remedy for this, it might excite our sympathy, but as there is no need of having a foul breath, it is an unpardonable breach of good manners to obtrude such an offence on good society. Foul breath arises from disordered digestion which can be corrected by using Sulphur Bitters, and the result will be a pure, sweet breath.

Ex-Secretary Fairchild's remarks on the silver question at the dinner of the Democratic Club at Providence will not be palatable to the masses of his party, who are irrevocably committed to free silver.

The Derivation of Buckram.

Buckram, so called from Bokhara, where it was originally made in the Middle Ages, was much esteemed for being costly and fine, and fit for use in church vestments and for secular personal wear. John Grandison, Bishop of Exeter, England in 1327, gave to his cathedral flags of white and red buckram, and among the five very rich veils for covering the movable lectern in that church three were lined with blue bokeram. As late as the beginning of the sixteenth century this stuff was held good enough for lining to a black velvet gown for Queen Elizabeth.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

"A Snail's Pace."

"A snail's pace" need not be used any longer as a term more or less indefinite. By an interesting experiment at the Florence Polytechnic Institute a few days ago the pace was ascertained exactly and reduced to figures, which may now be used by persons who favor the use of the exact terms. A half a dozen of the mollusks were permitted to crawl between two points ten feet apart, and from this the average pace was ascertained. In working the calculation into feet, yards, rods, furlongs and miles it was found that it would take a small snail exactly fourteen days to crawl a mile.—St. Louis Republic.

When a child, by any unusual symptoms, shows that it is suffering great pain, use Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. It will soothe the little sufferer.

The simplest means are generally the safest and surest. Hence the great demand for Laxador, for liver disease, dyspepsia, headache, etc. Price 25c.

Ex-Governor Evans of Colorado has presented the University of Denver with $100,000 for its further endowment.

Transact business with the

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

MEMORIAL DAY.

As is highly proper Memorial Day will be duly observed by Veterans and people in this city to-morrow. By reference to the official programme published in to-day's JOURNAL it will be seen that a series of exercises befitting the solemn occasion will be carried out.

Commander Graves of Post 161 in his appeal for Comrades to turn out in force tells them that the ranks of the Veterans grow thinner and thinner every year; that erelong the last one of them will take up his march for another camp; and when he does that the Order of G. A. R. will exist no longer. Let that thought animate the old soldiers and cause them to be found on the march, in the cemetery, the hall and at the feast to-morrow. On each successive Memorial Day some familiar face is sure to be missed; some who participated in the solemn services in 1890 are not here in 1891, nor can their places be filled. Next year others will be absent from the ranks; and thus will the Order grow less and less until there is no one left to keep it up any longer.

If good weather should prevail there will doubtless be a large turnout of the Veterans here to-morrow, and the day will be properly observed by our people, as it deserves to be.

THE NEW CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

There appears to be a hitch in the Congressional redistricting of the State—several of them, in fact. The sailing of the Committee's plan is not as smoothe and comfortable as its authors thought it was going to be. The Republicans have got their eyes open part way and are likely to get them open wider yet before the matter is settled. We should say that some of the Republican members of the Legislature have heard from their constituents.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
E. D. Hayden—Citation.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
P. L. Converse.—Ex. Sale.
T. C. Evans—Ivers & Pond.
John I. Munroe.—Real Estate.
Washburn & Bennett—Waldron.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Yesterday was summery in very deed.

— The Celtic Association will hold a grand picnic in Baldwin's Grove to-morrow.

— The 4th of July falls on Saturday this year.

— Wonder when that new daily is to put in an appearance?

— There will be no Band Concert on the Common tomorrow evening.

— The office of Messrs. J. M. Ellis & Son is at No. 19 Pleasant street.

— Post 161, G. A. R., visited Post 75 at Stoneham last Sunday evening.

— Mr. C. E. Eaton is at Winthrop Beach. His home is Hillside Cottage.

— There is to be much ball playing in this city and about here to-morrow.

— The peace and safety of Montvale demand an efficient night policemen there.

— The Social of the S. of T., last Tuesday evening was a very agreeable affair.

— McGregor, the florist, was a little under the weather last week, but is better.

— J. J. Skinner is putting a Hodge boiler into Mr. J. K. Murdock's carrying shop.

— The postoffice will be open to-morrow from 6.30 to 10 a. m.; and from 6 to 8 p. m.

— G. W. Kimball & Son are building five fine residences at Medford Hillside for parties there.

— Representative Hevey of this city voted for the Salary Grab. The scheme failed, though.

— It is expected that Mr. Will W. Crosby will win the cup in to-morrow's regatta on Horn Pond.

— The Friday Night Club didn't have an annual dinner, and the same was postponed to 1892.

— Many employees of the tanneries are out of work at the present time. It is very hard on them.

— Mr. N. S. York and family will leave this city next week for their seaside home on Cape Ann.

— The future home of Mr. John R. Carter and family will be on Winn st., a step or so from Pleasant and Main.

— Mr. C. M. Strout has not fully recovered from a severe pull with la grippe but he is so's to be around again.

— Ten shares of the 6th series of the Woburn Co-operative Bank are held for sale. See Treasurer Whitcher about them.

— Mr. Arthur Dalziel has a gang of men putting in a big tank at the glue factory of Bæder, Adamson & Co., Montvale.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery "goes for" Ald. Dearborn in this issue of the JOURNAL. His reply "makes very interesting reading."

— At 3 o'clock last Tuesday afternoon the wind blew so fresh and there was such a storm of dust that some feared a whirlagig was coming.

— Mr. Charles Lund is putting his fine residence on Warren street into the best possible livable shape. Wonder if it means anything in particular?

— Among the big games to be played to-morrow will be the Burkes versus Weafers on the Hudson street grounds. It's going to be a tough one.

— The Equal Suffrage League will hold its last regular meeting before the summer recess on Monday evening, June 1, at 7.30, in the Y. M. C. A. parlor.

— The Painters and Decorators Union, 193, gave a very fine entertainment at their hall last Monday evening. Union No. 95 of Medford were their guests.

— Both G. A. R. Posts of this city attended divine services at the No. Congregational church last Sunday on the invitation of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Murphy.

— Under the skilful and careful treatment of Dr. Springer Landlord Thompson of the Central House is nearly as good as a man completely restored to health.

— Rev. Dr. March favored us with a copy of the Statistical Report of the Woburn Conference for 1891, from which extracts will be made for these columns in due time.

— Mrs. Blake, wife of Mr. F. D. Blake of Canal st., this city, is visiting in California where she will remain until September next. Her headquarters are at Oakland.

— The trial of Charles Brown, an Italian in the employ of Mr. Jacob M. Ellis, for alleged assault with a revolver on a trio of the Gillises will take place to-day in the District Court.

— Andy Roddy's horse ran away on our streets on Wednesday and smashed things. Fortunately there were no collisions. He didn't stop until his home at No. Woburn was reached.

— The Innitou Canoe Club regatta to-morrow is expected to be a very interesting affair. Thousands of good people will line the banks of Horn Pond as spectators of the lively scene.

— Mr. M. Down's of Cummingsville is canvassing this city for subscribers to "The Massachusetts Gazetteer"—a useful and valuable publication. Mr. Downs ought to do well with it.

— Mrs. Benjamin Champney had only just got up from a protracted illness from pluresy and grip when the family left for North Conway. She expected to derive much benefit from the change.

— Beginning next Sunday cars will run to Medford and return every half hour from 10.45 A. M. to 8.45 P. M., on Sundays, in conformity with an order issued by Supt. Sewell of the N. W. S. Railroad.

— Mr. J. W. Hammond was the gentleman elected by the Co-operative Bank Vice-President to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. George Buchanan instead of vice versa, as stated last week.

— INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. There will be no session held at the Industrial School to-morrow (Saturday) because it is Memorial Day. Supt. Richardson has so ordered, and this is an official notice of the same.

— Herbert Sellars, 12, was thrown from his father's grocery team on Fowle street last Wednesday morning and so badly injured that Dr. Springer who was called advised his removal to the Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston.

— Mr. J. B. McDonald, President of the Weston Lumber Co. of Boston, returned to his home in this city late last week from a business trip to Canada. He spends considerable time up there and at his sawmills in New Hampshire.

— "They say" that about half dozen of the runsellers whose scalps Rev. Hugh Montgomery is after with a pickled rod are down in Maine fishing. They will not return, so rumor says, until after the Superior Court gets fairly to running.

— A company of good friends of Bridget McIntire of Water street surprised her last Monday evening at her father's house with a present of two steel engravings and a handsome oil painting. A delightful evening was passed by the large company of young ladies.

— Mr. Donald W. Stewart of this city died at the Massachusetts General Hospital last Saturday morning from injuries received from a fall from a staging he and Hibbard Thompson were putting up on the Bean place on Second st. on the 19th. He left a wife to mourn his loss.

— Mrs. George S. Dodge of the Maternal Society connected with the First Congregational Parish in this city will address the S. S. children at the vestry of the church this afternoon. No doubt the young people will be very glad to see their good old friend Mrs. Dodge again.

— C. E. Smith, our local painter, is painting the residence of Dr. J. H. Conway, Winn street. When completed it will be one of the finest residences in this city. Smith has lots of business, and employs only practical workmen and his prices are reasonable which makes it a success.

— Mr. E. J. Gregory, the popular auctioneer of this city, has opened an office in Boston to accommodate his large and growing business there. He may be found in his Main street office in this city every morning until about 10 o'clock, and every evening after about 4. Gregory is full of business.

— A note from Miss Eleanor S. Pippey, whose home is at Nyack-on-Hudson, informs the JOURNAL of the death at sea of her brother Henry J. Pippey at the age of 41 years. The father of Henry and Eleanor was Editor and proprietor of this paper and a gentleman highly esteemed in this community several years ago.

— Benjamin Champney, the artist, and family have gone to their home at North Conway, where for more than 30 years Mr. C. has spent the summer months and enjoyed life to the brim. From fall to spring at Woburn, and from spring to fall at No. Conway, is the family's way of passing the year, and no wonder they like it, for each place has attractions which are equalled by few, if any, others in the country. The JOURNAL hopes Mr. Champney and family will have a pleasant summer of it.

— Judge E. F. Johnson has gone to No. Conway for pleasure. On July 1 the Judge will take his seat on the Bench of the Fourth Mid'x. District Court, gather the Ermine about him, and then proceed to business. At the same time Judge Converse, who has filled the position with credit to himself and profit to the community, will step down and out.

— A very fine concert will be given this evening at Music Hall under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lewis of the Lewis Music School of this city, which will, no doubt, be attended by a large number of people. They have taken great pains in preparing and arranging for this concert and it is safe to say that it will be a very fine one indeed.

— W. P. Defriez, M. D., formerly a popular and flourishing physician of this city, writing to the JOURNAL from his pleasant home in rich and aristocratic Brookline, says: "The good old paper [JOURNAL] is read with interest and its weekly arrival is anticipated with pleasure. Here's to it's health and prosperity." And the same to yourself, good Dr. D.

— The May Party of the Ladies Auxiliary St. Charles C. T. A., yielded money abundantly, to wit, $156, slick and clean. It was a splendid success socially and financially, and now the young ladies have a pretty bunch of greenbacks in the bank to go and come on. Their party beat out and out any thing the boys ever got up, and for its grand success they deserve high credit.

— No doubt that the dramatic performance at the Unitarian vestry last Friday evening for the benefit of the Unitarian Sunday School was as mirth-provoking as anything could be. There were a great many people present, everyone of whom went away perfectly satisfied with it. Treasurer Harry B. Brackett said it was a financial success, and everybody else said the performance couldn't well be excelled.

— Just 56 years ago last Wednesday morning the first locomotive ran over the Boston & Lowell Railroad. The passage from Lowell to Boston was made in 1 hour and 17 minutes, which was thought big speed, and so indeed it was for a trial trip of the first locomotive that ever drew a car in New England. It was 4 weeks after before the road was opened permanently for travel.—W. Brown an employee of the Company from the start.

— The friends of Miss Carrie M. Winkley will be pleased to learn that her progress at the school of the Museum of Fine Arts has been such as to gain for her in the Portraiture Concours of this year the prize of fifty dollars given by Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears. When the high quality of the competitive work at this Concours is taken into consideration this prize, which stamps Miss Winkley's work as superior to all others, carries with it the assurance of unusual talent on the part of its winner.

— Capt. W. C. Parker of Co. G., 5th M. V. M. (Woburn Mechanic Phalanx), sent his resignation to the Governor last Wednesday morning, having on the evening previous turned over the Company property to Lieut. Charles F. Spear. Capt. Parker had fully determined to resign last fall and was all prepared to do so, when some unpleasantness arose in the Company which induced him to change his mind and he concluded to remain at its head until the trouble was over. This he did, and everything being now favorable the Captain has resigned. It is understood that the reason for his resignation is the demands of business on his time and attention. The Company is in a bad plight and unless great wisdom is used in its management there is danger that it may go to pieces.

— The Parish Committee of the First Congregational Church in this city entertained the choir thereof at the very pleasant and commodious residence of Hon. J. G. Pollard and sisters, No. 18 Green st., on last Tuesday evening. Quite a large party, including Dea. O. F. Bryant and Luke Warren Fowle of the Committee, Mr. Frederic A. Flint, Mayor Bean and lady and other prominent church and society people, were present, by whom an evening of rare pleasure in music and social greetings and familiar converse was passed. A choice spread was announced at a seasonable hour—a compliment to the choir—which everybody partook of and relished. Such little amenities and exhibitions of good will and kind regards one towards another help wonderfully to smooth the rough places in the path of life.

— Ald. Finn could not have paid THE JOURNAL a higher compliment than he did at the last meeting of the Board in moving the publication of McGovern's petition for a license. The only wonder is that he and his rum sympathizing colleagues should have consented in the first place to the selection of THE JOURNAL in which, with another paper, to publish the applications for licenses. Although Finn is not a very hefty man he happened to see "the eternal fitness of things" and when it came to the publication of McGovern's application THE JOURNAL "wasn't in it." But how is Finn going to get over the fact—and how are the Mayor and Board going to too—that at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen held on the evening of April 13, "An Order from Ald. Fowle was passed providing that all advertisements of liquor licenses be printed in THE JOURNAL and News?"

— Mr. B. F. Tripp, Receiver of the Middlesex Investment Company (now no more), has been engaged for a week or so in signing checks to pay off the 40 percent due to shareholders in conformity with the decree of Hon. Lewis W. Clark, Judge of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, in the case Henry B. Hayes et al versus the Middlesex Investment Company, promulgated from said Court on May 18, inst. It was a big job. There were 514 certificate holders and it required nearly as many checks as there were names on the books—anyhow, there was such a large number of them that Cashier Day of the First National Bank declared on his honor that on Tuesday he had a stack of them in the Bank not as large as a meetinghouse, and the back towns hadn't all been heard from. Prest. Tripp of the Co. comes out of the unpleasant business perfectly clean-handed, and nearly everyone connected with the institution seems to be entirely satisfied with the method of its winding up.

Latest Local News.

Gage & Co. have a change of card this week.

The National Band Association will hold their annual assembly this evening.

Quite a good many classes in the lower departments of our city schools have had their pictures taken en groupe lately.

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. E. Prior sold at public auction for the benefit of the A. & M. Ass'n the N. J. Simonds homestead on Main St., to Messrs. John Winn and John W. Johnson and E. Gerry Barker, for $15,550. It was one of the largest auction sales that ever took place in Woburn, and the property went for a very good price.

We are indebted to Major H. C. Hall, of the milling firm of Hall & Jaquith, for a copy of the latest issue of "The Maine Bugle,', the organ of the First Maine Cavalry Regt. Association published quarterly under the direction of J. P. Cilley, Treasurer, at Rockland, Maine. It is a very interesting number, and we thank Major Hall for a copy.

Mr. Elmore A. Pierce, who delivered the Memorial Day oration in this city with so much pleasure and satisfaction to Posts and people last year, will deliver the Memorial Oration at Waltham to-morrow afternoon, and at Natick on to-morrow evening. When they get through with him the people of both places will find out that they "secured the right man for the right place.

An Esteemed Contemporary down the street says: "the best players among the ladies are Mrs. H. B. Clewley of Pleasant st. and the Misses Brown of Canal st." Ah? These ladies are tennis experts no doubt, but, Lord bless you, Man, there are many other No. 1 players in this city, and in the van stands Miss B. of Mt. Pleasant st., and the fair R. sisters of Glenwood st. and other "Highland lassies," besides almost numberless damsels nearer the Centre who are au fait at the fashionable pastime.

All About Going Fishing.

There are fish and fish. "There are as good fish in the sea as were ever caught." If fishers had the majority of fishers had better luck than a local Reporter for a Boston daily had the other morning at a noted fishery not a thousand miles from the Centre. Yea, fish everywhere. Our Reporter was astir betimes and ere a very early breakfast was ready for him he had dug the garden well over and filled his pockets with worms. He sought the waterside as soon as he had broken his fast, and there he fished and fished and fished. We have seen no more pitiful sight this season than that presented by our Reporter when he came back and by taking unfrequented streets tried to hide from public gaze the one little "minny" he had caught and strung on a crooked stick large enough to hold 100 pickerel. He looked so disappointed and forlorn-like.

The other morning some city officeholders, ex-holders, and their friends went to Cummings's pond in the edge of Burlington on a big angling expedition. They hired a boy to dig the worms and got some fat ones. They will not attempt to prosecute him in the suit which the proprietor threatens to bring against them for trespass, but show that they paid so much for the worms and the fish were "thrown in."

Several esteemed citizens went to Mystic River last week for Alewives. How it happeend nobody seems to know but, all of a sudden, the men and horse and wagon rolled off the bank into the river, or possibly it was Lower Mystic Pond they rolled into—anyhow, it was where they catch Alewives. The horse and the men floundered about in the salt tidewater fearfully and were in much danger of being drowned until rescued by some stranger or somebody. They came home that night but the wagon was fished out and hauled home last Sunday. It was a great piscatorial adventure.

A K. of P. Party.

The JOURNAL was cordially invited to sup with and enjoy a musical and literary entertainment tendered last Monday evening by Ionic Lodge, K. of P., to friends in this city, and felt duly grateful for it. It was as pleasant an affair as has been given here in a twelvemonth and as highly enjoyed. The supper, which followed the literary and musical feast, was composed of many choice viands, temptingly spread, with here and there a bunch of posies, and nosegays many, the whole producing a strong appetizing effect. Every part in the programme was perfectly executed especially Mr. E. A. Pierce's readings, and Mrs. H. C. Allen's oratory, etc. But this was the programme:

Selections. Selected.
Vocal Duett, Dashing Husband. Varney Family.
J. F. and Miss A. Varney.
Instrumental Duett. Selected.
M. C. and Miss J. Varney.
Remarks by Past Grand Chancellor, C. B. Martin and Grand Vice Chancellor, C. C. Egerton.
Selections. Selected. Varney Family.
Reading, King Robert of Sicily. Mr. Elmore A. Pierce.
Remarks by Grand Master of Exchequer, H. C. Allen.
Comic Song. S. George. Master H. C. Varney.
Remarks by Grand Chancellor of the Pythian Sisterhood, Mrs. H. C. Allen.
Duett. The Patrol's Cry. W. A. and Miss J. Varney.

A Kindergarten.

Late in the eighteenth century, Friedrich Froebel invented and propounded a new system of education for very young children. He reached his principles by a systematic study of the ways and doings of infants from their birth and by noting the kind of mental food and bodily activity nature prompted them at each stage of their existence to prefer. As a result of his study has come the Kindergarten or "garden of children." It has become a well-established fact through the experience of the many educators who have promoted its usefulness throughout the U. S. and foreign countries, that, for the little child, there is no course of moral, intellectual, and artistic training so complete. The child is taught to reason from certain evidence and is prepared to cope with the problems which meet him as his education progresses. It is hoped that in the early Fall a Kindergarten will be opened in Woburn and we trust that all parents, even those who cannot send their children to such a school will become so far interested in the work as to study its principles and know whereof they speak. Miss Lucy Wheelock, Principal of the Kindergarten Training Department connected with the Chauncy Hall School, Boston, will soon speak in Woburn upon this subject. The date of her coming will be announced later, and we hope many will try to hear her.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a regular meeting on Thursday evening, May 22, at Municipal Building. Mayor Bean presided.

Eugene B. Williams, A. J. Hobbs and Stillman J. Hanfield were confirmed as railroad police.——Francis Thornton and Martin Ellis were drawn as jurors for the next term of the Superior Court.——A petition from people of Montvale for night policeman referred to proper committee.——Petition of proprietors of Windsor Hotel for right to project a sign over the sidewalk referred.——N. J. Burke and Benjamin Cullen's request for licenses to collect junk referred.——Owen O'Rourke and John Garvey petitioned for license to run a pool table. Referred.——Thomas H. McGovern has moved from 254 to 40 Main street and wanted his license to sell rum changed accordingly. Referred.——Concurred in order of Common Council that a committee, with Mayor Bean as Chairman, be appointed to revise the city ordinances.——Street from Main to Church street at Kenney & Murphy's tannery accepted as a public highway.——F. B. Leeds was granted a druggist's license.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, May 27, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the date and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mr. John Bond (Forwarded from Somerville Mass.), Mr. S. Crone, Miss Nora Ford, Winn St.; Mr. John Gillispie, Miss M. Kelley (Forwarded from Plymouth N. H.), Miss Annie McMackin (261 Highland Ave.), Joe Pollen, Mr. A. G. Smith, 351 Main St., Miss Hattie Tidd, care of Wm. Tidd, Mr. E. S. Walker.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Circular for Memorial Day.

In accordance with orders from Department Headquarters, Saturday, May 30, 1891, will be observed as "Memorial Day."

Comrades of G. A. R. will assemble at their respective headquarters at 8 o'clock, A. M., with white gloves and belt.

At 8 30, Post 161, accompanied by the National Brass Band, will march to the Headquarters of Post 33, taking that Post under escort, and proceed up Main street to Charles, up Charles to the Cemetery by way of west gate to the Soldiers' Lot, where the usual Memorial Services will be held. The Posts will then perform the sacred duty of placing flowers on the graves of our fallen comrades.

The procession will leave the Cemetery by the east gate, where they will take horse cars for Calvary Cemetery at Montvale, where the same exercises will be carried out. Returning to the Common the members will be dismissed until afternoon.

At 2 P. M the comrades will again assemble at their Headquarters. At 2 30 the Woburn Mechanic Phalanx and High School Battalion, with the National Brass Band, will take under escort the two Posts and march over the following route: From the Common via Main st. to Hammond Square, Johnson to Franklin, Franklin to Winn, Winn to Pleasant, Pleasant to Canal, countermarch to Soldiers Monument, where prayer will be offered by Rev. W. J. Murphy. After the services at the Monument the Posts will march to Lyceum Hall, where there will be a public memorial service to which the public are cordially invited.

PROGRAMME AT LYCEUM HALL.

Reading of Orders. By S. F. Hathaway, Post 161.
Response of Commander.
Ceremony of "Saluting the Dead." By the Post.
Address of Welcome.
By F. W. Graves, Commander Post 161.
Music. Apollo Male Quartette of Boston.
Prayer. (G. A. R. Ritual).
By J. H. Nason, Chaplain Post 161.
Music. Apollo Quartette.
Oration.
By Comrade Rev. E. G. Preble of Webster, Mass.
Music. Apollo Quartette.
Benediction. Rev. W. J. Murphy.

At the conclusion of the public exercises the Posts, with invited guests, will return to their respective Headquarters, there to partake of a collation prepared by the "Woman's Relief Corps" connected with the G. A. R.

The National Band will give a concert on the Common at 1 30 o'clock, P. M.

F. W. GRAVES, Commander Post 161,
J. F. LARKIN, Commander Post 33,
Committee.

Special Order.

Headquarters Burbank Post, 33, G. A. R.
Woburn, May 27, 1891.

Special Order No. 1.

The following is published for the information and guidance of Comrades:—

1. At the conclusion of the exercises in Lyceum Hall the Annual Banquet will be held in G. A. R. Hall, at which the Woburn Mechanic Phalanx and Associate Members of Post 33 will be present as invited guests. Comrades are requested to contribute for the same.

2. Associate members will assemble at G. A. R. Hall at 3 P. M., from which they will be escorted to Lyceum Hall where seats will be reserved for them.

3. None but Comrades of the G. A. R. will be allowed to parade or take part in the exercises of the day.

4. Comrades will appear in the G. A. R. uniform: Blouse, Belt, Gloves, and Blue Pants as far as practicable, and White Pants for the afternoon parade.

J. F. LARKIN, Commander.
W. H. MATTHEWS, Adjutant.

New England's Seashore.

The passenger department of the Boston & Maine Railroad, with its customary enterprise, has just issued another of its summer books. It is a beautiful portfolio of coast-views from Boston to Passamaquoddy, bound in embossed covers and handsomely illustrated in six colors. Gems from Whittier, Longfellow, Trowbridge, and other poets descriptive of the illustrations, are a pleasing feature of the work. Mr. M. F. Sweetser, who has already practically written a small library of books for the Boston & Maine people, gives the work a very graceful introduction. The portfolio, as a whole, is an excellent piece of work in every way. Printed on fine paper, with colors harmoniously blended and poetical selections most appropriate, freed from every hint of advertising, it becomes a book to be preserved as an artistic and literary gem. Copies can be had upon application to the Boston & Maine passenger department—Boston Traveller.

For some years the Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company have been noted for the elegance of their publications but the little book lately issued by them called "New England's Seashore" eclipses everything heretofore published in the same line. It is a beauty, the most cursory examination of which will be enough to set everybody to longing for the seaside nooks and corners reached by the B. & M., as soon as the hot weather sets in.

Each page contains an artistically executed picture of some one of the innumerable charming scenes traversed by this popular railroad route accompanied with apt quotations from eminent American poets and finely written prose descriptions of the same. It is a very handsome little illustrated guide to and among the most delightful ocean scenery in America.

General Passenger Agent Flanders will please accept the JOURNAL's hearty thanks for a copy of "New England's Seashore.

A Neat Notice.

Last Friday's issue of the Boston Evening Traveller contained an elaborate notice of Albert Thompson, the eminent landscape and cattle painter of this city and Boston, and an able and highly judicial criticism of his work, from the facile pen of Mr. Frank T. Robinson, for many years Art Critic of the Boston Advertiser and other leading publications, which was illustrated by a reduced reproduction on wood of two of Thompson's most notable pieces of work, both landscapes with bunches of ruminant cows conspicuous on the canvas. In the 2-column article the critic paid the painter a handsome compliment for the possession in a marked degree of those qualities which go to make a great artist, which praise, we have no doubt, was worthily bestowed, for if it were otherwise Mr. Thompson would hardly find such constant employment for his brush as he has for a year or two past. His landscapes and cattle pieces are in demand all the time. They not only sell readily but they fetch handsome prices, which, after all, is about the best recommendation of his skill and task that an artist can have. Mr. Robinson's article was candid, fair, and smoothly written.

Meeting of the School Board.

At the meeting of the School Committee, held last Tuesday evening, applications for positions as teachers were received from Jean Gillian and Miss May Eaton. The matter of a speaker for the High School graduation was referred to the High School Committee.

Voted to reserve 300 seats at Lyceum Hall on graduation day for officials and friends of graduation.

An appropriation of $50 was made for the High School Battalion drill.

Voted that the High School graduation take place Friday, June 26.

The exhibition of drawings will take place June 22, 23 and 24, to which the public is invited.

June 17 will be a holiday.

Messrs. Kenney, Carter and Dodge were chosen to meet the City Council to consider the matter of the Central Square schoolhouse.

"Common sense is the gift of Heaven;" then use yours in getting Old Saul's Pile Ointment for Piles. Don't take any other.

"Conduct and courage lead to honor." Old Saul's Catarrh Cure leads to cure of catarrh and influenza. Sold by all dealers for 25 cents.

Copy of Record.

RESOLVED: That the Thanks of the Woburn Board of Trade be extended to the Committee of Ladies who rendered valuable services in assisting the Board at their recent Anniversary by Decorations, and Arrangements about the Rooms and tables. Also, specially to Miss M. G. Whittemore for her excellent Vocal Contributions during the Exercises following the Banquet.

An Open Letter to Alderman Dearborn.

ALDERMAN DEARBORN: My attention has been called to certain statements made by you in a letter addressed to me. In that letter you have tried to build up a bulwark behind which you might shield your reputation and yourself from the mortification and indignation of a constituency which had a right to expect better things of you. I believe the general opinion to be, that your ingenious, but not ingenuous defence, can hardly be dignified by the name of argument and that the facts when simply and calmly stated will condemn you in the eyes of all fair-minded men.

You were elected to the Board of Aldermen as a temperance man, there can be no doubt of it. You were and are a prominent member of a church which gives no uncertain sound on temperance—a church which expects its members to stand up for temperance under all circumstances. It does not and neither does the community which elected you expect that you must be under surveillance at all times lest you go over to the enemy and side with rumsellers and those who favor the extension of the liquor traffic. I repeat that you were elected as a known temperance man. To say that there was no temperance issue when you were elected is to juggle with words. Your Ward was overwhelmingly for prohibition. You would have been entirely justified in the eyes of right thinking men in totally refusing to vote for any license whatever and your constituents would have upheld you as they do not now. No law compelled you unwillingly to vote a license for any man. As an honest temperance man, coming from a strong temperance constituency you have no right to plead, as you practically do, that you were bound to see that the rumsellers were fairly treated in the distribution of licenses. You were not elected as the champion of the saloon.

Neither have you any right to question the petition of the citizens of Ward 5 and to say, what you do not and cannot know, and which does not all affect the facts set forth in the petition, that the petitioners voted for no license and therefore had no right to petition against a runshop in their midst. You knew perfectly well that there is a young ladies school there which would be seriously annoyed and you know that the petitioners represented the respectability and the property of Ward 5. You cannot throw dust in the eyes of honest men as you seem to believe, by any such foolish plea as that you must respect the rights of those who wanted the saloon there, but not of those who oppose the saloon.

This noble sentiment of yours is worthy to be quoted, "that the petition from Ward 5 had no more influence upon me than a petition from the small license majority in Ward 6 would have had if it had petitioned for a license. The voice as expressed at the polls was what I looked at." Who made you, Alderman, the judge of the motives and actions of the people of Ward 5? "The voice at the polls" forsooth! Why, then, if you desired to be so impartial, did you refuse the six applicants for license in Ward 1—a ward which went two to one for license! The answer is not far to seek—because the ring in the Board of which you are a conspicuous member decreed that these applicants for licenses should not have any. So much for your consistency.

Remembering all the time that you are by your own acknowledgment a temperance man and that you have proclaimed far and near that you favored a high license, and remembering the Prohibition Ward you represent and which alone elected you, how does this argument coming from you sound? "My contention is when a city votes to grant licenses the price of any license should not be placed beyond a reasonable figure as by so doing it would deter persons from taking them out!" Why pose always as the defender of the saloon? Why not occasionally appear in your true character of a temperance man, if you are such in reality?

With reference to the issue between you and Mayor Bean I have nothing to say except that while I did not support the latter at the polls I feel that in the case of Rafferty & Martin he has acted as a gentleman of integrity, and in refusing to license a saloon in the dooryard of the parochial school he has shown a proper sense of the rights of others.

With reference to your votes in the Board of which you speak so glibly it is perfectly capable of demonstration that you stultified yourself by reversing your votes when they were right and sticking to them whenever they were wrong. You do not deceive any one who cares to learn the facts by your disingenuous statements in your quotations of votes and dates or by trying to throw the blame upon others. The matter is simple enough. As a Christian man and a known temperance man you had no right to vote to grant licenses to well known criminals as you did, and you had no business whatever to identify yourself by your votes and your acts as you did with the spread of the saloon in our midst. You have asked, I am told, why you have been selected as an object of special criticism in this matter. The reply is that we, one and all, looked to you from your putative professions, as an exponent of the convictions of a Christian and a temperance community to stand for the defence of our homes and our families against the damning influence of the saloon.

In closing I quote from the law to show that you were under no obligations, as you assume, to vote for any license whatever.

No person shall sell or expose for sale, spirituous or intoxicating liquors, except as authorized in this chapter. Chapter 100, Sect. 1.

Section 5, Chap. 100. In any city which at its annual municipal election, or in a town which at its annual meeting, votes to authorize the granting of License—Licenses may be granted.

Observe it is not shall be granted, but may be granted.

Cap. 100, Sect. 6. The Mayor and Board of Aldermen, or the Selectmen, may, at any time, refuse to issue a license to a person whom they deem unfit to receive the same. But nothing herein shall be so construed as to compel said Mayor and Aldermen or Selectmen to grant licenses.

What does this mean? It means that Aldermen or Selectmen when they decide to license, should carefully scrutinize the fitness or unfitness of the applicants. If they find no man "qualified" for selling, what then? Are they obliged to license? No. The language of the law is clear and unequivocal and so plain that even a wayfaring man though a fool could not draw any other interpretation from it.

A single word more. Your statement that I charged in my address that money had been used to influence votes in the Board is not true, as the verbatim report in the Boston Journal of May 18, will show.

Yours, for suffering humanity,
HUGH MONTGOMERY.

Woburn, May 25.

A Broadside.

ALDERMAN DEARBORN: Your two letters in the JOURNAL and in the News have excited considerable comment both because of what you say and what you leave unsaid. In common with others, the writer thinks that in justice to yourself at least you ought to inform the public how you reconcile the two paragraphs quoted below from these two letters:

JOURNAL. "I do not think we would be justified in passing an order that would keep money out of the City Treasury when we might have it as well as not. The applicants would never have paid $1800 for a fourth class license."

News. "The Mayor threatened retaliation when he found some of his favorites were likely to be left out in the cold and, had not my motion to reconsider been made and passed, he could have prevented the granting of a single first-class license and still secured the same amount of money for the treasury."

VOTER OF WARD 6
and former supporter of Ald. Dearborn.

See J. I. Munroe's Ad.

In another column of houselots for sale in Eustice Cummings's beautiful lawn, Garfield Ave. and Green street; Cummings Park, Kirby and Winn sts.; Hart Estate Wyman st.; Montvale Park, Pine st.; W. U. G. & I. Co's plant, N. W.; Fosters Park, Vernon st.; also residences and farms small and large, some of them very near the Centre and at real bargains. Woburn office 7 Mechanics building, Boston office 35 Congress st. room 35.—X.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

Annual Price Drill of W. H. S. B.

The annual prize drill of the Woburn High School Battalion will occur next Friday evening, June 5, in the Rink. The exercises will begin at 7.45. The two companies will compete for a flag and there will also be a drill in the manual of arms for a gold and a silver medal. The public will be admitted by ticket and any person may secure tickets by applying to the Principal of the School or the Major of the Battalion. Members of Posts 161 and 33 will be welcome and can secure tickets on application to their respective commanders. By the kindness of the Association of Past officers a sword and belt has been offered to the Captain of the winning company, a feature which makes the contest this year an especially exciting one.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Memorial Day.

GRAND G. A. R. SOUVENIR EDITION OF THE BOSTON DAILY GLOBE.

BOSTON, May 26.—An important notice is made today by the Boston Daily Globe, which will issue a grand G. A. R. souvenir edition on Saturday, May 30, of this week. It will include a history of more than 200 heroes for whom the posts of the G. A. R. in Massachusetts were named, showing the battles in which they engaged and recalling events, memories and reminiscences which will thrill all old soldiers and soldiers' familes. It will also interest and instruct all who have been born since the war. It will be a souvenir you will want to keep, and also one to mail to your relatives and friends. Order it in advance of your newsdealer.

Allen—Hoover.

On May 21 inst. at Paris, Ky, the former home of the bride, Montresser T. Allen, E q., a lawyer of excellent standing in this city and Boston, and Miss Lizzie Hoover of Boston, several years ago a resident of Woburn, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. The bride is highly accomplished and posseses many rare charms of person and mind. The groom is a prominent gentleman in this city (where his family mostly live) and has been honored with the confidence and trust of the people by being elected to high official positions. The JOURNAL extends congratulations.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Allen will take up their abode in Boston.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure billousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Stores to Close.

There was a full meeting of business men at the B. of T. Rooms last Tuesday evening to talk over and do something about things on Memorial Day. Mr. Frederic A. Flint was Chairman and Frank Wetherell was Secretary. All branches of industry were well represented and the meeting was very harmonious.

It was voted unanimously to close all stores (except drugstores), shops, offices, etc. and to keep and observe Memorial Day in a manner befitting its solemn and sacred character. With this the meeting adjourned.

P. S. Some business places will be open in the evening.

Ivers & Pond Pianos.

These pianos are of the highest grade. They contain that most desirable improvement, the patent Soft-Stop, and they can be bought at fair prices and on easy payments regardless of distance from the manufactory.

A catalogue describing and picturing these pianos will be mailed free if you send a request and your address on a postal card to Ivers & Pond Piano Co., Masonic Temple, 183 Tremont St., Boston.

North Woburn.

No. Woburn never looked lovlier than at the present time. As a residence village it has no superiors in the vicinity of Boston

From next Sunday morning until further notice cars on the No. Woburn St. Railroad will run to Medford on Sundays every 30 minutes.

The music at the No. Church last Sun

A New Assortment

— OF —

Scotch Ginghams

— ALSO, —

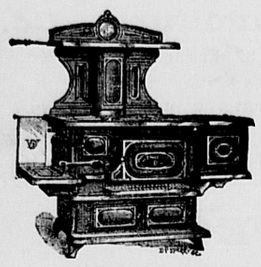
A FINE LINE OF

AMERICAN GINGHAMS,

At 8 10 12 cts. a yd.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by James McGaffigan to Charles McEleney, dated May 4, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1907, Page 417, and assigned by said Charles McEleney to John G. Maguire by deed of assignment dated May 20th, A. D., 1891, for a breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Saturday, June 13th, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake in the northerly side line of a private way leading in an easterly direction from Main street to the Boston & Lowell Railroad and at land of Garvey; from thence the line runs northwesterly by said land of Garvey and by land of Nelson, one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet, to a stake at land of Edward W. Hudson; thence turning the line runs easterly on and by said land of Hudson forty (40) feet to a stake at land of John P. Crane; thence turning, the line runs southerly on and by said land of Crane parallel with the first line above described and forty (40) feet distant therefrom about one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet to a stake at said private way; thence turning the line runs westerly by and with said private way forty (40) feet to the point of beginning; containing about five thousand (5000) square feet; together with a right of way to and from Main street over the private way above described; being the same premises described in deed of John P. Crane to said McGaffigan, dated March 22, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1896, Page 370.

$100.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid by purchaser at time of sale, other terms will be announced at the sale.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Assignee
and present holder of said mortgage.

Woburn, Mass., May 21, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law and others interested in the estate of Annie J. Lafferty, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Salmon, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Peter Kenney, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William F. Kenney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the estate of Michael Connell, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Connell, Executor of the will of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for a license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FINE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale about three acres of land finely located for a Summer Residence, being on a high elevation, on a good street, with water and electric light. There is now on the premises a good house and small stable. The land is well adapted for building or gardening purposes.

W. R. PUTNAM,

WOBURN, - - - MASS.

Our Store

Will be Open

To-night,

FRIDAY, MAY 29th.

CLOSED

To-morrow

All Day and Evening,

Sat. May 30,

Decoration Day.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

Executors' Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Tuesday, the sixteenth day of June, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,820 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Prinice S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hartly J. Tarr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Tarr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 10' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

At half past two of the o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, will be sold on said Homestead above described, a certain other lot of land situated in said Woburn, known as the "Brooks Tay lot," near to and easterly of said North Woburn, containing about two acres, with the water privilege thereto pertaining, and bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by Middle street; northerly and easterly by land now or formerly of heirs of Elijah Richardson; and southerly by land now or formerly of Col. Stone.

Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

Other terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.

Woburn, May 28, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Charles G. Lund, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Charles G. Lund and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, D. H. Sweetser and E. D. Hayden, the trustees under said will, have presented for allowance the third account of their trusteeship;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustees are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of George Skelton, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased, intestate;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to John W. Johnson of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FOR SALE.

House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

House on corner of Beach and Salem streets:

Also,

TO LET: Tenement, No. 64 Beach Street. Rent $10 a month.

Inquire of G. F. JONES.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated no Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

WINCHESTER.

The Woman's Relief Corps meet the 15th and 3d Tuesdays of each month.

The change made by the redistricting of the State for Congressmen does not suit some of our Winchester people, and no wonder.

Supt. Sewell has ordered that cars run between here and Medford Sundays every half hour beginning on next Sunday morning. This will be good news.

Memorial Day will be duly observed here. Hon. John J. Donovan of Lowell will deliver the oration. The exercises at the Town Hall at 7.30 p m. will be very interesting. A double Quartet from Boston will sing.

One of the early June weddings of interest to Winchester and Boston friends, will be the marriage of Miss Alice N. Quimby and Mr. John D. Blanchard of Cumberland, Me., which will occur June 3, at the home of the bride's parents on Mt. Vernon street, Winchester.

In all human probability as soon as the West Side Syndicate's Addition to Winchester is got into shape to be settled on the West End will extend their line from Arlington to the B. & M. (So. Div.) station here, and run electric cars altogether. It's a big scheme for Winchester!

We have met the Gypsy Moth Commission and it is ours. It struck this town one day last week, but one of our brave old matrons struck back so vigorously and bravely that the Commission didn't stand on the order of its going but got. Winchester don't want any Gypsy Moth Commissioners in hers.

All the papers contain well-deserved obituary notices of Luther R. Symmes who died on Wednesday 13, inst. aged 69 years. He was a man worthy of all esteem and received it from all who knew him. He was prominent in the affairs of this town; a member of an old and respected Winchester family; and a man highly esteemed by everybody.

Competent parties contemplate the publication of a volume at an early day which will contain a brief historical sketch of our town, a geographical description of it, a chapter on its advantages as a place of residence, and the remainder (the bulk of the book) to be filled up with biographics and portraits of prominent citizens, living and dead; their homes; public buildings; local views, etc. It is expected that the leading and wealthy men of the town will take hold and give the enterprise a big boost. The proprietors of the Stoneham Independent are now engaged on the publication of a similar work.

Burlington.

Many farmers in town suffered a serious loss by their crops being nipped by the frost last week.

Memorial Sunday was observed by an appropriate service at the church, Sunday morning. The Veterans attended and Rev. Mr. Hersey made a short address to them. The rostrum and desk were decorated with flowers and the national colors.

The Ladies Benevolent Society held their annual meeting and election of officers in the church parlor Thursday afternoon. The following officers were chosen: Mrs. Mary B. Reed, President; Mrs. L. Woodman, Vice President; Mrs. Elizabeth Sewall, Treasurer; Mrs. Abbie Walker, Secretary.

The Memorial Day services will be held at the cemetery, Saturday morning at half past nine o'clock. The programme will be as follows:

Children's Marching Song.
School Children, escorting Veterans
Reading of General Orders. Com. G. L. Tebbetts
Singing. America.
Recitation. Miss Mary Foster.
Oration. Rev. John H. Larry, Providence, R. I.
Prayer. Rev. C. F. Hersey.
Chorus. "The Blue and the Gray." Church Choir
Decoration of Graves.

Next Sunday evening at half past seven o'clock there is to be a lecture at the church by Mr. Tomyoshi Murai of Japan, who is now studying at Andover. Mr. Murai was a pupil of the late Mr. Neesima, who is well remembered in this vicinity. He is an especially interesting speaker and no one should fail to hear him. He will probably dress in Japanese costume and will also bring a collection of curios from his native land. No admission fee is to be charged but a collection is to be taken for Mr. Murai's benefit and it is expected that everyone will be glad of the opportunity to help him in his studies for mission work. The following item is taken from a Saco, Me., newspaper; "Mr. Murai, a Japanese theological student who has been in this country only a year, spoke to a crowded house last night in the Saco Congregational church. He was a man of high caste in his own country and was well educated in the government schools. During his lecture, he recited some curious Japanese poetry telling the story of its composition and then translating it into English. He afterwards sang a Japanese hymn."

A Rebellion.

To go to work seriously and solemnly to raise by legislative enactment a Commission to kill worms is about the smallest business we ever heard of a great State going into. And yet that was what Massachusetts did two years ago and the Gypsy Moth Commission is still extant.

Because after more than a year's experience and practice the Commissioners were unable to discover the "difference between a side of sole-leather" and a Gypsy Moth, and by a too liberal use of paris green had killed a cow, several dogs and some hens in Medford, besides keeping the people of that town in deadly fear of their lives all summer from the same cause, and the Gypsy Moth all the time growing more numerous and formidable, Gov. Russell turned them all out of office this spring and put in another lot who have yet to demonstrate their ability to discharge the duties of the Commission more intelligently or in better shape than their predecessors. So far all they have done that their predecessors failed to do has been to send to Europe or Asia for a barrel of parasites which, it has been found out, are a dead-open-and-shut on the Moth.

But we object. If the State esteems the Gypsy Moth of sufficient importance to require a Commission to take care of it, it is only fair play that the worms to be found at this season on one or more trees in every orchard in Middlesex county should have one too. Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

But to the point: In Medford and Malden, the principal scene of the Commission's official operations, a furious rebellion has broken out against the whole business and war to the knife has been declared against the law. One man is awaiting trial for trying to drive the State's servants from his premises with an axe the other day. A secret organization has been formed to fight the Commissioners; and the Medford Selectmen are going to call a Town Meeting in a few days to see what can be done about it. And the excitement in Malden is not a whit less intense.

In the meantime Winchester is in a state of fear and trembling lest the Commission or the Moth or both should come sweeping along and interrupt the peace and repose in which that beautiful town perennially basks.

It is essential for the proper development of mind and body that a sufficient quantity of soluble and assimilable phosphates be introduced into the stomachs of young children. Mellin's Food is rich in blood-forming, brain-forming and bone-forming compounds.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

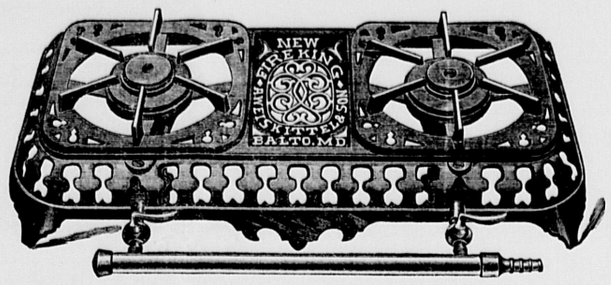
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING — AND — HEATING.



WOBURN, May 1, 1891.

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.

Wm. A. Mullett,

House, Sign & Fresco Painter.

Paper Hanging and Decorating

Done in the best and most workmanlike manner, at the lowest living price, and at short notice.

I have just opened a new Store on Walnut Street with a good selection of Wall Papers and Borders, also Window Shades, Mouldings, &c., and would solicit a share of your patronage, and guarantee to give satisfaction.

All goods sold at Boston Prices.

Store, No. 6 Walnut St., House 22 Church St.,

WOBURN, MASS.

Boys' and Children's Department.

1000 Suits, New Spring Styles, Fancy Cassimeres and Scotch Mixed Goods, only $3.50 and $5.00 a suit.

Great Bargains in Short Pants Suits at $1.50, $2.00 and $2 50.

200 pairs Boys' Blue Flannel Pants, only 50 cents.

1000 pairs Boys' Cassimere Short Pants, only 50 and 75 cents, were 75 cents and $1.00.

Boys' and Children's Spring Suits, at only $3.00 and $4.00.

250 Boys' Long Pants Suits, only $8.00 and $10.00, worth double the money.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, short pants, only $5.00.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, long pants, only $10.00.

"Commonwealth"

CLOTHING HOUSE,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts., Boston.

39,480 LBS. OF METAL.

It takes thirty-nine thousand four hundred and eighty pounds of stereotype metal to make the plates for the

SUNDAY HERALD

When all the new presses are running.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

FACIAL BLEMISHES.

Realizing the disappointment experienced by ladies who have used depilatory preparations for the removal of superfluous hair: also the disrepute into which electrolysis has fallen through severe treatment and its results—I wish to assure all who are so disfigured, that by carefully treating each hair separately with electricity, I am able to not only destroy the hairs so that they will never grow again, but my treatment positively leaves no scars and by a special method no discomfort is produced. Moles successfully removed. Consultation free and confidential and all questions cheerfully answered at my private parlors. Hygenic treatment for the face and complexion, a specialty. Office Hours 2 to 4 P. M. MISS M. WALDRON, 414 Columbus Ave., Bosion, Mass. Next to Hotel Flower.

WANTED.

Agents for this city to sell goods for a Boston house on the instalment plan; $20 to $40 per week can be made by the right party. Address

A. M. FLANDERS,
115 Meriden street, E. BOSTON.

YOUR GARDEN

HOSE IS BURST!

A CHILD CAN MEND IT

With a box of the HUDSON HOSE MENDER. Send for directions How to Do It. It costs you nothing if you mention this paper.

C. E HUDSON, Leominster, Mass.

CLUB WINDOWS

Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,

BOSTON.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency,

J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains: choice house lots in all parts of the city from Eustace Cummings's magnificent lawn to the N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres: located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interests by looking over Munro's lot before closing any trade.

No. 405 Main street, morning and evening; 59 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

TO LET

MAY 1, 1891.

Tenement No. 54 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate of Eliza Annie Quimby Stevens, late of Woburn in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, William H. Cummings, the Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the Estate under deed given by Oliver B. Coolidge to Ebenezer Lawrence, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, given in trust for the benefit of Abijah Thompson and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, the Trustee under said deed, has presented his petition for license to sell certain real estate therein specified, held by him as such trustee;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

THE PHILADELPHIA & READING COAL AND IRON COMPANY,

Miners and Shippers of

Hard White Ash, Free Burning White Ash, Schuylkill Red Ash, Shamokin and Lorberry

COALS,

Also of the celebrated BROOKSIDE COAL of Lykens Valley.

DEEP RED ASH, VERY FREE BURNING.

Unexcelled by any coal for use in open grates or cooking stoves.

All retail dealers in New England can furnish these choice coals.

Office of Eastern Department, 70 Kilby St., BOSTON.

Distributing depots at Boston, Salem, Newburyport and New Bedford.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Special Bargains at

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

As we leave Woburn for the Summer by the middle of June, we will give our Customers some extra values in the following goods:

Black India Twill, 40 in. wide 50c., worth 75c.
Black India Twill, 44 in. wide 75c., worth $1.00
Black Henrietta, 40 in. wide 55c., worth 75c.
Black Henrietta 46 in. wide 90c., worth $1.20.
Fancy Brilliantine 25c., worth 50c.
Table Damask, Bed Spreads, Napkins and Doylies at less than wholesale prices.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at E. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

WORKING MEN OF WOBURN.

If you pay for good stout Overalls you are unwise for I ask only — 50 cents / 39 cents.

Or if you pay for Working Shirts I will sell you the same quality for — 50 cents, / 39 cents.

And so of Outing Shirts. If you pay 29 or 25c. I will sell you the same for 23c. If you pay 50c. I will sell the same for 39c.

And so of Jumpers and all Underwear.

In fact any goods that laboring men buy in my line will be sold from 25% to 33% under the regular price.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Blue Store.

Blue Store.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Summer Goods Just Received

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

PRICE OF Butter Reduced!

As the supply of new Butter is increasing, we are enabled to quote lower prices than at any time since last fall.

We have a full assortment of all grades.

Our best Butter is very fine and warranted to please every time.

We have also reduced the price of Flour 25 cents per bbl.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

For Sale.

House, 8 rooms, 10,000 feet of land, frontage on Main street about $1 feet, first class neighborhood, about five minutes from the Centre. House in thorough repair, bay windows. Will sell this house at a bargain as the owner is going to move to New Hampshire. Come quick if you intend to buy and see E. J. GREGORY, Real Estate Agent.

FOR SALE.

The Estate corner of Main and Richardson St., is the best piece of investment property in the city; will sell the whole or in part viz., House 9 rooms, barn, carriage and greenhouses and about 16,000 feet of land. Price $4000 on easy terms; also the other half of the property comprising about 21,000 feet, will make 6 good house lots 40x90. Call and see me and get the terms.

Also Estates for sale on Glenwood street, Mann's Court, Canal, Bedford, Main, Ash, High, Church, Grove streets, and also good first class building lots on Read street and others.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent,

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

BOSTON OFFICE: Globe Building, Room 6.

Special Office Hours: Woburn, 8 to 9 A. M., 3.30 to 5 P. M.

Boston Office Hours, 10 to 3 P. M.

No Strike At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

BLUE STORE.

C. E. SMITH.

THE TEMPLE REPAIRED.

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 31.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxiv, 4-14. Commit Verses, 8-10—Golden Text, II Cor. ix, 7—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

4. "And it came to pass after this that Joash was minded to repair the house of the Lord."

We now go backward in the history to a period about a hundred years earlier than the last lesson. Joash was the seventh king of the two tribes, and began to reign about a hundred years after the death of Solomon. Only seven years old when he began to reign, he reigned forty years (vs. 1).

5. "And he gathered together the priests and the Levites."

"Go out unto the cities of Judah, and gather of all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that ye hasten the matter."

This would have been a sort of compulsory taxation for the house of God, and was contrary to the principle laid down in Ex. xxv, 2—"Of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart ye shall take my offering." And again in Ex. xxxv, 5, "Whosoever is of a willing heart let him bring it, an offering of the Lord."

6. "And the king called for Jehoiada, the chief, and said unto him, Why hast thou not required of the Levites to bring in out of Judah and Jerusalem the collection?"

The priest and the Levites probably understood their business better than the king did. It was not in their commission to go out collecting money, but it was commanded that the people should bring in their offerings according to their ability (Deut. xvi, 16, 17; Mal. iii, 10).

7. "For the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken up the house of God."

This was the woman who counseled her son Ahaziah (the last king) to do wickedly, and who, after his death, reigned six years (chap. xxii, 2, 3, 12). See her miserable end in chap. xxiii, 15. She was the daughter of Ahab (xxi, 6), and when we remember that Jezebel was Ahab's wife we cannot wonder at her conduct and that of her sons.

"And also all the dedicated things of the house of the Lord did they bestow upon Baalim."

8. "And at the king's commandment they made a chest, and set it without at the gate of the house of the Lord."

There was a hole in the lid of this chest, and it was set beside the altar on the right side as one cometh into the house of the Lord (II Kings xii, 9). Things are looking better now; this is more like God's way, and there will surely be a blessing.

9. "And they made a proclamation through Judah and Jerusalem, to bring in to the Lord the collection that Moses, the servant of God, laid upon Israel in the wilderness."

This is more fully stated in II Kings xii, 4, 5, and carries us back to Ex. xxx, 11-16, where all who were numbered were to give a half shekel as an offering unto the Lord to make an atonement for their souls, the rich not giving more and the poor not giving less than half a shekel.

10. "And all the princes and all the people rejoiced, and brought in and cast into the chest until they had made an end."

This pleased the Lord, for "God loveth a cheerful giver," and "if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not (II Cor. ix, 7; viii, 12).

11. "Thus they did, day by day, and gathered money in abundance."

As the chest was filled it was emptied, counted, put up in bags and set in its place again (II Kings, xii, 10). At the building of the tabernacle of Moses the money and material from the willing hearted offerers came in so abundantly that orders had to be issued to restrain the people from bringing, for they brought much more than enough (Ex. xxxvi, 6, 7).

12. "And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the work of the service of the house of the Lord."

And they laid it out to the carpenters and builders, and to masons and hewers of stone, and to buy timber and hewed stone to repair the breaches of the house of the Lord (II Kings xii, 11, 12). They did not, like many nowadays, get the work done first and then look for the money to pay for it, but they first saw the wherewithal on hand and then went forward with the work. It does seem so unscriptural to have a debt upon any building dedicated to God, or to undertake any work for God without seeing how to pay for it.

13. "So the workmen wrought, and the work was perfected by them."

King, priest, people and workmen, all laborers together. So now every preacher, teacher, missionary, evangelist, or the humblest scholar who gives a penny to help send the gospel to others, are all laborers together in building up the great temple, the church or body of Christ, which shall in due time be perfected (Eph. ii, 19-22; I Cor. iii, 9). A strange thing is written concerning the overseers of this work to whom the money was given to pay the workmen, which is also written of others in the days of Josiah—viz., that they dealt so faithfully that no reckoning was kept with them (II Kings, xii, 15; xxii, 7).

"And they set the house of God in his state and strengthened it."

In the margin of the R. V. "His state" is "according to the proportion thereof." The Spirit had given David the plans for the temple (I Chron. xxviii, 12-19), and they now repaired it according to the design of the Spirit. When we by the Spirit act and speak according to His will we shall then glorify God.

14. "And when they had finished it they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada."

Why did they not use up all the money, or put in a bill for extras? What fools they would be in the eyes of many to-day! How easy to say that the work cost more than they expected! But see their faithfulness. The surplus was made into vessels of gold and silver for the house of the Lord. Let the surplus of wealthy Christains be devoted to sending forth vessels of mercy to the unsaved, and what joy such faithfulness would bring both in heaven and on earth!

"They offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the days of Jehoiada."

This good priest lived to the extraordinary age of 130 years, but when he died there was a sad change in Judah, both on the part of the king and the people. See the rest of this chapter, and notice the idolatry, and the murder of the priest Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada, and also the murder of Joash, the king. How sad a termination to a reign that began so well! We are Christ's disciples, indeed, only if we continue in His word (John x, 27-29). If, on the other hand, we are only good because an older and wiser friend is controlling us then when we lose that friend we shall be apt to fall. Let us hide in Jesus, Rock of Ages, our Great High Priest, lean only on Him, trust Him fully, and all will be well.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

At Pittsburg the Second Avenue Electric Street Car Company is equipping its lines with vestibuled trains.

He—"So Jack isn't devoted to Kate any more. Did they fight?" She—"Yes; they had an engagement."

CHANCE AND CHANGE.

Though dull and dark the skies, what boots despair?
'Tis but the moment, which will soon be o'er;
The morrow's dawn may be as bright and fair
As though the clouds were past forever more.

Nor be thou overjoyous if the day
Is glad and bright, and Nature hath her face
Enwreathed in smiles; the morrow may be gray,
And leaden clouds come driving on apace.

Darkness to light, and light to darkness yields;
Night unto day, and day again to night;
E'en while the cloud shades hover o'er the fields,
Triumphant through them bursts the sun's glad light.

So 'tis with life. Be not too much cast down
If darkness rests upon thee, nor elate
If bright be all thy pathway; smile and frown
Flit swiftly o'er the countenance of Fate.

And that thy mirror is. She frowns on those
Who weakly murmur and who fear the strife;
But smiles on him who mocks at all her blows,
And bravely bears him through this changing life.

—Exchange.

Drugs in the Stable.

The extent to which drugs are used gratuitously and without pathological cause by unscrupulous grooms is a matter for surmise rather than for direct evidence; but many of our readers may recall the alteration for good or bad in the condition of their horses which has become apparent before long upon a casual change of grooms—where one predecessor or successor, as the case may be, has indulged in this practice of useless drugging and the other has abstained from it. Hunters for which no day seemed too long a year ago now "stop" and give out half way in an ordinary run, and chance fences at which they used to rise freely; or phaeton horses sweat profusely at the end of a quarter of an hour at eight miles an hour with the thermometer only temperate.

When such symptoms disclose themselves the master may begin to suspect that something is wrong, and that antimony is superseding the brush and currycomb in his stables. If a direct accusation does not elicit confession and a promise of reformation he will do well to give notice and to look out for a new servant before the health of his stable is ruined. The drug thus administered for this special purpose begins to lose its former efficacy after repeated doses; the groom then probably increases the dose, and perhaps before long some valuable animal is hopelessly ruined in health, if not absolutely poisoned and taken to the knacker's.—London Field.

Machinery Run by Foot Power.

A mechanical power has been invented by Mr. William Riley Hunter, of Afton, Ia., which is intended to run any light machinery by foot power, such as buzz saws, scroll saws, lathes, etc., and consists of a main frame carrying a main shaft on which is mounted a fly wheel, carrying a belt adapted to convey power to a saw mandrel or lathe head adjusted at top of frame. Two friction clutches are on said shaft, a rope passing over two idle pulleys at top of frame, thence over and several times around the peripheries of said clutches, the ends of rope being fastened to treadles. By sitting upon the seat and operating the treadles in the usual way with the feet the machine is put in motion.—New York Telegram.

The Modern Greek.

The average normal Greek is a wide awake, active, shrewd individual. They are proud of their ancestry, and this pride finds expression in the naming of their children. It is a common custom for them to name them after the gods and demi-gods of the heroic period. You hear on the streets one ragged, dirty urchin hailing another of kindred appearance with, "Hi, Themistocles," or "Oh, Phidias." You behold Plato, Demosthenes and Theseus indulging in noisy games at the street corners, while mothers come to their doors shouting at youthful Socrates to "stop pulling Aphrodite's hair," or for Athene to "stop making faces at Apollo."—Professor D'Ooge in Pittsburg Dispatch.

When a newly wedded pair commence life in a home of their own, it is customary to issue "at home" cards, for a few afternoons or evenings at no distant date, unless the marriage occurs in early summer, when these informal receptions are deferred until the autumn. Only such persons are invited as the young people choose to keep as friends, or perhaps only those whom they afford to retain.

Stoves should be kept in a dry place when not in use. Stove pipe flues and elbows must be well cared for, or they will rust out in a single season. If there is no dry place for them, they should be well rubbed over with tallow or other grease, which will do much to keep them in good condition.

Charles Louvier, a carpenter of Paris, found it child's play to roll a tin basin between his fingers into a cylinder. On one occasion he carried off a soldier on guard who had gone to sleep in the sentry box, and deposited both box and soldier on a low churchyard wall close by.

The scents commonly used by men are Opoponax, Jockey Club and Eau de Chypre. Men use a great deal of scent nowadays. Roxana was the favorite scent of Charles II. It is a very pleasant bouquet. I had almost forgotten to mention the Smokers' Pastils.

A report on electric lighting of trains in Germany leads to the conclusion that such lighting must be independent of the locomotive, and that it must be on the accumulator system.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be affected you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore, 50c per bottle.

We are forging along toward the time of year when it will be in order to inform our national bird the mosquito that he is persona non grata.

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles, of Everett, Pa., says: "I suffered for years from kidney and gravel trouble. No physicians or medicine at home did me any good. I finally visited my former home at Rondout, N. Y., and began using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a perfectly well and happy woman once more."

An hour for yourself, the rest of the day for others.

DOG AND COUGAR IN A FIGHT.

A Mail Carrier's Canine Companion Makes a Good Show Against Odds.

Jim McMahon, who carries the mail into Vance, was riding leisurely along the trail with the mail pouch slung over his horse's back, and his dog, a big, courageous animal, brimful of fight, and ready to tackle anything from a mouse to a bear, was trotting ahead of the horse, occasionally making short excursions into the forest through which the roads winds on the trail of some wild animal.

Suddenly, after having made a dash through the brush, the dog came tearing out into the road, uttering savage and fierce barks, his hair bristling and evincing unmistakable signs of terror. Jim at once surmised that the cause of the dog's retreat must have been due to an apparition of some unusually large wild animal.

Spurring his horse he rode up to the point where the dog was still growling, and encouraged the animal to attack the unseen cause of the commotion. The dog responded by a fierce rush into the brush, and in a few minutes appeared near the road in savage conflict with a large cougar. After a short, fierce round both went down, the dog on top. His master knew, however, by his screams and growls that the dog was not having the fight all his own way.

The cougar had leaped and fastened his gleaming fangs on the dog's head, while his hind feet, with sharp claws, were tearing into the dog's side, and were making the hair and the blood fly. The horse, which had now seen the wild animal, was plunging and rearing in terror. Jumping from his saddle, Jim drew his revolver and went to the dog's rescue.

Cougar and dog were rolling around and round, now one on top and then the other, and moving so swiftly it was hard to distinguish them. They were all tangled up in a maze of hair, blood and blood curdling yelps and screams. Jim wanted to kill the cougar, but didn't want to kill the dog. So he waited for an opportunity, and then, raising his big revolver, pulled the trigger, but the gun missed fire. Again he aimed and pulled, with the same result. In his excitement he had forgotten that several of the chambers of the pistol were empty. Luckily for man and dog the cougar at this time released his hold on the dog and sprang into the brush and disappeared. Remounting and whipping up his horse, Jim rode off with the dog to a safer place. An examination of the faithful animal's injuries revealed the fact that one of its eyes had been gouged out, the side of its head lacerated and its neck and body badly cut and torn by the fangs and claws of the cougar.—Chehatis Nuggett.

Why Shoemakers Demand Deposits.

"If we didn't secure a deposit with orders," said a custom shoemaker while trying to explain why it was that "something on account" was needed, "we should soon have to start misfit parlors on our own account. It is not that gentlemen deliberately order shoes without intending to call for them, but it is a certain thing that quite a large number of measurements are taken, shoes made, and then never asked for. When a deposit has been left, there is of course less danger of this, and if the shoes are not called for we can be sure of a prompt sale at a price high enough to secure us from loss.

"Then there is another trouble about this business. Almost every one who comes wants his order filled by a given date, generally a very near one, but half the time a week or more elapses before the shoes are called for. This naturally encourages a habit of procrastination on our part, and unless this is carefully checked delays and disappointments would be very general indeed. Nearly all custom work is done out by shoemakers at their own homes, and these men are far more autocratic and independent than we dare to be."—St. Louis Star Sayings.

Joaquin Miller's Great Work.

"For four years," says Joaquin Miller, "I have been getting ready for the work of my life—namely, my life of Christ in verse. As nearly as possible I will follow Bible lines, and will incorporate the best of the parables, together with Psalms and Proverbs. I will invent some parables, of course, fitting them in the places where they belong. There is so much romance, beauty and poetry in the Bible that it will not be at all difficult for me to select my themes and subjects. Christ was a beautiful man, lived among the most beautiful of women and the noblest surroundings. I can imagine those tall, dark skinned, beautiful Jewish girls, beautiful women, who can be painted in poetry and in song. I expect it will take me several years to complete the work."—Exchange.

The Winnemuckee.

The Winnemuckee is a beautiful lake lying just east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. It is famous for its salmon or wine colored fish, the term "winnee" signifying in the old Indian, "wine colored" or tinged with color. Winnee is the aboriginal name of a river in South Carolina, its waters so darkly tinged that it is now commonly called the Black river.—Detroit Free Press.

It is one proof of the power of Christianity upon modern life that animals receive more humane treatment at our hands than formerly. Queen Elizabeth with her maids of honor delighted to see a bear torn to pieces by dogs, but if an American maltreats a horse or cat he can be heavily punished for it.

A Valuable Discovery

Dr. Brown Sequard's elixir of youth may be an important discovery, but every one knows that Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure certainly is. It has given thousands afflicted with serious heart disease a New Lease of Life. Druggists who can observe its effects on many customers everywhere speak very highly of it. Mr. John Weaver, of Knightstown, Ind., says: "I have sold much of Dr. Miles' New Cure and have received many good reports." O. Monroe, of Dunkirk, N. Y., reports large sales. "And the best part of it is every bottle has given satisfaction. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

The Mexicans parch their grain before grinding it, and this is said to give the flour a sweetness and flavor unknown to ordinary flour, while it is more nutritious.

Cure Yourself.

Don't pay large doctor's bills. The best medical book published, one hundred pages, elegant colored plates, will be sent you on receipt of three 2-cent stamps to pay postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

THE OGOWE DWARFS.

They Are Even More Diminutive Than Those Described by Stanley.

At a meeting of the Paris Geographical society a letter was read from M. Paul Crampel, the explorer of the Ogowe basin, giving an account of the Bayagas, a diminutive people who inhabit the great forests extending to the north of the Ogowe and are probably nearly related to the Wambuttis described by Stanley.

The Bayagas live scattered among the M'fangs, to whom their relation is one of semi-servitude. When a M'fang chief becomes powerful enough he surrounds himself with a band of these "Bohemians" of the forest. They become his hunters and ivory seekers. In return he supplies them with manioc and bananas. Changing their places of abode every four or five days, the Bayagas are not able to cultivate the soil.

They are great hunters. The elephant is their principal game, their sole weapon of attack being a very sharp two edged spear about 5 1-2 feet in length. Physically there is a great contrast between the Bayagas and the M'fangs. The former are dwarfs compared with the latter, whose height is often from 5 feet 9 inches to 5 feet 11 inches or more. The average height of the Bayagas is 4 feet 7 inches. They are stout, well proportioned and muscular. The color of their skin is a yellowish brown.

What strikes the observer most at first sight are the prominence of the superciliary arches, the great thickness of eyebrows, which are continuous, and the projection of the cheek bones. The neck is very short, the head set into the shoulders, chest broad and well developed, the arm strong and wrist stout, the legs crooked. The dominating characteristic of their physiognomy is an expression of fear.

The traveler had not much opportunity of studying the women. He noticed, however, the mutilation of their ears, the lobe of which is pierced by pieces of wood or ivory, and in this way is gradually enlarged until it touches the shoulder. The Bayagas, although polygamists, do not imitate their neighbors or masters, among whom a large number of wives is considered to be the greatest evidence of wealth.

Among the Bayagas there is a paucity of married women, owing largely to the family organization, which tends to prevent marriages. A man has often only one wife; the chief two or three. The family is "patriarchal." The chief (the patriarch) lives with his children and grandchildren; sometimes, but rarely, one of his brothers joins the community, which never contains any but blood relations.

A young Bayaga when married stays with his wife's family, and he only has the right to return to his original community and remove his wife thither when he has a son, and when that son has killed an elephant. The son always remains with his mother's group to replace her. A Bayaga woman never marries any one of another tribe. Their language is utterly incomprehensible to a stranger, even to the M'fangs.—London Times.

To Be a Good Neighbor.

To be a really good neighbor demands the possession of many excellent qualities—tact, temper, discernment and consideration for other people's feelings; and, if we possess all, or some of these qualities, innumerable and never ending are the benefits we may confer on each other, and a great deal of pleasure will be the result. But because we are neighbors we need not necessarily be close friends. We may be friendly enough to enjoy the pleasure of doing them little kindnesses and receiving the same in return.

Being kindly disposed to all by no means implies that our house is to be open from morning till night to visitors. The typically good natured person, who is at every one's beck and call, is likely to be greatly imposed upon and to please no one really; one must be able to say "No," and to decline being made use of by every one.—New York Ledger.

Hard on the Cook.

Sometimes a hotel man will encounter a refinement of sarcasm that pierces even his blunted sensibilities. A public man who was in the city not long ago is noted for his information and good taste in gastronomic matters. The landlord was smiling an affable greeting when the guest emerged from the dining room, but the latter merely inquired whether he could have a messenger boy summoned.

"Certainly," was the reply.

"All right, and when he comes tell him to go over to the Blank hotel and get me a porterhouse steak."—Washington Post.

A Guiding Rule.

Fix this in your mind as the guiding principle of all right, practical labor, and source of all healthful life energy—that your art is to be the praise of something you love. It may be only the praise of a shell or a stone; it may be the praise of a hero; it may be the praise of God. Your rank as a living creature is determined by the height and breadth of your love; but be you small or great, what healthy art is possible to you must be the expression of your true delight in a real thing better than your art.—Ruskin.

Early Punctuation.

Teacher—Freddy Fangle, you may tell us about the antediluvian period.

Freddy—The antediluvian period is the full stop that the flood brought on the world.—West Shore.

There is danger in impure blood. There is safety in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. 100 doses one dollar.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

The Heroism of Childhood.

There is something very pathetic about the heroism of childhood, where we mean by heroism something of really independent daring and presence of mind, something beyond mere steadfast trustfulness which is a sense natural to childhood. The inquest held before Dr. Macdonald, M. P., coroner for northeast London, on Henry James Bristow, aged eight years, illustrates precisely what we mean. Mrs. Bristow, who lives at Walthamstow, had left this little boy alone in the room with a younger sister of only three years of age in order to go on an errand. She returned before 6 o'clock to find that the little girl had climbed on a chair to reach a small paraffine lamp, and had upset it over her clothes, which of course caught fire at once.

The boy immediately tore them off her, and laid her upon the bed, but in lifting her on the bed his own clothes caught fire, and it took the child a long time to tear them off. At last he succeeded, but not till he was so seriously hurt that, though taken at once to a hospital, he died within a week from the result of the injuries. His little sister's life he had succeeded in saving; at least she was said to be doing well at the time of the inquest on her brother.

The coroner very justly spoke of the boy as quite a little hero, and he was a hero in precisely the sense in which it seems to us that the word, as applied to a child of eight, carries a profound pathos with it, because it implies a presence of mind, a promptitude of purpose, a self command and fortitude and steadfastness which are usually quite beyond a child's imagination, much less its practical achievement. — London Spectator.

Where Flowers Look Best.

There is no place where flowers show to such advantage as in the home. The flowers and plants should be placed in their proper shading so as to produce the best effect. Never overcrowd in floral decorations. This is very important. The most popular way of decorating the home consists in placing beautiful foliage plants in different shades of green in corners on small stands and etageres. Flowers are used with long stems and their own foliage, put in cases. A very neat thing is a small number of miniature vases and cut class bowls, placed on little tables and filled with different colored carnations, lilies of the valley, mignonette or other seasonable flowers. Each specimen should be set by itself. This produces an exceedingly pretty effect.

The fireplaces should be well filled with potted plants, such as ferns and variegated foliage plants. Over pictures and doors a neat effect is obtained by draping long trailing ferns and passion vines in bloom. To keep flowers fresh as long as possible be sure to cut a little of the stem each day. A hard crust forms on the end of the stem which prevents the water from ascending, and this should be cut away each day. A little charcoal in the water in which the flowers stand will sweeten them and keep them fresh longer.—C. F. Klunder in Ladies' Home Journal.

He Loved Sausages.

A correspondent sends from Michigan a true story of a farmer's dog who has been found guilty of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

He is extremely fond of sausages, and has been taught by his owner to go after them for himself, carrying a written order in his mouth.

Day after day he appeared at the butcher's shop, bringing his master's order, and by and by the butcher became careless about reading the document. Finally, when settlement day came, the farmer complained that he was charged with more sausages than he had ordered.

The butcher was surprised, and the next time Lion came in with a slip of paper between his teeth he took the trouble to look at it. The paper was blank, and further investigations showed that whenever the dog felt a craving for sausage he looked round for a piece of paper and trotted off to the butcher's.

The farmer is something out of pocket, but squares the account by boasting of his dog's intelligence.—Youth's Companion.

John Smith's Queer Name.

There is a quaint old man in Manchester, England, who goes by the unique name of Gagadig Gigadab. His original name, so the story goes, was John Smith, but many years ago he began to brood over the possibilities of mistaken identity involved in such a common name. The name figured frequently in the criminal records, and he became abnormally apprehensive lest he might be confused with some of these bad John Smiths.

At last what he feared so much actually happened. One morning the papers recorded the capture of an accountant in a bank for embezzlement, and through some blunder of the reporter the identity of the embezzler was confused with the subject of this paragraph, who was also a bank accountant. Then and there he determined to assume a name like unto no other ever borne by mortal man. And in Gagadig Gigadab most people will agree that he has done so.—Chicago Herald.

Laughing Gas.

Aunty—Did the dentist give you laughing gas?

Little Girl—Yes'm.

"Didn't it make you feel like laughing?"

"Yes'm—after th' tooth was out."—Good News.

Not Intimate: "Have you met with success?" "I know it only by sight."

A Safe Guard—Always on Duty.

Thousands make a practice of taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., whenever they have symptoms of possible sickness, and through the prompt action of this remarkable medicine they are really never ill. It is a perfect safeguard against all forms of malaria, sick and nervous headache, palpitation, dyspepsia and heartburn.

It is proposed to reclaim the Okefenokee Swamp in Georgia by means of canals, as is being done with the Everglades of Florida. The area of the swamp is 676 square miles.

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years, and I tried many remedies, but none did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm. It completely cured me. M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Ave., Boston Highlands Mass.

After using Ely's Cream Balm two months I was surprised to find that the right nostril which was closed for more than twenty years, was open and free as the other, and can use it now as I could not do for many years. I feel very thankful.—R. H. Cressengham, 275 18th St., Brooklyn.

Last year there were 495 fires in Tokio, by which 4501 houses were burned. Japanese houses, however, are very slight and inexpensive affairs.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work shops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION RONDOUT, N. Y.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN

MERCHANT TAILOR,

7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Basheling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

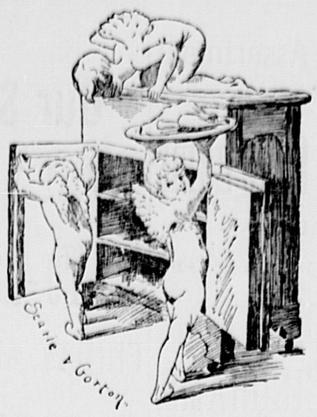
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Paine.

Laxador An infallible regulator of the Human System. Cures Liver Complaint, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Giddiness, &c. Laxador Cures Bilious Affections, &c. 25c. Laxador

At all dealers.

Use Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. 25 Cts.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 491 Main Street, Woburn.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIAGES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets, BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2½ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING, 5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS, 30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS, 20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS, 20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING, 1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each, $6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

Ivers & Pond Pianos.

Have you seen the new patent SOFT-STOP in our Uprights? It makes them practically noiseless. Pianos wear many times longer without becoming metallic in tone if our SOFT-STOP is used while practising. It cannot be attached to old pianos, but we will take the old in exchange for new at fair values. Systems of payment to suit convenience. LOW PRICES FOR FIRST-CLASS PIANOS. Catalogue and full information free by mail, or, if convenient, visit our Warerooms. Write us a postal.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO., Masonic Temple, 183 Tremont St., Boston.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

THE CURE FOR COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER CATARRH DEAFNESS HEADACHE ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

201 Main Street, - Woburn.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Tru Mont, 581 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR W. L. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

POPULAR PRICES $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $4.00

VERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY

M. BANCROFT, Agent.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.

The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO. 181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

Gold Silver Bronze Medals

The highest honors have been awarded for these instruments.

Bay State Guitars, MANDOLIN'S and BANJOS; also Wm. B. Tilton & Haynes Excelsior Guitars. Send for Catalogues for all Musical Instruments. J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass.

SALESMEN WANTED

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.

F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1891. NO. 25.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 8.05, 6.35, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.23, 6.34, 7.05, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.37, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, *7.45, 8.30, *9.45, 10.15, *10.45, *11.35, A. M., *12.45, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.35, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, *8.10, 8.35, *10.10, 10.40, *11.10, A. M., *12 M., *1.10, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.00, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.50, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 8.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 9.00, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 5.30, 7.00, 7.30, 9.30, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.35, 6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 9.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, 6.15, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, *8.15, *9.15, *9.45, *10.00, *10.45, *11.45, A. M., 12.15, *12.45, 1.15, *1.45, 2.15, *2.45, 3.15, *3.45, 4.15, *4.45, 5.15, *5.45, 6.15, *6.45, 7.15, *7.45, 8.15, *8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at *8.40, *9.40, *10.10, *11.10, A. M., *12.10, 12.40, *1.10, 1.40, *2.10, 2.40, *3.10, 3.40, *4.10, 4.40, *5.10, 5.40, *6.10, 6.40, *7.10, 7.40, *8.10, 8.40, *9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Medford.
† Woburn only.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.56, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's.
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
512	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE !
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, JR.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S,
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Office No. 19 Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass.
Residence and Stables, Salem St. Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.

Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.

The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

FACIAL BLEMISHES.

Realizing the disappointment experienced by ladies who have used depilatory preparations for the removal of superfluous hair; also the disrepute into which electrolysis has fallen through severe treatment and its results—I wish to assure all who are so disfigured, that by carefully treating each hair separately with electricity, I am able to not only destroy the hairs so that they will never grow again, but my treatment positively leaves no scars and by a special method no discomfort is produced. Moles successfully removed. Consultation free and confidential and all questions cheerfully answered at my private parlors. Hygenic treatment for the face and complexion, a specialty. Office Hours 2 to 4 P. M. MISS M. WALDRON, 414 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. Next to Hotel Flower.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency.

J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains: choice house lots in all parts of the city from Eustace Cummings's magnificent lawn to the N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres: located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interests by looking over Munro's lot before closing any trade. No. 415 Main street, morning and evening; 35 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, - - MASS.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

The Woburn Journal

"CONFIDENCE."

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH BY SYBIL PAGET.

If thy faith seems gone from thee,
And the tempest rageth hard;
Be calm,
For God keeps guard.

If as common laws decree,
Falls to nothingness the day;
Be calm,
For God doth stay.

If from care thy heart's ne'er free,
If despair within you lives;
Be calm,
For God forgives.

If dread Death with fear you see,
And its darkness overtakes;
Be calm,
For God awakes.

Margaret of New Orleans.

"I wonder if it idealizes her?"

We stand beside the statue of this famous woman, Margaret of New Orleans, and, after the manner of strangers, conjecture on what we for the first time see.

"Not at all," a voice answers in the soft southern tongue. "It looks just like her."

"She was a working woman—a servant here. When I first remember her I was living near here, and she was taking care of the cows in a stable that stood almost on the very spot where her statue stands now. She was working then for the sisters of the asylum. She fed and milked their cows, and sold milk in a cart about the city. She was a strange looking person—remarkable in her appearance. I think now as I recall her she had a broad forehead, serious eyes, a pleasant, broad smile, a rather short, stout figure. I do not suppose she ever in her life wore any dress better than a Guinea blue calico; she always wore heavy shoes, and a black straw bonnet trimmed with a neat band of black over the top. From my residence I could see her many times a day while she was at her stable work, or coming back or forth with her milk cans.

"What was her name? Her name was Margaret Hauggery; she had been married and was at that time a widow. Her husband and little child died just after she came to New Orleans, so we learned after she became famous. She was alone and poor, in a strange country, and went to work in the stables for a living. Somehow everybody liked Margaret; her smile was sweet and her words shrewd. The children called her Margaret, and she knew their names and answered their salutations along the street as she drove by in the milk cart.

"After some years Margaret saved enough to buy a bit of ground that had on it a small bakery. The place was sold for a trifle, but now Margaret was in royal trim; a landowner and a manufacturer; for she opened the shop and began bread and pie making for the neighbors. Presently there was a large bakery built; soon bread carts were running over the city bearing the words 'Margaret's Bakery.' It became the fashion to buy at Margaret's place. During war pestilence and disaster Margaret's fires were never out, and the delicious rolls kept up their weight and quality, no matter what else in life failed.

"Then she began running her free bread carts during the fever panic. No one went hungry who was within sound of her cart wheels. From that time on no one need go hungry in New Orleans—those too poor to buy were given a loaf fresh and white as the best, and it was given heartily, with a 'God bring thee better times.' There was no distinction in Margaret's favors. She gave to white and black, of any church or none. 'Are you hungry?' that is all that was necessary. 'Here is bread take it with God's blessing.' There have been in this city dread days, which seemed as if God and everybody had failed us but Margaret; days when she almost literally fed the city. During the yellow fever panic Margaret began her noble work of taking the children from the homes of death and putting them into a house under good care, supporting them herself in every particular. Soon the one asylum grew into many; the dozens of her little charges were numbered by hundreds—and at the time of her death, thousands.

"At the gate of every orphan asylum in the city Margaret's bread cart, with its smoking rolls, was seen daily; at every charitable institution whatsoever she took the privilege of giving her bread freely, and Margaret's name headed the list for every charity. Our grand charity hospital one of the most famous famous in the world, was largely the gift of Margaret. You must visit that hospital. It will make you better all your life for having seen it. Right through the trees there at the right, do you see that magnificent building with its four galleries running around the first four stories of the house? Its gate tells in golden letters that this is a children's home, given by Margaret, where to the end of time orphans will be cared for and educated by her bequests. Many of our cemeteries contain in form of handsome tombs Margaret's simple yet munificent thoughtfulness. Here, you know, all are buried above ground in crypts or ovens of masonry; and when you visit our cemeteries—as strangers always do, for there are no burial places like these in America—you will see stone tombs (containing a dozen, two or four dozen bodies, maybe) inscribed: 'Given to the Little Sisters of the Poor by Margaret,' 'The Strangers' Tomb, given by Margaret.'

"I suppose Margaret spent more money for the city than the richest man in the history of the State; and of the sympathy and discernment of the needs of the poor, the half could never be told. She spent nothing on herself. A clean, blue calico, stout shoes, a black straw bonnet, a knitted jacket or shoulder shawl, an iron bedstead in a room without even a rocking chair, and overlooking the bakeshop. She had no time to enjoy luxuries, even had she possessed them. As long as there was a weeping child or friendless woman in the city, what time had she to fold her arms in a rocking chair? While there were unburied, coffinless forms, could she adorn her home of the living? And so it happened that to the end of life Margaret spent neither time, care, nor money on herself. She forgot there was such a mortal as Margaret.

"And when one day the news went around that Margaret was dead the great city arose and put on mourning; the business houses were closed; all the employments of the city stood still. The day of the burial thousands of her little orphans followed her bier as mourners; every church sent delegations of honor-bearers; the public school children joined in the throng; the houses were draped along the line of march; all the bells of the city tolled; civic and military joined in the procession with ecclesiastics; there never was here a funeral like Margaret's.

"Afterwards it was found that her possessions had been so disposed that had death come at any moment the affairs of this life were well and intelligently wound up. There were no personal effects of value, but even her few garments she left to the poor, and with the proceeds of her wise investments her charities are royally endowed.

"This statue is the gift of the city, to show in this public way the esteem in which she is held. It is very like Margaret. The motherly figure, seated with one arm encirling a standing child at her side; the untrimmed dress, coarse shoes, the little crocheted shawl about her shoulders are homely, but who would change them for finer clothing? The smooth hair with its old-fashioned French parting; the strong chin, the pleasant mouth, the serious eyes—is there not something fascinating in the contradictions of the face?

"Did you ever see such a head on a woman's shoulders? Massive, wonderful. That is the head of a statesman and financier, while its mouth, with its pleasant smile, telling of the tact and natural suavity of Margaret's character, proclaim the elements of a born diplomat. Yet, look again at the broad, massive brow, and see the earnest, loving eye that speaks of a true womanhood; look once more at the coarse garments and you will see that poverty added her load to the ordinary burden of womanhood, while ignorance, bereavement, affliction, loneliness join hands with poverty against this soul. But the massive brow conquered; the untaught brain triumphed, and under the leadership of the sad, gentle eyes gave to the suffering what might, had she been a man, born in other circumstances, have been the gain of nations and the glitter of the trappings of a diplomat.

"When I consider what Margaret did for one city, under such desperate disadvantages, I wonder what she could have done for the world if all the environments had been right. I was thinking of that as I looked, passing for the hundreth time, at the strong, fascinating face this morning, when your question met my ear.

"Yes, it looks like her, and there will never be another in marble like it to the end of time. She was a grand character—tender, strong, original, pitiful, helpful, wise."

We are to ourselves like a closed book.

Woman's Column.

Giving Away the Bride.

A custom much more honored in the breach than in the observance is that of giving away the bride at the marriage ceremony. This custom, however, still exists.

When women were estimated at such a value as Petruchio put upon his newly wedded wife Kate there might have been some propriety in giving away what was merely a commodity. Petruchio said:

"She is my goods, my cattels; she is my house,
My household stuff, my field, my barn,
My horse, my ox, my ass, my anything."

But in these days, when women stand as individuals, able to hold college degrees, to carry on business, to make contracts, to serve as lawyers, clergymen and physicians, it seems the extreme of silliness and unfitness that such a person should be given away, as though she were incompetent to dispose of herself. The custom is a survival of base and belated ideas. Wherever it appears, it is like a signpost pointing to the past degradation of women.

This custom and the folly of it were conspicuously manifest at a recent wedding, widely noticed in the press, where a capable woman of mature age was given away. She was in all respects a superior person. She had business interests which she managed herself. She was a dispenser of charities. She was looked up to in her neighborhood. But at her wedding, yielding to the force of an absurd custom, she let herself be given away. If a man of equal ability had suffered himself to be disposed of in the same way he would have been greeted with derision and laughter. Probably his example would not have been followed. In the case of women it equally deserves to be laughed out of sight. LUCY STONE.

There are eleven women County Superintendents of schools in California.

In the late school election at Missoula, Montana, out of 2,300 votes cast, 1,500 were cast by women.

The New Hampshire M. E. Conference has voted in favor of admitting women to the General Conference, 57 to 28.

Miss Hayden has modified her plan for the Woman's Building at the World's Fair by adding two aerial gardens, one at either end of the building, 40x100 feet.

Grace Greenwood (Mrs. Lippincott) is about to leave New York and make Washington her permanent residence. She is afflicted with a cataract which causes partial blindness, only to be relieved by an operation.

The increasing interest in matters of health is shown by the fact that the Mary Institute, the most aristocratic girls' school in St. Louis, announces a course of six lectures on Public Health and Emergencies, to be given to the young ladies by prominent St. Louis professors.

Miss Jeannette L. Gilder, an editor of the New York Critic, and the "Brunswick" of the Boston Transcript, lately gave an interesting reminiscence of her early career. Among her first journalistic efforts was the furnishing of the Newark, N. J., news, murders and fires to the New York Tribune. Mr. Greeley died during her connection with that paper. She worked under the city editor and drew her weekly stipend for three years, and then, Miss Gilder says: "Mr. Reid learned that this 'Newark man' was a woman, and I was allowed to resign, as there might arise an occasion when the work could not be done so satisfactorily by one of my sex."

Mrs. Aletha Coffin of Hadley, Ind., is a pioneer of that State, whose ninety-three years are full of honor. Left a widow sixty-three years ago in North Carolina with three small children to support, she managed by hard labor and economy to save a hundred dollars in six years. Leaving her children, she rode on horseback to Hendricks County, Ind., a distance of seven hundred and fifty miles, through a sparsely settled country, and across mountain ranges. She selected eighty acres, and then rode to the land office at Crawfordsville, nearly thirty miles distant, and entered her land with her hundred dollars. After resting a few days, she returned for her children. She gave them an unusually good education for that day, earning the means by tending her farm with her own hands. The land makes her a pleasant home in her old age, and is the only piece of real estate in the county that has never changed hands. Mrs. Coffin was for many years matron of Guilford College, N. C., and later held the same position in Earlham College at Richmond, Ind. She has filled many important positions in the work of her church and locality. She is well informed, and her memory remains good.

Munroe's Clothing House.

COME AND LOOK OVER OUR GREAT STOCK OF

Spring Styles for Men's and Boys' Wear.

For Variety, Excellence and Durability our Stock is far superior to any shown in this vicinity.

Our Prices Always The Lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Literary Notices.

The June number of HARPER'S MAGAZINE contains 7 interesting papers illustrated with some 70 or more engravings, which is a contribution of literature and art that any magazine might well be proud of. The papers are all seasonable and entertaining. In the article entitled Town and Village Government by Theodore Child a comparison is drawn between Woburn (Mass.) and a town in New York State of about the same size, as to the annual public expenses of each—for streets, police, fire, etc.—which is very flattering to Woburn, showing that we get a great deal more for our money than the N. Y. town does.

 HARPER'S is sold by the New England News Co., Franklin St., Boston, and by Sparrow Horton at the Old Woburn Bookstore.

A new subject is taken up in the article on the Development of American Industries since Columbus, in the June number of THE POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY. This is The Manufacture of Wool, which is handled by the author, Mr. N. S. Dexter North, in a notably attractive manner. The present paper describes early forms of the industry, and, like the rest of the series, is appropriately illustrated. Dr. Andrew D. White concludes his chapter on Miracles and Medicine in this number, dealing with theological intolerance of Jewish and other physicians, inoculation, and anæsthetics, changes of vogue in regard to saintly relics, the royal touch, etc. There are many entertaining and instructive papers in the number, among which may be mentioned Our Grandfathers Died too Young, Questions Concerning the Minor Planets, The Natchez Indians, The Pearl of Practice, The Future of the Dry Land, The Music of the Birds, etc. New York: D. Appleton and Company. Fifty cents a number: $5 a year.

Marvellous Endurance.

The vast amount of labor performed by the heart in keeping all portions of the body supplied with blood is not generally known. It beats 100,000 times, and forces the blood at the rate of 168 miles a day, which is 3,000,000,000 times and 5,150,880 miles in a life time. No wonder there are so many heart failures. The first symptoms are shortness of breath when exercising, pain in the side or stomach, fluttering, choking in throat, oppression, then follow weak, hungry or smothering spells, swollen ankles, etc. Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure is the only reliable remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

Talking about Yankee love for the almighty dollar, can the following, narrated by a Maine paper, be surpassed: "There is a French family in Biddeford, living behind a blacksmith shop, which consists of husband, wife and 14 children, all young. The father works in the cotton mills for very moderate wages, and on account of the numerous family the mother has never been able to do any other than the housework and it has only been a few years since the oldest of the children were able to work. Yet this large family has not only been reared upon the wages of the father, but to-day the mother, who has been the financier of the household, has $4000 in the banks.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

In purple and fine linen.—A bandaged black eye.

Electricity runs a Wurtemburg (Germany) iron works.

"Keep It Out of the Paper."

"Keep it out of the paper" is the cry which the local newspaper publisher daily hears. To oblige often costs considerable, though the party who makes the request thinks the granting scarcely worth saying "thank you" for. A newspaper is a peculiar article in the public's eye. The news gatherer is stormed at because he gets hold of one item, and is abused because he does not get another. Young men and often young women, as well as older, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication and then rush to the newspaper offices to beg the editors not to notice their escapades. The next day they condemn the same paper for not having published another party doing the same thing they were guilty of, forgetting, apparently, their late visit to the printing office. The subscribers expect to read the news, and there is always wonder when, for charity's sake, an item on the street and in everybody's mouth is not found in the next issue of the paper.

Col. Clark,

U. S. Army, writes: For the last two years, my health has been excellent; this, I think, is due to my using Sulphur Bitters, as formerly my health was miserable, owing to the frequent changes of climate, etc., so incident to a soldier's life.

Everybody Is Interested in It.

No paper can be published without home patronage, and every man is interested in keeping up a home paper. If a railroad or factory is wanted, the newspaper is expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted for any purpose, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a supper or reception of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the schools and everything else to advance the interests of the business men of the place, and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away. And yet some of them do nothing to keep up a home paper.—Gladstone (Mich.) Express.

A Fortunate Man.

I had severe attacks of kidney disease. My stomach also troubled me very much. I was prevailed upon to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using five or six bottles, I was cured. I consider it an invaluable remedy for Kidney Disease, Stomach trouble, and all diseases of the blood.—John Vandersliee, No. 1 Gregory st., Rochester, N. Y.

A California paper says that multitudes of blue cranes are now setting on nests of eggs along the sloughs near Buena Vista Lake. The crane invariably selects a willow tree, the lower part of which is under water—and there are abundance of such this time of year—as if its instinct taught it to guard against predatory animals. In the topmost limb it builds of sticks a loosely woven nest, about 18 inches in diametar, and in that it composes its long legs and curious body to the patient duty of hatching out the twin eggs.

The weary and woe-begone expression of the dyspeptic is soon changed into one of health and hilarity by using Laxador. It only costs 25 cents.

When your child is suffering, give it Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, which will at once relieve and permanently cure by its soothing action. Price 25 cts.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE PUBLIC BAR BILL.

The saloons won an important victory in the House of Representatives last Tuesday by securing the repeal of what has been known as the "Bar Law," that is to say, the statute which compelled the whiskey drinker to take his tipple sitting at a table in Dutch style instead of standing at a bar in the good old Yankee fashion. On this question the Rum party carried the day by a big majority.

The average Massachusetts Legislature can be depended on every time to help the saloons out of any trouble they may happen to get into, and the present one has proved that it is no exception to the general rule.

The question itself was of no particular consequence to anybody. The difference to the Rum seller or the drinker between the Bar and the Table was about the same as that between tweedledum and tweedledee. The drinker could drink himself drunk sitting at the Table, and he can do the same thing standing at the Bar. Men will find ways to sell Rum and drink it so long as cupidity and appetite exist in the human race.

But the saloonists had got the idea into their heads that the Table law ought to be repealed and they found a Legislature of sufficiently easy virtue to yield to their demands.

FOR GOVERNOR.

The Democrats experience no difficulty in finding a plenty of gubernatorial candidates for the Republicans to vote for this fall. They have nominated nearly a dozen, not one of whom have the Republicans seen fit to accept, and probably will not, although some good men have been mentioned.

It is not unlikely that the Republicans may fail readily to unite on a candidate this summer. Premonitions of this are in the air.

In view of the probable difficulty of finding "the right man for the right place," and of his eminent fitness for the same not only as to ability but as to vote winner also, why not try and pursuade Hon. E. D. Hayden, late Congressman from the Fifth District, and now Vice-President of the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, to reconsider his determination and consent to run. He would win the election with less difficulty than any other prominent member of the Republican party.

THE REDISTRICTING BILL.

Yesterday was the date fixed by the House for the consideration of the bill for the Congressional redistricting of the State but we go to press too early Friday morning to give the result of the vote on it if any was taken.

The Committee's bill has met with strong opposition from almost every body except the Democrats who appear to be very well satisfied with it, as well they may be. What will become of it in the end would be hard to say.

☞ THE BOSTON NEWS is a new venture in the morning paper business and judging from a specimen copy of Vol. I, No. 1, it has come to stay. It is a penny paper that made its first bow to the public on last Monday morning bright and early. Its appearance is said to have kicked up quite a bobbey among the 2-centers of the Hub. THE BOSTON NEWS is a 7-column folio presenting a neat appearance mechanically, and is a bright, fresh, clean, newsy 1-cent candidate for journalistic honors and wealth. Success to the new enterprise.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Ad.—Bicycle.
Journal—Dog Lost.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
F. Hinckley—Citation.
C. Cummings—Horses.
C. M. Strout—Business.
S. B. Goddard—E. L. A. C.
Horace Dodd—Masten & Wells.
Pettengill & Co.—Con. Shoe Co.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Read "A lost dog" in this paper.

— Read the change in the ad. of C. Willard Smith.

— Buy your Ranges and Cook Stover of C. M. Strout.

— Mr. J. F. Ramsdell's factory is undergoing repairs.

— Miss Hannah Melville will revisit her old home in England soon.

— "When Music is Sweetest" will appear in the JOURNAL next week.

— "Ward 6" touches up members of the City Government again this week.

— Last Tuesday was truly a summer day. It was about as hot as they make 'em.

— Now is the time to have C. M. Strout put your furnaces in repair for next winter.

— Read about Gregory's auction sale in this paper. Take it all in and then go to the sale.

— Mr. Edward L. Shaw returned from Europe last week. He was away some time on business.

— Mr. S. B. Goddard declines a re-election to the office of President of the Mishawum Club for 1891.

— Mr. Curtis Greenwood has again made his appearance on the streets about as well as ever. Good!

— After an absence of three years Mr. Henry U. Dean and wife are back home here again from California.

— What, may we ask, is the probable consensus of ideas as to celebrating the next 4th of July in this city?

— Any person wishing to buy a very fine bicyle will do well to call on Cooper & Rand, this city. See ad.

— Henry Young was not the Woburn man crushed to death on "run" of Charles River bridge Tuesday night.

— John McSweeney pitched for the Trimonts at Melrose last Saturday. He knows how to "play ball"—John does.

— The Woburn Brass Band furnished music for the Memorial services at Reading last Saturday, and it was good music too.

— The 17th of June, the 116th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, will fall due one week from next Wednesday.

— The Woburn Co-operative Bank will have about $6,000 to sell at its next regular meeting on next Wednesday evening.

— It rained powerfully all Wednesday night and Thursday's east wind was cold enough to "freeze the hair off from a dog."

— Mr. Chester R. Smith, at C. Willard Smith's dry goods and carpet store, visited friends in Athol last Saturday and returned home Monday noon.

— Remember that the Prize Drill of the W. H. S. B. will take place at 7.45 o'clock this evening. Principal Mendum will furnish tickets on application.

— Victory perched on the standard of Rev. Hugh Montgomery, the Temperance Champion, yesterday morning. Rafferty got $50 and 4 months in H. of C.

— At a meeting of the New England Woman's Club at Chauncy Hall School building in Boston last Saturday Miss M. E. Carter was chosen one of the Directors.

— Messrs. Copeland & Bowser make an interesting announcement concerning dry goods in this paper. It needs to be read carefully and then the goods examined.

— There is to be a grand Temperance Rally at the M. E. Church next Sunday evening. Hugh Montgomery, Griffin Place, Hon. B. F. Whittemore and others will deliver speeches.

— The Ladies' Auxiliary, Y. M. C. A., will hold a Strawberry Festival in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on next Tuesday evening, to which the admission will be free. Everybody should attend.

— Auctioneer Gregory won the City Press's prize gold watch by over 3,000 majority. His vote was 14,904, and Letter Carrier E. E. Foss polled 11,725. "Greg" is a hustler and very popular.

— The residence of Mr. C. P. Kendall on Salem street, Button End, was badly damaged by fire last Saturday night. The firemen were promptly on the scene, but a good deal of damage was done.

— The summer meeting of the Bay State Agricultural College will be held at Amherst on June 11 and 12 inst. It is to be an important one. The fare from Woburn and return has been reduced to $3.10.

— Miss Charlotte Willard of Sturgis street, and Miss Mary Parker of Canal street, are back home again from Nahant, the "gem of the ocean," where they have been agreeably entertained by Woburn and Winchester friends.

— Rev. F. W. March, son of Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor of the First Congregational church in this city, and family sailed on the Catalonia last Saturday for their home in Syria, where Mr. and Mrs. March have labored for several years as missionaries.

— Mrs. Abbie A. Nicholas, who was the daughter of William D. and Abigail Warren, formerly residents of Woburn, where the deceased was born 48 years ago, died at her home in Stoneham last Tuesday deeply mourned by all who knew her. She was a graduate of the W. H. S. Class '63.

— With Bert Hartwell, James Haggerty and perhaps others, David Ronco attended the bicycle tournament at Worcester last Saturday and had a big time. "Dave" is a bicycle enthusiast and there are only a very few boys who can tread on his heels when he gets his "second wind" and buckles right down to work.

— Mr. S. B. Goddard advertises the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation in this issue of the JOURNAL and manufacturers and others who employ workmen will do well to read and consider the matter. A large number of the above class of people in this city have taken out insurance of Mr. Goddard and are warm friends of the system.

— We are very glad to be able to announce to our readers that Hon. John Cummings of this city is in an advanced state of convalesence after a severe attack of influenza. He has a robust constitution and is temperate in all things, to which facts was probably due his victory over the grip, a disease which has proved itself a very bad one to battle against.

— The Equal Suffrage League met in the Y. M. C. A. parlor Monday evening. Mrs. Abbie Watson gave a very full report of the progress of women during the month. Miss Jennie Skinner read an original paper on "Higher Education for Women." Both papers were very interesting. The League adjourned to the first Monday evening in October.

— In buying a team for use of the Police, on recommendation of Chief McIntosh, the city did a good thing. The Police have daily need of a horse and buggy, and the amount that has been paid to stable-keepers every year for the hire of one has been enough to buy the best that could be found. The Chief, we understand, has got for his money a first-class outfit.

— There is a pretty fair prospect for building a new Armory for the Mechanic Phalanx and H. S. B. If the former will only sprunt up now and fill the ranks with good timber for soldiers the city will feel encouraged to go on and give them the best Company accommodations that can be produced; but if they are determined to jeopardize the existence of the organization by keeping up an everlasting quarrel, wrangling and fighting, they will deserve no Armory, and get what they deserve.

— The cemeteries of this city were thronged with visitors last Sunday. Such a profusion of flowers was hardly ever before seen there. Beautiful bouquets were met everywhere. Mr. L. L. Whitney, Superintendent of the Salem street cemetery, and his men had put those grounds into fine, clean, smoothly-shaven shape for Memorial Day, and they looked very nice.

— A copious rainfall took place here last Tuesday evening. It was accompanied by quite vivid lightning and loud thunder. The former struck and disconcerted some of the electric wires in this city, notably the fire alarm connections which necessitated considerable ringing of the fire gong during the evening. The rain was a godsend, for it was getting quite drouthlike and bad for crops.

— The Golden Rod is surely the National Flower. Miss Jennie Skinner, who took such a lively interest in the contest of two years ago and worked so hard in behalf of the Golden Rod, will read these figures with pleasure: At the recent voting contest of public school children in New York, out of 144,562 the Golden Rod received 79,011 votes, a clear majority of 13,460.

— Dr. John A. Cutter, son of Ephraim Cutter, M. D., etc., of New York City, and Miss Sarah A. Wright of Worcester, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at Worcester on May 28 ult. The happy couple will be found "At Home" at the Ariston, Broadway and 55th St., N. Y, in September. Bride and groom will please accept the congratulations and best wishes of the JOURNAL.

— The roundhouse, turntable, a good deal of side-tracking, etc., of the B. & M. Railroad Co., Southern Division, here in Woburn, will go out of commission a week from next Tuesday when Wilmington will be made the point of arrival and departure for trains. Woburn people will thus get shut of a great deal of waiting for trains to back down into the old yards and save considerable annoyance.

— Mr. Charles Cummings is on the way from Canada to this city with the finest carload of Canada roadsters that ever struck this part of the country. They were selected by him especially for this market and he says in his advertisement that they are beauties. Cummings has met with great success in selling Canada horses here this spring, the secret of which is, he buys the best and sells the cheapest.

— Mr. F. C. Farley, Station Agent of the B. & M. Railroad Co. at Concord, Mass., sends word to Mr. G. W. Nichols, the watch-maker, etc., that his watch, which Nichols put in order June 1, 1890, has not varied over one-half a minute by true Cambridge time during the whole year. Which is a big "recommend" for "Nick." It is very seldom that a watch can be made to run so close to the mark as Mr. Farley's has the past 12-month. But that is Nichols's way of doing things.

— Miss Lucy Wheelock, Principal of the Kindergarten Department belonging to the Chauncy Hall School, Boston, will speak in the Ladies' Parlor of the Congregational Church, Woburn, Tuesday, June 9, at 3 P. M. Her address will be informal, and will relate to Kindergarten work. She will explain this system of instruction for chiidren and answer questions relating to it. Miss Wheelock is so well known as a writer and teacher for children it is hardly necessary to urge parents and those interested in little people to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear her.

— Mr. Fred B. Leeds too is quite a railroad and steamship ticket agent. Some of the finest summer seaside and mountain excursions that Woburn people have enjoyed in recent years have been the fruit of Mr. Leeds's enterprise and liberality. Just now he has tickets for almost everywhere, but our principal aim in penning this item is to acquaint "Down Easters" with the fact that Leeds sells them to all points in Nova Scotia and Prince Edwards Island reached either by Steamer "Halifax" via Halifax, or Steamer "Boston" via Yarmouth, for just the same prices that the Boston agents sell them, thereby saving to purchasers the fare to Boston. "Down Easters" who contemplate visiting the their old homes in the Provinces this summer should see Mr. Leeds about their tickets.

— Last Wednesday evening the mail brought us a copy of "The Illustrated Pacific States," a fine large paper published at San Francisco, which contained an illustrated article on the visit and reception in Monterey and San Louis Obispo counties of President Harrison, Mrs. Harrison, Sec'ys Wanamaker and Rusk, with good portraits of them done in the best style, and other pictures of interest. The paper came by favor of Mr. Oliver C. Bryant, son of Mr. Oliver F. Bryant of Salem street in this city, who is a resident of El Paso de Robles, California, and Secretary of the El P. de R. Land Co. of that place. In an illustrated discription of the town the paper gives Mr. Bryant credit for being one of the principal promoters of its interest, growth and prosperity. We feel greatly obliged to him for his favor to the JOURNAL, and are glad to learn that he enjoys complete health out on the Pacific Coast, and is prospering like a green bay tree.

— Mr. Charlie A. Jones of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank returned last Saturday evening from a trouting trip into northern Maine which was the most successful and satisfactory of any he ever made. He left this city on the Wednesday previous in company with no one but himself and headed for the Dead River region in upper Franklin county, Pine Tree State, which he reached in due time and without accident or startling adventure, and found waiting for him one of the best guides in that part of the country, whose services had been secured in advance. He spent two days with the rod and line in which time he had immense luck and caught all the "speckled beauties" he could carry. His attentions were confined to the denizens of Swift and Dead Rivers, although there are others equally prolific in fish, and was there handsomely rewarded for his trip. The streams he whipped were in sight of Mts. Abraham and Saddleback, on each of which and in the gullies Mr. Jones saw plenty of snow. He enjoyed the outing and fishing very much indeed.

— The good people of Stoneham acted as though they were quite beside themselves over a huge halibut which was on exhibition at Perry's famous fish market there. The other day a party of Stoneham gentlemen went fishing for cod and when a league or so off Swampscott they captured, after much work, with a common cod hook, a halibut which was 7 feet long and weighed 245 pounds. They brought it home and, although offered $30 for it, placed the minny on exhibition and it was the wonder of nearly all Stoneham who flocked in schools to Perry's to see it. When opened there were found inside of the monster a halibut weighing 10 pounds and two skates, which latter discovery led some to think the old fellow was just preparing to visit the skating rink when he was caught. When Bean, Perry's driver, told the story over here, and got as far as the two "skates," our Jenkins made up her mind in a jiffy that the halibut had lately swallowed the patron of a rink, or perhaps a member of a last winter's Lynn skating party, and the pair were all that was left of the poor body. It was well that Stoneham people found something to arouse them from their usual lethargy, if it was nothing more than a big fish.

— Mr. Thomas Mulkeen, for many years School Census taker of Woburn, as well as member of the Police force, Truant Officer, etc., has finished the enumeration of the school children in this city on May 1, 1891. His report shows that, although the leather business has been very dull here during the past year, and there have been not a few removals of workmen to other manufacturing points, our population according to the U. S. census of 1890 is still in tact and is found by Mr. Mulkeen to have increased somewhat during the 12-month next preceding May 1, 1891. This is shown by a slight swelling of the total number of scholars in the city, and was gratifying to Officer Mulkeen for he had looked for a falling off in the totals from last year from causes above mentioned. He found a considerable increase of persons within school age in Wards 1 and 2, but in every other part of the city the returns he got showed a decrease of population. Mr. Mulkeen's figures are as follows:

Pupils between 5 and 15	2885
Pupils between 15 and 16	275
Pupils under 5	1460
Total	4620
Total for 1890	4580
Increase	40

— There is no telling what old junk buyers will not be after next. They take about everything that backyards, vacant lots, and goat pastures have left for sale, but what on earth they can do with old tin cans, especially after the goats have got through living on them, is a conundrum which, with the mercury at 90-odd in the shade, we feel strongly disposed to "give it up." All the same, there was wonderingly gazed at by sundry people, last Tuesday, a cart loaded with at least two tons of tomato, sweet corn, salmon, corned beef, and other (from 1 to 3-quart) cans, every one of them entirely denuded of its original coating of tin and seemingly in the last stages of dilapidation and decay, which cart was slowly making its way up Pleasant street behind a horse that had every appearance of having lived on just such stuff as the cart contained for years. The cart was piled high with the cans; the music which they made as the vehicle rattled over the stones was anything but dulcet; as former depositories of more or less nourishing human fodder —as tin cans—whither were they bound, and what was going to be done with them after they got there? were questions which puzzled the brains of a large number of spectators, one, at least, of whom grows more and more perplexed as he turns the problem over and over in his mind.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Feve. Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

(Reported for the Woburn Journal.)

At the Telephone.

Rev. H. M—y and Alderman D—n loquitar.

M—y. "Hello Central."
Central. "Hello. What do you want?"
M—y. "Call up Alderman D—n."
D—n. "All right, who is it?"
M—y. "My name is M—y, do you remember me?"
D—n. "Well, I should think I did. What do you want of me now? Can't you give me any peace? Haven't I had roasting enough?"
M—y. "I wanted to know if you had heard the news."
D—n. "What news?"
M—y. "Why, that the Judge had decided the Mayor was right in refusing a license to your friends Rafferty and Martin."
D—n. "Oh! (with a groan) They are no friends of mine. They have given me trouble enough. My friendship for them has driven off all my other friends and made me a suspect throughout Woburn."
M—y. "Well, I am sorry for you. The way of the transgressor is hard. But they do say that you stuck to them like a brother through the trial."
D—n. "I admit I was in a pretty tight box. I wish I had been on the other side."
M—y. "It's never too late to mend. You know,

'While the lamp holds out to burn
The vilest sinner may return.'

Hope you will do better in the future."
D—n. "If I don't it wont be for any lack of punching on your part."
M—y. "Good bye."
D—n. "Good bye."
Rings.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

This Branch of the City Government held a meeting on the evening of May 28 ult. Business was dispatched with considerable celerity.——The new orders were introduced and promptly carried.——One by Mr. Cutler of Ward 6 was for the transfer of $2,000 from the Miscellaneous Department to be known as "The Special Sidewalk Fund" and to be expended under the direction of the Supt. of Streets.——The other to repeal the order whereby the sum of twenty-five cents per copy is charged for Ex-Mayor Johnson's Record of Deaths, so that such copies as now remain on hand may be furnished free to legal residents of this city upon application.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

Memorial Day and Exercises.

Last week the JOURNAL gave a full and complete official programme of what the ceremonies would be on Memorial Day, and now it is our pleasure to record that they were carried out almost to the letter by the two Posts of G. A. R. of this city. The variation was so slight, if any, that its occurrance went unnoticed.

The weather was all that the heart could wish for such an occasion. Quite a profuse rain fell on the day before, but the storm cleared away in season to give the Veterans a chance to do their marching and decorating of graves (if not in sunshine) without getting wet and in an atmosphere fairly cool and exceedingly comfortable. The streets were a little too muddy perhaps for the good of highly polished boots, but that was far preferable to clouds of dust and torrid meteorological conditions. Heat and dust are the bane of Memorial Day.

There are a great many American Flags in this city, including the schoolhouse flags, and a large share of them were early set afloat at half-mast on their respective staffs and there they waved through the day.

[NOTE: Why is it that the flags are half-masted on Decoration Day? It is very far from being a season of mourning. The brave "Boys in Blue" always rejoiced on seeing "Old Glory" at the peak. It wasn't pleasant for them, and it isn't for any body, to look up and find the old Flag floating at half mast and its sacred folds drooping in sorrow and mourning. Why not change that, and run the Stars and Stripes to mast-head on Memorial Day?]

Well, at a fairly early hour in the morning people from outside the Centre began to come in and take positions on the sidewalks and Common and the steps of churches and other public buildings to listen to the music of the band and get a good look at the Veterans as they issued from their Headquarters, traversed the streets in Company ranks, and finally went off to the cemeteries to pay respect to the memory of their departed comrades, to perform the ritual exercises, and strew flowers over their graves.

At 9 a. m. Posts 33 and 161, accompanied by the National Band, marched through the Charles street gate to the Soldier's lot in the Salem street cemetery where the usual services were held. The graves of the dead patriots were decorated with flowers, the only change in the programme being that instead of the plants being planted by the veterans themselves they were left upon the graves in baskets to be afterwards transplanted by gardeners. After this was finished at the Salem st. cemetery the procession repaired to Calvary cemetery, Montvale, where similar ceremonies were performed, after which it returned to the Common where the members were dismissed.

The Veterans presented a soldierly appearance as they marched through the streets keeping time to the beat of the drum, and their parade was viewed with interest by a great many hundred people.

At 3 p. m. the two Grand Army posts reformed and, under escort of Co. G. 5th Regiment, Woburn Mechanic Phalanx, and the High School Battalion, accompanied by National Band, marched over the route laid down in the programme, and after halting at the Soldiers' Monument to listen to a prayer by Rev. W. J. Murphy, of No. Woburn, entered Lyceum Hall were the memorial services were held as follows:

Reading of Orders. By S. F. Hathaway, Post 161.
Response of Commander.
Ceremony of Saluting the Dead.
Address of Welcome. Com. Graves, Post 161.
Music, Apollo Male Quartette.
Prayer, (G. A. R. Ritual).
J. H. Nason, Chaplain Post 161.
Music, Apollo Quartette.
Oration,
Rev. E. G. Preble, Webster, Mass.

The oration by Mr. Preble was a patriotic one, eloquent, fitted for the occasion, and listened to with profound attention. The orator belongs to a brave and patriotic family; his is an historic name; Commodore Preble was his ancestor; no wonder then his oration was eloquent. Slavery in anti-Rebellion days, the War, Reconstruction, National peace and prosperity, the Veterans and the Country's debt to them, etc., constituted the theme chiefly of the oration —just the theme for the day and occasion. At the conclusion of Mr. Preble's address and music by the Apollo Quartette, Rev. Mr. Murphy pronounced the benediction and the two Grand Army Posts marched to their respective halls where a collation was served to the Veterans and invited guests.

The guests of Post 33 were the National Band and the Phalanx who were royally entertained by the Vets. G. A. R. Hall 33 was beautifully decorated and the tables presented a splendid appearance. The dinner was all that the most exacting Epicure could reasonably ask for. Commander Parsons of Hudson said grace, and Commander Larkin of 33 gave the order to fall to and open the battle of knives and forks.

After dinner eloquent and patriotic speeches were made around the banqueting board by Lieut. Charles F. Spear of the Phalanx; Mrs. Sarah Woodside, President of the Womans Relief Corps; Chaplain Charles A. McDonald, Capt. Horace W. Cook, E. F. Parker, who was followed with a stirring address by Commander Oscar Persons of Hudson. The speaking closed with a neat speech by Charles S. Hennessy.

The exercises at the Headquarters of Post 161 were exceedingly interesting. Concert Hall and the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium were handsomely decked out and crowded with people at the tables, at the head of which presided Commander of the Post Dr. Frank W. Graves, flanked by a large number of invited guests including many members of the Press. The Hall company were cordially welcomed by Commander Graves in a pleasant speech after a blessing had been invoked by Rev. D. D. Winn, and then the Apollo Quartette of Boston furnished some very delightful music. The feast was excellent, abundant, and highly enjoyed.

The postprandial addresses were made by Capt. Edwin F. Wyer; Mayor Bean made a very happy and eloquent effort; Hon. J. C. Pollard, spoke in fine spirits and Rev. D. D. Winn, Principal Samuel W. Mendum of the W. H. S., Supt. Frank B. Richardson of the Woburn Public Schools, followed in stirring speeches.

Everything pertaining to the occasion passed off in the finest manner, and by 8 o'clock p. m. Memorial Day, 1891, had passed into history.

About Rumselling.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL: Rafferty & Martin are now selling liquor in this Ward under a fourth class license which does not allow drinking on the premises. Consequently it has become common for parties to buy their beer and other liquors at this place and go out into the fields and highways to drink it, thus creating a nuisance. Mayor Bean refused a first class liquor license to these parties thereby ensuring the thanks of the best citizens of this Ward.

The Superior Court has upheld his action.

He was obliged to sign the fourth class license, but protected the Ward as far as was in his power.

I desire to suggest to good citizens of this Ward, of Ward 6, and the rest of the city, that Alderman Dearborn is responsible for the infliction of the fourth class license and the consequent drunkenness and public exhibition of beer guzzling. Alderman Dearborn moved to reduce the price of 4th class licenses when taken alone from $1800 to $500. He did this after Mayor Bean had signed all the licenses then granted except Rafferty & Martin's and McGovern's. He therefore deliberately paved the way for these two parties to get for $500 the license which the Mayor could not control. If he had allowed the price to remain at $1800 Rafferty & Martin would not have paid that price, and this Ward would have been spared the curse and disgrace of the rumshop it now has. But Alderman Dearborn, (a friend of temperance forsooth!) did this favor for Lawrence Martin. Intelligent people ought to know these facts, and knowing them they will condemn such a course.—A CITIZEN OF WARD 5.

The Glorious Fourth.

For many years the firm of Masten & Wells, of Boston, have given special attention to the manufacture of reliable Fireworks. Towns and individuals should send for their catalogue, and see the economical manner in which they make up "Collections," by which purchasers can also save all express or freight charges. Every patriotic son of liberty wishes to honor the day, and no day's celebration is complete without winding up with Fireworks. For particulars, see advertisement in another column.

The Stars and Stripes in Richmond.

At this season of the year when the Veterans of the G. A. R assemble together to pay tributes of respect to the memory of those gallant men who were their companions in arms when the North were fighting on Southern battlefields to put down treason and save the life of the Union, but who went above—some from the scenes of sanguinary conflict; some from hospitals; and others from peaceful homes which their loyalty and courage had helped to save; in these Memorial days when the Union survivors of the Great Rebellion march in companies through our streets and visit the cemeteries and strew the graves of their dead Comrades with flowers; and then return to listen to well-merited encomiums from the eloquent lips of the Orators of the Day; then eat the Memorial dinners; and at evening tell War stories and sing War songs and smoke the Memorial pipe—at such a time and under such circumstances the publication of the following important bit of history will not, we think, go amiss: but on the contrary, it will be quite an appropriate accompaniment to the JOURNAL's account of the Memorial exercises which were conducted by Posts 33 and 161, G. A. R., in this city last Saturday.

The intrinsic value of the article is not the sole reason for reproducing it in these columns at this time; but because a strong personal interest attaches to the incident in the somewhat circumscribed circles in which knowledge of it exists we deem it proper to give the people of Woburn an opportunity to read it for themselves. Major Stevens, mentioned in the following account of planting the first flag over the Virginia State House at Richmond, was the father of Mrs. Clara Sanborn, wife of Dr. S. H Sanborn of this city; of Mrs. Pettengill, wife of Amos Pettengill, formerly connected with the Woburn Waterworks; of Mr. Will Stevens, Lieutenant Col. of the Mass. Regt. S. of V., and of other children living at Chelsea, this State, and Minneapolis in Minnesota. The "flag" which Col. Stevens raised over the Rebel Capitol after hauling down the Confederate colors when Lee had surrendered was his Regimental guidon, which was replaced by a handsome silk one which the loyal ladies of Richmond made and presented to the Colonel in appreciation of his bold and gallant act.

This silk guidon is now the property and in the possession of Mrs. Sanborn above mentioned, who also has the sword her father wore through the Rebellion and prizes it above money. Her brother Fred has the Rebel flag which his father removed from the flagstaff of the Confederate Capitol to make room for his Regimental guidons. This is a trophy of the Rebellion captured by a heroic act of one of the "Boys in Blue" that is and deserves to be sacredly guarded by the freinds of the officer whose bravery won it. It would be well if these relics of the great strife could find a permanent home in some public depository, like our own fair Library, for instance.

But we make haste to give the extract from the CENTURY article, which is as follows:

In the CENTURY for December, 1889, occurs the following in the Lincoln History:

"A small detachment of white Union cavalry galloped into the late Rebel Capital and proceeding directly to the State House, raised the National Flag over it." And in a foot note to this passage it is stated that: "The flag was raised by a young officer named Johnston Livingston de Peyster, who had carried it at his saddle-bow for a week with this purpose."

The facts are as follows: Major Atherton H. Stevens, Jr., of the 4th Massachusetts Volunteer Cavalry, raised the first National Flag over the State House in Richmond on the occasion referred to in the text. Major Stevens was the Provost Marshal of the Twenty fifth Corps (colored troops) commanded by General Weitzel.

Major Stevens was that morning in command of the most advanced party of the Union Army. It was to him the Mayor surrendered the city in the first instance. After receiving the surrender Major Stevens galloped into town at the head of the "small detachment," and ascending to the roof of the State House, hoisted two small National Flags; in fact, they were the guidons of the squadron of the 4th Massachusetts Cavalry which he commanded. It was several hours after that before Lieutenant de Peyster came on the ground in company with Weitzel's staff. This officer (Lieut. de Peyster), accompanied by myself, went to the roof to hoist the Flag brought by him. We found the guidons at the mast-head; these we lowered and replaced them with his Flag, which was, by the way, I believe, the same one that had been first hoisted at Mobile on the capture of that city.

There was no personal risk whatever in raising the second flag, but at the time when the "small detachment" galloped in the streets were filled with disorderly characters and the chances were thought to be many for a collision with them, or of a shot from an ambushed enemy. Therefore, whatever credit may be due to the officer who first raised the National Flag over Richmond should be given to him ungrudgingly. That officer was MAJOR ATHERTON H. STEVENS, JR., of the 4th Massachusetts Volunteer Cavalry.

LOOMIS L. LANGDON,
Colonel First U. S. Artillery, late Chief of Artillery Twenty-fifth Army Corps.
San Francisco.

Eleventh Term Concert.

It rained last Friday quite violently at intervals which, it was thought by some, would interfere with the success of the grand instrumental concert advertised to be given at Music Hall on the evening of that day under the auspices of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lewis who are at the head of the large and prosperous Lewis Music School in this city, but it did not.

Leastwise, it was reckoned that 400 people —"Woburn's 400"—all of them lovers and competent judges of good music, were present, which number fills the fine hall just about full enough for the comfort of performers and spectators, and we feel that the prevailing opinion as to the attractiveness and pleasantness of the place was in unison with the JOURNAL's on those points, that is to say, they could not very well have been surpassed. The rostrum was profusely bedecked with choice plants in pots, and looked very fresh, vernal and inviting. This was due entirely to the fine taste, good judgment, and liberal hand of Mr. William S. McGregor of the Dow greenhouses.

The ushers were Charles S. Lund, N. A. Webster, H. W. Deans, and H. P. Davis, and a more genteel quartet of young gentlemen the reporter thinks it would be difficult to produce. The box-office deity was a stalwart gentleman of color who looked extremely taking in a full evening dress suit (swallowtail included), and discharged the duties of his position very kindly and with marked suavity of deportment.

Five or six of the Lewis School pupils participated in the concert, namely, Grace B. Stetson, Grace Bonebrake, Charlotte W. Willard, Grace A. Soule, Mary E. Dunklee, by whom some 10 or 12 numbers, principally operas—all classical—were very artistically executed on the pianoforte. Principal Lewis accompanied his pupils in nearly everyone of the musical exercises of the evening with all his old time vigor, art and skill.

A highly appreciative audience pronounced this one the best of the series of delightful concerts given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and their pupils during the last two years or so in this city.

When the fact is taken into account that each of these rare entertainments costs considerable money to prepare and present to the public; that the tickets to them are free; and that the expense is borne entirely by Mr. Lewis; this community perhaps may be able to appreciate more fully the benfits which they are reaping from the establishment and carrying on of such an institution as the Lewis Music School in their midst, and how much credit and praise is due to the Manager thereof.

Woburn Drainage Commissioners.

Last Tuesday afternoon the State Senate passed a bill to create a Board of Sewerage Commissioners for this city and empowering the Mayor to appoint the members thereof within 30 days after the passage of the act.

The bill had previously passed the House and will become a law as soon as the Governor affixes his signature thereto.

All of which means that the Metropolitan Sewerage scheme is on deck and will soon be among us.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from accident while in their employ.

Also, general accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

North Woburn.

If the people who now live here are alive next election day there will be fun, and don't you forget it.

Mrs. Linscott, wife of the old school master, Mr. Andrew R. Linscott, has returned from a trip to and visit in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Tidd are the most extensive tourists in Woburn. Every year they take a journey somewhere, and knowing how to travel, they enjoy it. They have tramped all over the eastern part of the Union, through the Canadas and Provinces, and now the question is, where will they go this year?

ED. JOURNAL: The recent decision of Judge Morton is not only a notable triumph for Mayor Bean but for the cause of temperance. It will give renewed courage to all other temperance-loving Mayors who are disposed to defend law-abiding citizens against the inroads of the saloon.

It throws a calcium light, however, on the course of Alderman Dearborn without whose protecting care Ward 5 would now have been without a saloon. Messrs. Rafferty & Martin, by grace of the Alderman's motion, were encouraged to take out their present fourth class license which they would not have done had it remained as originally at $1800.

The zeal of the Alderman for his new allies was also a remarkable feature of the recent trial.—WARD 6.

SILVER WEDDING. A party of 25 or 30 ladies and gentlemen spent a delightful evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Call in this village on the 27th ult., the same being the 25th anniversary of their wedding day—a fact which their kind neighbors and many friends had taken particular pains to remember. Sylvester Call and Mary E. Walker were married 25 years ago, in which time both have satisfied themselves that "marriage is not a failure." During 10 of these 25 years Mr. Call has been a driver on the No. Woburn St. Railroad cars, in which capacity he has made himself very solid indeed with the public. The fact is he is one of the most popular men on the road, and "Johnny" Russell is the other. The party enjoyed their visit and attendance on the celebration very much, and so did Mr. and Mrs. Call. The evening was passed in all sorts of agreeable ways, not the least of which was in discussing the merits of a fine supper which would have afforded pleasure to a larger number of persons had a larger number been aware of the approaching event in season to have got ready for it, but no invitations were sent out, so the knowledge of what was going on was extremely limited. But it was a very pleasant affair indeed. Many beautiful, useful and appropriate presents were received by the bride and groom of 25 years ago, among which were a silver pitcher from a brother of Mr. Call in New Hampshire; Mary Call sent in 25 silver dollars; the Street Railroad men remembered their companion in the shape of a silver-lined shaving mug and brush; Charles E. Hunter, Station Agent at this place, presented the bride with a silver nut-dish; about $100 in silver coin was received, and there were other fine wedding gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Call duly appreciated the kindness and presents of their friends, and the party were equally happy in bestowing the same.

Mayor Bean Victorious.

Mayor Bean won his case before the S. J. Court last Tuesday, or more strictly speaking, he prevented Counselor Curran from winning his. The Mayor refused to sign a license for Rafferty & Martin of Montvale so Counselor Curran brought a suit in Equity for a Mandamas to compel His Honor to subscribe his name to the documents.

The decision was given by Judge Morton who held that the Mayor has the discretion to sign the license or not as he pleases under the statute. The other objection raised by the Mayor to the petition of the plaintiffs that a majority of the Board of Aldermen did not appear to have signed the license was a sound objection.

The Mayor refused to sign this license for the reason that it did not appear that the applicants had the necessary utensils and apparatus requisite in such cases.

The chief ground on which the argument in support of the demurrer was that the Mayor had discretionary powers in the matter of signing a license must be in the exercise of his judgment.

The Mayor's vindication and triumph were complete.

Burlington.

Last Friday night our people were anxiously watching the clouds and fearing a rainy Memorial Day. They were happily disappointed, however, and on Saturday morning large numbers assembled in the cemetery for the service of commemoration. Mr. C. H. Walker, our tasteful and enterprising florist, had been busy for several days arranging plants and flowers and many of the lots were adorned with them. The cemetery committee also had put the grounds in fine order. The programme printed in last week's JOURNAL was presented successfully. Comrade G. L. Tebbetts presided as officer of the day. The orator of the occasion, Rev. John Larry

A FINE LINE OF

Parasols

may be found at our Store. They are of the Best Quality, and at the lowest possible price.

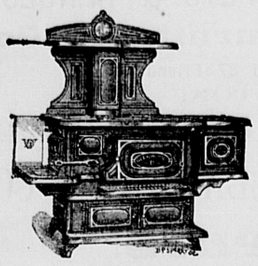
Also, a Superior Line of

Summer Corsets

FOR 50c. 75c. $1.00 A PAIR.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by James McGaffigan to Charles McEleney, dated May 4, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1907, Page 417, and assigned by said Charles McEleney to John G. Maguire by deed of assignment dated May 20th, A. D., 1891, for a breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Saturday, June 13th, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn; bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake in the northerly side line of a private way leading in an easterly direction from Main street to the Boston & Lowell Railroad and at land of Garvey; from thence the line runs northwesterly by said land of Garvey and by land of Nelson, one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet, to a stake at land of Edward W. Hudson; thence turning the line runs easterly on and by said land of Hudson forty (40) feet to a stake at land of John P. Crane; thence turning, the line runs southerly on and by said land of Crane parallel with the first line above described and forty (40) feet distant therefrom about one hundred and thirty-four (134) feet to a stake at said private way; thence turning the line runs westerly by and with said private way forty (40) feet to the point of beginning; containing about five thousand (5000) square feet; together with a right of way to and from Main street over the private way above described; being the same premises described in deed of John P. Crane to said McGaffigan, dated March 22, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1806, Page 370.

$100.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid by purchaser at time of sale, other terms will be announced at the sale.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Assignee
and present holder of said mortgage.
Woburn, Mass., May 21, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Peter Kenney, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William F. Keaney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the Estate under deed given by Oliver B. Coolidge to Ebenezer Lawrence, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, given in trust for the benefit of Abijah Thompson and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, the Trustee under said deed, has presented his petition for license to sell certain real estate therein specified, held by him as such trustee;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of George Skelton, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased, intestate;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to John W. Johnson of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

YOUR GARDEN

HOSE IS BURST!

A CHILD CAN MEND IT

With a box of the HUDSON HOSE MENDER. Send for directions How to Do It. It costs you nothing if you mention this paper.

C. E HUDSON, Leominster, Mass.

Are You Saving Our

Cash Slips.

Bring them in to be redeemed on or before July 1st.

If you haven't the full amount bring in what you have.

Our offer in regard to our Cash Slips ends with July 1st.

C. Willard Smith

Dry Goods and Carpets.

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

July 4 Fireworks

Our Unrivalled Collection or Assorted Cases of High Grade Fireworks meet the wants of all consumers unfamiliar with a judicious selection of such materials.

Their absolute and pre-eminent excellence is well known; no other goods surpass our make in variety, design, or colors; in size, weight and safety.

They are the acknowledged Standard everywhere.

These cases contain from a toy display for One Dollar to a TOWN or CITY'S EXHIBIT for $200.00 and upwards.

A direct order to us saves the purchaser over fifty per cent on retail rates, and all freight and express charges to destination. We make free deliveries to any point, and guarantee satisfaction to every patron who complies with the terms as advertised in our catalogue in reference to remittance for these assortments.

Send for Catalogue for full particulars.

Ask your dealer for The American Cannon Cracker. They create no fires and they make five times more noise than the Chinese goods. Address

Masten & Wells,

Fireworks Manufacturers,

18 Hawley St., Boston, Mass.

Canadian Horses

WAIT FOR THEM!

NEXT WEEK

I will offer for sale at my Stables on

CAMBRIDGE STREET, WOBURN,

— THE BEST —

Car Load of Driving Horses

Ever brought into Woburn. They are beauties. They are now on the way here.

Wait for the Horses!

CHARLES CUMMINGS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the Estate of Lucy A. Barnard, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Frederic Hinckley of Boston in the County of Suffolk, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Charles G. Lund, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Charles G. Lund and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, D. H. Sweetser and E. D. Hayden, the trustees under said will, have presented for allowance the third account of their trusteeship; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustees are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main steeet, Woburn.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE, A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated no Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

WINCHESTER.

The Womans Auxiliary, Y. M. C. A., will hold their quarterly meeting on June 9.

Winchester grows more and more to be a beautiful suburban residence town every year.

The West Side Syndicate are booming their handsome residence property for all it is worth.

Rev. Fr. O'Brien of St. Mary's (R. C.) church has commenced a bold warfare against rumselling in this town and proposes to put a stop to it if it is a possible thing to do so. Pity there were not many more like Fr. O'Brien in this town.

Memorial Day was duly observed here last Saturday. A. D. Weld Post 148, Commander Edwin Robinson, assembled at its hall at 3.30 o'clock P. M., and escorted by the Malden fife, drum and bugle corps, the town officers and soldiers and sailors, visited Wildwood and Woburn cemeteries, where the graves of 45 soldiers and sailors were decorated. Memorial services were held at the Town Hall and embraced addresses by Hon. J. J. Donovan, Rev. J. W. Suter, chaplain of the day, and Hon. Samuel J. Elder, who presented a gavel from Little Round Top, the wood bearing marks of bullets.

A new arrangement of the courses of study at the High school was made, by which diplomas are to be granted for two, three or four years of satisfactory work, in at least three courses each year, and a copy of the courses is to be printed and sent to the parents of pupils about to enter the school.

There will be seven graduated from the High School this year. About fifty pupils will enter the school in the fall making about one hundred and twenty-five as the probable number, about forty per cent. larger than the largest number ever attending at any time previous and nearly as many as in the High school of Medford, with population double that of Winchester.

The school census shows 924 children in town, on May 1, between the age of 5 and 15 years, an increase of 24 during the year. —Star.

On Friday, May 22, Mrs. Nancy S. Howe, died after a protracted illness, aged about 67 years. No woman in town commanded keeper or more general respect than Mrs. Howe. She left hosts of good friends to mourn her loss. It is reported that Mrs Howe bequeathed to the town the homestead lot on Main street, extending through to Washington and opposite to Dr. Brown. She stipulates, however, that the town will erect on the land either a town house or a library, and in case of non-acceptance on these conditions, the property will pass into the hands of the American Board of Foreign Missions. The lot comprises the house and over 80,000 feet of land and at an exceedingly low estimate is worth $20,000. It is also reported that the Congregational Society has been handsomely remembered. The will is to be read next Tuesday, when the accuracy of the above will doubtlessly be verified.

At the regular meeting of the School Committee, May 22, the following teaches were elected for the school year beginning next September:

High School—Principal, Edwin N. Lovering; 1st Assistant, Bertha G. Young; 2nd Assistant, Maria A. Parsons; 3rd Assistant, M. Bertha Noyes.

Wadleigh School—Principal, George A. Tyzzer; 1st Assistant, Nellie A. Hanson; 2nd Assistant, Marian Stone; 3rd Assistant, Elizabeth E. Marston.

Wyman School—Principal, Mary A. Emerson; Lower Grammar, Mary E. Patten; First Primary, Inez M. Dernier; Second Primary, to be filled.

Gifford—Principal, Mary S. Spurr; Lower Grammar, Hattie M. Sawyer; Lower Grammar, Eugenia D. Bearse; Primary, Minerva K. Johnson.

Chapin—Principal, Mary F. Riley; Lower Grammar, Mary A. Lyons; First Primary, Mary A. Sweeney; Second Primary, Mary A. Hovey.

Highland—Principal, Kate A. White; Primary, L. Edith Hammond.

Rumford—Principal, Margaret L. Mosley; Primary, Bessie H. Brown;

Washington—Elizabeth C. Richardson.

Mystic—to be filled.

In the death, on Monday, May 25, of Mrs. Nancy Wyman Cutter, relict of the late Henry Cutter of this place, Winchester lost one of its oldest and most highly respected people. The deceased was born in Woburn 86 years ago, and on her second marriage in 1827 to a brother of her first husband, who lived only a few months after his wedding, she moved to that part of the town (and since 1850) Winchester, where she has resided in peace, plenty and the esteem of her fellow towns-people ever since. Her funeral was largely attended by old friends and neighbors, among whom was Mr. Stephen Cutter, her brother-in-law, who at 94 years of age retains the old times gentlemanly manners of more than a half century ago, and other aged people. The religious services and music were very impressive. Mrs. S. Holt, a most estimable lady of this town, was one of the two daughters of the deceased.

Obituary.

Dr. A. C. Faden, a prominent physician of this town [Sutton, Mass.], died suddenly Tuesday forenoon at his home, age 35 years. Dr. Faden had practiced medicine here for some 13 years, and was well known in this and adjoining towns, particularly in Millbury. Monday he was in Millbury, in his usual health to all appearances, calling upon Thompson, the apothecary, and ordering goods. He left for home in the afternoon, and was soon after taken ill, but nothing of a serious nature was anticipated. Tuesday morning he was taken worse. Dr. Webber of Millbury was summoned, but Dr. Faden died before his arrival. The cause of his sudden death was heart failure. —Sutton Corr. of Worcester Gazette.

The deceased was a son of Mr. A. M. Faden of this city, and a brother-in-law of Mr. F. B. Dodge, the jeweler.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Liebig demonstrated that the best substitute for normal human milk was not the milk of any animal, but the combination of animal milk with the elements of those grains which are used in repairing waste, building tissues, and generating heat. Mellin's Food, prepared with milk according to the directions, forms just the mixture advised by Liebig.

Science In Shoes

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR.

America's Latest

THE

"PERFECTION"

ADJUSTABLE.

Pat. July 15, 1890.

Unlike Other Adjustable Shoes as only Leather is seen.

Instantly Comfortable.

A Narrower Size Worn GLOVE FITTING! NEVER SPREADS! Stronger where Others are Weak

No More Tender Feet.

LADIES! This SHOE appeals to your reason; to your sense of sight, and to your good judgment. You should examine them before buying other kinds. They are

"PERFECTION" the World's Best,

UNRIVALLED FOR

STYLE, COMFORT AND DURABILITY.

Popular in Price. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CONSOLIDATED SHOE CO., Mfrs., Lynn, Mass.

For sale in Woburn by

MOSES BANCROFT.

BICYCLE FOR SALE.

52 inch EXPERT "COLUMBIA" in A, 1 order, at a sacrifice.

Apply to
COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor. Park St.,
Woburn, Mass.

A LOST DOG.

From this city, on Saturday, May 30, an ENGLISH SETTER, brown and white, for the return of which, or information concerning him, a suitable REWARD will be paid. Information to be left at the JOURNAL Office.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

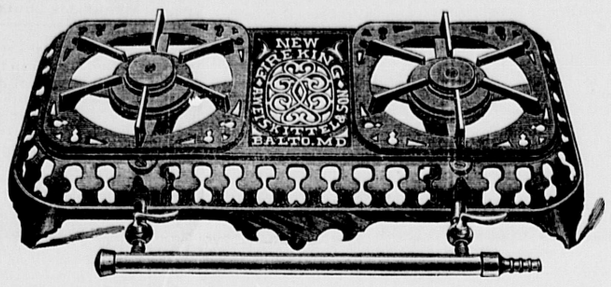
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING



— AND — HEATING.

WOBURN, May 1, 1891,

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.

Wm. A. Mullett,

House, Sign & Fresco Painter.

Paper Hanging and Decorating

Done in the best and most workmanlike manner, at the lowest living price, and at short notice.

I have just opened a new Store on Walnut Street with a good selection of Wall Papers and Borders, also Window Shades, Mouldings, &c., and would solicit a share of your patronage, and guarantee to give satisfaction.

All goods sold at Boston Prices.

Store, No. 6 Walnut St., House 22 Church St.,

WOBURN, MASS.

Boys' and Children's Department.

1000 Suits, New Spring Styles, Fancy Cassimeres and Scotch Mixed Goods, only $3.50 and $5.00 a suit.

Great Bargains in Short Pants Suits at $1.50, $2.00 and $2 50.

200 pairs Boys' Blue Flannel Pants, only 50 cents.

1000 pairs Boys' Cassimere Short Pants, only 50 and 75 cents, were 75 cents and $1.00.

Boys' and Children's Spring Suits, at only $3.00 and $4.00.

250 Boys' Long Pants Suits, only $8.00 and $10.00, worth double the money.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, short pants, only $5.00.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, long pants, only $10.00.

"Commonwealth"

CLOTHING HOUSE,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts., Boston.

Executors' Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Tuesday, the sixteenth day of June, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,820 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Prinice S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hardy J. Farr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Farr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 30' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

At half past two of the o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, will be sold on said Homestead above described, a certain other lot of land situated in said Woburn, known as the "Brooks Tay lot," near to and easterly of said North Woburn, containing about two acres, with the water privilege thereto pertaining, and bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by Middle street; northerly and easterly by land now or formerly of heirs of Elijah Richardson; and southerly by land now or formerly of Col. Stone. Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

Other terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.

Woburn, May 29, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law and others interested in the estate of Annie J. Lafferty, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Salmon, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased, for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

OVER A MILE OF CORD

Is used every week in tying up the bundles of the

BOSTON HERALD

That go by train to every part of New England.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the estate of Michael Connell, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Thomas Connell, Executor of the will of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for a license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FOR SALE.

House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

CLUB WINDOWS

Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,

BOSTON.

THE PHILADELPHIA & READING COAL AND IRON COMPANY,

Miners and Shippers of

Hard White Ash, Free Burning White Ash, Schuylkill Red Ash, Shamokin and Lorberry

COALS,

Also of the celebrated BROOKSIDE COAL of Lykens Valley.

DEEP RED ASH, VERY FREE BURNING.

Unexcelled by any coal for use in open grates or cooking stoves.

All retail dealers in New England can furnish these choice coals.

Office of Eastern Department, 70 Kilby St., BOSTON.

Distributing depots at Boston, Salem, Newburyport and New Bedford.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Special Bargains at

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

As we leave Woburn for the Summer by the middle of June, we will give our Customers some extra values in the following goods:

Black India Twill, 40 in. wide 50c., worth 75c.
Black India Twill, 44 in. wide 75c., worth $1.00
Black Henrietta, 40 in. wide 85c., worth 75c.
Black Henrietta 46 in. wide 90c., worth $1.20.
Fancy Brilliantine 25c., worth 50c.
Table Damask, Bed Spreads, Napkins and Doylies at less than wholesale prices.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING,

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

TO LET

MAY 1, 1891.

Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

WORKING MEN OF WOBURN.

If you pay for good stout Overalls you are unwise for I ask only — 50 cents / 39 cents.

Or if you pay for Working Shirts I will sell you the same quality for — 50 cents, / 39 cents.

And so of Outing Shirts. If you pay 29 or 25c. I will sell you the same for 23c. If you pay 50c. I will sell the same for 39c.

And so of Jumpers and all Underwear.

In fact any goods that laboring men buy in my line will be sold from 25% to 33% under the regular price.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Blue Store.

Blue Store.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Summer Goods Just Receive

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

PRICE OF Butter Reduced!

As the supply of new Butter is increasing we are enabled to quote lower prices than at any time since last fall.

We have a full assortment of all grades.

Our best Butter is very fine and warranted to please every time.

We have also reduced the price of Flour 25 cents per bbl.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

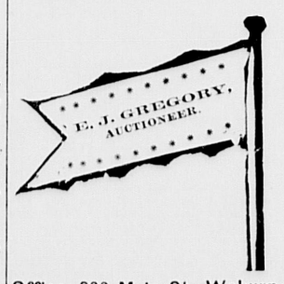
FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.



Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

BOSTON OFFICE: Globe Building, Room 6.

Auction Sale

— OF —

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE.

Will be sold on the premises, No. 751 Main St., North Woburn, Wednesday, June 10, 1891, at 2.30 P. M., consisting of a Piano, 1 Black Walnut Chamber Set, also, 1 Fancy Painted Set, Parlor Furniture, Fancy Mirror, Lace Curtains, Oil Paintings, Engravings, Chromos, 1 eight feet Walnut Extension Table, round, nearly new, 40 and 23 yards of Brussels Carpet, almost new, Lamps, Chairs, Baby Crib, Clock, Crockery, Glass and Tin ware, also, four Guinea Hens, and large Hen House and Shed, &c., &c.

Terms cash. Sale positive.

Per order,
MRS. CHAS. CARDINAL.

P. S. No. 751 Main St., is opposite the new Park.

Personal attention given to sales of Real Estate and Household furniture in City, County and State.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, fixtiglass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

BLUE STORE.

C. E. SMITH.

HEZEKIAH A GOOD KING.

LESSON X, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 7.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxix, 1-11. Commit Verses, 10, 11—Golden Text, I Sam. ii, 30—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Hezekiah began to reign when he was five-and-twenty years old, and he reigned nine-and-twenty years in Jerusalem."

Having in the last lesson stepped back about 100 years to consider the revival in the days of Joash, we now return to about the time of the lesson of two weeks ago, for it was in the beginning of the reign of Hezekiah that the ten tribes were carried into captivity (II Kings, xviii, 10). He was the last but one of the good kings of Judah. His father Ahaz was a wicked king, and his son Manasseh was the worst of all (xxviii, 19, 22; xxxiii, 9,10).

"And his mother's name was Abijah, the daughter of Zechariah."

2. "And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David, his father, had done."

3. "He, in the first year of his reign, in the first month, opened the doors of the house of the Lord, and repaired them."

What a grand beginning he makes, and how promptly! He does not allow a month to pass after he becomes king without attending to the house of the Lord. Ahaz, his father, had destroyed the vessels, shut up the doors, and made altars in every corner of Jerusalem (xxviii, 24). Hezekiah now seeks to undo his father's sin, and he loses no time about it.

4. "And he brought in the priests and the Levites, and gathered them together into the east street."

There was a time when the head of each family acted as the priest of the household, offering sacrifice unto the Lord (Job i, 5; Gen. viii, 20; xii, 7, 8). But since the building of the tabernacle at Sinai the house of Aaron and the tribe of Levi were set apart to stand between the people and God and to offer sacrifice.

5. "And said unto them, Hear me, ye Levites; sanctify now yourselves, and sanctify the house of the Lord God of your fathers, and carry forth the filthiness out of the holy place."

It took them sixteen days to cleanse the temple on this occasion (vs. 15–17), but it takes much longer than that to cleanse some believers from the filthiness of flesh and spirit which clings so closely.

6. "For our fathers have trespassed, and done evil in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have forsaken him, and have turned away their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and turned their backs."

So, also, said Jeremiah a little later in their history (Jer. ii, 13, 17), and so said Moses ere the nation was yet forty years old (Deut. ix, 8, 24). Their history might be called a continued forsaking of the Lord who redeemed them.

7. "Also they have shut up the doors of the porch, and put out the lamps, and have not burned incense, nor offered burnt offerings in the holy place, unto the God of Israel."

8. "Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and he hath delivered them to trouble, to astonishment, and to hissing, as ye see with your eyes."

In Lev. xxvi and Deut. xxviii it was clearly foretold that the wrath of the Lord would thus come upon them if they were disobedient, and Moses added, "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life that both thou and thy seed may live (Deut. xxx, 19). As God by His servant foretold so it came to pass.

9. "For, lo, our fathers have fallen by the sword; and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity for this."

One hundred and twenty thousand fell in one day, and 200,000 women, sons and daughters were carried captive because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers (chap. xxviii, 6, 8). This also had been plainly foretold (Deut. xxviii, 25, 32), and so it came to pass. Think for a moment at the more than 100,000 who in heathendom are dying every day, without a knowledge of God, besides all in Christendom who have heard, but do not believe.

10. "Now it is in mine heart to make a covenant with the Lord God of Israel that his fierce wrath may turn away from us."

So did Asa, and at a later period Nehemiah (chap. xv, 12; Neh. x, 29), and each obtained blessing from the Lord. See the encouragement to act thus in II Chron. vii, 14. David found comfort in the unchangeableness and fullness of God's covenant with him, and God's faithfulness should ever be our resting place (II Sam. xxiii, 5; Ps. lxxxix, 1, 2; I Cor. i, 9; x, 13). Yet let us do as Hezekiah did, and enter into a covenant with the Lord to present our bodies a living sacrifice, with all we are and have, that, like the lad's loaves in the hands of Jesus, we may be blessed, broken, multiplied and made to feed hungry souls with the bread of life, that so the Gospel may be preached in all the world for a witness, the body of Christ hastened to completion and the kingdom come. Let us covenant to be wholly His for His service.

11. "My sons, be not now negligent."

Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord negligently (Jer. xlviii, 10, margin). Whatever we do in His service should be done most thoroughly as unto Him, and if we live as in His sight how can we be negligent or deceitful?

"For the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him."

Not before men, to please them or rely on them, but before God, in humble and whole hearted reliance upon Him. He said to Abram: "I am God Almighty. Walk thou before me and be thou perfect" (upright or sincere). Gen. xvii, 1, and margin, Elijah in great fearlessness said to Ahab, "The Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand." And Gabriel said to Zacharias, "I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God" (I Kings xvii, 1; Luke i, 19). Thus consciously to stand before God is the great secret of strength for fearless service.

"To serve him, and that ye should minister unto him."

While serving people and ministering unto them, in a sense, yet we are as priests of God ministering unto Him, for whatever is done unto the least of His, He counts as done to Himself (Matt. xxv, 40). But our motive must always be to please Him, and not those little ones to whom we minister, except in so far as pleasing them, we please Him first. If, on the other hand, we live to please people, we cannot be servants of Christ (Gal. i, 10; Rom. xv, 3; John viii, 29).

"And burn incense."

Incense being, as we said in verse 7, a symbol of prayer, we are here reminded of such words as these, "Pray without ceasing;" "praying always with all prayer and supplication in the spirit, and watching thereunto;" "in everything, by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God" (I Thess. v, 17; Eph. vi, 18; Phil. iv, 6).

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

When the other man begins to quote statistics you may assume that you have won the argument.

Fogg says that, after all, your true hue-ers of wood and drawers of water are your landscape artists.

A NOVEL WAY OF ADVERTISING.

Popular Attention Gained by a Firm Through a Clever Ruse.

A very clever bit of advertising was practiced by a merchant from Illinois. "I published," said he, "an item concerning the anticipated visit of an English gentleman who had long been a resident of Siam, and who expected to bring his wife, a Siamese lady of exalted birth, along with him.

"Everybody in the place was interested. The items appeared from time to time concerning the customs and peculiarities of the people, and in the Sunday edition an account of the opposition which the Englishman was obliged to overcome before he finally came off triumphant. His narrow escape from assassination, secret flight—all was worked out in a most interesting and careful manner, until there was not a woman in town who was not fairly wild to meet the hero and heroine. The expected couple arrived on the day after that on which they were due, and, getting into a coach at the depot, they were driven at once to the —— hotel, which is near the store.

"It did not take long for the reporters to learn that the veiled lady was the one whom they wished to interview. It was impossible to see her, they soon found out, but her husband was a very agreeable fellow, it appeared, and he entertained the newspaper men in great shape, and gave them lots of matter which was sure to be 'cut.'

"The next day the gentleman with his wife, closely veiled, wandered past the stores in the street, looking into this window and into that, until they came to my place, where, after a short inspection of the windows, they entered and made several purchases, a crowd of curious folk following. The lady remained all this time closely veiled, so that no one could see the remarkable and peculiar beauty of which the paper had spoken.

"After leaving my store they went back to the hotel. This game was kept up for nearly a week, a few purchases being made in some of my rivals' stores, but I was without doubt the favorite. It gave me a great boom, and I would have liked to continue it a little longer, but the bride made a great kick and said that she had enough of the veiled beauty business. So they went away to St. Louis, it was supposed, but they were back to my house in two days, he minus his beard, for the weather was getting hot, and she minus the heavy veil.

"He was my brother, and she was his wife, and it was a little plan of his to boom trade for me and have a lark himself. He was going to spend a portion of his vacation with me, and he thought that business might be combined with pleasure. A little coaxing made his wife an accomplice, and no one in my place was any the wiser.

"If you want any new advertising dodges go up to see him when he is not on the road."—Dry Goods Retailer and Jobber.

Florida's Labyrinthian Waterways.

"Where have you been?" said a guest at one of the hotels as a friend walked up the steps, well laden with souvenirs from south Florida.

"Oh!" was the reply, "I've been down to Charlotte harbor and up that river with the unmentionable name."

"Caloosahatchee?"

"Yes, that's it. I spent six days trying to pronounce it and haven't succeeded yet. These indian names are beautiful names, but they are deucedly hard to pronounce. By the way, where have you been?"

"Well, I went over to the Suwanee river, cut over the country, and shot 'gators on the Withlacoochee, fished for bass in Tsala Apopka, sailed on Thonotosassa, skipped over to Okonlockhatchee, walked by the shores of the Weohyakapka, plucked flowers by Hickpochee's limpid waters, visited the sugar fields on Tohopekaliga, sailed on the tortuous Kissimmee, was buffeted by the waves of Okeechobee, and have also captured tarpon on the Caloosahatchee. I expect to visit Istokpogayoxie, Lockapepka, Hatcheneecha and Ecautockhatchee before I leave the state."

"Gosh!" ejaculated his companion, as he stepped into the hotel.—Florida Times-Union.

A Hotel with Many Locks.

The new Hotel Metropole at Brighton has been provided, according to Sir George Chubb's address to the visitors at the Wolverhampton works, with between 800 and 900 locks. Each is said to be different, but a single "master key," as it is called, opens the whole number. There are also, it appears, several sets of sub-master keys. Thus the manager or proprietor of a hotel can have access to every room in the building, but each tenant can only get into his own room, while the officials can each have "master keys" to the particular sets of rooms of which they have charge. The rather stringent views which our judges have taken of hotel keepers' liabilities makes the question of hotel locks more than ever important from the hotel keeper or manager's point of view.—London Tit-Bits.

All on Account of a Tart.

"Was such a thing ever heard of," exclaims the indignant Bedreddin Hassan in the oriental story, "as that a man should be impaled for not putting red pepper into a cream tart? The law gives you no right to pronounce such a sentence upon me for such an offense." "Possibly," replies the imperturbable cadi; "nevertheless you will observe that I have pronounced this sentence upon you for this offense."—Fortnightly Review.

Fifty Spasms a Day.

Had Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., lived two thousand years ago she would have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits. She was subject to nervous prostration, headaches, dizziness, backache, palpitation and forty to fifty spasms a day. Though having been treated by eight physicians for years without success, she was permanently cured by one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. A trial bottle of this new and wonderful medicine and a finely illustrated treatise free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

A calico printing machine has been invented in this country, the novelty of which is that the cloth may be printed on one side in eight colors, or on both sides with four colors each.

The Father

Of all diseases is impure blood, when loaded with foul humor. How important then that the blood should be pure, rich, and strong, without which there can be no health. To purify the blood Sulphur Bitters is incomparably the best medicine that it is possible to obtain.—The Editor.

EARLY ENGLISH DOCTORS.

They Had to Attend Three Dissections at Which a Body Was Opened.

The earliest record of a school of physics at Cambridge university is in 1421, but the first definite provision for anatomical teaching was made by John Caius somewhat later in the same century. He was followed by W. Hardy in the Sixteenth and by a brilliant galaxy of anatomists in the Seventeenth century, of whom one instructed Newton and another tried his hand at writing plays.

From the time of Caius we were intimately connected with the corporation of surgeons in London, who sent us a scholar receiving £40 a year for his maintenance and £3 a year to provide himself with books. In order to qualify as a practitioner in those days it was necessary to have attended three dissections, at which a body was opened and "the physicians present discoursed at random concerning the interior."

The first separate professorship of anatomy was founded at Cambridge in the year 1707, but the immediate effect of the endowment appears to have been a cessation of all interest in the subject. It was the time of the Resurrectionists, however, and we read of the watchmen being allowed to search in Emmanuel for a missing body. This was illegal, be it remarked, and really an act of coercion, as may be seen from the following tale. A giant once died in Dublin, thereby exciting the desires of an anatomical professor and his students, to whom he said:

"Gentlemen, I understand that your feelings are excited toward the seizure of this body, against which I must certainly counsel you. But in case your zeal should overcome your discretion, I will tell you the exact case of the law, which is that you may take the body, but that for the removal of the least rag or shred of covering therein you may be hanged. Therefore, if you should remove the body, be careful that it is utterly unclothed." Needless to say that professor was given the opportunity of experimenting upon that giant.

A more melancholy anecdote is associated with the memory of our Professor Collignon, who once invited two friends to the dissection of a body, in which one of them recognized the features of an acquaintance. It was the body of Lawrence Sterne, "whose final return to his university formed a tragic ending to the sentimental journey of his life."

Professor Haviland made the first collection of anatomical specimens, while the first museum was founded by his successor, Professor Clark, who raised it to be the first in the world. We have entered upon a goodly heritage, and in the stimulating presence of Sir George Paget and Sir George Humphrey may we not learn to penetrate yet farther into those regions of knowledge where the unknown still far exceeds the known?—Knowledge.

A Four Footed Bird.

There is a four footed bird, the Opisthocomus cristatus, which has such anomalies of structure that it is impossible to class it along with any other family. It is one of those survivors which tell us of extinct groups of whose past existence we would otherwise have remained forever ignorant. These, the only species of four footed birds, inhabit the island of Marajo in the Lower Amazons. It is only during infancy that this remarkable feature of these birds is seen, the two fore feet appearing early in the development of the embryo, and continuing perfectly formed for several days after hatching, when they are gradually shed. It is also known as the hoactzin, or evil-smelling bird, the flesh having an unpleasant odor, making it unpalatable to both man and carnivorous animals, which is probably one cause of its survival.—London Tit-Bits.

Something About Swords.

Major Pettibone, of Cincinnati, says that, notwithstanding the profound peace which this country enjoys, that city alone turns out on an average 10,000 regular army swords every year. All swords made in this country are dull except at the point, barbarous nations only making sharp edged swords. The idea of refined and beautiful warfare is to kill without mutilation, and a blow from a sharp sword might make a horrible wound without causing death. The finest swords turned out in Cincinnati were a complete outfit for the late King Kalakaua and his retinue. Swords range in price from $8 to $500.—Charleston News.

What She Wanted.

Some weeks ago at one of our libraries a young woman walked up to the desk and said, "Give me a good shaking." The young man who was in attendance blushed to the roots of his hair, and after a moment's hesitation pulled himself together sufficiently to stammer, "Er—er—who—who is it by?" "George Macdonald, I think," came the answer. Then he hustled around for a time, and at last found out that what she wanted was a book called "A Rough Shaking." The young man's nerves were unstrung for the rest of the day.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

She Had Arrived.

The wife of a Boston broker sailed for Peru to visit her sister, and when she arrived there she sent him a cablegram which cost him $700 to announce the fact. The most of the message, however, told how her dog fell overboard and could not be saved.—Detroit Free Press.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

Tramp—"Will this dog bite a poor old tramp?" Hired Girl—"Just as quick as a fat young one. Git!"

Catarrh of the Bladder.

I had been troubled since 1869 with Gravel and Catarrh of the Bladder. Tried several doctors, but got no relief. Finally, at the advice of E. D. W. Parsons, I was prevailed upon to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The result was marvelous. After using a few bottles, was entirely cured. S. N. Arnold, No. 663 Plymouth avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

RELICS OF CLAY.

Also of Washington, Boone, Benton and the Duchess of Devonshire.

Early in February, 1891, an art and loan exhibition was opened to the public in Lexington, Ky., for the benefit of the Protestant hospital of that city. The exhibition was one of the most remarkable of its kind ever given in Lexington. Among other articles in the Henry Clay cabinet were a scroll of ebony, ivory and silver containing resolutions on the death of Mr. Clay, a solid gold snuffbox, razors, coral rose set with diamonds, jeweled knee buckles, stone cameo pin cut from one of Canova's heads, a bronze idol, solid bronze candlesticks presented by France to Henry Clay when secretary of state.

There was an urn from the tomb of Baira, autographic letters from Daniel Boone and Washington, a bell made from the old Independence bell at Philadelphia, the seal presented to Henry Clay in 1813 when he was in London, and used by him until his death; the attested will of George Hudson, Clay's maternal grandfather; the medal presented by Louisville friends to Young Harry Clay just before he went on the Howgate expedition in 1840, and a miniature of him when an infant, painted at Naples in 1851.

In another cabinet was a silver mug which once belonged to Lord Morton, solid silver candlesticks found nailed to the altar of an ancient monastery, and a nautilus vase, whose original is in the green vaults at Dresden. In a cabinet at the rear were a Spanish dollar of 1780, an amber necklace nearly 100 years old, a solid silver seal of the Confederate States, a miniature of the Duchess of Devonshire (Gainsborough) set with jewels, a memorial bracelet clasp containing some of Patrick Henry's hair, two bracelets made of Turkish sequins, a bracelet of carnelian with Turkish mottoes, stone from the Pantheon, with a cameo of Raphael upon ivory.

It also contained a portrait of Colonel Thomas H. Benton, a cameo of the Prince Consort, a Waterloo coin and a cross of the Legion of Honor made in the reign of Henry IV, King of France and Navarre, and bestowed on M. Mentelle by Louis XV.

There was also a collection of funeral tickets, several thousand in number, dating back to 1812, loaned by J. M. Duff. This collection was made by Cyrus Jones, a colored man.—Jewelers' Weekly.

She Knew a Good Deal.

Two young girls, art students, were talking about some sister students the other day. Now, as a general thing, the art student makes little enough aspiration to fashionable life or a knowledge of society's doings. Her profession is enough for her, and it makes little difference to her whether the wind of fancy sweeps those persons whose profession is fashion. But there is one young girl, it seems, up among the students at the Art league whose relatives in the city are of the ultra fashionable set, and who goes about more or less with the fashionable world. It was of her that the students were speaking especially. "Is she really so well up in things?" asked the first one.

"Up in things!" echoed the second. "Well, I should say so. Why, the other day we were in a silver shop and she knew what all the different spoons were for!"—New York Evening Sun.

To Solder Porcelain and Metals.

M. Cailletet has devised a simple method for connecting glass tubes to metal work in the construction of physical apparatus which may be of service to our readers. The end of the glass tube is gently warmed, and then covered with a few drops of a solution of neutral platinum chloride and camomile oil. On gently warming the tube to a dull redness the platinum salt is reduced to the metallic state, and a brilliant deposit of the metal is formed on the end of the tube. The tube is then connected to the negative electrode of a battery and immersed in a bath of copper sulphate, when the copper is deposited as a malleable adherent coating on the platinum flux, and thus forms a material which can be brazed on to brass or copper in the ordinary way.—Industries.

The Giant of the Mesozoic Epoch.

The biggest of all animals known to the world from the beginning thereof to the present day was the "camarasaurus." It went on all fours, and the vertebræ composing its backbone were hollow—mere shells in fact—filled with warm air from the lungs, just as is the case with the bones of some birds today. Undoubtedly it lived in the sea, walking along in water deep enough to cover its back. It fed upon the vegetation along shore, and its neck was long and cranelike.—Interview in Washington Star.

Mrs. Langtry's Pincushion.

One of the most marvelous pincushions belongs to Mrs. Langtry. It is a silver framing that in years gone by, when Ireland claimed kings, held the wooden bowl in which the steaming hot potatoes were brought on the table to delight royalty. It was found tarnished and dark in an old shop in Dublin, bought for a small sum, cleaned up, and now the center is filled with a fat, blue velvet cushion, in which are stuck pins little and big, black and white, and of all sizes and sharpnesses.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Ne Plus Ultra.

She—He has an acute case of Anglomania, hasn't he?

He—Yes. He's even got to dropping his H's when he writes.—Epoch.

"A stitch in time saves nine," and if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla now it may save months of future possible sickness.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop'rs, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

One Idea of Dinner.

A Buffalo woman tells this little incident illustrating the peculiar conservatism of the British provincial matron: "My brother married a young Canadian girl, the daughter of a colonial family with whom the old English formality has the sacredness of Holy Writ. They had been boarding at a hotel for several months, but had taken a house not far from my home. I saw Caroline a day or two before they took possession, and with friendly intent said to her, 'Dine with us, Carrie, you and Jack, the day you move. It will save you trouble.' She thanked me and said they would.

"So on that Thursday I had two extra covers laid, and expected these moving relatives of mine for a hasty snatch between van loads. As I knew they were aware that we dined near midday, when I o'clock and my husband came we only delayed the meal for five or ten minutes. Then, no one appearing, we sat down. I supposed my sister-in-law was too busy to come even so far as my house, and thought no more of her coming.

"We were eating our simple dessert, for it was quite my ordinary home dinner, when the bell rang and 'Mr. and Mrs. ——' find my sister-in-law and brother, both in conventional dinner dress, she with gloves and a pretty apology on her lips for tardiness, because, forsooth, she had to go back to the hotel to dress, as her 'personal luggage' was still there. My brother had been dragged from his business, and here they both were.

"I did the best I could, but Caroline of course saw that there was not much ceremony about the engagement she had put herself to such pains to suitably meet. To her a dinner invitation is a solemn matter in all circumstances."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

The Fetish Man Abroad.

When abroad the fetish man is always a conspicuous figure in a village. He wears a tall hat of animal skin, around his neck hang suspended by strings a few small specimens of his wares, and slung around his shoulders are little parcels of charms, into which are stuck birds' feathers. Metal rings, to which mysterious little packages are attached, clash and clang as he walks, serving, together with a liberal supply of iron bells fastened to his person, to announce the Nganga's presence; and as if his body did not offer a sufficient surface to display all his magical outfit he carries, slung over his left shoulder in a woven pocket, a load of wonder working material.

A peep into a fetish man's sack discloses a curious assortment of preventives—eagles' claws and feathers, fishbones, antelope horns, leopard teeth, tails and heads of snakes, flint stones, hairs of the elephant's tail, perforated stones, different colored chalks, eccentric shaped roots, various herbs, etc. There are sufficient reasons for his carrying these with him; if he left them in his village some one might steal them, and, again, provided as he is, he can administer at a moment's notice to suffering humanity some devil proof mixture.—E. J. Glave in Century.

After Dinner Speakers.

Impromptu speeches generally are prepared beforehand, however, although some men are so clever at concealing the fact that nobody "catches on." When a speaker begins this way:

"When I accepted the invitation to attend this dinner tonight it was with the distinct understanding that I should not be called upon to make a speech, and I was thoroughly surprised and very much embarrassed at being told two minutes ago that I was expected to make a few remarks"——

When a man begins that way look out! He has been preparing his speech for a week and he isn't going to spare anybody. As he progresses and gets warmed up to his work, and as the minutes slip by, it is pleasant to look around the table and observe several individuals who do not participate enthusiastically in the applause. They laugh at the jokes absentmindedly. They have a preoccupied, troubled look. These are the other gentlemen who expect to be called on themselves, but are afraid that the man who is speaking will never leave off.—Washington Star.

Know Your Own Capacity.

If the people about you are carrying on their business or their benevolence at a pace which draws the life out of you resolutely take a slower pace; be called a laggard, make less money, accomplish less work than they, but be what you are meant to be and can be. You have your natural limit of power as much as an engine—ten horse power or twenty, or a hundred. You are fit to do certain kinds of work, and you need a certain kind and amount of fuel, and a certain kind of handling.—George S. Merriam.

Particular.

Mrs. Youngwife—I want a nice ham, please.

Shopman—Yes, ma'am. I can strongly recommend this one; it's well cured.

Mrs. Youngwife (in alarm)—Oh, don't give me one that has had anything the matter with it, even if it is cured now! Let me have a perfectly healthy one, please!—Exchange.

Too Slow Already.

Patterton—If you would only speak slower there would be no need of stuttering.

Chatterton—S-s-speak slower? Why—why—why, it takes me a m-m-minute to get out a w-w-word now—Puck.

Music first; after that, take your choice.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable Balm.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Ave., Brooklyn.

At Norman, Texas, the other evening, George Bellamy, a young druggist, jokingly proposed marriage to Miss Emma Cannon, and the banter was jokingly accepted. Judge Case happened in and was invited to perform the ceremony, which he did, in the presence of several witnesses, and subsequently made a record of the marriage. The next day, when young Bellamy learned of the Judge's action, he made haste to explain to His Honor that it was all a joke, but was coolly informed that the law did not recognize jokes, that the law had been complied with, and that he had been legally married.

A burst of eloquence is a consequence of mental dynamite.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Your Kidneys are Put your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order? Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy? Sulphur Bitters is for high-colored? IT IS The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow, Try a Bottle To-Day! PRICE, ONE DOLLAR. A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.

Don't Wait. Dangerous!

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as he only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify hat Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful Illustrated book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN

MERCHANT TAILOR,

7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Basheling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

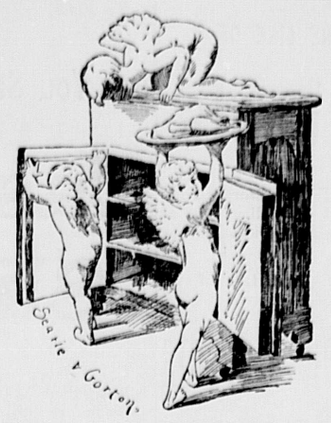
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

DR. BULL'S BABY SYRUP

Facilitates Teething! 25c. At all Dealers. Regulates the Bowels!

Old Saul's Pile Ointment is infallible.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3,50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIACES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets, BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2¼ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING,

5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS,

30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS,

20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS,

20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING,

1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each, $6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

Upright Pianos.

Prudent people are exchanging their old square pianos for uprights without delay. We can allow far more for them now than a year hence. We will send and examine it and tell you HOW FAR YOUR OLD PIANO WILL GO TOWARD A NEW upright; the balance in easy payments if desired. Your address please, and let us tell our story by mail.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO. Masonic Temple, 183 Tremont St., Boston.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

201 Main Street, - Woburn.

THE SELF-RESTORER

FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 381 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

POPULAR PRICES $2.99 $4.00 $2.00

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY

M. BANCROFT, Agent.

ATTENTION

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.

Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

Bay State Guitars Mandolins Banjos

These have received the highest honors in competition, SIX Silver, Three Bronze, One Gold Medal and Three Diplomas.

Musical Instruments of every description, including Haynes Excelsior and Wm. B. Tilton Guitars, Band and Orchestral Instruments, Strings, etc. Send for Catalogue.

J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass

SALESMEN WANTED N

To canvass for sale of Nursery Stock. Steady Employment Guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Outfit Free.

F. W. Chase, Augusta, Maine.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester."

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1891. NO. 26.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.56, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.33, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A.M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M, 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.31, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.55, 6.52, 6.23, 6.31, 7.05, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at w5.50, w6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, w9.15, 9.45, w10.15, 10.45, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, w1.15, 1.45, w2.15, 2.45, w3.15, 3.45, w4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.35, 6.45, w7.15, 7.45, w8.15, 8.45, w9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at w6.10, w6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, w9.40, 10.10, w10 40, 11.10, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, w1.40, 2.10, w2.40, 3.10, w3.40, 4.10, w4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.00, 7.10, w7.40, 8.10, w8.40, 9.10, w9 55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 8, 9, 10, 11, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30, A.M., 12.30, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.50, 9.55, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, 6.10, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.55, 10.35, 10.50, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, 8.15, 9.15, 9.45, *10.00, 10.45, 11.15, 11.45, A. M., 12.15, 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, w9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 8.40, 9.40, 10.10, 11.10, 11.40, A. M., 12.10, 12.40, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00 A.M., 12 M., 12.30, 1, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30‡ 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Woburn.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.
w Winchester.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational, Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave, opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

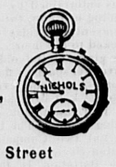
CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.
☞ Terms reasonable.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,
MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Office No. 19 Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass.
Residence and Stables, Salem St. Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

G. McGREGOR
FLORIST,
Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.
Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.
Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

FACIAL BLEMISHES.
Realizing the disappointment experienced by ladies who have used depilatory preparations for the removal of superfluous hair: also the disrepute into which electrolysis has fallen through severe treatment and its results—I wish to assure all who are so disfigured, that by carefully treating each hair separately with electricity, I am able to not only destroy the hairs so that they will never grow again, but my treatment positively leaves no scars and by a special method no discomfort is produced. Moles successfully removed. Consultation free and confidential and all questions cheerfully answered at my private parlors. Hygenic treatment for the face and complexion, a specialty. Office Hours 2 to 4 P. M. MISS M. WALDRON, 414 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. Next to Hotel Flower.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency.
J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains: choice house lots in all parts of the city from Eastace Cummings's magnificent large lots on N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres: located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interest by looking over Munro's lot before closing any trade. No. 415 Main street, morning and evening; 35 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, - - MASS.

ATTENTION
Ladies and Gentlemen.
Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.
Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

The Woburn Journal

[Written for the Woburn Journal.]

WHEN MUSIC IS SWEETEST.

BY FRANK WALCOTT HUTT.

After the goals, all run, are won,
After the day well-sped, hath fled,
And every task's fulfilled,
And every clamor stilled,
Then gently lean thy harp's low arch upon
And let love's spirit be interpreted.

When wrinkled cheek, so frail, so pale,
Love's smooth hand hath caressed to rest,
And night-dews gently come,
With all the loved at home,
Let music mingle with the oft-told tale
And waken carols that the old love best.

When dear, dear hands so old, I hold,
After their patient toil and moil
And lay their cares aside
At early eventide,
Then for each sigh a plan of hope unfold,
And every tear with song of joy despoil.

The Higher Education of Woman.

Written and Read Before the Woburn Equal Suffrage League, on June 1, 1891,

BY JENNIE E. SKINNER.

In speaking of the higher education we are, obliged to retrograde from the principles laid down by the Great Apostle to the Gentiles, and speak of this Eden of humanity as though an entrance were granted to women by special and generous favor, a sort of "new departure," as it were.

Strange as the affirmation may be regarded, it nevertheless has been verified times innumerable, that there is one Book cycles in advance even of this wonderful 19th Century.

We quote from Paul, in his Epistle to the Colossians and the Galatians. "Renewed in knowledge, after the image of the Creator, where there is neither Greek nor Jew, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free; there is neither male or female, for we are all one in Christ;" blessed platform of quality! intellectual, moral, spiritual.

As the leaven of these grand principles works its way into society there will be no hedges of prejudicial building, or as Paul, filled with the Spirit, phrases it, "no male nor female;" but all can enter the golden vistas that lead to the "green pastures" of a "renewal in knowledge after the image of the Creator."

How thin the walls are becoming! how low and prone the barriers! how broad the work accomplished by women as they tread the labyrinths of the "higher education."

In our own land, one who knows whereof he affirms is glad to make public facts that lead him to conclude that at the present rate of progress the women of the country will at the end of the present century be better educated than the men: this from Dr. Seelye, the well-known college president.

The Queen of Denmark gratefully bows her acknowledgment of and admiration for the genius of the American writer, Mrs. Julia McNair Wright, who has just published the only Danish story ever written in this country, "Fru Dagmar's Son." A copy of this work splendidly bound in white watered silk has been sent to the Danish Queen by the National Temperance Society.

If the ballot is according to ex-Gov. Long, at the New England suffragists banquet last week in Boston—the 22d annual meeting—merely an expression by which citizens make known their preferences and convictions, then women are making known their opinions and preferences to-day.

They are in the ranks of every profession and there is no limit to their capacity and advancement.

Rev. Henry Blanchard, President of the Maine Woman's Suffrage Association, said at the banquet referred to "In our modern fight against the Goths and Vandals of our civilization the shadow of the woman falls on all things and the Commonwealth where she is respected and is supreme is the Commonwealth of God."

The graduation of nine women physicians from the New York Medical College for Women was followed quickly by the same event in the lives of fourteen women lawyers from the University of the City of New York.

All the reasons which support the fitness of women for the bar can be urged in favor of their entrance on the field of medicine. The keenness and quickness of an educated woman's mental processes, the ability in which she surpasses men in intuitively grasping truths, her hatred of wrong and her prompt sympathy for every kind of suffering, all point to her capacity for both the great professions of law and medicine. But there are other arguments to be urged in favor of women physicians. By far the greater portion of medical patients in the United States are women.

Women have been greatly hampered by inadequate educational facilities, and the forces of conservatism. But the paths of the higher education are being opened to women and the prejudices against her work outside the home circle are lessening rapidly. The teachings of the New Testament are being glorified.

In England, the women now pursuing University studies are numbered by the hundreds. Since 1869 one college after another has admitted them to share the privileges offered to men. The beginning of this good work was made by Cambridge University, others quickly followed, first Girton College with its standard of examinations the same as that for the B. A. of Cambridge: then followed Newman College.

In 1878 London University opened all its grades to women; and numerous colleges for their exclusive use have been established throughout the kingdom.

The Universities of Zurich, Geneva, Berne and others in Switzerland have all since 1867 admitted women.

Italy's Universities followed the good example in 1876.

Scandinavia with its three kingdoms of Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, respectively in 1870, 1875 and 1880, took the first steps in the same reform movement. In Copenhagen women may take all the degrees open to men save that of D. D.

The Dutch universities are all open to women; the first lady student of Holland was enrolled in the University of Amsterdam in 1880. In the same year Belgium University at Brussels admitted women.

Russia, in 1878 arranged special courses by which women could follow university studies and prepare for examinations; many availed themselves of this opportunity in St. Petersburg, Moscow and in other colleges in the Empire.

In Austria women are admitted to colleges to certain courses of study, but are not allowed to work for a university degree. Hungary is watching the earnest attempts of her women to enter the universities at Buda-Pesth, and they are likely to open their doors to all their demands.

In France between 1866 and 1882 one hundred and nine academic degrees were won by women. In 1890 there were in France fifty-one preparatory schools to fit women for advanced work.

Helene Lange in her recent book, Higher education of Women in Europe, shows what has been done in this direction by all the other leading European nations, by way of comparison, and aims to rouse Germany from its persistent inactivity.

American women are nearing complete victory in this battle, and what is being done for their sisters over the sea is of deep interest. Miss Lange's book, in its prefatory statements, shows how American women can look back and bid good cheer to other struggling aspirants.

Two hundred and seventeen out of a total of three hundred and fifty-seven colleges of liberal arts in the United States have opened their doors to women, as have also twenty out of a total of thirty-two independent colleges endowed with the national land-grant, making at the present time the number of co-educational colleges two hundred thirty-seven.

There are nine colleges and universities exclusively for women.

In 1887-8 twenty-nine per cent of the whole number of students in universities and colleges, and fifty-two per cent of those attending high schools were women.

Germany, ranking so high in its ability to furnish the world with the highest type of scholars of the sterner sex, positively refuses to allow its women to share them.

In another case we would contrast Germany's position in this important issue, and glance at the new Australian Commonwealth with its veneer of monarchy, a Republic in spirit; here we note advancement all along the line.

The other week at Melbourne University a blind girl matriculated, taking a first position in Algebra, Arithmetic, French, Latin and other subjects. At the examinations her papers were transcribed into the ordinary characters by a teacher from the Blind School, she having written them by the aid of the Braille system.

There is nothing but encouragement in the future, and let us build well when the foundations are so broad and deep. And can we not hope that from the educated women of our land there may be felt an influence for good, sweet and abiding.

When the Mosque of St. Sophia in Constantinople was built, more than a thousand years ago, the stones and brick were laid in mortar mixed with a solution of musk, and the building has been fragrant with the odor ever since. So may our lives breathe out a spirit of devotion to duty, and gratitude fill our hearts, that so much of good has been done for our women in this Republic of the Northern Columbian continent.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. E Lovell's Drugstore.

To Newspaper Borrowers.

Did you ever pause to reflect that you are a nuisance of the first water? Do you know that the neighbor from whom you borrowed this very paper you are now reading is often inconvenienced by you? He subscribes and pays for the paper for his own individual use and benefit; it is not done for your pleasure, education or comfort. He may not tell you so to your face, because the class of men who subscribe and pay for a newspaper are good, kind hearted fellows; but they do a good deal of thinking all the same when you ask for their newspaper. Stop borrowing, and you will stop making a nuisance of yourself.—Exchange.

They All Failed.

The following letter from Mr. W. A. Thomsom, of Columbus, Wis., is peculiarly interesting: "My wife," says he, "has been treated for her head, stomach and nervous prostration by three doctors in New York, two in Chicago, one in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati, and at the large institute in Buffalo for 16 months. They all failed. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine helped her wonderfully." This should be used in all headaches, backaches, changes of life, nervous disturbances, fits, rheumatism, etc. Ask at Charles H. Buss drug store for a free trial bottle and Dr. Miles' new book on the Nerves and Heart.

The School of Journalism.

Many a writer of note has received his first lessons from becoming a correspondent to the country press. You may write for practice or practice to write, and the people of your village become interested in what you say. Thus you are encouraged to "press on" until, if you have talents in that line, after years of toil and hard study you probably become an author or an editor.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

Pay the Printer Promptly.

Persons who patronize papers should pay promptly, for the pecuniary prospects of the press have a peculiar power in pushing forward public prosperity. If the printer is paid promptly, and his pocketbook kept plethoric by prompt paying patrons, he puts his pen to his paper in peace; his paragraphs are more pointed; he paints his pictures of passing events in more pleasing colors, and the perusal of his paper is a pleasure to the people. Please paste this piece of proverbial philosophy in some place where all persons can perceive it.—Exchange.

Col. Clark,

U. S. Army, writes: For the last two years, my health has been excellent; this, I think, is due to my using Sulphur Bitters, as formerly my health was miserable, owing to the frequent changes of climate, etc., so incident to a soldier's life.

The Local Papers.

The city papers are all right if you want them, but it is the local paper that advertises your business, your schools, your churches, your numerous societies, sympathizes with you in your affliction and rejoices in your prosperity. In short, it is your local paper that mentions the thousand and one items in which you are interested during the year and which you do not find in the city papers.

A Fortunate Man.

I had severe attacks of kidney disease. My stomach also troubled me very much. I was prevailed upon to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using five or six bottles, I was cured. I consider it an invaluable remedy for Kidney Disease, Stomach trouble, and all diseases of the blood.—John Vandersliice, No. 1 Gregory st., Rochester, N. Y.

It is proposed to establish a theatre for colored actors in Philadelphia.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY
STRAW HATS!
We have a complete line for MEN, BOYS and CHILDREN.
Our WHITE MACKINAW at 25 cents is worth 50 cents.
Our WHITE MILAN at $1.50 is sold elsewhere for $2.00.
BLACK STRAWS from 25 cents to $1.50.
Come and see us first: we will save you money.

Munroe's Clothing House.
423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

The Brain of the Lunatic.

If there is anything which has been taught to us by the most advanced stage of science as applied to the anatomy, the physiology and the pathology of the brain it is the fact that the utmost degree of mental aberration may exist without there being the slightest change perceptible to our senses in the normal structure of the central organ of the mind. Of course there is some alteration, such, for instance, as a pernicious education may effect, such as may be induced by indulgence in ignoble emotions, degrading trains of thought or vicious practices; but it is so slight and perhaps so evanescent as to be entirely beyond the reach not only of our unaided senses, but of all the instruments of precision or of analytical processes that are at the present day at our disposal.

The brain, therefore, of the most pronounced lunatic may not differ, so far as we can perceive, from that of one who during life had stood at the very summit of human mental development. At birth the two brains might have been identical, not only in all the elements that entered into their composition, but also in their tendencies and proclivities. One, however, started in the course of life under disadvantageous circumstances; the other had everything in its favor. One was left to its own guidance and to the influence of circumstances detrimental to its well being; the other, among beneficial surroundings, was carefully trained and developed. Would it be a matter of surprise if the possessor of the one should be an enemy of society and a perpetrator of acts of fraud and violence and the other a leader in all honorable and virtuous purposes?—Dr. W. A. Hammond in North American Review.

A Month's Vacation.

Once upon a time some years ago I made a great walk. I had a month on my hands, and I was young and eager, and I determined to go afoot from Devonshire into Scotland. Since then I have been here, there and everywhere about the surface of our old earth—by steamer, sailing ship, express train and slow train, on horseback, muleback and donkeyback; but I remember nothing with so much pleasure as I remember my daily courses through the different counties of England during this 500 or 600 mile walk.

Every morning I woke in a new village or a new market town. There was a different chambermaid, with her sweet "If you please, sir, the hot water is at the door," and a different kind of boniface. I did not rush over the ground. Twenty or five-and-twenty miles a day contented me. Thus I could dine after a ten mile spin, and arrive each evening fresh and fit at the next "Red Lion" or "White Cow" inn, upon which I relied for a bed.—All the Year Round.

The Servant Question.

It is a curious fact that there is nothing which is so wholly unanimous as the desire that other people's daughters should be cooks and chambermaids. We never think of it as a thing desirable or perhaps supposable for our own, and this fact seems to damage most of our arguments for others.

Artemus Ward was willing to send his wife's relatives to the war, but we are not inclined to contribute even these to the kitchen, for we should hold, rightfully, that it was "menial service." Now if we draw the line at menial service for ourselves and our relatives, why should we speak severely of those who dray the line at just that point for themselves and their own relatives? The whole difficulty of this much vexed question seems to lie precisely there.—T. W. Higginson in Harpers' Bazar.

Politeness the Key to His Success.

There is a suave and popular gentleman in this town who owns two drug shops. He is a member of several social organizations, and is personally acquainted with every prominent politician and man about town in New York. Up to within a few years ago he was night clerk in a down town pharmaceutical dispensary. How did he get his feet on the upper rounds of the ladder of prosperity? Simply by being polite. During his long term of service as clerk he never let a customer depart without a pleasant inquiry as to the customer's health and the inexpensive courtesy of "Won't you have a drop of perfumery on your handkerchief?"—New York Times.

Hard on the Chairs.

Among the ancestors of Wendell Phillips were several Puritan clergymen. Perhaps it was a push of heredity which made him at five years of age a preacher.

His congregation was composed of circles of chairs arranged in his father's parlor, while a taller chair, with a Bible on it, served him for a pulpit. He would harangue these wooden auditors by the hour.

"Wendell," said his father to him one day, "don't you get tired of this?"

"No, papa," wittily replied the boy preacher, "I don't get tired, but it is rather hard on the chairs!"—Youth's Companion.

Story of a Tenderfoot.

A young man from the east was hired to plow a field near Madeira. One day he found himself surrounded by seven hungry coyotes. He left his team and broke in a swift run for the house, and quit work right there. The team was found all right by the owner, a woman, who told the tenderfoot to go back home to his mother, while she finished plowing.—San Francisco Call.

Numerous accounts have been given, both in ancient and modern times, of the sacrificing of dogs for religious purposes. They were immolated at certain periods by the Greeks and Romans to almost all their dieties, particularly to Mars,

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE REDISTRICTING BILL.

Last Tuesday the Senate passed to be engrossed the Congressional redistricting bill reported some time ago by a special committee appointed to attend to the business. All amendments were voted down and the original draft went through as slick as grease.

Why shouldn't it? Every Democrat in the Legislature was in favor of the bill; it was as "fair" to their side as they could reasonably ask; and of course they voted for it solid. Several sympathizers among the Republicans were found to go with them and so the committee's report, notwithstanding its injustice to the Republicans, was adopted, and Gov. Russell will be only too glad to sanction the act and put his signature to it.

Verily, the way of the average Massachusetts legislator is past finding out!

FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

According to the new Congressional Districts arrangement Woburn remains in the Fifth, but, oh Lord! what a change it has undergone at the hands of the Legislature! The new No. 5 contains the following cities and towns:

Andover, Dracut, Lowell, Lawrence, Lynnfield, Methuen, North Reading, North Andover, Peabody, Reading, Tewksbury, Wilmington, Woburn—solid Democratic!

STRONG BACKING.

It is understood in political circles that Collector Beard and Congressman Lodge favor the nomination of Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett for Governor again this fall. If this is true his prospects for another term or two in the Chief Executive chair may be regarded as highly encouraging, for a stronger team than Beard and Lodge make when they pull together it would be hard to find in this State.

A SHEET ANCHOR.

A Republican triumph in this State next November will depend mainly on the work of the Republican Club of Massachusetts this summer. It is unquestionably the strongest organization the party have ever had. It is going to be their sheet anchor this fall, their Moses, their Gideon's Band, their valiant host, their leader to victory. Depend on that!

A LAW.

When the redistricting bill was presented to Gov. Russell for his signature last Wednesday he let no grass grow under his feet until his signmanual was safely on the document.

☞ A few days ago we received from Mr. Charles S. Parker, Editor of the Arlington Advocate and Secretary of the Massachusetts Press Association, an invitation to join in their five days annual summer excursion to Montreal, Quebec, up the celebrated Saguenay River, etc., and would be delighted to accept the same were it convenient to do so. A large number of newspaper men, their wives, sweethearts, and other companions, have signified an intention of joining the excursion. If they all enjoy the outing as well as they deserve to do there will be a plenty of fun and pleasure in it for all.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Ad.—Bicycle.
F. H. Lewis—Music.
Advertiser—Wanted.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
C. Cummings—Horses.
Board of Trade—Notice.
J. G. Maguire—Ex. Sale.
Pettengill & Co.—B. & L.
Bucklan & Co.—Dr. King.
E. C. Colman—Sewing Machine.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Read farm hand wanted in another column.

— Found—a nice linen handkerchief. Call at this office.

— The Board of Trade has a legal notice in this paper.

— Observe carefully the new timetable on the N. W. S. Railroad.

— City Clerk Moreland says dog license fees came in very slowly this spring.

— A small blaze in Dr. Sanborn's office yesterday morning did about $10 damage.

— Capt. Simonds don't want any Phalanx in his under present circumstruces.

— Mr. E. C. Colman, proprietor of Woodside, offers a mowing machine for sale. See ad.

— Mr. Leonard Thompson keeps a full line of the best oil stoves for summer use made.

— Mr. A. T. Young is building a fine cottage at Bayside, a place of general summer resort.

— Deputy Sheriff Tidd is attending the criminal term of the Superior Court at Cambridge this week.

— The Womans Auxiliary, Y. M. C. A., gave a pleasant strawberry festival last Tuesday evening.

— Our M. Ds attended the annual meeting of the Mass. Med. Society in Boston last Wednesday.

— There was an entertainment at Hibernian Hall last Wednesday night for the benefit of Philip Doran.

— We print on page 1 of the JOURNAL Miss Jennie Skinner's paper on "Higher Education for Women."

— It is proposed to name the Salem street cemetery "Galilee Cemetery," a very appropiate and musical name.

— S. H. Patten & Son will run a firstclass icecream saloon in Mechanic Building this summer.

— Mr. Arthur Dalzeil is putting in 16 new leaches at Shaw's tannery and making important repairs on the plant.

— Hall & Jaquith are promptly supplying a big demand for meal, grain, feed, etc. these days at fair prices.

— Have C. M. Strout do your plumbing and water piping. He is a No. 1 workman and reasonable in his prices.

— Mr. Warren N. Blake has had a severe time with an abcess on one of his feet, but is now able to get outdoors again.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe is selling straw hats of all sorts of material, color and pattern at astonishing low prices. See his ad.

— Judge Converse has several of Hugh Montgomery's liquor cases under advisement, and the balance of them will be tried next week.

— The clump of rhododendrons near the Salem st. entrance of the Cemetery, now in full flower, make a magnificent appearance.

— Principal Lewis of the Lewis Music School calls public attention to an important fact through the columns of the JOURNAL this week.

— Mrs. Charles Converse has been engaged as bookkeeper at the Nantasket Hotel, Nantasket, for the summer. It is a very desirable situation.

— Does anyone second the motion for a 4th of July celebration in this city this year? Perhaps a motion to that effect has not yet been made.

— Supt. Gilcreast ought to sell heaps of gas stoves this weather. They are just the thing for hot days, and they save such a heap of fuel too.

— Mr. M. Downs of Cummingsville is selling a new soap that appears to be just what the public want. It will be found true to recommendation.

— William Cox, one of T. E. Sleeper's drivers, was quite severely kicked by one of his horses last Tuesday. His injuries were not dangerous.

— We have had this week considerable weather closely resembling the dogdays article. Great weather has prevailed most of the time this spring.

"Algæ in Horn Pond?" What of it? It is as harmless as meadow grass. If it is ever baneful it is only when undergoing decomposition in the fall of the year.

— Yesterday was a scorcher and made one long for "a lodge in some vast wilderness, some endless contiguity of shade," with a plenty of "ice cool lemonade."

— Mr. D. W. Kelley will place the management of his Malden drugstore into the hands of his brother John and give the Woburn store his individual supervision.

— Mr. William S. York and family left last week for their pleasant seaside home at Rockport where they have summered for many a year in peace and comfort.

— Mr. Charles H. Taylor, who had one of his legs so badly broken a few weeks ago, is getting on so famously that he will soon be walking around outdoors on crutches.

— About 325 boys and girls were consecrated at St. Charles church last Sunday. Rev. Fr. Gilday made an appropriate address and gave the medals to the children.

— There is to be a Band Concert on the roof over McSheffrey's barber rooms this evening—the second of the season. In all human probability a big crowd will be out to enjoy it.

— We have been told (in strict confidence) that the entire cost of the graduating gowns of the young ladies of W. H. S. Class '91 will not exceed $8.00? And other things in proportion!

— Mrs. Tyng Fogg of Bowdoinham, Me., and her daughter, a bright, jolly, Harvard Annex girl (not from the Rio Gran-dee) visited relatives and friends in this city last Tuesday afternoon.

— It was not Bert Hartwell who rode his bicycle to Worcester in company with Ronco and Haggerty but his brother Harry. Bert was then and has since been very sick, but is now much better.

— Mr. J. M. Ellis's foreman and employees made a strip of firstrate concrete sidewalk from Woodbury's Corner to Dodge's jewelry store last Tuesday. They know how to do that sort of a thing.

— Last Friday morning a citizen of Stoneham was thrown from his carriage near the Salem st. watering trough in this city and was thought to have been fatally injured. He was taken to his home in Stoneham.

— Successful raids on kitchen barrooms were made by Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott on last Sunday. Unlawful sellers were found on Hudson and Buck streets, and their cases will be duly attended to.

— Rev. H. Montgomery has chosen an appropriate theme for his next Sunday's discourse—Swearing. If ever anybody needed a scoring and a scouring for the sin of swearing it is this present generation.

— Mr. Frank H. Elliot and wife will sail for Europe on June 24 for a vacation outing. A pleasant voyage over and back and a good time are what the JOURNAL hopes this very worthy couple will enjoy.

— The public are working Judge Converse rather hard these times. He holds all-day sessions and gets pretty sweaty along towards supper time. He will hold his last term on June 30, and is probably glad to quit.

— The funeral of Mr. John McFeeley took place on Wednesday morning. It was a very large one and the floral tributes were simply magnificent. He had hosts of warm friends, for he was an excellent young man.

— The reason why Wilmington has been adopted as the end of the suburban route and Woburn abandoned was the Company's wish to get rid of the turn-table at the latter to admit of straightening the track at that point.

— Miss Mertena Bancroft, the accomplished organist at the First Baptist Church, has had her salary raised from May 1. The Music Committee of the church evidently appreciate musical talent and are not slow to reward it.

— Mr. J. B. McDonald has not sold his coal business here as reported, but is likely to do so at short notice. His occupation in Boston requires his whole time and undivided attention which is the reason for selling out his coal trade here.

— The following are the newly elected officers of Div. 3, A. O. H.: President, John J. Short; Vice President, John C. Meehan; Fin. Sec., Francis J. McPartlin; Recording Sec., Peter Kenney; Treasurer, Thomas Quinn.

— M. T. Allen, Esq., and bride returned from their wedding tour to this city last Friday evening. They will probably make their home here, although that is not yet fully settled. Many congratulations awaited their return.

— Mrs. Lizzie Carroll, nee McDonough, died last Monday afternoon quite suddenly and left many warm friends to mourn her loss. Her funeral on Wednesday morning was largely attended and a great number of beautiful flowers were contributed.

— The June number of The Health Monthly contains an article on "Hygienic Bread Making" written by Mrs. Susan T. Converse of 35 Sherman Place in this city. It contains several culinary recipes which we have no doubt can be relied on for the best results.

— Last week Mr. Charles Cummings had a carload of 18 of the best roadsters that ever left Canada, and to-day will arrive 15 more of the best workers and roadsters. They are splendid horses. They can be seen at Cummings's stables on Cambridge street.

— Several brethren and sisters of the Unitarian Church attended the 69th regular session of the South Middlesex Conference of Unitarian Churches which was held at Lexington on last Wednesday. They enjoyed a refreshing season. Rev. Mr. Parker made an address.

— Mr. Charles H. Taylor, Jr., a member of the Editorial Staff of the Boston Globe, and lady have taken up summer quarters at Marblehead Neck, which for some years has been the seaside home of Mr. Charles H. Taylor, Sen., proprietor and Editor-in-Chief of the Globe.

— For several months Hon. E. W. Hudson has been quite closely confined to his home on Canal street but since the warm weather set in he is seen up town nearly every day. Having got rid of his old enemy, neuralgia, Mr. Hudson's health is excellent and he is enjoying life to the brim.

— Warren Teel, the old Davenport (Iowa) Assistant P. M., took his first vacation in 30 years the other day and when he returned Uncle Sam's things were in such utter confusion that he then and there foreswore vacations to the end of time. At least, thus allegeth a reliable Chicago paper.

— There is a gang of street pavers at work right down in front of THE JOURNAL office, so if the original matter in this issue should seemed to be rattled and all broken up the reader will know what to attribute it to. Supt. Jones is bound to have good streets, Editors or no Editors.

— Hon. Benjamin F. Whittemore of Montvale, one of the ablest and most telling temperance advocates of this city, made several very strong points in his eloquent appeal for sobriety and good order at Rev. Hugh Montgomery's temperance symposium at the M. E. church last Sunday evening.

— Charlestown patriots are making extensive preparations for the proper observance of the 17th of June. Probably a goodly number of Woburn boys will go down and help them celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill seeing as how Woburn was 250 years ago an offspring of the Charlestown church.

— There is no better place in Middlesex County to get old clothing rejuvinated and made as good as new than at L. F. Hurd's, No. 24 Winn street The establishment has been going for quite a number of years and it has, by doing the best kind of work and dealing fairly, become a great success. Read card in another column.

— Auctioneer E. Prior sold the Thomas McLean estate at North Woburn to Mary E. Gallagher for $495. On Monday he vendued a large lot of household furniture for William Courts on Buckman street, and on Wednesday he went to Malden and sold a house at auction. He seems to be doing a big business with his hammer.

— Returning from the Concord Reformatory, where he had taken a subject Saturday P. M., Mr. Edward Simonds, the Keeper of the Lockup, walked from Lexington Common to Woburn Common, just 5 miles, in exactly 1 hour and 5 minutes. He is 70 years old and if he has at that age a match in walking, or running, or wresting, we would like to see him. He is just as nimble as a cat.

— Proprietors of tanneries and other manufacturing establishments who are liable under the laws of this State to pay damages for injuries sustained by their employees while in their employ ought, in justice to themselves and for their own safety, consult Mr. S. B. Goddard on the most admirable workings of "The Employers Liability Assurance Corporation," of which he is the local agent. See his card.

— Miss Celia Reade, ex-postmaster Reade's daughter and his late Ass't P. M. and Right Bower, is revivifying the Woburn Mutual Benefit Association by securing a large increase of membership and swelling the treasury. Within a short time Miss Reade has been instrumental in securing applications for membership of over 40 persons which is regarded as a handsome piece of work. There are now 112 members of the Association which, through Miss Reade's efforts, will be largely increased in the near future. It is a good institution and the JOURNAL bespeaks for it abundant success.

— The St. Charles C. T. A. Society and its Ladies Auxiliary will hold a sociable for members only on next Wednesday evening. Mr. Thomas Feeney, a graduate of the vocal department of the WOBURN JOURNAL, has been selected for Prima Donna on the occasion and will doubtless charm the company with some of his sweetest songs. The Auxiliary, we are glad to learn, is prosperous and growing.

— Last week the Management of the Boston & Albany Railroad invited a select company of prominent gentlemen to enjoy the trial trip of the Company's new train between Boston and Chicago called the "Chicago Special," and among those who accepted invitations and were royally entertained on the trip to Worcester and back were Mr. C. A. Burdett of this city, proprietor, with his brother, of the Burdett Business College of Boston.

— Mr. Vilruveus Hurd is 93 years old and on last Sunday quite a company of friends met at his home on New Boston st. and in a quiet, pleasant way, observed the anniversary. He is a remarkably smart and active person for his age and retains his faculties in nearly their pristine vigor. Mr. Hurd enjoys good health which, with a clear conscience, is said to be condusive to longevity. The JOURNAL sends to Mr. Hurd greetings and good wishes.

— Last Monday Dea. Gage took a little spin round town in his buggy and enjoyed it very much. He called on Hon. E. W. Hudson and Jacob Brown, Esq., on Canal street, on Dr. Harlow, and gave his old pastor, Dr. March, a bit of an airing along the road. There wasn't a man or woman on the route who was not glad to see the good Deacon outdoors waving that well preserved and familiar bandanna handkerchief in the lambent June zephyrs once more.

— The Boston Evening Record gets up some of the most rib-tickling pictures to illustrate current sayings and doings that are to be found in any other of the Boston dailies. There was one in last Saturday night's issue that was enough to wreathe the countenance of a graven image in broad grins. We allude to one representing a Democratic circus with the figure of our own Mr. Samuel W. Mendum occupying a conspicuous part and place in it.

— There was on exhibition in one of the big windows of Leeds's drugstore, No. 13 Pleasant street, a very fine crayon portrait of Capt. J. Chester Hanson which was done by by Mr. W. F. Shaw of Winn street, this city, who is a Boston photographer. Capt. Hanson is dressed in the uniform of commander of Co. B, W. H. S. B., with sword, belt and cap, etc., and thus the artist made a fine picture of his materials and also brought out a true portrait of his sitter.

— Last Monday evening the City Council accorded the School Board a hearing on the matter of selecting a site for the Central Square school house. Considerable friction between the two bodies was shown, but as the city had already bought the Eaton lot for the purpose the School Board deemed it unwise to kick against the pricks and as gracefully as circumstances would admit of accepted the inevitable. The institution of learning will be erected on the Eaton ground.

— We are indebted to Miss Christine Kelley of No. 11 Pleasant street for a present of boxberries and leaves, which are a product of the pitchpine plains of Maine and New Hampshire much sought after and greatly liked by the juvenile population of those regions. The effect of the receipt of the big red berries and spicy leaves from Miss Kelley was to bring up afresh boyhood scenes, rambles in piney woods for the young and juicy box leaves, et cetera, further consideration of which lack of space forbids. Miss Christine will please accept our thanks for her kindness.

— Day before yesterday Bean, the driver, brought the JOURNAL office a big chunk of halibut steak cut right from the rump of the monster fellow caught off Swampcott by the Stoneham Deep-Sea Piscatorial Association two weeks ago and which attracted so many people to Perry's famous fish mart in the beautiful, reposeful, and altogether lovely suburban residence place, Stoneham Square. The JOURNAL, with its new castor in hand, makes its profoundest obeisance to Mr. Perry for the fish and hopes his shadow may never grow less.

— Next Sunday the Steamer Stamford, Captain E. W. Davidson in command, will make the first trip of the season of the Boston & Plymouth S. S. Co's line between Boston and Plymouth. The sail to Plymouth Rock and return is unequalled for beauty and pleasure by any in the vicinity of Boston and when it is taken on one of the splendid boats of the B. & P. S. S. Line, it is simply delightful. The Stamford leaves Lincoln's Wharf every morning at 9.30 A. M., and Plymouth at 3 P.M. On Sundays she leaves Boston at 10. Thanks for press courtesies.

— The Temperance Mass Meeting held at the M. E. church on last Sunday evening to express public approval of the course of Rev. Hugh Montgomery towards the violators of the State liquor laws was a rousing affair. The commodious church was filled to overflowing with deeply interested listeners, among whom there prevailed a spirit of confidence and enthusiasm such as is seldom manifested or felt in any public assemblage. Rev. Montgomery was the principal speaker and the way he poured broadsides of hot shot into the violators was a caution to that class of citizens. He just raked them fore and aft, and the pity of it all was that there were none of them present to take his broadsides. Besides the Parson, there were other earnest, sincere and godly speakers for temperance, among whom were Hon. Joseph G. Pollard who is always ready for every good word and work where temperance is concerned; Griffin Place, a fighter; Luke Warren Fowle, a bitter foe to rum, and several other honest, active temperance advocates, all of whom delivered eloquent speeches against Rum and in approval of Mr. Montgomery's crusade against the men who break the laws of the State. There was the very finest of music, and, all in all, it was the best temperance meeting that has been held here for a great while.

— "On that lovely day in June," Thursday, the 11th inst., William Lorraine Murdock of 47 Montvale Avenue, arrived at the age of full fledged citizenship and stands ready to to cast the local and National ballot for the best man. William feels and acts like a sage young man, and on that particular day, the 11th, his wisdom assumed and had in it the mature developments of the "Seven wise men." A goodly number of friends, fair ones and otherwise, dropped in upon him in the evening and the hours flew! How merry they were! and how dignified the new citizen of the Republic received both friends and gifts. A long life, a good life, and happiness rare, we wish you, friend Will, and may purpose and character grow strong as the years go by.

— Mr. John McFeeley, a young man of this city about 29 years old, went for a short drive with Mr. Patrick McIntire early last Friday morning after the wedding which was celebrated that night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin on Water st., and when near Swanton St. Bridge in Winchester was thrown from the buggy and so terribly injured that he died at the Massachusetts General Hospital on the following Monday morning. On making a turn a wheel of the carriage caught in a rail of the street railroad and the two young men were thrown violently to the ground. McIntire escaped with but slight injury, but McFeeley suffered a fracture of the skull and fatal internal injuries. He was taken to the Mass. Gen. Hos. where he lingered unconscious until early on Monday morning when death came to his relief.

— Mr. Nathaniel S. Watson, a much esteemed citizen of North Woburn, was painfully injured at the sawmill of the Woburn Lumber Company in this city one day last week, from which he is still suffering. There was an unfinished order for a lot of certain parts of shoe lasts—small pieces of peculiar shaped wood—which the Company manufacture a great many of for shoemakers, and Mr. Watson concluded to take hold and finish it up. While at work over the rapidly revolving circular saw one of the pieces came in contact with the saw and was hurled with such force against Mr. Watson's forehead that it knocked him down and rendered him insensible. It was a tremendous blow he received but fortunately no further injury was inflicted by it than a long, deep and very severe cut, into which Dr. Chalmer's found it necessary to put three or four stitches to sew it up. The doctor said it was a wonder Mr. Watson's skull was not broken by the blow, and so indeed it was. Mr. Watson is getting on quite nicely and will soon be at his post again.

— Lyceum Hall is undergoing changes which will improve it vastly when completed. Mr. J. W. Hammond, who has the management of the property and Company's affairs, has made plans for them which will take the best of $2,000 to carry out, but they will add a great deal more than that sum to the value of the property. Mr. Hammond's idea is a good one, and when it is fully carried through Woburn will have a musical and dramatic hall unsurpassed in size, convenience and fine finish by any in Middlesex County. One of the most important changes is the enlargement of the gallery by extending the front over six feet of the rear of the hall which will not only afford more room for audiences but a much more desirable quality of room. The lighting is to be much better than at present. Instead of four ordinary sized gas burners around the centre of the ceiling there is to be one very large, beautiful chandelier, the same to be supplemented at proper points with gas and electric lights, either to be employed as circumstances may dictate. This will greatly beautify the hall and bring out into stronger relief the frescoe painting above and around. New ventilating apparatus will be put in, and the hall made firstclass in every particular.

— One of the most highly esteemed couples in Woburn are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wyman of No. 605 Main street, and the former is one of the oldest of our citizens, being about 85 years, while Mrs. Wyman is about 73. She was a native of Waltham, her maiden name having been Mary H. Rowley; but Mr. Wyman was not only born and raised on this good old historic soil but so also were his father and grandfather, the homestead being located on Wyman street, and house is reported to be one of the most ancient in Woburn—the oldest but one. Mr. Wyman (he is the father of Postmaster Wyman) has always occupied an honorable place in the confidence of his townspeople, whom he has faithfully and intelligently served in more capacities than one. He was sent to the General Court in 1871 and 1874; he has often been called to aid in the administration of Town affairs; and in public situations his judgment and integrity have always been esteemed. Last week the Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman was celebrated in a befitting manner at their pleasant residence and it was attended by a great many of the fellow citizens and friends of the venerable couple. The wedding party was a happy one. The visitors were numerous and they were given a warm welcome and the house and grounds were large enough to comfortably hold them all. Many appropriate and valuable presents were made to the bride and groom of 50 years ago; there were palatable refreshments; there was music; also pleasant social intercourse; and they all said the evening had been delightfully spent.

Montvale.

Everything in nature is looking beautiful and inviting over here in this little Woburn hamlet just now, and if it were not for Rum it would be quite a charming little "paradise on earth."

At a meeting of Division 18, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Montvale, the following officers were elected: President, James Cogan; Vice President, Thomas Kerrigan; Recording Secretary, James Scanlan; Financial Secretary, Owen Kerrigan; Treasurer, John Dwyer; Marshal, James O'Brien.

A great many of our young people wandered around and through the beautiful grounds of Hon. B. F. Whittemore on the evening of Miss Grace's lawn party to delight themselves with the brilliant indoor and outdoor illuminations, to hear the sweet music, to see the happy guests, and to witness the joy and pleasure of the rare occasion. Nothing could have been more beautiful, and the Hon. B. F. was "as happy as a clam at high water." Ashley Hall School is a great success, so I am told.

A Brilliant Lawn Party.

Ashley Hall School at Montvale, of which Miss Grace Whittemore, daughter of Hon. B. F. Whittemore, is the accomplished and popular Preceptress, will close its first year of successful existence on to-day, Friday. Ashley Hall is a private and select school for young ladies, designed more especially for finishing them off in the higher branches of learning, in literature and art, and all and singular those accomplishments in these latter days deemed essential to a young lady's "finished education." It was founded a year ago by Miss Grace Whittemore, a thoroughly educated and accomplished young lady, in the large, handsome mansion of her father—one of the most fitting and desirable places for such an institution of learning that is to be found anywhere about in this region of the State.

Preceptress Whittemore has met with the most encouraging success so far in establishing a young ladies select day and boarding school of the highest grade for polishing off the intellectual machinery of those whose doting papas have a plenty of cash with which to do it in the very best of shape and most liberal scale and feels much encouragement to go forward with plans for the permanent establishment of a still larger school. She has had in attendance during the year of boarding pupils who reside in California, Utah, Nevada, Pennsylvania and New York, besides several day scholars whose homes are within hailing distance of the Hall.

All branches of learning and all the polite arts and all the solid accomplishments are taught at Ashley Hall by competent teachers under Miss Whittemore's careful superintendence, the instructor in Music being Prof. F. H. Lewis, Principal of the Woburn Music School, teacher in the New England Conservatory of Music, and one of the Faculty of that far-famed institution, and three or four others who have charge of the different departments of learning and intellectual culture. The pride of Preceptress Whittemore and of her fine corps of teachers is that young ladies are able to obtain as solid and complete an education in the substantials and as high a degree of intellectual polish and as much "Boston cuture" at Ashley Hall as can be obtained at any Ladies Boarding School in the country.

As a vacation goodbye to pupils and public Miss Whittemore gave a lawn party last Tuesday evening which for beauty and brilliancy eclipsed anything that has been enjoyed in Woburn for many a year. Her school term has been delivered and made still more attractive to the young ladies of Ashley Hall by frequent entertainments, parties and socials, but none of them have begun to approach the closing one of last Tuesday evening in brilliancy and enjoyment. A large company were present. There were society people from Boston, Lynn, Salem, Woburn Centre and other places, by whom a most delightful evening was spent.

Ashley Hall is the mansion of Hon. B. F. Whittemore at Montvale, a large structure, well mellowed by age, standing in the midst of one of the most extensive and beautiful lawns in this county, and it is a portion of this fine residence estate that the daughter occupies for her boarding school. The broad grounds are still further beautified with many kinds of trees—stately elms, graceful maples, evergreens in variety—standing in pretty clumps, rows, and singly by themselves; a gem of a lakelet borders one side of it; the Abajonna flows along another; marble statuary in artistic design and finish are scattered among the trees and in out-of-the-way nooks on the park-like estate, and a more charming spot for a Ladies Boarding School or an evening promenade it would be difficult indeed to find.

The large fine mansion—the Ashley Hall—and extensive grounds were magnificently illuminated on this occasion. Hundreds of beautiful Chinese lanterns swung among the foliage, pendent from overarching boughs, in the halls, and along the porches of the mansion, and the whole seemed like a fairy scene, one in the highest degree brilliant and captivating to the senses.

Here and there on the lawn, among the trees, or leisurely threading the gravelled walks, listening to the music of the band on the veranda, or drinking in the other delights of the splendid scene, were guests in pairs, groups, and solitaire, and an uncommonly beautiful picture did it all make.

The party opened at 6 o'clock and the first hour was devoted to a view of the charming grounds and surrounding landscapes, wandering amid the grand old trees, and in introductions and acquaintance-making. Delightful instrumental music enhanced the pleasure of everything else, and as darkness approached the Chinese lanterns were hung and shed brilliancy and a charm everywhere.

An elegant repast was announced in due season, and seated about the tables were a very large company of happy people. Besides a great variety of the delicate and dainty edibles of the season for the palate and stomach's sake the spare assumed somewhat the character of a "feast of reason and flow of soul," for the conversation was lively, witty, gay, and in keeping with the lawn party spirit that prevailed.

After supper the gathering of ladies and gentlemen, pupils and teachers, broke up into squads and renewed their strolls through the groves and among the fragrant flowering shrubs, listened to more sweet music, chatted, laughed and sung, and by and by, at an eminently proper hour, the company dissolved and left the delightful scene for their respective homes.

And as the closing party of the Ashley Hall school for the long summer vacation it was a very brilliant and successful affair.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Woburn Woman's Club.

The Woburn Woman's Club held its last meeting before the summer recess on the afternoon of Friday, June 5. The afternoon was devoted to the study of the life and writings of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. The literary and musical entertainment was given by members of the Club and the daughters of members.

The programme was as follows with a slight change in the order:

I. Paper—Sketch of Mrs. Browning.
Mrs. Vanie B. Dow.
II. Song, "Insufficiency" (words by Mrs. Browning.) Mrs. Sarah C. Phinney.
III. Readings from Mrs. Browning—
1. "De Profundis." Mrs. Mary E. Johnson.
2. "Mother and Poet." Mrs. Mary E. Doyle.
3. "Romance of the Swan's nest." Mrs. Bond.
4. Selection from Aurora Leigh.
Mrs. Evelyn M. Trull.
IV. Song, "Unless." (Words by Mrs. Browning.) Miss Remsdell.
V. Song, "I go to prove my soul." (Words by Mrs. Browning.) Mrs. Sarah C. Phinney.

There followed short quotations from Mrs. Browning's poems given by various members of the Club.

Miss Mary A. Frost gave an interesting account of her visit some four years ago to to the grave of Mrs. Browning at Florence.

Miss Mertena Bancroft added to the pleasure of the vocal music by her graceful piano accompaniments.

Mrs. Estelle M. H. Merrill, President of the New England Woman's Press Association, was present as the guest of Mrs. Phinney; but being pressed for time she was unable to respond to the President's invitation to speak to the Club in regard to the Council of Women recently held in Orange, N. J. But her friendly words of greeting and sympathy were warmly welcomed and she expressed much pleasure in the afternoon's exercises.

Music Hall having its red stage curtain dropped and a temporary platform placed at the foot of the stage seemed cheery; and the vases of beautiful flowers added a homelike grace which the hall had previously lacked.

The Club always enjoys its "home talent" meetings; and it seemed fitting that the "goodbye" gathering of the early summer should be as cosey and social as so well filled a programme would allow—G. M. B.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from accident while in their employ.

Also, general accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Lewis Music School.

This school will remain open until July 29, 1891, for the present season. Pupils received any time for Lessons in any Branch of Musical Study. Excellent Teachers. Unsurpassed Methods. Convenient Location, Dow's Building, over the Woburn Post-Office. Business Hours—8 A. M., 6 and 7 P. M., just at these hours. Now is the time to arrange for the Summer Months.

F. H. LEWIS, Director.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

Prize Drill of the W. H. S. B.

This notable event, which had been looked forward to with a keen interest not only by the youthful soldiers and their immediate families but by the community at large, took place at the Rink last Friday evening in the presence of the Drillmaster, Mr. Samuel W. Mendum, who is very proud of his "boys;" Mayor Bean; David F. Moreland, Esq., City Clerk; Aldermen Davis, Pushee, Dearborn, Ham, Walsh; the Board of Common Council; William F. Kenney, Esq., Chairman of the School Board, who delivered the prizes in a very graceful manner; and a large company of spectators, among whom were a numerous sprinkling of school girls (some of them to be "sweet girl graduates" this month) who were just more than deeply interested in the results.

The gallant companies marched to the Rink keeping step to the martial music of the Woburn Fife and Drum Corps and when they entered the huge building and stood up straight and proud under the brilliant electric lights a more manly, nicer appearing, or better mannered School Battalion it would be hard to find in Massachusetts. No wonder the good people of the city and the bright, pretty, jolly school girls were proud of Woburn's juvenile soldiery.

Major Irving R. Bancroft, who has a fine military carriage and bearing, was in command of the Battalion; Capt. Edwin K. Porter, who has true military blood in his veins, was in command of Co. A; and Capt. J. Chester Hanson, a straight, handsome lad, with keen eye and quick movement, commanded Co. B.

The exercises were witnessed with marked attention and pleasure.

The programme consisted of guard-mount by details from both companies, formation of line, review of Battalion drill by Maj. Bancroft, competitive Company drill (each Company in charge of its Captain), competitive drill for medals, Adjt. Elliott F. Trull commanding, dress parade.

Quartermaster George G. Barker was Officer of the Day.

The judges were: Capt. W. W. Stover, Company A; Lieut. W. S. Tolman, Company C, and Lieut. Fred McDonald, Company H, all of the 5th Regiment.

The past officers of the Battalion contributed a sword and belt to be presented to the Captain of the winning Company. This was won by Company B, and the presentation was made to Capt. Hanson by ex-Capt. Homer B. Grant of the class of '88.

The medals were presented by William F. Kenney, Chairman of the School Committee, to the following: Gold medal, Sergt. Oliver M. Wade, Jr.; silver medal, Sergt. John Jaquith.

The writer of the following highly complimentary notice of the drill which we clip from the Lynn Item of last Saturday evening and reproduce in the JOURNAL with pleasure can be easily guessed:

The fourth annual prize drill of the Woburn High School Battalion took place on Friday evening, June 5, as briefly noticed elsewhere. This Battalion, it will be remembered, was present at the recent drill in Lynn, and was entertained by Woburn friends now residing in Lynn, two or three of whom were present on Friday evening. The rink was packed to the door.

The drill was given at the old skating rink, Montvale avenue, spacious floor room being there afforded for the evolutions. The drill was so marked in improvement over that given in Lynn that it deserves more than a passing notice. The Battalion is composed of but two Companies, and thus strict attention to details is insured. Attached to the Battalion is the High School Fife and Drum Corps, in itself no mean attraction, especially when its inspiring music and the make-up of members is considered. Two little fellows, Johnson and Converse, both imbibing the military spirit of their families, are marvels of proficiency at their ages, and of course "take the cake" at the table of exercises.

Co. A, Capt. Edwin K. Porter, first took the floor after Battalion movements. The boys were heartily greeted, and at once put on a look of business. Their marching was splendid, slightly faulty, perhaps, by column of fours in the dress and distances, yet eliciting warm applause from their many friends present. The Company came into line in fine style, and made some excellent wheels which "brought down the house." The manual of arms, particularly the manual without command, was highly commendable and was continuously applauded, making the veterans present ask "Where are we?" The boys were well cheered as they concluded the drill and broke ranks.

Company B boys, Captain J. C. Hanson, then came upon the boards. They had the advantage over the first Company in appearance in line, being sized to a nicety, and evidently every man in his accustomed place. They put on a "get there" determination to win, and went about their work handsomely. Their marching seemed faultless and the wheels were immense, bringing out rounds of applause. In marching by column the distance was well preserved, and by Company the alignment seemed perfect. The manual, also, was fine, the "silent" exercises being, as with the first Company, of a high order of merit. The "B" boys retired with well-deserved honors, and, as noted, captured the prize.

The competitive drill for medals followed, Adjutant Elliott F. Trull commanding, and was a contest hard to decide after the reduction in numbers. The result, as given in another place, no doubt was satisfactory to all concerned, where general excellence is considered. The entire drill showed care and unremitting labor on the part of the military instructor. Woburn should be proud of these youthful soldiers.

Newspapers.

Our esteemed contemporary, The Canton Journal, came out last week with a brand new head. It is very neat and artistic in design and execution and a big improvement on the old one.

The Peabody Reporter has been compelled to increase its size in order to meet the demands of its patrons. The Reporter is intensely American; down on the Roman Catholics; feminst foreigners; a sort of Know Nothing paper—and is enjoying a wonderfully prosperous career in our sister leather town of Peabody. It has also put on a new head. Long may it wave.

Low Fares on B. & M.

It is only a few days ago since the trunk lines and their connections fixed the rate to St. Paul and return at $29 50 on the occasion of the holding of the annual convention of the Christian Endeavor societies, which takes place there in July next. Now the Boston & Maine and its connection comes to the front and offers a rate of only $29 50 from Boston to St. Paul by any of their various routes, with the privilege of returning via through car routes. At the same time the sleeping car rate has been fixed at only $4. This rate is shorn of all emoluments, commission, etc., which in the case of the other lines are paid out of their $29 50 rate, presumably to parties who may be interested in getting up the excursions. At the same time, if a sufficient number of

A FINE LINE OF

Parasols

may be found at our Store. They are of the Best Quality, and at the lowest possible price.

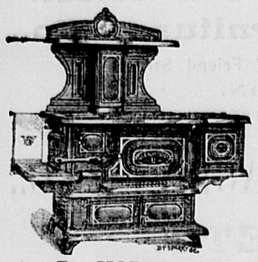
Also, a Superior Line of

Summer Corsets

FOR 50c. 75c. $1.00 A PAIR.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Executor's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Probate Court within and for the County of Middlesex, dated June 9th, 1891, the subscriber, Executor of the will of Michael Connell, late of Woburn in said County of Middlesex, deceased, will sell at public auction, on the premises hereafter described, on Monday, the twenty-ninth day of June, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, a certain lot of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn on the easterly side of Washington street, containing about three-sixteenths of an acre, bounded as follows, viz: Westerly on and by said Washington street; northeasterly and easterly by the old Canal bed; and southerly by land of Heirs of Charles Porter, deceased. $100.00 of the purchase will be required at time of sale; balance in 10 days.

THOMAS CONNELL,
Executor of the will of Michael Connell.

For futher particulars inquire of J. G. Maguire, Attorney for Executor, 596 Main street, Woburn, Mass.

Woburn, June 10, 1891.

Woburn Board of Trade.

NOTICE.

At the Regular Meeting held May 19, 1891, notice was given of the following changes in the articles of Association to be voted on at the Regular Meeting to be held at 8.30 P. M., June 16, 1891—1st. To change the word "Town" wherever it occurs, to the word "City." 2d. To insert the words, "the Secretary, Treasurer," after the clause, "The Vice Presidents," in article III. 3d. To change the word "Tuesday," to "Monday," wherever it occurs. In addition to voting on the above changes, Reports of Committees will be made, and a discussion on "Streets and Sidewalks of Woburn" will take place.

Signed,
F. H. LEWIS, Secretary.

Woburn, June 12, 1891.

WANTED.

A good man used to farm work, good Milker, and good with the Sythe. A man with a family preferred.

Inquire at this Office.

Post 161 Memorial Service.

As announced in last week's JOURNAL Woburn Post 161, with their invited guests, Burbank Post No. 33, and many ladies and gentlemen of the city, held Memorial Services in honor of four Comrades whom death had removed from the Post during the year, on last Sunday evening at their Headquarters in Savings Bank block. The ceremonies, which were solemn and impressive, being conducted in conformity to the Ritual, were witnessed with deep interest and the strictest attention was bestowed on the proceedings from first to last.

The Veterans of both Posts appeared in uniform. This was the first service of the kind ever held by the Post and it was supposed that the holding of it was largely due to the instrumentality of Commander Frank W. Graves, who, since his election to the honorable and responsible office, has been indefatigable in inaugurating and carrying out business and other important reforms in the Post.

An intelligent and trustworthy reporter of the Boston JOURNAL said this about the services and we take the liberty to adopt his words in this report. After the announcement the writer goes on to say:

"Memorial speeches were made as follows: Comrade J. Fred Leslie, for Comrade Geo. Perkins of the Sixth New York Battery; Comrade E. F. Wyer, for Comrade James W. McDonald, Major of the Eleventh Massachusetts Infantry; Comrade James L. Pinkham, for Comrade Charles Flagg of the Fifth Regiment, Massachusetts Infantry; and Comrade Henry C. Hall, for Comrade George H. Holt of the Sixteenth Maine Infantry. The ritualistic service of the G. A. R. was read by the officers, the Ladies' Schubert Quartette sang appropriate selections and Rev. D. D. Winn of the Baptist Church gave an address. In the front of the hall was a raised altar and four vacant chairs draped in mourning. Post 161 attended in uniform in a body, as did also Burbank Post 33, by special invitation. Besides the veterans, there was a large attendance of spectators. This was the first service of the kind ever held by this Post, as no comrades had passed away previous to last year."

One word more: The music was very fine and could not have been more appropriate. The Ladies Schubert Quartette are winning golden opinions for their excellent work these days.

Are You Saving Our

Cash Slips.

Bring them in to be redeemed on or before July 1st.

If you haven't the full amount bring in what you have.

Our offer in regard to our Cash Slips ends with July 1st.

C. Willard Smith

Dry Goods and Carpets,

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

Sergeant Ambler.

Finding himself once more on his feet, although not fully restored to his former robust physical condition, Sergeant Isaac W. Ambler will soon be seen again on the rostrum talking about the soldier, and in praise of the soldier from among the people, for the "Old Sergeant" was one of them and is a true friend of the common classes. Years back he was a famous temperance lecturer and champion; a Preacher of the Gospel; a City Missionary; and a friend and advocate of good morals and pure living all along the line.

"The Old Sergeant" is a unique character. When the first shot was fired at Sumpter he was City Missionary at Biddeford, Maine, giving his time, talents and energies to making men better and happier. When the echo of that shot was heard he dropped everything else and made his way to the front. He threw his whole soul into the great, grand work of squelching the Rebellion, and the duties he was set to discharge were those of an Instructor in Military Tactics for the officers and men of the Union Army. In this capacity he taught over 50,000 people, a great many of them the highest officers in the army—from Major Generals down to Corporals—and to his skill and intelligent tuition was due in a great measure the rapidity with which our officers and men mastered a knowledge of the Manual of Tactics. He had gained this knowledge while serving as Sergeant and Drill-master in the English Army.

Sergeant Ambler went to the front—went to this Regiment and to that Regiment, to this Company and to that Company, hither and yon, wherever most needed—to teach officers and men how to become soldiers—to instruct them in the use of the sword and the musket; how to ride; how to march—to make them proficients in military knowledge. He went wherever ordered to go; took up and discharged every duty entrusted to him; served faithfully at the front; and shirked no hardship, toil or deprivation. He was one of the "Boys in Blue," and an honest and faithful one he was too.

But unfortunately for the "Old Sergeant" he was not "mustered" into Uncle Sam's service. In the rush and go of the early days of the Rebellion, when he left the city missionary field for Southern battle-fields, exact legal military steps were not thought so much of as they have been in cases where the poor soldier has tried to get his pay or pension since the War was done. Everybody said Sergeant Ambler would be paid in full by a grateful Nation after the struggle was over, and the Sergeant believed it—or whether he did or not, it made no difference to him in the discharge of his duties to his adopted country while in her big fight for existence.

But when the War cloud had rolled away and the "Old Sergeant" asked Uncle Sam to pay him for his services he was met with prompt denial; there was no money for the brave soldier; the government did not know him because, heedless of forms and ceremonies, the Sergeant had pitched into the fight before his name had been enrolled and he was too busy helping to save the Union afterwards to attend to it.

Governors of States, Union Officers from the highest to the lowest, Statesmen, Editors, Ministers, Distinguished Citizens, Legislators, Senators and Representatives in Congress, Judges, Mayors and private citizens, have asked Congress to pay the Old Soldier what Gen. McClellen, Meade, Hancock, Devens, Blaine, Long, Abbott, Butler, and hundreds of other distinguished military men and civilians have said over and over again honestly belonged to him, but all to no purpose. To be sure, Senator Hoar introduced bills in the U. S. Senate in 1887 which provided for the payment of a just debt due Sergeant Ambler, but there they stopped and will probably stay until the crack of doom, although there is not a soldier in the land but says the Sergeant ought to have his pay, and have it now. Truly, "Republics are ungrateful."

Now, Sergeant Ambler is old and poor. His support is derived almost entirely from the sale of his "Life," which the soldiers readily and gladly buy, and lecturing. He has been roughly and dishonestly treated by the government; he is a good true man, and an American; and the above facts have been stated by us in hopes that a right-minded public—everybody who wants to see fair play, and especially everybody who thinks well of the Veterans—here and elsewhere, would take hold heartily and give the "Old Sergeant" an encouraging boost with his books and his platform efforts to do good and make a living for himself and a dear invalid companion.

Invalids find Mellin's Food a most satisfactory and nourishing article of diet. Its method of preparation renders it acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and its strengthening properities are wonderful.

Their Annual Regatta.

The poet assures us that sometimes mistakes happen the best regulated families. The non-appearance of this account of the annual regatta of the Innitou Canoe Club on Horn Pond last Memorial Day was the result of a mistake. In the particulars of it the public would not be interested so we will go no farther than to affirm that it was "an error of the head and not of the heart."

It was a spirited and very enjoyable affair both to the Club and spectators. People called it the most successful and satisfactory regatta that has ever taken place on Horn Pond, the banks of which were alive with men women and children all the time the sport was on. The weather was good, the movements of the light craafts were neat, and everything passed off in fine style.

L. Waldo Thompson was judge, Arthur C. Wyer, starter, and J. Chester Cotton, was stationed at the turn near the island.

The first race was for single paddles, the the entries being; J. Winn Brown, Harry G. Wyer, Edward T. Brigham, Edward F. Wyer, William W. Crosby, Stillman Shaw, William W. Wade. The prize, a silver cup, was won by Brown in 8m. 20s. the distance being about half a mile.

The second was a tandem, the prize a ribbon badge, and was contested for by H. G. and E. F. Wyer, Crosby and Shaw, Brigham and W. W. Wade. Crosby and Shaw won. Nime—7m. 15s.

The third was a double-bladed race, and was won by D. B. Dimick in 8m. 30s.

The trio race was won by Brown, H. G. Wyer and Crosby. Time 7 m. 10s.

"Chipman's Liver Pills the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Burlington.

Mrs. Florence Estabrook, wife of Dr. C. E. Estabrook, now a resident of England, is visiting her father Capt. J. F. Rice.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the church by a special service for the children in the morning and a Sunday school concert in the evening at half past seven o'clock.

By a mistake in reporting the public exercises on Memorial Day the recitation by Miss Mary Foster was not mentioned. It was an attractive feature of the programme and reflected great credit upon little Miss Foster.

The teachers and scholars of the Sunday School have for several weeks been preparing to celebrate in an appropriate manner the twentieth anniversary of the election of their present Superintendent Mr. T. I. Reed. Mr. Reed was artfully beguiled into helping Rev. C. F. Hersey receive the members of school when they gave a reception to their pastor Friday evening. After the little folks and older people had been regaled with cake and lemonade, served by the Ladies Benevolent Society, Mr. Hersey made a short address and, in behalf of the school, presented Mr. Reed with a handsome silver and glass berry dish and spoon suitably inscribed. Mr. Reed although completely surprised responded with an expression of thanks and pleasure that they appreciated his long and faithful labor for the school. A large number attended and all seemed to heartily enjoy the occasion.

WINCHESTER.

James Noonan has been elected Captain of Hose 1.

The Episcopalian boy choir is getting on famously.

Jacob M. Ellis has finished the excavations south of the station.

Mr. and Mrs. Abijah Thompson have engaged rooms for the summer at Hull.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richards will summer at Osterville with Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hollingsworth.

Last Wednesday p. m. Miss Eva Moore Palmer graduated from the Boston University and took her degree of A. B.

BUCHANAN & LYALL'S PLANET B·L NEPTUNE TOBACCO CO

BUY

B·L

TOBACCO

BEST MADE

Vose & Sons PIANOS ESTABLISHED 1851. 28,000 SOLD AND IN USE.

NEW STYLES
ELEGANT DESIGNS,
SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP,
GREAT DURABILITY,
EASY TERMS.

New and Second-hand Pianos rented, and one year's rent allowed on the purchase price.

100 Second-hand Pianos, in good order, ranging from $50 to $275 in price. Some have had but little use.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO.,
170 Tremont St.

YOUR GARDEN

HOSE IS BURST!

A CHILD CAN MEND IT

With a box of the HUDSON HOSE MENDER. Send for directions How to Do It. It costs you nothing if you mention this paper.

C. E. HUDSON, Leominster, Mass.

BICYCLE FOR SALE.

52 inch EXPERT "COLUMBIA" in A, 1 order, at a sacrifice.

Apply to
COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor. Park St.,
Woburn, Mass.

Mowing Machine
FOR SALE.

In firstclass shape. Cheap.
Apply at
71 Wyman St.,
E. C. COLMAN.

FOR SALE.

House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.

Inquire of Wm. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.

Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economies and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

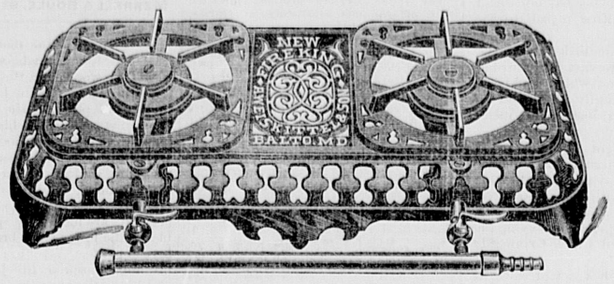
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING — AND — HEATING.



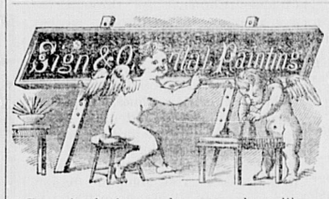
WOBURN, May 1, 1891.

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Keeney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.



Wm. A. Mullett,

House, Sign & Fresco Painter.

Paper Hanging
and Decorating

Done in the best and most workmanlike manner, at the lowest living price, and at short notice.

I have just opened a new Store on Walnut Street with a good selection of Wall Papers and Borders, also Window Shades, Mouldings, &c., and would solicit a share of your patronage, and guarantee to give satisfaction.

All goods sold at Boston Prices.

Store, No. 6 Walnut St., House 22 Church St.,
WOBURN, MASS.

Boys' and Children's Department.

1000 Suits, New Spring Styles, Fancy Cassimeres and Scotch Mixed Goods, only $3.50 and $5.00 a suit.

Great Bargains in Short Pants Suits at $1.50, $2.00 and $2 50.

200 pairs Boys' Blue Flannel Pants, only 50 cents.

1000 pairs Boys' Cassimere Short Pants, only 50 and 75 cents, were 75 cents and $1.00.

Boys' and Children's Spring Suits, at only $3.00 and $4.00.

250 Boys' Long Pants Suits, only $8.00 and $10.00, worth double the money.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, short pants, only $5.00.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, long pants, only $10.00.

"Commonwealth"

CLOTHING HOUSE,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts., Boston.

July 4 Fireworks

Our Unrivalled Collection or Assorted Cases of High Grade Fireworks meet the wants of all consumers unfamiliar with a judicious selection of such materials.

Their absolute and pre-emintent excellence is well known; no other goods surpass our make in variety, design, or colors; in size, weight and safety.

They are the acknowledged Standard everywhere.

These cases contain from a toy display for One Dollar to a TOWN or CITY'S EXHIBIT for $200.00 and upwards.

A direct order to us saves the purchaser over fifty per cent on retail rates, and all freight and express charges to destination. We make free deliveries to any point, and guarantee satisfaction to every patron who complies with the terms as advertised in our catalogue in reference to remittance for these assortments.

Send for Catalogue for full particulars.

Ask your dealer for The American Cannon Cracker. They create no fires and they make five times more noise than the Chinese goods. Address

Masten & Wells,

Fireworks Manufacturers,

18 Hawley St., Boston, Mass.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Charles G. Lund, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Charles G. Lund and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, D. H. Sweetser and E. D. Hayden, the trustees under said will, have presented for allowance the third account of their trusteeship;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustees are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the Estate of Lucy A. Barnard, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Frederic Hinckley of Boston in the County of Suffolk, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of George Skelton, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased, intestate;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to John W. Johnson of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the Estate under deed given by Oliver B. Coolidge to Ebenezer Lawrence, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, given in trust for the benefit of Abijah Thompson and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, the Trustee under said deed, has presented his petition for license to sell certain real estate therein specified, held by him as such trustee;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

CLUB WINDOWS

Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square,
BOSTON.

Executors' Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. George M. Brooks, Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, we shall sell at Public Auction, on Tuesday, the sixteenth day of June, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, the Homestead, consisting of a lot of land containing about 36,820 square feet, with the fine dwelling-house and stable thereon, situated at the corner of Main and School streets, in Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, Mass., in that part thereof called "North Woburn," and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises, at the corner of said Main and School streets, the line runs north 9° 30' west, on and by said Main street about one hundred and six and nine-tenths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by said Main street, about eighty-five and five-tenths feet to land late of Prince S. Barnard, deceased; thence turning to the right, the line runs north 84° east, by land last named, about two hundred and eighty-three and seven-tenths feet to land of Joseph B. McDonald; thence turning to the right the line runs south 12° east, by land of said McDonald, about ninety-nine and eight-tenths feet to a corner; thence turning to the right, the line runs westerly by land late of said Barnard and land of Charles Buck, about seventy-eight and twenty-five one-hundredths feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the left, the line runs still by land of said Buck, about twelve feet to an angle; thence turning slightly to the right, the line runs westerly by land of said Buck and land of Hartly J. Tarr, about one hundred and thirteen feet to a corner; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 7° 30' east, by land of said Tarr, about eighty and seven-tenths feet to said School street; thence turning to the left, the line runs south 78° 10' west, on and by said School street, about ninety-one and one-tenth feet to the point of beginning. Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

At half past two of the o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, will be sold on said Homestead above described, a certain other lot of land situated in said Woburn, known as the "Brooks Tay lot," near to and easterly of said Woburn, containing about two acres, with the water privilege thereto pertaining, and bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by Middle street; northerly and easterly by land now or formerly of heirs of Elijah Richardson, and southerly by land now or formerly of Col. Stone.

Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes thereon for the year 1891.

Other terms and conditions made known at the times and places of sale.

PARKER L. CONVERSE,
LEONARD THOMPSON,
Executors of Will of Abigail Winn.

Woburn, May 28, 1891.

Special Bargains at

— AT —

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

As we leave Woburn for the Summer by the middle of June, we will give our Customers some extra values in the following goods:

Black India Twill, 40 in. wide 50c., worth 75c.
Black India Twill, 44 in. wide 70c., worth $1.00
Black Henrietta, 40 in. wide 50c., worth 75c.
Black Henrietta 46 in. wide 90c., worth $1.20.
Fancy Brilliantine 25c., worth 50c.
Table Damask, Red Spreads, Napkins and Doyles at less than wholesale prices.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

TO LET
MAY 1, 1891.

Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

WORKING MEN OF WOBURN.

If you pay for good stout Overalls you are unwise for I ask only — 50 cents / 39 cents.

Or if you pay for Working Shirts I will sell you the same quality for — 50 cents, / 39 cents.

And so of Outing Shirts. If you pay 29 or 25c. I will sell you the same for 23c. If you pay 50c. I will sell the same for 39c.

And so of Jumpers and all Underwear.

In fact any goods that laboring men buy in my line will be sold from 25% to 33% under the regular price.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Blue Store.

Blue Store.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers, 5c.
Gilt " " 10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Summer Goods Just Receive

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

PRICE OF

Butter Reduced!

As the supply of new Butter is increasing we are enabled to quote lower prices than at any time since last fall.

We have a full assortment of all grades.

Our best Butter is very fine and warranted to please every time.

We have also reduced the price of Flour 25 cents per bbl.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

For Sale.

House, 8 rooms, 10,000 feet of land, frontage on Main street about 81 feet, first class neighborhood, about five minutes from the Centre. House in thorough repair, bay windows. Will sell this house at a bargain as the owner is going to move to New Hampshire. Come quick if you intend to buy and see E. J. GREGORY, Real Estate Agent.

FOR SALE.

The Estate corner of Main and Richardson St., is the best piece of investment property in the city; will sell the whole or in part viz., House 9 rooms, barn, carriage and greenhouses and about 16,000 feet of land. Price $4000 on easy terms; also the other half of the property comprising about 21,000 feet, will make 6 good house lots 40x90. Call and see me and get the terms.

Also Estates for sale on Glenwood street, Mann's Court, Canal, Bedford, Main, Ash, High, Church, Grove streets, and also good first class building lots on Read street and others.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent,

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

BOSTON OFFICE: Globe Building, Room 6.

Special Office Hours: Woburn, 8 to 9 A. M., 3.30 to 5 P. M.

Boston Office Hours, 10 to 3 P. M.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.

BLUE STORE.

C. E. SMITH.

BOOK OF THE LAW FOUND

LESSON XI, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 14.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxxiv, 14-28. Commit Verses, 14-16—Golden Text, Ps. cxix, 72—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

14. "Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the Lord given by Moses."

Hezekiah cleansed and repaired the temple and restored the true worship.

He was succeeded by his son Manasseh, who reigned fifty-five years, and for a part of his reign tried to do as much for the devil as his father had done for God; but being taken prisoner and carried to Babylon, he repented and became a changed man; and being restored to his throne and kingdom, he sought to restore the worship of the true God. His son Amon reigned two years and did evil. He was succeeded by Josiah, his son, in whose reign our lesson is found. He began to reign at the age of 8 years; when 16 he began to seek God; and when 20 he began to cleanse the land of idols. At the age of 26 he began to repair the house of the Lord (see vs. 1, 3, 8), and it was as the priest took the money from the receptacles in the temple into which the people had put it that this old book was found.

15. "I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord."

Thus said Hilkiah, the priest, to Shaphan, the scribe, as he gave him the book. It is probable that this is the book referred to in Deut. xxxi, 24-26, and if so it would be nearly 800 years old.

16. "And Shaphan carried the book to the king."

As Shaphan went to report to the king concerning the accomplishment of the work he took the book with him, having first read it for himself (II Kings xxii, 8).

17. "They have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and have delivered it into the hands of the overseers, and to the hand of the workmen."

18. "Hilkiah the priest hath given me a book. And Shaphan read in it before the king."

19. "And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes."

By the law is the knowledge of sin (Rom. iii, 20), and as Josiah heard the law of the Lord he saw as he never had before how great the sins of the nation were. His heart trembled at the word, and therefore he was a blessed man (Isa. lxvi, 2).

20, 21. "Go, inquire of the Lord for me, and for them that are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found."

These men were appointed by the king to ascertain more fully concerning these words. Here is a priest and a king, but a prophet is wanted who will make plain the word of the Lord.

"Great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the Lord to do after all that is written in this book."

There is more than enough in any of the last six chapters of Deuteronomy or in Lev. xxvi to cause Josiah to have uttered these words; and it was manifest to all that many of these curses had already actually come upon the land and upon the people because of their sins.

22. "And Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed went to Huldah, the prophetess."

This was in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign, or five years after Jeremiah began to prophecy (Jer. i, 2), and we wonder that they did not go to him. Zephaniah also prophesied in Josiah's reign (Zeph. i, 1), but for some reason the messengers go to Huldah.

23. "And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, tell ye the man that sent you to me."

These men were only the messengers of King Josiah; their business was to deliver the king's message correctly and carry back a correct answer. Happy are all messengers who are privileged to carry a "Thus saith the Lord!"

24. "Thus saith the Lord, Behold I will bring evil upon this place, all the curses that are written in the book."

In Jer. ii, 12; vi, 19, the Lord calls heaven and earth to witness against the people because of their sins; and also in Isa. i, 2. In Jer. xix, 3, 15; xxxv, 17, He also repeats what He here says by Huldah, that He will surely bring evil upon them.

25. "Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods."

Many were the entreaties by Moses and Joshua not to forsake God, and solemn the warnings as to what the result would be if they forsook Him (see Deut. xxxi, 16, 17; Josh. xxiv, 20). And yet that very thing they did, so that the prophets and Psalms are full of lamentations because Israel forsook the God of their fathers (Jer. ii, 12; v, 7; ix, 13; xix, 4; xxii, 9, etc.).

26. "And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say unto him."

The evil spoken of was to come upon the ungodly people, but the Lord knoweth them that are His (II Tim. ii, 19), and no evil can befall them. Ezekiel saw in a vision a man with a writer's inkhorn, who was to set a mark upon the foreheads of those who sighed and cried because of the abominations done in the land; and when the destroying angel went forth he was to begin at the sanctuary, but not come near any upon whom was the mark.

27. "Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thyself before God when thou heardst his words."

The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart. A broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace to the humble (Ps. xxxiv, 18; lvii, 17; Jas. iv, 6). He observes all who tremble at His word, and is ready to show Himself strong on their behalf (Isa. lxvi, 2; I Chron. xvi, 9). He hears the prayers of such. When we take heed to His word, and ask in accordance therewith, we may be sure that He hears.

28. "Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil."

Josiah was not to witness the sufferings of his people nor the desolation of his land. It was God's will for him that he should have a peaceful death and burial, while his spirit went to join the company of the redeemed who had passed over before him. That he died in battle was owing to his willfulness and his refusing to heed the words of God through Necho (chap. xxxv, 22, 23). We bring much evil upon ourselves which God would gladly spare us if we were only obedient. Let us humble ourselves to walk with God, and be in the fear of the Lord all the day long (Prov. xxiii, 17). Let us stand with the faithful few who seek to do right in the sight of the Lord. And may we be able to say sincerely, "The law of Thy mouth is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver!"

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Fairhaven is having a bitter quarrel over its high school-teacher. Three have already walked the plank, the scholars rule, the school committee weep and gibe another, battles of the tongue are endless, and the end is not yet.

TWO WAYS TO LIVE ON EARTH.

There are two ways to live on earth:
Two ways to judge, to act, to view;
For all things here have double birth—
A right, a wrong; a false, a true.

Give me the home where kindness seeks
To make that sweet which seemeth small;
Where every lip in fondness speaks,
And every mind hath care for all;

Whose inmates live in glad exchange
Of pleasures, free from vain expense;
Whose lives beyond their means ne'er range,
Nor wise denials give offense;

Who in a neighbor's fortune find
No wish, no impulse to complain;
Who feel not—never felt—the mind
To envy yet another's gain!

Who dream not of the mocking tide
Ambition's foiled endeavor meets—
The bitter pange of wounded pride,
Nor fallen power that shuns the streets.

Though Fate deny its glitt'ring store,
Love's wealth is still the wealth to choose;
For all that gold can purchase more
Are gauds—it is no loss to lose!

Some beings, wheresoe'er they go,
Find naught to please or to exalt;
Their constant study but to show
Perpetual modes of finding fault.

While others, in the ceaseless round
Of daily wants and daily care,
Can yet cull flowers from common ground,
And twice enjoy the joy they share!

Oh, happy they who happy make!
Who, blessing, still themselves are blest!
Who something spare for others' sake,
And strive, in all things, for the best!
—New York Ledger.

The Last Gladiatorial Combat.

Gladiatorial games were prohibited by an edict of the Emperor Constantine in A. D. 325, but from some cause, probably the loudly expressed disapprobation of the people, the edict was allowed to fall into disuse, and its penalties were never visited on its violators. During the reign of Honorius the defeat of the Goths in Italy was celebrated by games, but in the midst of the fights in the amphitheater of Vespasian a monk named Telemachus found his way into the arena and parted the combatants with a large processional cross.

The populace swarmed over the barricades and tore the monk to pieces, but the moral effect of the heroic act was permanent, and in A. D. 404 an imperial edict abolished gladiatorial sports in the Coliseum, and shortly after throughout the Roman empire. The fight stopped by Telemachus was the last in the Coliseum, and that structure is now consecrated to the honor of Telemachus and the Christian martyrs who perished in the persecutions by Nero and other emperors.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Marriage Made Easy.

A number of ladies and gentlemen were assembled at dinner to celebrate a friend's wedding. After the banquet, a young barrister got up to propose a matrimonial scheme, which was at once adopted. A president was elected who was pledged to eternal secrecy by a solem oath. All unmarried persons of either sex wrote each on a piece of paper his own name and that of the person whom he desired to marry. The papers were handed to the president, a man of mature age, married and grave as became his office. It was his duty to acquaint the two parties who had mutually selected each other. Result: eleven couples thus had the opportunity of confessing their feelings to one another for the first time, and a month later eight weddings came off. The others followed in a short time. Eccentric, but the end justifies the means.—Le Monde Pittoresque.

Found a Petrified Turtle.

Mr. J. Lewis, of Arlington, has a curiosity that he discovered while breaking up rock to make pillars for his house. He broke a large rock open, and in the center of it was found embedded a turtle. Not a live turtle, but a petrified one. He says it did not crawl off, but it looked so natural he expected to see it do so.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Duke of Devonshire's conservatory at Chatsworth is unrivaled. It covers nearly an acre of ground, measures 300 feet in length, 145 feet in breadth, is 65 feet high, and has 70,000 square feet of glass. There is a carriage road through it fom end to end. The orangery at Chatsworth is 180 feet long, 27 feet wide, and 21 feet high. It is lighted from the top by a glass roof.

There is scarcely a day but sees one or more funeral trains running out of the Grand Central station in New York to Woodlawn cemetery. Two cars have been fitted up especially for funeral purposes by the Central road. They are called Woodlawn cars, and each has a compartment forward for the casket.

There is said to be a large field for the growth and manufacture of tobacco in Victoria, but so far the efforts made in this direction have met only with indifferent success, owing to the defects arising from want of knowledge in the drying and treatment of the leaf after it has been cut.

In the United States there are eaten every day 2,250,000 pies. Each week, 16,750,000. Each year, 819,000,000, at a total cost of $164,000,000—an amount greater than the internal revenue and more than enough to pay the interest on the national debt.

The governor general of India, the viceroy, receives a salary of $250,000 a year, with allowances that include a gorgeous palace at Calcutta and a summer residence, all making his position worth $500,000 a year.

The poisonous elements called ptomaines accumulate in cans and metal vessels of all kinds with great rapidity. A single hour under favorable conditions will develop millions of infinitesimal pests.

A Fortunate Woman.

Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., has reason to be very thankful. She was a great sufferer from heart disease for years. Was short of breath, had hungry spells, pain in her side, fluttering, faintness, etc. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, she says, "I am better than for 20 years. My mind and eyesight have improved wonderfully. I advise all peasons thus afflicted to use this great remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss druggist. Dr. Miles' work on Heart Disease, containing marvelous testimonials, free.

A reward of $25 has been offered by the trustees for the conviction of any person found disfiguring the agricultural grounds or surroundings at Bridgewater.

The Father

Of all diseases is impure blood, when loaded with foul humor. How important then that the blood should be pure, rich, and strong, without which there can be no health. To purify the blood Sulphur Bitters is incomparably the best medicine that it is possible to obtain.—The Editor.

A HAIR CUT THAT WAS TORTURE.

The Barber's Dog Watches During the Operation, Hoping for Flesh.

A subject of frequent complaint among American men who travel in Europe is the lack of skill on the part of barbers, who seldom know how to use their razors without inflicting suffering upon their customers. So few men, comparatively, depend upon barbers to be shaved in the Old World that the art is not always mastered by those who practice it. A traveler in England relates an incident, however, which seems to indicate that barbers in the country districts are no more expert in cutting hair than they are in shaving.

"I was traveling leisurely through Warwickshire, the country of Shakespeare," this traveler says, "when, seeing a rather neat barber shop and being aware that my hair needed cutting, I went in and submitted myself to the shears.

"I did so with some little uneasiness, for these shears were vast and murderous looking weapons, which looked as if they were ordinarily employed in cutting sheet iron instead of men's hair.

"The barber went through many preparations, which gave me a chance to observe that his dog, a wiry looking little bull terrier, with a singular droop in his left eye and a vicious expression about his cropped ears, was eying me intently from a point a little to one side of me, on the floor.

"The barber at last set at work at my back hair very deliberately. The bull terrier still eyed me as a cat watches a mouse, now tipping his head a trifle on one side, now on the other.

"I stood this eager scrutiny in silence for a few minutes, but presently my curiosity led me to speak.

"'Hum!' I said; 'a sharp looking dog, that of yours.'

"'Sharp!' the man laughed. 'No more hintelligent beast than 'im in all War'icksh're today, sir.'

"'Can you tell me why he is watching me in that way?'

"'Ah, there's the hintelligence in him, sir. Sometimes it happens, you know, sir, as 'ow, when I'm a-cuttin' a gent's 'air, sir, as 'ow I chips a little hoff the top of the gent's hear with the shears, sir. An' then you should see, sir, as 'ow Sir Garnet—that's the dog's name, sir—as 'ow he lights on that bit of hear in a hinstant, sir!'

"This very interesting piece of information sent such a cold chill down my back as I had seldom felt before. I did not dare to speak and beg the man to be careful, lest my agitation should cause him to make the unlucky stroke with the shears.

"I certainly did not dare to move. The man took a long time with his hair cutting, and all that time Sir Garnet eyed me keenly and hungrily from the floor, while the cold drops of perspiration were starting out on my forehead.

"Fortunately I escaped mutilation, but in my dreams for weeks I was haunted by the vision of that expectant bull terrier, watching me with his malevolent eye out for the tip of my ear. I see him in an occasional vision still, and I never expect to be quite rid of him."

Some of Cabby's Remarks.

In the matter of free and easy conversation the London Jehu has probably no equal. For shrewdness and originality his observations will compare favorably with the utterances of any other class of men. It is, however, as a street humorist that cabby displays to most advantage his natural gifts; and it is no exaggeration to say that he never misses an opportunity for turning his talent to good account.

One member of the genus was being chaffed once in regard to his baldness. "I was always bald," replied cabby. "Cos why? My mother 'ad so often to pat me on the 'ed an' say, 'Well done, Sam, my boy!' so she wore all the 'air off." Again, a 'bus horse had fallen down on the slippery asphalt in Oxford street, and for a time traffic was greatly impeded. Just then cabby came along on the off side and took the situation in at a glance. Addressing himself to the policeman in attendance, and pointing with his whip to the prostrate steed, he said, "Why don't yer take 'is name an' address, sir?"—London Tit-Bits.

A Question of History.

Quiz—I say, Sophomore, you are posted in the early Germanic history. What color was the hair of the old Germans?

Soph (pompously)—Blonde or red, of course.

Quiz—You are mistaken; the old Germans had gray hair. — Munsey's Weekly.

Correct for Once.

Western Boy—The weather prediction was right today.

Father—Was it?

Boy—Yes, sir. It said "slight changes in temperature."

Father—Humph! The thermometer has fallen a good deal, hasn't it?

Boy—No; only about six inches.—Good News.

A Ritualist.

He (Americanus)—What, you've been here in Rome a fortnight, and haven't been to the Sistine chapel yet!

She—No.

He—Care to go?

She—Yes, if it's high church. Who's the rector anyhow?—Life.

Quite Likely.

"What would have happened if Henry IV of France had not been murdered?" asked a teacher of a sharp looking boy. The prompt reply was, "He would probably have died a natural death."—Cassell's Journal.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hestitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. E. Lovell, Druggist.

It is the fashion in Amsterdam to announce a broken engagement of marriage.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

I had been troubled since 1869 with Gravel and Catarrh of the Bladder. Tried several doctors, but got no relief. Finally, at the advice of E. D. W. Parsons, I was prevailed upon to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The result was marvelous. After using a few bottles, was entirely cured. S. N. Arnold, No. 563 Plymouth avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

A syndicate has been formed at Eastham for the culture of early asparagus.

Literary Notices.

The June number of OUR LITTLE ONES, published by the Russell Publishing Company of Boston, is as sweet and fragrant as a June rose. Its stories, poetry and pictures must delight the hearts of its juvenile readers, and adults will derive pleasure from their perusal. It is bright issue of a charming little magazine.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for the week ending May 23 and 30 contain The New Capvri, Talleyrand's Memoirs, Amours de Voyage, and A Celebrated Frenchwoman, A Learned Lady, Elizabeth Carter, On Quiet Rivers in Celon, and Grasse, Its Perfumes and Pictures, Henry Schliemann, and A Study of Nelson, The Bard of Olney, An April Folly, The Bee and the Wasp, with the conclusion of Eight Days, and poetry.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each the subscription price ($8) is low. Littell & Co., Boston are the publishers.

The June CENTURY presents a varied table of contents consisting of stories, sketches, accounts of travels, poetry and numerous engravings that illustrate the text and if possible add to its attractive qualities. Some of the numerous papers are: Col William Byrd of Westover, Virginia. Pensions and Socialism. General Sherman's Last Speech. Sherman. Play and Work in the Alps. In Shadow. The House with the Cross. Springtime. The Squirrel Inn II. A Summer Song. The Faith Doctor, continued. The Court of the Czar. Love and Witches. A Miner's Sunday in Coloma. Women at an English University. Law of Lynching. Gettysburg and Waterloo Parnassus by Rail. De Bugle on de Hill. Ernest L. Major, etc., etc.

The frontispiece of ST. NICHOLAS for June is The Little Lovers, a beautiful picture accompanied by a sweet poem. Then come a large number of papers fresh, bright and summery, nearly every one of which is illustrated by charming pictures drawn and executed by the best artists in the land. A few of these papers are: The Little Rovers. The Fortunes of Toby Trafford, continued (a very interesting story). A Talk About Wild Flowers. The Boy Settlers, concluded (this was the story in the early chapters of which the Man from Woburn, Mass., appeared). Grandpa's Sweetheart. The Swimming-hole stories. A Free Circus. To the Winds of June. The Second Kitten's Hunt, and many others equally bright and entertaining.

Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, sick headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded to thousands of women whose very existence before taking it was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

A Rockland man has a dime savings bank and is using it to accumulate cash with which to pay his expenses for a visit to the World's Fair at Chicago in 1892.

Everywhere you go, you are certain to hear of the wonderful virtues of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. All druggists sell it at 25 cents a bottle.

Oftentimes crabbedness of temper is induced by an unhealthy liver. Laxador will bring sunshine by prompt action on this great organ.

Young Sprigg: "Mr. Bidquick, I am worth £5000, and I love your daughter." Mr. Bidquick (retired auctioneer): "Sold."

The Massachusetts total abstinence people reckon Easton and Bridgewater as among their very "cheering victories" of the spring elections.

Work will soon be begun on the Rockland-Abington electric light station. A Natick man named True will have charge of the work.

It is said that more newspapers are printed on Cape Cod in proportion to the population than any other section of Massachusetts, excepting Nantucket.

A mayflower party of 200, which visited Marshfield recently, carried off five bushels of mayflowers.

Middleboro is likely to be connected with the long distance telephone system, and the News is rejoicing thereat.

The business men of Whitman have petitioned the Old Colony railroad for better freight-house accommodations.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Science In Shoes FOR WOMEN'S WEAR.

America's Latest THE "PERFECTION" ADJUSTABLE. Pat. July 15, 1890.

Unlike Other Adjustable Shoes as only Leather is seen.

Instantly Comfortable.

A Narrower Size Worn GLOVE FITTING! NEVER SPREADS! Stronge t where Others are Weak

LADIES! This SHOE appeals to your reason, to your sense of right, and to your good judgment. You should examine them before buying other kinds. They are

No More Tender Feet.

"PERFECTION" the World's Best.

UNRIVALLED FOR STYLE, COMFORT AND DURABILITY.

Popular in Price. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CONSOLIDATED SHOE CO., Mfrs., Lynn, Mass.

For sale in Woburn by MOSES BANCROFT.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

Ways of the Badger.

Of the few animals which now inhabit the woods and the hillsides, perhaps the badger is the least known to the general public. He is nocturnal, in the first place, and his coloring, being in broken tones, does not readily arrest the eye. His head, chin and neck are white, with brownish black bands running on either side from the nose over the eyes and ears. His upper parts are light gray sprinkled with black; the lower parts brownish black; his fore feet are long and stout, his limbs muscular, his jaw powerful, and his teeth sharp; in fact, he is well set up as far as these formidable weapons are concerned.

The usual length of the animal is a little over three feet, but in his family, as well as in the human race, there are large and small individuals. Take his general appearance as he jogs along, and a small bear is at once suggested to your mind. Many of his ways, too, are bearlike; he will lie up in the winter, and eat vegetable as well as animal food. Some other creatures that are supposed to be strictly carnivorous will eat fruit when they can get it.—Popular Science Monthly.

Too Much Apathy.

Couldock's company was once barn storming through Virginia. It was at Petersburg, and the play was "The Chimney Corner." All through the audience sat in distressing silence, neither laughing nor shedding a tear, although "The Chimney Corner" abounds with humor and pathos, and the company then producing it was of great merit for those times. Couldock appeared to pay no attention to the apathy of his audience until just at the close of the performance. The concluding lines of the play are somewhat to this effect: "You, John, are happy, and so are you, Ellen; so am I, and so are we all. Let us hope that our friends the public share our happiness."

But to the surprise of everybody Couldock fell into a towering passion when he reached these lines, and in thundering tones he said, "You, John, are happy, and so are you, Ellen; so am I, and so are we all except the fools that have been sitting like stoughton bottles in front of the footlights to night!"—San Francisco Argonaut.

Most Arrivals Belong Here.

The men who keep the records at the barge office say that at least 80 per cent. of the arrivals from Europe represent people who live in this country—that is, that not more than 20,000 people during 1890 arrived in New York who did not live here, or who were not returning to their homes.

Furthermore it should be noted that New York has become to so great a degree the port to which transatlantic business tends that not more than 15 per cent. of either immigrants or cabin passengers land at any other port. A few go to Boston or Philadelphia or Baltimore, and a few come in via Quebec and the northern border, but the figures at New York really represent the volume of passenger traffic.—John H. Gould in Scribner's.

Meteors in Mexico.

In an account of Mexican meteorites Mr. L. Fletcher, an English mineralogist, describes fourteen huge masses of iron which have been found within a small section of country. The largest has the form of a beehive, rises four feet above the ground, and is five feet in diameter at the surface of the soil, beneath which it extends to unknown depths. The second mass, estimated to weigh 4,000 pounds, is now in the National museum at Washington. The Butcher masses number eight pieces, weighing from 290 pounds to 650 pounds, and having a total weight of 4,000 pounds. The Sanchez estate mass weighs 252 pounds, and the Fort Duncan mass 97 1-4 pounds. The greatest dispersion is sixty-six miles.—New York Telegram.

Sleeping Under the Snow.

The case of Mrs. Elizabeth Woodcock, who survived long burial under snow, may be known to many readers. This woman, forty-two years of age, of Impington, a village three miles north of Cambridge, lost her way in returning home from market on Saturday evening, Feb. 2, 1799, and was buried seven feet deep in the snow. In this state she continued eight nights and eight days, when she was dug out alive on Sunday, Feb. 10. She retained the full possession of her senses all the while she was immured. She died July 24, 1799.—Leisure Hours.

A Girl's Way of Walking.

The pretty girl is as self conscious in her walk as the self made man. She goes like one on parade—slowly, too, with a peacock's grace—putting one tiny, well shod foot in front of the other, as much that you and I may see it as that it may thereby help her some eighteen inches upon her way. And yet it is possible enough that by and by she may be as demure and self unconscious as the little old lady yonder, and like her may strive rather to escape notice with a veil than care to be the cynosure of all men's eyes.—All the Year Round.

Their Worst Feature.

Mrs. Sanso—The fashions change so often!

Mr. Sanso (gloomily)—Yes, and they change a hundred dollar bill each time.—Munsey's Weekly.

The Sine Qua Non.

"He was a perfect prince of good fellows."

"How was that?"

"Never paid a debt!"—Puck.

The beautiful hidden virtues are the most lovely.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable Balm.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Ave., Brooklyn.

Herring has been so plentiful in Taunton river lately that they filled the fish boxes in the stream full, and it was impossible for them to crowd up any faster.

A couple at North Anson, Me., were married in church just before the services on a recent Sabbath and at once went into the choir and assisted in the singing.

Professor of Geometry—"Mr. Bright, what is the shortest line between two points?" Mr. Bright—"A railroad line on its own maps."

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow, Try a Bottle To-Day! PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.

Don't Wait!

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as he only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

L. G. WALDEN

MERCHANT TAILOR,

7 WALNUT STREET,

Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bosheling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.

PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.

We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.

Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

THE PHILADELPHIA & READING COAL AND IRON COMPANY,

Miners and Shippers of Hard White Ash, Free Burning White Ash, Schuylkill Red Ash, Shamokin and Lorberry

COALS,

Also of the celebrated BROOKSIDE COAL of Lykens Valley.

DEEP RED ASH, VERY FREE BURNING.

Unexcelled by any coal for use in open grates or cooking stoves.

All retail dealers in New England can furnish these choice coals.

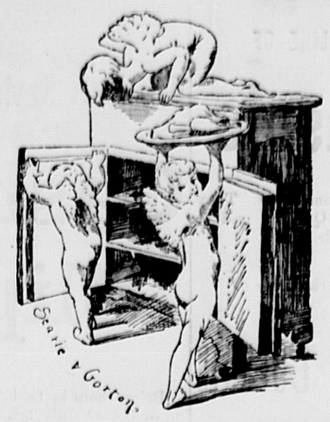
Office of Eastern Department, 70 Kilby St., BOSTON.

Distributing depots at Boston, Salem, Newburyport and New Bedford.

Laxador An infallible regulator of the Human System. Cures Laxador Cures Bilious Liver Complaint, Laxador Affections, &c. Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Giddiness, &c. At all dealers. Laxador 25c.

Use Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. 25 Cts

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.



ALASKA REFRIGERATOR,

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3,50 TO $60.

BABY CARRIAGES,

Also an Extensive Line of Medium and Fine

FURNITURE, CARPETS & RANGES.

Standard Furniture Co.,

23 Washington and 87 Friend Streets, BOSTON.

REASONABLE CREDIT TO TRUSTWORTHY PERSONS.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.,

CARPETS.

ROXBURY TAPESTRY.

We are the largest retailers of this carpet in New England. The reputation that these celebrated goods have established is gaining more favor year by year. We will sell during the coming week 25 patterns at 75 cents per yard.

ART SQUARES,

Best Quality, All Wool,

2¼ x 3 yards,	$5.63
3 x 3 yards,	6.75
3 x 3½ yards,	7.87
3 x 4 yards,	9.00

WADDED CARPET LINING,

5 rows stitching 2 1-2c. per yd.

LOWELL BRUSSELS,

30 patterns $1.00 per yd.

LOWELL EXTRA SUPERS,

20 patterns 62 1-2c. per yd.

EXTRA SUPERS,

20 patterns 50c. per yd.

STRAW MATTING,

1,000 pieces, 40 yards in each, $6.00 per roll.

THOMAS O'CALLAGHAN & CO.

577, 579, 601 Washington St., BOSTON.

Ivers & Pond Pianos

May be rented and rent applied toward their purchase within a fixed time; or may be bought on payments as low as $25 down and $10 a month. Highest grade only and fully warranted.

OLD PIANOS TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.

We will mail catalogue, full particulars of method of dealing and prices to any one who finds it inconvenient to call at our Warerooms. Write us a postal.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO., Masonic Temple, 183 Tremont St., Boston.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH THE POSITIVE CURE.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

201 Main Street, - Woburn.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 381 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY M. BANCROFT, Agent.

POPULAR PRICES $2.00 $3.00 $4.00

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester."

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

RAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

Gold Silver Bronze Medals

The highest honors have been awarded for these Instruments.

Bay State Guitars,

MANDOLINS and BANJOS, also Wm. B. Tilton & Haynes Excelsior Guitars. Send for Catalogue for all Musical Instruments.

J. C. HAYNES & CO., Boston, Mass

SALESM

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1891. NO. 27.

IF YOU FEEL TIRED, GET A BOTTLE OF

"OUR OWN" SARSAPARILLA.

OUR MANDRAKE PILLS are a valuable medicine at this season.

Prescriptions carefully prepared from the finest drugs.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.53, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A.M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.48 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.48 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.48 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 6.48 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.31, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6.32, 6.33, 7.05, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.20 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at w5.50, w6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, w9.15, 9.45, w10.15, 10.45, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, w1.15, 1.45, w2.15, 2.45, w3.15, 3.45, w4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.35, 6.45, w7.15, 7.45, w8.15, 8.45, w9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at w6.10, w6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, w9.40, 10.10, w10.40, 11.10, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, w1.40, 2.10, w2.40, 3.10, w3.40, 4.10, w4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.00, 7.10, w7.40, 8.10, w8.40, 9.10, w9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 8, 9, 10, 11, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30, A.M., 12.30, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15, 10.30 P.M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.50, 9.55, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, 6.10, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.55, 10.35, 10.50, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, 8.15, 9.15, 9.45, *10.00, 10.45, 11.15, 11.45, A. M., 12.15, 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, w9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 8.40, 9.40, 10.10, 11.10, 11.40, A. M., 12.10, 12.40, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00 A.M., 12 M., 12.30, 1, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30‡ 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Woburn.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.
w Winchester.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.

North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.

First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.

First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.

First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.

Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.

All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.

Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.

Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.

Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.

Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.
Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles
ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan
MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, JR.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.
☞ Terms reasonable.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Office No. 19 Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass.
Residence and Stables, Salem St. Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
— AT —
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

G. McGREGOR
FLORIST,
Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.
Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.
Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

FACIAL BLEMISHES.
Realizing the disappointment experienced by ladies who have used depilatory preparations for the removal of superfluous hair: also the interruption which electrolysis has fallen through severe treatment and its results—I wish to assure all who are so disfigured, that by carefully treating each hair separately with electricity, I am able to not only destroy the hairs so that they will never grow again, but my treatment positively leaves no scars and by a special method no discomfort is produced. Moles successfully removed. Consultation free and confidential and all questions cheerfully answered at my private parlors. Hygenic treatment for the face and complexion, a specialty. Office Hours 2 to 4 P. M. MISS M. WALDRON, 414 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. Next to Hotel Flower.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency.
J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains: choice house lots in all parts of the city, from Eustace Cummings's magnificent lawn to the N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres: located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interests by looking over Munro's lot before closing any trade.
No. 415 Main street, morning and evening; 50 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
— ALSO, —
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, - MASS.

ATTENTION
Ladies and Gentlemen.
Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleaning a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Neckties. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.
Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

The Woburn Journal

UNCLE FLAXLEY'S HOBBY.

BY ALLEN FORREST GRANES

The white, vertical light of a February day shone down through the skylight of Julian Dover's studio, its pitiless brightness bringing out every layer of dust on the Venetian red draperies, every spot and stain on the much benicked walls.

The lay figure was doubled up in a most impossible attitude against a big chair, covered with cotton velvet and cheap gilt fringe; a bunch of faded roses, in an old "crackle" vase, hung limply down, and Mr. Dover, in a shabby plum-colored velvet coat, and a Turkish fez perched jauntily on one side of his handsome head, was painting desperately away, intent on economizing every second of the precious winter daylight.

"Oh, the deuce!" he exclaimed, abruptly. "What made you jump so, Clarie? A man don't want the current of his ides disturbed just when—"

The model lifted her large, wine-brown eyes to his face, with a deprecatory smile.

"I hear Kitty Flaxley outside," said she.

"Outside she must stay, then!" remarkeed Mr. Dover, frowning at his palette. "I can't be interrupted; every minute is a lump of gold. Wait!" he roared, as a gentle rapping sounded on the door. "Clarie is posing for me!"

And then one perceived a slight, graceful figure in a coarse lilac cotton gown, and a striped handkerchief carelessly twisted around her rich brown locks leaning in an artistic attitude against a window-sash studded with many small panes that was supported between two standards.

Her fingers were intertwined in her hair; her elbows rested on the sill, where a coarse flower-pot or two were ranged.

She was not Mrs. Julian Dover for the time being for the time being; she was "The Fisherman's wife," destined by good luck and the grace of the hanging committee to figure in the forth coming spring exhibition.

"Oh, Julian, I am so tired!" she pleaded. "Every bone in me is cramped. Mayn't I rest?"

"You've no idea of true art," said Julian, slowly. "You haven't posed half an hour yet."

"I'm so sorry; but—"

"Jump, then!" said the painter—for the first time realizing how pale and worn the delicate, oval face was. "I suppose I can be putting in the distant sea while you gossip with your Kitty."

He caught her hand as she skipped past him, and kissed her—a kiss which was a rich reward for all the cramp and weariness she had endured—and she ran out to the hall, tugging as she went to remove the knotted red silk neckerchief which supplied an element of warm color to the picture.

There stood her quondum schoolmate, Kitty Flaxley, with cheery lips and sparkling eyes.

"Oh, Claire, how odd you look!" said she.

"Yes," said Mrs. Dover, composedly. "I'm 'The Fisherman's Wife.' Every bone in me is a separate pain, with sitting so long watching for my husband's boat."

Both laughed; and then the artist's wife led Miss Flaxley into the studio, where Julian nodded a pleasant salutation to her.

"You won't expect me to stop working?" said he.

"Of course not!" said Kitty. "It's work that I've come to talk about. Such news as I've got! The family fortunes are all made. Our Uncle Flaxley came home yesterday. That is, he isn't our uncle—he's only a sort of cousin; but mamma naturally wants to make the relationship as near as possible; so we are all instructed to call him uncle."

"And who is Uncle Flaxley?"

"That's just it," said Kitty, laughing. "He went to the South Sea Islands, thirty years ago, and took no notice at all of his exit except to say something about good riddance to bad rubbish. He comes back, and you would think him a canonized saint. Nothing is good enough for him."

"Oh!" said Dover. "He's made money?"

"Exactly," nodded Kitty. "But he's the oddest old fish—a little, dried-up, parchment-faced man, who goes about finding fault with everything and everybody, and promulgating the most outlandish theories that ever were heard of. The first thing he did was to upset all our family traditions. You know, Claire, how mamma has brought us up—like the lilies of the field, that toil not, neither do they spin? Now, we are each of us to learn a trade. I'm going into dress-making!"

"Impossible!" cried the artist's wife.

"Theodora is going to tackle art embroidery. Constantine says she hasn't decided yet between telegraphy and typewriting. Oh, you may well look amazed! It's all Uncle Flaxley. He says he'll give us a thousand dollars apiece when we've each learned a real, bread-winning, practical trade. He says it's what every woman ought to do. Dora wants to get a thousand dollars to get herself a stunning set of diamonds. Con would like to go to Canada with the Trelawneys next year and I—don't tell anyone, please, Claire and Julian—but I shall give mine to Rembrandt Alison, so that he can go to Paris and study in the Louvre."

"Good!" cried Julian Dover. "Then it's really true that you are engaged? Kitty, Kitty, an artist's wife is a first class martyr!"

"An artist's wife is the happiest creature in the world, Kitty?" counter asserted Claire, her soft eyes lighted up with love. "A thousand dollars! Oh, I wish I could make a thousand dollars!"

"I'm going down town every day to learn the Graftenburgh system," said Kitty. "I shall have to work three long, endless months before they give me a diploma; but I shall have something to work for, don't you see? And now goodby! I'm off for Graftenburgh's!"

Uncle Elimelech Flaxley walked around the house of his cousin's widow, with his hands hooked under his coat-tails, and his blue spectacles balanced on the bridge of his nose, peering into everything, and finding fault with everything.

Mrs. Peter Flaxley smiled at all his comments. In her eyes his conduct was perfect.

"What!" Uncle Flaxley had cried, "three girls, and not one of 'em taught to earn her living! That's no way to bring up a family, sister Annabel. Every woman should have a trade. Every woman should be able to support herself the same as if she were a man.

This was Uncle Flaxley's hobby. He trotted it out, he bridled it and saddled it and rode it perpetually, and the upshot of it was that the thousand dollar proposition was made and promptly accepted by his three neices.

"It's dreadful!" sighed Mrs. Flaxley; "but of course it is our interest to consult your uncle's wishes in every respect."

"I've always thought I should like to learn dressmaking," said Kitty. "One could clothe one's self at half the expense. And then a thousand dollars all of one's own—think of it."

"I know ever so many nice girls who do type-writing," said Constantine, a tall, willowy girl, with yellow hair and pallid skin. "If one must have a trade I believe there's nothing more genteel."

But Theodora, the beauty of the Flaxley family, turned up her nose.

"Such an absurd idea of Uncle Flaxley's!" said she. "I'm a tolerably decent embroiderer already, and if the woman's exchange accepts a piece of my work, I suppose the old crank will recognize it as a token of being an expert in that particular trade!"

And as she shut herself up with silks and satins and several dozen ounces of rainbow-colored filoselle and crewels, to design a pattern which should take the world of tapestry by storm.

Kitty wrestled bravely with the technicalities of the Graftenburgh system. Constantina worked diligently at the clicking marvel of the nineteenth century. Theodora was the first to look back from the plow-handles.

"I hate it!" said she, pettishly. "I can't make anything out of it! Such wooden-loooking things as my cat-tails and storks are! I mean to go and see Philomel Alison about it."

Young Rembrandt Alison's studio was far smaller and less picturesque than that of his compeer, Julian Dover.

He slept on a sofa under the window of nights, and his sister Philomel, who kept house for him on the most economical principles, occupied a three-cornered closet at the rear, which she called a bedroom, and which, besides the cot-bed, held exactly two band-boxes, and a chair with a wash-bowl and pitcher on it.

She was a skilled embroiderer, and worked her finger-ends off, while her brother, rapt it visions of Titian and Buonarotti, stood before his canvas.

"Children, you work too hard, both of you," said a little old, yellow-complexioned man, who had once known their father on the Mexican frontier, and who came occasionally to the studio, and viewed them with not unkindly eyes.

"It's work or starve, sir," said Alison, with a short laugh.

"What do you ask for this picture?" abruptly questioned Mr. Flaxley.

"Two hundred dollars—when it is finished."

"Tut, tut!" said the old man. "Too much! Two hundred dollars for a bit of canvas eighteen inches square?"

"It's not a mere bit of canvas," said Alison, coloring up; "it's my brains—my ideas—the visions I see nightly in my sleep."

"I'll give you fifty dollars for it," hazarded the yellow-complexioned man.

"I couldn't possibly sell it for that."

"Humph! humph!" snorted Flaxley. "The next I know. Philly here will be wanting to sell her bit of brown-and-yellow needlework for two hundred dollars, too?"

Philomel looked gravely up from her work.

"No," she said. "I'm to receive fifty dollars for it. It is an order."

"What is the world coming to?" cried Mr. Flaxley. "People must be aching to spend their money. What is the thing, anyhow—ducks paddling in a pond?"

Philomel shook her head.

"Herons," said she, "in a marsh full of reeds and rushes. Those lines of yellow silk—see?—are where the sunshine strikes the water.

Flaxley peered dubiously at the mass of bright colors.

"One has to exercise considerable imagination," said he.

"I wonder," said Philomel to her brother, after the fussy little visitor was gone, "if I ought to have told him that I was doing this work for his niece in Redcliffe street?"

"Speech is silver, silence is golden," said Rembrandt Alison, mechanically. "It's always best not to talk. Do you think, Phil, I've got the red too deep in this peasant's jacket?"

Mr. Flaxley, making his way home, thought of the studio he had just left, with a softening of the heart.

"They are nice children," he pondered. "Their father was a nice man. He took me into his ranch and cured me that time I had the gulley fever. I might have died if it hadn't been for him."

Time passed on; the three months expired. Constantia copied some letters for her uncle on a typewriter with such skill and rapidity that he wrote out his check for a thousand dollars on the spot.

Kitty showed him her diploma from Graftenburgh & Co., and prondly called his attention to a trimly-fitting dress that she wore.

A second time Uncle Flaxley inscribed his autograph on an oblong slip of pale-green paper, and then Theodora unrolled a banner of dark-olive satin, glistening with rich embroidery.

"It has just been sold at the woman's exchange," said she, "for a hundred and ten dollars. Here's the receipt.

Uncle Flaxley pricked up his feather-like ears; he stared very hard through his spectacles.

"Your work?" said he.

"My work!" repeated Theodora, with dignity.

"No, it isn't!" curtly contradicted Mr. Flaxley, whose forte was not conventional repose. "I've seen those ducks and marsh-grasses before! I saw them when Philomel Alison was working them. Young woman, you have deceived me."

Theodora turned scarlet. The suddenness of his contradiction had stricken her guilty soul dumb.

"No thousand-dollar check for you," said Mr. Flaxley. "Go and say your prayers and read over the Ten Commandments, where it says, 'Thou shalt not steal!' For you are a thief!"

He had scarcely overcome his wrath against this backsliding relative when he trotted around to Rembrandt Alison's studio the next day.

"I can't get that young fellow's wistful face out of my mind," thought he. "I guess I'll buy the eighteen-inch square of canvas after all."

He stood wiping his boots on the mat in the studio vestibule, and plainly heard Kitty's voice saying:

"Do take it, Rembrandt! I've earned it myself. It's mine to give, and I've no possible use for it. I thought of you all the time, and I do so want you to go to Paris and study in the Louvre!"

Uncle Flaxley pushed the door open with a bang and walked in, regardless of etiquette.

"Yes, take it, Alison," said he—"take it in the spirit that she gives it. She's a trump, that girl is!"

Rembrandt Alison looked at Kitty's scarlet face with grave, searching eyes. "I will take it," said he, "if Kitty will give me herself, also. There can be no crushing sense of obligation where love bridges the way."

"I'll give her to you," said Uncle Flaxley, boldly pushing Kitty forward. "Things are happening just to suit me."

"Me also," said Philomel, in a whisper, her pale face lighted up with joy.

"Here!" said Uncle Flaxley; "what's the price of this picture—and this—and this? I'll buy 'em all! Gracious me! if you're really going to Paris, there's no reason Kitty shouldn't go, too, on her wedding trip."

Of all Uncle Flaxley's eccentricities, this was the most delightful. Kitty had a long story to tell Julian Dover and Claire, in their studio across the hall, that day.

"It will be such a glorious thing," cried Claire, still enacting "The Fisherman's Wife," "for you to marry an artist!"

But Mrs. Flaxley declared that her rich relation had been "shamefully partial" in the matter of the thousand-dollar proposition. It is so hard to suit everybody!—Saturday Night.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY

STRAW HATS!

We have a complete line for MEN, BOYS and CHILDREN.

Our WHITE MACKINAW at 25 cents is worth 50 cents.
Our WHITE MILAN at $1.50 is sold elsewhere for $2.00.
BLACK STRAWS from 25 cents to $1.50.

Come and see us first: we will save you money.

Munroe's Clothing House.

423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Signs of Death.

According to one superstition a favorite method death has of announcing that a person is to become his victim is to cause the doomed one to sneeze while viewing a corpse, or to have the subject see his face reflected in a mirror while standing near the body of one in whom life is extinct. A sparrow flew into an open window of the consumptive ward at the hospital one day while I was attending a patient, and without alighting flew out of another window. I was immediately besieged upon all sides by tearful requests to redouble my efforts to effect a cure, as the action of the bird was a certain omen that death would claim some one present within a week.

One of the patients died the next day, and the other poor fated ones resuscitated the little spark of hope which feebly flickered previous to the advent of the little bird, thinking, probably, that as one had succumbed they had some chance of regaining their health. —Interview in Chicago News.

Cultivating Disease.

The internal organs do not want to be thought about. A man's stomach is healthy when he doesn't know he has one. When we are conscious of the existence of any internal organ that organ is sick. The internal machinery was intended to do its work unconsciously. When we begin to think about our stomachs digestion is arrested. John Hunter said he got gout by thinking of his great toe. A man who sits at the table wondering if baked potatoes will agree with him, and whether fruits and vegetables are a good combination, is in a fair way to have trouble with the simplest kind of food. Thinking about the internal organs gets them in a sort of stage fright, and they are powerless.—Good Health.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c, a bottle, at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

Rather a Sober Prayer.

Of the inseparables in printing are the errors in spelling and punctuation. Repeated revision is no guard against misplacing a type, which often produces amusing blunders. Sometimes a single letter is of the utmost importance. Once a printer in putting to press a form of the "Book of Common Prayer" dropped a "c," which made the passage read, "We shall be hanged in a twinkling of an eye," instead of "changed."—Providence Journal.

In the case of poisons, vomiting should be the first thing looked out for and encouraged. Don't look for clean water—the more repulsive the water the better the result. Mustard and soap and water are both good. Milk is one of the best of antidotes and coffee is the next best.

Bismarck's bedroom contains only three pieces of furniture—an enormous wash hand stand, a small camp bedstead and a bootjack. There used to be a couple of hair brushes. "Take them away," said the prince a few years ago; "a towel will do to part my hair nowadays."

An Eminent

Temperance lecturer in New England, Mrs. John Barton, says: I was subject to those deathly sick headaches and also dyspepsia. Sulphur Bitters cured me when all other remedies failed. Mrs. Barton is the wife of John Barton, Superintendent

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

Earlier than last year the Legislature of 1891 adjourned on last Thursday week without day.

Less croaking has been indulged in towards it than towards any of its predecessors for some time. The most exacting have been able to find but little in what the body did to call for adverse criticism.

From the JOURNAL'S point of view a few things went wrong, and only a few. Generally the legislation was good and wholesome. No Legislature has yet found the secret for pleasing everybody.

There were a few cheap specimens of humanity in the Court, and some probably who would sell their votes every time they got a chance. Neither class were numerous, and not many of them will find their way back into the next Legislature.

That the late General Court did a great deal of good work cannot be successfully controverted. That a few things were done and a few left undone that ought to have been differently treated is equally true.

Take it by and large it is not very often that Massachusetts has a more profitable General Court than the last one.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

City—Water Notice.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
Patten & Son—Ice cream.
J. G. Maguire—Tax Sale.
J. G. Maguire—Admin. Sale.
Van B. & D. Co.—"Go West."
JOURNAL Office—Baby Carriage.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Baseball is not in a very flourishing state here.

— Read baby carriage notice in another column.

— It begins to look lively again at Dow's tannery.

— The Mishawum Club outed at Lincoln on the 17th.

— Supt. Crilley is having the reservoir cleaned out.

— W. H. Cummings is improving his premises on Beach st.

— Ex-Ald. Ramsdell has gone to Tennessee on a business trip.

— The "Glorious Fourth" comes in just two weeks from tomorrow.

— Col. Henry Hayes is beautifying his handsome residence on Main street.

— Mr. W. P. Fox has refitted his leather factory with several new machines.

— Read the card "Wanted" in this paper. It is a fine job for the right kind of a man.

— Supt. Jones has completed a fine piece of macadam on Main st. near the JOURNAL office.

— Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bonelli will go to their summer home at Asbury Grove on the 27 inst.

— The summer vacation is close at hand. Where will the all the Woburn people go to enjoy it?

— Louie White is putting his hair dressing rooms into fine summer style. They look neat and inviting.

— The High School class in physical culture gave an interesting exhibition of their proficiency yesterday.

— At 1 P. M. last Monday it was 97 in the shade. The Saturday and Sunday preceding had been hot.

— Hon. E. D. Hayden drives his horses without checkrein. "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."

— Dr. Chalmers has been enjoying a well earned vacation this week, and also attending a Medical Convention.

— Rev. H. Montgomery addressed the Methodist Social Union in Berkeley Hall, Boston, last Monday evening on temperance.

— There are gypsies about the country. They look as though the romance had been pretty thoroughly knocked out of them.

— Mr. Fred. A. Hartwell celebrated the 50th anniversary of his birthday last Saturday by indulging in 9 or 11 cents worth of candy.

— It wouldn't be a bad plan for the readers of the JOURNAL to glance over Van Brunt & Davis Co's. Horicon, Wis., card in this paper. Try it.

— The career of a protracted and pretty severe drouth was put a period to at 11.30 Wednesday night by a soaking rain which lasted well into yesterday.

— Sec'y Lewis's notices induced a fair attendance of members at the Board of Trade meeting last Tuesday evening. The business brought before the session was important.

— Mr. John Bacon has done a fine business with his carpet cleaner at Buel's Court this season, and still has orders on hand. His work is heartily approved by the housewives of this city and vicinity.

— "Davie" Cunio and Crowe, his partner, have just opened some of the most lucious California cherries that ever tickled the palate of man. Cunio & Crowe keep all kinds of the best fruit that grows and sell cheap.

— The Eaton lot is just the one needed for the C. S. schoolhouse whether the School Board were consulted or not. In less than 3 years hence everybody will see the wisdom of buying it. To build on the Eaton lot is just what will relieve the pressure on the No. Woburn School building, which would have to be enlarged in a very short time if the Central Square house were set further south. It is all right, gentlemen.

— While playing ball at Lincoln on the 17th, Mr. Eustace Smith of this city broke one of his legs. Fortunately Dr. Harry Blake was on the grounds and Mr. Smith was promptly and properly cared for, and came home in the evening.

— We call particular attention to S. H. Patten & Son's ice cream notice in this paper. Patten has been for years a popular Old Orchard purveyor of the toothsome cream and therefore knows just how to do it. Read the card of the firm.

— By referring to our advertising columns it will be seen that Clerk Barrett of the Water Board gives the people fair warning of what the consequences to them will be if they keep on wasting water as recklessly as they have for a week or two past.

— Mr. Thomas Heartz, a most excellent gentleman for the responsible place, has been given charge of the Y. M. C. A. Rooms, and is to be found at his post of duty every evening in the week. It is expected that a General Secretary will be permanently employed in the coming autumn.

— Cool drinks are the order of the day and singularly apropos of the subject is the announcement of Fitz & Stanley in this paper. They have some of the most popular summer beverages that are sold, and they are just as recommended every time. Sugar for 5 cents per lb. at the Boston Branch.

— The women directors of the Industrial School talk of establishing cooking classes for the instruction of misses in the culinary arts. If they teach the pupils personally it will probably be all right; but if professional cooks are to be employed good-bye health and happiness in this old burgh.

— The inhuman critter who was seen coming up street with a performing bear last Tuesday morning when the heat was 95 in the shade, and insisted on putting the poor suffering animal through his tricks, ought to have been taken in charge by the police and severely handled. The bear was the best man of the two.

— It should have been stated that the Woburn Equal Suffrage League voted to have "The Higher Education of Woman," the title of an address delivered by Miss Jennie Skinner before the League on June 1, published in the local papers and that it appeared in the JOURNAL in pursuance of said vote and not by any instrumentality of Miss Skinner.

— About 25 employees of the B. & M. RR., So. Div.,—engineers, firemen, conductors, baggagemen, etc., who now reside here, will move to Wilmington with their families when this city ceases to be the point for making up and starting suburban trains, which will be in a week or two. They are a kind of people that our city can't very well afford to lose.

— The Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wright of No. 38 Kilby street last week was a very pleasant affair. Mr. Wright is one of the oldest persons in this city; one of the most upright; and he and his bride of 50 years ago have the love and esteem of hosts of good friends in this city and elsewhere. Long may they live to enjoy the fruits of an industrious and well spent life.

— At the regular monthly meeting of the Co-operative Bank held last week $7,000 was sold at 15, 10, and 5 cents premium per share, and as much more would have found a ready market if it had been on hand. All of next month's sales have been bespoken and it is nearly all wanted for building purposes. The Bank has now a little over $75,000 in real estate. It is a solid money institution.

— J. M. Ellis & Son are putting in the foundation for Coombs & Brown's new machine shop on Park st. The piles which were driven on which to build the foundation have been doing service in Boston Harbor for over 40 years and yet they are as sound as on the day they were taken from the forests. The Ellises propose to put in a foundation for the shop that will stand as long as time endures.

— Inside of a week there have been two notable celebrations in this city. The first one was that of Miss Avis Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hill of No. 3 Prospect street, of the young lady's sixth birthday anniversary which occurred on the 13th instant; and the other was that of Miss Christine Kelley, daughter of Dr. S. W. Kelley, on the 17th, that date being the sixth anniversary of her natal day also. Each received many beautiful presents from relatives and friends, over which they were very happy.

— The Woburn Press Association returned last Wednesday from a pleasant canoe trip on the Merrimac River. One of them wanted to come back via Salisbury Beach, Cape Ann, Marblehead Neck and Boston Harbor in the canoe, but the other one had had all the water in his that he wanted and perferred the overland route. Being the more athletic of the two gentlemen who constitute the Association his preference prevailed, and a horse was chartered to take their craft to Woburn, where it arrived unharmed in due time.

— Last Sunday the babies of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Prior, and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Portelle, were baptised by Pastor March at the First Congregational Church in this city. Mr. E. E. Thompson conducted the parents with their little ones to the font. This font was a basin belonging to Mrs. Charles A. Smith, grandmother of Mr. and Mrs. Cummings's babe, to whom it descended as an heirloom and is sacredly preserved. But the curious thing about it is that the greatgrandfather of the little Cummings babe—Mrs. Smith's father—Mr. John M. Robertson—was baptized from this same bowl just 100 years ago, at Savannah, Georgia. It has been kept in the family ever since. This was a remarkable incident of the last Sunday's baptism, and more worthy than a great many items that get into the papers are of a special notice. How old the bowl is no person living knows, but that it should serve for the baptism of an infant in 1791, and in 1891 should serve the same purpose for that infant's greatgrandchild, is something that does not happen in every family, or every day.

— Uncle Levi C. Teel of Cambridge st., is not far from 80 years old, one way or the other, and yet he carries one of the youngest hearts under his waistcoat that can be found in Woburn. He can beat the most of them in raising 17th of June peas too, and last Tuesday he hauled into the barn his first load of the present haying season. Mr. Teel and the good wife are carrying on the farm without help this year and they are getting on famously. By the kindness of these two excellent people the JOURNAL Editor and his family enjoyed the extreme filicity of dining on green peas on the 17th of June (Battle of Bunker Hill Day), as every well-regulated Yankee is bound to do if he can, and we assure our good Cambridge street friends that the eating of them was hugely enjoyed. Uncle Levi sent the delicious vegetables by DeLoriea with Durward Jr's. delivery wagon, and the JOURNAL folks did the feasting. Many thanks for the same.

— Everybody in Woburn will want to buy and read next week's JOURNAL. Then they will want to preserve it. It will contain an elaborate article entitled "Weather Legends of Woburn," which will be a compilation of all the old sayings, signs, saws, etc., once (and to some extent now) current among our people and more or less powerful in shaping their conduct in reference to weather. The paper has been carefully prepared by Judge Converse who has expended much time and research on it. It is a valuable contribution to the meteorological literature of the past 50 or 75 years. The account which our valued contributor "C." gives of a Democratic celebration in Woburn in 1840 is an interesting piece of local history in the perusal of which many elderly people among us will delight. The JOURNAL is famous for getting up and giving its readers just such queer, odd, attractive bits of reading, and nearly every issue contains something about Woburn that makes it worth carefully preserving.

— The St. Charles C. T. A. Society were the guests of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Society at St. Charles Hall on last Tuesday evening and were given an exceedingly happy reception. The young ladies carried through a pleasing programme in fine shape and the gentlemen enjoyed it highly. The literary and musical part of it consisted of a neat Address of Welcome by the President, Miss Kate McEleney; Piano duet by Misses Annie and Lizzie Calnan; Song by Miss Mattie Gillespie; Piano solo, Miss Mary McEleney; Song by Mr. Patrick McEleney; Song, "If the Waters Could Speak as they Flow," by Mr. Thomas Feeney, who responded to an imperative encore with "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" in a manner that brought down the house; Recitation by Miss Kate Looby; Song by Miss Esther Fitzgerald; Song by Mr. Dennis Begley, President of the St. Charles, who also gave a short address. At 10 o'clock cake and ice cream, furnished by Gordon the caterer, were passed around and greatly enjoyed by the merry company, and by no one more than by Rev. Fr. Slattery of the St. Charles church, to whom the prosperity of the Total Abstinence Society and Auxiliary is very dear. He participated in the pleasant affair with keen zest and took as much delight in the entertainment as any of them. After lunch an hour or two was devoted to dancing, for which excellent music was furnished. Of the company six, at least, were graduates of the JOURNAL office, namely: Thomas J. Feeney, Margaret M. McKay, Abbie A. McSweeney, M. Joseph Mathews, Kate J. Looby, and Nellie Fitzgerald, which is one reason why the JOURNAL takes more than ordinary interest in the two organizations.

Case—Hutchings.

It was a quiet but very pretty wedding which occured at the residence of Dr. Hutchings last Monday evening by which were united Mr. WALTER W. CASE of Greenville, Penn., and Miss ALICE I. HUTCHINGS, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Hutchings of this city.

Friends of the bride sent loads of beautiful flowers and daisies by which the house was profusely decorated. The large canopy of daisies, under which the pair was married, was as unique in design as it was beautiful.

Mr. L. Benton Lang of Brookville, Penn., was best man, and Miss Mattie Fosdick of this city was bridesmaid.

Rev. Daniel D. Winn performed the ceremony, and Miss Mertena Bancroft, presiding at the piano, played the "Wedding March."

The happy pair started on a bridal trip to the White Mountain region on Tuesday.

Hot Weather.

At 6 a. m. June 17, closed a term of the hottest weather that has been experienced in Eastern Massachusetts for a great many years. At some hour during each of the previous 10 days or more the heat measuring machine had registered 85 degrees in the shade, but towards the end of the term the mercury shot away above that figure and stuck to it day and night.

A week ago yesterday was a scorcher, or rather, on account of the unusual amount of hot water in the air, it should be denominated a boiler, and some tough ones followed. Parts of Sunday were so melting that the sight of sleeping people in the churches was not at all uncommon or surprising. But what shall we write of Monday! As soon as he appeared above the eastern hills it was plain enough to be seen that Old Sol was on the rampage. He made it hotter and hotter for us until 2.30 p. m. when it was from 97 to 100 in the shade, according to locality.

And such a night as followed! Never before within the memory of the Oldest Inhabitant was there any such heat through the night as on that one. Sleep was entirely out of the question: instead of repose it was a question of living until morning.

But Tuesday was worse still. Thermometers saw Monday's figures and went them several degrees better, and then we all thought that that was the end of us sure. The night that followed the terrible day was hotter and worse to bear than that of Monday.

At 6 a. m. Wednesday the wind changed into the East in the twinkling of an eye; it came straight from old ocean; a grateful seaturn accompanied it; by 10 a. m. it was cold enough for ulsters; and towards night a much needed and very refreshing rain set in, and once again everything "was lovely, and the goose" etc.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure billousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss Drug Store.

Report of Address

Delivered before the M. E. Sunday School, on Children's Day, June 14, 1891,

BY HUGH MONTGOMERY.

The legalized saloon breeds profanity in our streets, for the men and women who drink are profane. These men and women make up homes where children in large numbers breathe nothing but indecent and profane language. These carry this deadly influence not only in the streets but also into the Public School and on their way to and from school our children from decent homes are obliged to meet these contaminating influences. For this reason, I have deemed it wise to try to guard this Sabbath School against the sin of profanity.

Subject. Profanity: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain, for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain." Ex. xx-7.

Our text is one of the commandments given with such solemnity by Jehovah to Moses on Sinai. It is a commandment frequently referred to in other parts of the Bible. It is one of universal and everlasting obligations. It is an address made to all mankind; its violation is an act of guilt; we can do nothing that is any more offensive to God. This third commandment forbids us to take the name of the Lord our God in vain. It forbids all rash and unlawful vows such as relate to things uncertain and impracticable. But perjury is the capital transgression, for by it men appealed to the heart-searching God for the truth of what they testify or assert, or for their sincerity in what they engage to do, when they do not know the truth of the one, and are insincere in the other. This is one of the most provoking crimes imaginable, though very common among us. The laws of our land require every man who accepts an office to take a solemn oath that he will do his duty faithfully.

It's a fearful thing for a man to fail to do his duty under such a solemn oath. Often have the guilty been screened, and the innocent ruined, by these kind of men. It is very common to hear men calling on God's name to curse themselves or others. How frequently do we hear men use language of the most profligate character, and associating the name of God with the oath of the most horrible discription. How many well meaning persons err by referring to God in common conversation, and using such expressions as "the Lord knows," without any reverence. We almost fear to illustrate this but it ought to be clearly understood. "God knows." "By the help of God." "As sure as God is in Heaven." "God help you." "God bless you." These are common expressions. So we see this is a common sin among nearly all classes. It is one of our national vices. God's dear children should be very careful to keep this third commandment. There are but few sins that harden a boy's heart more than the sin of swearing. Persons cannot practice swearing for any length of time without showing it in their faces. Their faces become hard and rough. Their eyes become wicked and fiery in appearance, and they soon begin to seem to those that see and hear them blaspheming, like children of the Evil One. This sin is generally associated with lying. Boys who swear will lie, and most of those who are liars are profane. They are working for the devil without pay, and so far as this world is concerned it is a dead loss, and very few men will have a boy about their house that will swear, or girls either.

Children that fall into this habit of using God's name in vain are despised by all good people, not only because it is so horrid a sin itself but because it is so mixed with other sins and vices. No good man wants children like them with him. And if any of my little hearers this morning are guilty of this awful sin against God, I beseech them to stop it at once.

So, my dear children, when you pray you must be sincere, and remember that you are coming to God who can look into your hearts and see whether you are asking for the things you really need, and you must read the Bible with the same spirit. You must read the Bible as a man shut up for some crime in prison. Now if the Governor should write a letter and tell him how to get his liberty, you could imagine how he would read it. We are here in a world that is full of sin and danger, and God has written very plainly how we may escape them all at last. So we ought to read with a great deal of reverence. I have known some boys, and even men, to tell profane stories where the name of the Lord is taken in vain and think they are smart in doing this way. Too many, even of good men, sin in this way. But I am afraid that many of my little hearers break this commandment in singing those beautiful hymns in which the name of the Lord Jesus Christ is so often used, while they do not feel what they sing and are perhaps looking about laughing. Now, all such are guilty of taking God's name in vain, and unless we repent of our sins, on this line. God will not take us to Heaven. Give unto the Lord the Glory due unto his name. Never use his name in the same way you would the name of a man or woman. But always think how sinful it is to trifle with this Great God which made you, and could crush you in a moment. Perhaps no other sin has been so uniformly condemned by all good men as profane swearing. It strikes at the root of all reverence for religion. How can God be esteemed and venerated, if we use his name profanely?

There can be no fear of God, no dread of his wrath, no awe of his majesty, no regard for his authority. Again profanity curses society, it blights every lovely thing, it is fearful in its effects on the young who soon catch the spirit and imitate what they hear. It is as indecent as it is vile, an insult to every educated and right principaled member of society. I believe there is no vice which excludes all excellency, and opens the flood-gates to all vileness and hardness of heart more than this. It has brought down the wrath of God. Because of swearing the land mourneth." To blaspheme God's name is a capital offence under law. If you turn to the 24th chapter of Leviticus you will see how God cursed those who blasphemed his name. And very often instant judgment has fallen upon perjurers. A man in a village in Scotland who competed with others in the use of the most horrid oaths was smitten with the swelling of the tongne, so that he could not draw it into his mouth, and died in three days. I have read of a boy who became very profane and all caution and reproofs made him worse. But when he was 19 years old he died and forthree weeks before his death he lay cursing his pains and the good Being who sent them on him His oaths and blasphemes were so awful that few could enter his room and the evening he died he said the devils were tearing his heart out. So dreadful was the scene that every one had to leave the room and let him die alone. I have read of another boy who was turned out of the Sabbath school on account of profanity. He swore he would catch a squirrel that he saw in the tree. He climbed up the tree after it, fell and broke his neck and never spoke again Was not this an awful way to die?

It is no mark of a gentleman to swear. The most worthless and vile of mankind do it; the drunkard and the prostitute swear. Profane swearing never did any man any good. No man is the richer or wiser or happier for it. It helps no ones education or manners. It is disgusting to the refined, abominable to the good, degrading to the mind, unprofitable, needless and injurious to all. It is an awful thing to curse and swear and blaspheme the name of God. A few years ago a wicked man went to the field to make hay while his family attended church. There came up a shower at which he became very angry. It lightened and thundered at which he swore. Again it lightened in a most terrific manner and he began to curse the Lord. Then a third flash broke from the thunder cloud, knocked him senseless to the ground and burned his mouth in a terrible manner, so that it skinned his throat. Yet the Lord permitted him to live. This was about eleven o'clock, and about four in the afternoon he was able to crawl down to his house and tell about his narrow escape from the awful death. From that hour he heartily repented of his wickedness, sought the Lord with all his heart and became a christian. It was indeed a great mercy that he was spared It is true that all profane swearers do not die in this way, but it is true if you die a swearer you can never enter the kingdom of Heaven. The Lord said to the Israelites, "If you wilt not observe the words of this law that are written in this book, the Lord thy God, than the Lord thy God will make thy plagues wonderful." Deu. 28, 58, 59.

George Washington in giving orders to his army exhorted them not to swear and said, "we can have but little hope of the blessings of Heaven on our arms, if we insult God by our impiety and folly." And further, "It is a vice so mean and low that every man of sense and character despise it." Heaven cannot be inhabited by the profane. Hell must be their portion and even there I doubt if the swearer can find a fallen angel as vile as himself.

APPLICATION

Guard your lips, watch against the rising of your heart, pray for God's holy spirit to change your soul. You must become a new creature if you would guard against swearing. The divine grace is promised to every one that asketh grace to save from sin. Whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved. Now, my dear children, promise God that you will never take his name in vain by swearing; that you will never use the Holy name of God in any light, trifling conversation, nor in any way be guilty of breaking this commandment. May God save you from this awful sin is my earnest prayer.

Children's Day.

Last Sunday was what has in recent years become known and observed as Children's Day by the churches and so far as this city was concerned it was appropriately kept. The productions of the pastors on the occasion are expected to be adapted to juvenile understanding, intellectual wants, and deserts; the music is selected with a view to its fitness for the day and occasion; the Sunday School Superintendent and teachers plan their work after the same pattern; and it is all taken up and carried out for the welfare of the young people.

At the First Congregational church was held the 73d anniversary of the establishment of the Sunday School in connection with Children's Day, and the services, which began at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, were very interesting.

The church was very prettily decorated. There was a floral wicket at the foot of each flight of gallery stairs leading from the sides of the pulpit, which beautifully represented "Gates Ajar;" back of the altar "Children's Day," made of violets, was suspended; the floor in front of the pulpit was covered with plants and flowers; the whole presenting an attractive appearance.

Organist Clarke played quite a number of pieces in unison with the character of the exercises which no one with sense for music could find himself unmoved by grateful emotions, for Mr. Clarke is a complete master of the organ. We should fail to do full descriptive justice to this celebration did the very fine cornet playing by W. W. Crosby fail to receive particular attention from our pencil. It was equal to the best efforts of many professionals, and pleased the music loving part of the audience exceedingly. The singing too was excellent. The number of spectators present was very large, and the S. S. pupils were in the best of preparation for the proper discharge of their various parts. The following programme was in substance and nearly every particular carried out:

Organ Prelude,	Prof. Clarke.
Processional Hymn.
Anniversary Hymn.
Prayer.
Responsive Reading.
Singing.
Reports of Officers.
Singing.
Recitation,	Ella M. Bates.
Recitation,	Sarah Norris.
Recitation,	E. Fletcher Lyford.
Recitation,	E. Sybil Fox.
Recitation,	Claire Jaquith.
Recitation,	Bertha P. Trull.
Singing.
Recitation,	Edith L. Smith.
Singing,	George W. Smith.
Cornet Solo,	W. W. Crosby.
Address,	Dr. March, Pastor.
Singing.

Superintendent Hubbard Copeland arranged a fine programme for the Methodist Sunday School concert which was carried out in the best manner.

In the morning the Pastor, Rev. Hugh Montgomery, delivered an address to the children on "Profanity," copious extracts from which are publighed in to-day's JOURNAL.

The Sunday School concert was given in the evening, and it was worthy of all praise. The church had been elegantly decorated for it and flowers and plants were plenteous, bright and fragrant. The music was excellent, and the exercises by the pupils were of the most entertaining character. There was a large attendance both morning and evening.

Concerning the Sunday School our reporter gathered the following

STATISTICS:

Number of scholars belonging to the school,	360
Average attendance during the year 1890-91,	252
Number of pupils in Primary department,	140
Amount of money collected during the year for all purposes,	$600.

The First Baptist church was gay and sweet with flowers last Sunday evening in honor of Childrens Day which was duly observed by pastor, people and school. The religious exercises were laid out with that object in view. The music was appropriate and superb. Miss Banoroft, organist of the church, delighted the audiences with some very fine selections, while the children's singing was of the most pleasing character.

Flowers abounded everywhere, chiefly arranged by the skilful hands of the young ladies of the society and school; and the fine church never presented a fairer appearance than on Sunday evening, while the recitations, songs, etc. of the children were pretty and pleasing indeed.

At the Unitarian church Children's Day will be duly observed with music, flowers, literary exercises by the S. S. classes, and probably an appropriate address by Pastor Parker, next Sunday.

Bunker Hill Day.

Day before yesterday was observed as a holiday by people in and immediately surrounding Boston because it was the 17th of June, or the 116th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, for which that part of Boston formerly Charlestown had made great preparation.

Few communities of like size indulge in so many holidays as that having a home within 10 or a dozen miles of the Massachusetts Capitol on Beacon Hill. Reader, stop a minute and think. Count them up on your fingers. Numerous? We should smile! No matter whether the holiday be a legal one or not if there is the least excuse for making it one, business is suspended; schools are let out; stores closed; public buildings shut up; streets deserted; and everybody goes away for a frolic. By and by the almanacs, instead of telling us what days are holidays, will be obliged to change the programme and designate the days in the year that are not holidays.

Last Wednesday nearly all the business places in this city were closed up by 9 o'clock A. M.—a few struggled wearily and anxiously along until 12, when keys were turned in the doors of the last of them, curtains were let down, and that was the end of work and trade for that day. After the regulation 17th of June peas and roast lamb had been properly attended to and matters all set to rights at home, hundreds took the street cars for a little trip to Central Square and pleasant North Woburn; or, in the other direction, to pretty Winchester, over the hill to Symmes's Corner, and thence on to quaint Medford Square. Or, they boarded the summer cars of the East Middlesex line and rode to drowsy Stoneham, lovely Melrose Highlands, beautiful Malden, thence to Chelsea and, via Boston, home; or, turning to the left, proceeded to the Beaches, Lynn, Marblehead—well anywhere the inclination might lead—and a splendid trip it was too. Others went away in their own buggies and drove about the country which is, just now, more than charming. A good many took the steam cars and visited Boston and its theatres; made calls on friends in the towns about; and a few went fishing.

There was about the size of it. Flags floated in the breeze all day of course; and luckily there was a remarkable change in the weather at 6 A. M., the wind suddenly flopping into the East, ending the toughest "heated term" which had been experienced here for years, and affording most delightful weather for the holiday.

It is hard for the young man who is just learning to ride the bicycle to lead an upright life.

CITY OF WOBURN.

Collector's Sale

— OF —

Real Estate for Non-Payment of Taxes.

WOBURN, MASS., June 16, 1891.

The owners and occupants of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified that the taxes thereon severally assessed for the year 1890, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said City of Woburn, by the Assessors of Taxes of said Woburn, remain unpaid, and that said parcels of real estate will be offered for sale by public auction, at the OFFICE OF THE COLLECTOR OF TAXES, Room No. 3, Municipal Building, Common street, in said Woburn, on SATURDAY, July 25, A. D. 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the payment of said taxes and interest from October 15, 1890, together with costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged:

RESIDENTS.

ANNIE M. DOWNEY.—About one-half acre of land with buildings thereon, situate in said Woburn, on the westerly side of Buck street, bounded as follows, viz:—Easterly by said Buck street; southerly by a private way; westerly by land of the City of Woburn, and northerly by land now or formerly of Edward Rooney heirs, by land of J. C. Hodge's heirs, and by land of Owen Conlan.
Tax of 1890, $25 57

MARY DUFFY.—About 5,100 square feet of land with buildings thereon, situate in said Woburn, on the northerly side of Lake Avenue, bounded as follows, viz:—Southerly by said Lake Avenue; westerly by other land of said Mary Duffy; northerly by other land of said Mary Duffy, and easterly by land of Patrick E. Tenney.
Tax of 1890, $33 83

MARY DUFFY.—About 69,100 square feet of land, situatein said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—
Beginning at the northeasterly corner of the premises on Main street, and at land of one McHugh; thence the line runs westerly by land of said McHugh, 240 feet to an angle; thence northerly still by said McHugh, 37 feet to land of Buck; thence westerly by land of said Buck, 204 feet to land of Richardson; thence southerly by land last named, 329 feet to Lake Avenue; thence easterly by said Lake Avenue, 163 feet to other land of said Mary Duffy; thence northerly by land last named, 90 feet to an angle; thence easterly still by other land of Mary Duffy, 60 feet to land of Tenney; thence again northerly by land of Tenney, 28 feet to an angle; thence again easterly by land of said Tenney, 240 feet to said Main street; thence northerly on and by said Main street, 100 feet to the point of beginning.
Tax of 1890, $24 75

THOMAS RYAN.—About 9-16 of an acre of land with buildings thereon, situate on the westerly side of Warren street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Northerly by land of Norris; westerly by land of John Maxwell; southerly partly by land of Gawin R. Gage, and land of Nathan Morse, Trustee; easterly by said Warren street.
Tax of 1890, $46 55

MARY A. MURRAY.—About 19,800 square of land with buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the southerly side of Lawrence street, bounded as follows, viz: Northerly by said Lawrence street; westerly by land of Rufus C. Hayward; southerly by land of Sarah E. Norris; easterly by land of heirs of Jacob Munroe.
Tax of 1890, $54 12

F. CHANDLER PARKER.—About one and one-eighth acres of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Woburn, on the easterly side of Canal street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly on and by said Canal street; southerly by land now or formerly of Jane C. Butman; easterly by land of Edward W. Hudson; northerly on and by Sturgis street.
Tax of 1890, $165 90

PATRICK E. TENNEY.—About 78,250 square feet of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on Main street, bounded as follows, viz:—Easterly on and by said Main street; southerly on and by Lake Avenue; northerly by land now or formerly of one Duffy; easterly also by land of said Duffy.
Tax of 1890, $154 28

JAMES MCDONALD.—About 11-16 of an acre of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the easterly side of Canal street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly on and by said Canal Street; northerly by land of the City of Woburn and by land of Nicholas Murphy; easterly by land of Mary E. Lombard; southerly by Buckman street.
Tax of 1890, $79 20

ALEXANDER EASLEY, et al.—About 4345 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Easterly by land of Callahan 55 feet; southerly by land of Clapp 79 feet; westerly by land of Gollaconne 55 feet; northerly 55 feet; northerly by land of Fifield. Also, the lot of land bounded westerly by land of Fitchett and by land now or late of Jaquith; northerly by Fowle street, 26 feet; easterly by land formerly of Svenson, 93 feet, and by Callahan, 25 feet, and southerly by lot first described, 20 feet. Being the same premises described in deed of Caleb H. Jaquith to said Easley and James E. Foster, dated July 12, 1888, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1805, Page 48.
Tax of 1890, $5 78

REBECCA C. MERRIAM.—About 5-16 acres of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Northerly by land of Julius F. Ramsdell; easterly by land of E. R. Emery; southerly by Fowle street, and westerly by Highland street.
Tax of 1890, $32 17

MOSES A. TYLER HEIRS.—About 7-16 acres of land with buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on Main street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly on and by said Main street; northerly by land formerly of Woburn A. and M. Association; easterly by heirs of Michael McHugh, and by a private way; southerly by land of Garland heirs, and by land of George J. Munroe, and land of Charles W. Fifield, and E. W. Hudson.
Tax of 1890, $80 85

WALTER W. BENNETT.—About ¼ acre of land with buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the easterly side of Mt. Pleasant street, bounded as follows, viz: Westerly on and by said Mt. Pleasant street; southerly on and by a private way; northwesterly by lot number 121 on Woburn A. and M. Company plan, about 130 feet; northeasterly by Utica street, about 80 feet; southeasterly by lot number 123 on said plan and East Middle Boarding House lot, about 285 feet; southerly by Montvale Avenue 22½ feet. Same premises described in deed of John Quigley Administrator of Murgh Handley, dated January 6, 1887, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1782, Page 58.
Tax of 1890, $34 65

JAMES M. CALLAHAN.—About 5,000 square feet of land situated in said Woburn, on the easterly side of Jefferson Court, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by Jefferson Court; southerly by land of James Callahan: easterly by land of Carpenter, and northerly by land of Richards.
Tax of 1890, $8 25

JOSIE V. COLBY.—About 11041 square feet of l nd with buildings thereon, situated on southerly side of Montvale Avenue in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Northerly by said Montvale Avenue; southerly, easterly and westerly by land now or formerly of Samuel Jennison.
Tax of 1890, $21 45

PATRICK CADY.—About 3500 square feet of land, being lot numbered 20 on plan of lands owned by Bryant and King, situated on southerly side of Bryant street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Southerly by lot numbered 22 on said plan; westerly by lot numbered 19 on said plan; easterly by lot numbered 21 on said plan, and northerly by said Bryant street.
Tax of 1890, $2 89

OWEN COLLINS.—A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on the westerly side of Flagg street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Northerly by land of John O'Donnell; southerly partly by land of Hutchings and partly by land of Kelley; westerly by land of Calnan, and easterly by said Flagg street.
Tax of 1890, $19 80

PATRICK MALONEY HEIRS.—About 2,357 square feet of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the easterly side of Centre street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by said Centre street; southerly by land of Rose Connolly; northerly by land of David Claney, and easterly by land of John H. Connolly heirs.
Tax of 1890, $17 08

DANIEL MULLEN HEIRS.—About 10,766 sq. feet of land and buildings thereon, situated on the southerly side of Salem street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz: Northerly by said Salem street; easterly by land of Foss; southerly by land of Dow; westerly by land of Eastern Middlesex Street Railway.
Tax of 1890, $47 03

ELIZABETH A. KENNEY.—About 7,645 square feet of land with the buildings thereon, situate on a private street leading northerly out of Harrison Avenue, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz: Beginning at the southeasterly corner of premises, thence the line runs east of north, by and with said private street, 60 feet: thence north of west, by land of McDermott, 136 feet; thence southerly by land of owner unknown, 60 feet; thence south of east by land now or formerly of Colgate, 120 feet, to the point of beginning. Being same premises conveyed to said Kenney by William A. Colgate by deed dated September 27, 1887, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1829, Page 500.
Tax of 1890, $8 25

JOHN W. HOWARD.—About ¼ acre of land and buildings thereon, situate on the easterly side of New Boston street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by New Boston street; northerly by land of Henry M. Eames; easterly and southerly by land of Michael K. Murphy.
Tax of 1890, $11 55

HARRIET J. NELSON.—About 8,372 square feet of land on the easterly side of Beach street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly on and by said Beach street; southerly by land of Hannah M. Dean; easterly by land of Caroline M. Smith; northerly by land of Malvina R. Putney (now or formerly).
Tax of 1890, $4 12

FRANCIS E. STEVENS.—About ½ acre of land in said Woburn, on Bow street, bounded as follows, viz:—Westerly by said Bow street; northerly by land of S. S. Richardson; easterly partly by land now or formerly of Bartholomew Richardson and partly by land of Susan T. Converse; southerly by land of Beals, and by land of Emma M. Taylor.
Tax of 1890, $6 60

ELVIRA W. GOODE.—About 2 acres of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Beach street, in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.:—Northerly on and by said Beach street; easterly and northeasterly by land of Rufus Wyman, et al; southeasterly by other land of said Goode; southwesterly by other land of said Rufus Wyman et al; westerly by other land of Elvira W. Goode.
Tax of 1890, $61 38

ELVIRA W. GOODE.—About two acres of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Easterly by land of Rufus Wyman et al; southerly and westerly by other land of said Wyman et al; and northerly by other land of said

A FINE LINE OF

Parasols

may be found at our Store. They are of the Best Quality, and at the lowest possible price.

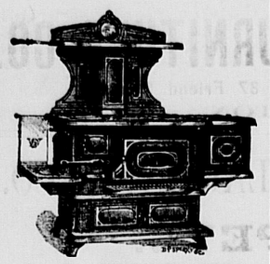
Also, a Superior Line of

Summer Corsets

FOR 50c. 75c. $1.00 A PAIR.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Morton Celebration at Woburn in 1840.

The persons are not now numerous among us who have vivid recollections of the year 1840; more than half a century has elapsed since that date, and the event this article recalls has probably been forgotten by those now living who partook in it, until the memory of it is revived by this allusion to a published account which has recently been placed in our hands. The account is in the form of a newspaper article which appeared in the Bay State Democrat, for February 4, 1840 (Vol. 1, No. 30). This paper was published every evening at Boston, at No. 1 Devonshire street, corner of State street, and is of itself an interesting relic. The particular copy before us was once the property of the late Col. Leonard Thompson, of Woburn, who was a prominent participant in the celebration at Woburn, which it commemorates.

An editorial in the paper speaks of the celebration as follows:

"Upon our first page will be found an account of the proceedings of the Morton Celebration at Woburn. The democrats of that thriving town, for their fidelity to the democratic cause are entitled to a place in the front rank of the democracy of the State."

The account referred to is entitled, "Morton Celebration at Woburn." "The election of Marcus Morton to the office of Governor of Massachusets," it says, "was celebrated in grand style by the Democrats of Woburn and vicinity, by a supper at the Horn Pond Hotel, on Thursday evening, January 30th. Bowen Buckman, Esq., officiated as president, assisted by Col. Leonard Thompson, Col. Wm. Winn, Oliver B. Coolidge, Esq., Doctor Augustus Plympton, and Charles Carter, Esq., Vice Pres., and Messrs. M. L. Converse and John Cummings, Jr., secretaries." The supper "in Mr. McGill's best style," was placed upon the tables at seven, and the guests numbering about one hundred and fifty repaired to the hall and "took their places at the board." A blessing was asked by the Rev. Mr. Waldo, of Woburn, and the festivity proceeded.

"When the cloth was removed," the regular toasts were announced by Mr. Albert L. Richardson. They were received with applause and responded to by the band. The president also called on the Hon. James Russell, Isaac H. Wright, D. N. Swasey and L. Josselyn, gentlemen from out of town, who addressed the meeting, and read letters from Hon. Seth Whitmarsh, Hon. Leonard M. Parker, Rev. Luther Wright, B. F. Hallett, J. C. Stuckney, Frederick Robinson, and E. Case, Esquires.

"Everything during the evening went off admirably: The company enjoyed themselves rationally. They did not copy," continues the article, "after the Whig celebrations [!!] in their consumption of Champagne, and in riotous exultations[!]" The occasion could but call forth "warm feelings and enthusiastic expressions of joy" at a result which at once raised the democratic party to a high position, and placed in the executive chair a member of that party, of sound views, and wellknown and pronounced opinions.

"The company separated highly pleased with their entertainment," and with the determination to re-elect Gov. Morton at the next election. The article is concluded with a long list of toasts, regular and volunteer, but a number were omitted by the paper for want of room.

The above is an abridged version of the general account; but in the original the toasts fill the larger portion of the space. After fifty years the sentiment which inspired them has been largely eliminated, and the interest simply centers on the individuals who uttered them; particularly those of our own respected municipality.

Thus Bowen Buckman, Esq., President, offered a volunteer toast to the company on Governor Morton's message; Colonel Leonard Thompson, first Vice-President, one on Andrew Jackson; Col. Wm. Winn, of Burlington, one of the Vice-Presidents, one on the Independent Treasury; O. B Coolidge, Esq., another Vice-President, one on the Navy; Dr. A. Plympton, a Vice-President, one on the Hon. Wm. Parmenter, "a sterling democrat;" Hon. James Russell, of the Senate—great-uncle of the present writer—one on the elective franchise; Rev. J. C. Waldo, of Woburn, one on Christianity and democracy; Hon. John Wade, on bank charters; Rev. Luther Wright of Woburn, on His Excellency Governor Morton, "the dread of aristocrats," and "the unflinching enemy of selfish corporations and monopolies;" the "true friend of the people." "May his administration be as happy to himself, as we trust it will be useful to the people."

Other volunteer toasts were offered by J. Wade, Jr., Esq., of Lowell; Col. Wm. Winn; Dr. Augustus Plympton; Wm P. Thompson; Albert L. Richardson, toastmaster; Joshua V. Pierce; C. A. Wyman; John Madan; Henry Flagg, Esq.; T. Seeley (Bridgeport, Conn.); and John Losthe.

The following compliments were held out to Woburn:

By B. F. Hallett, Esq., of Boston. "Woburn Democrats—Men of the true Bunker Hill breed! For fifteen years they have maintained their post and kept their flag flying, when all around were compelled to strike to the foe. They now see their courage and perseverance crowned with a glorious triumph—the standard of Democracy waves from the top of the Capitol, with Marcus Morton once more Commander in Chief!"

By B. E. Case, Esq., of Lowell. "The Democracy of Woburn—an important branch of the Democratic party of Middlesex . . . . . Woburn will give Marcus Morton 300 votes majority in November, ... and Massachusetts, 5000. He will be triumphantly re-elected, and surrounded with a Council of political friends. The people will it, and it will be done!"

By J. P. Pattee, of West Cambridge, member of the House of Representatives. "The town of Woburn, a nursery of radical democracy; it has always borne good fruit and abundant; may its harvest be still more abundant next November!"

John Leathe uttered the following poetic sentiment on the temple of Democracy:

"While on granite and marble this temple doth rest,
Its foundation can never decay;
But 'twere foolish indeed, its fair structure to place
On such rubbish as Webster and Clay!"

Hon. John Wade thus spoke of bank charters: "Legal instruments given by acts of the Legislature to knaves and speculators, to enable them to rob the honest and industrious, without the liability of being sent to State's Prison for life!"

The following toast by a guest refers to the origin of the Fitchburg Railroad:

"The application of the American Friction Match Company to the Whigs of the Legislature for a charter of Incorporation, and the application of the Railroad Corporation for a charter empowering them to run a Branch Railroad from Charlestown to Fresh Pond,—the Democrats of Massachusetts have already given them a receipt for making Loco Focos without a charter, in the message of Governor Morton; and they will next fall grant them a free passage (not to Fresh Pond) but to the head waters of Salt River!"

The utility of such institutions as banks and such inventions as friction matches and railroads is better understood to-day than such matters were in the year 1840.

The joke in the last sentiment is intensified by the fact that the name loco foco was applied to a species of friction match as well as to a species of Democrat, and that a branch line of railroad to Fresh Pond (a ridiculously short line for passenger traffic) was originally intended to further the ice business. Better success attended the enterprise than was intended, and it soon became the long and important line which it now is.

The lesson of this Morton celebration of 1840 is,—with all due respect to the company's adherence to their political principles,—that people's ideas have enlarged greatly since that time; that many enterprises which now seem easy and even natural to us, would have appeared impossible to them; and that many of the ideas which they ignorantly opposed then, are pronounced facts now, and improvements which the public would not do without.—C.

That Tired Feeling.

You cannot always tell what may be its cause. Possibly it may be due to change of season, climate, or life; possibly to overwork or overstudy, to mental suffering, nervousness or various bodily ailments. But there is no mistaking its effects. You know you feel "almost tired to death," without strength to do anything; ambition seems to be all gone, and in its place indifference to how the world wags—an indescribable languor and weakness. You have no appetite, do not care about food, and only eat because it is the hour for eating, or from force of habit.

This must be stopped. Your condition must be changed at once, or like a ship drifting with the inward tide, you will soon be dashed upon the rocks of incurable disease and death. Rouse the torpid kidneys and liver, tone the digestive organs, create a new appetite, purify and vitalize the impure and sluggish blood, cure the headache, and overcome all the prostrating effects of That Tired Feeling, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just what you need, and to delay taking it is unwise.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Burlington.

Several of our farmers have sent peas to market. We understand that Mr. David O'Brien was among the first. Perhaps his "Cattle Show" plough may have helped in this.

Children's Sunday was observed at the church last Sunday morning and evening. The decorations were especially beautiful. Beside the masses of wild flowers there was a fine display of hydrangeas and other plants from Mr. C. H. Walker's greenhouse and a large acacia contributed by Mrs. G. F. Shaw. In the morning Rev. C. F. Hersey preached an excellent sermon to the children. The service in the evening was a Sunday School concert. The little folks made a very charming sight as they marched into the church to the music of the piano. The subject of the exercises was "The Child in the Temple." The different parts were so well performed that it would be rather unjust to particularize. Rev. Mr. Hersey made a short address on some phases of mission Sunday school work and after a little "Collection Speech," by Miss Emma Twining the school and audience gave a generous contribution for Capt. Lane's missionary work.

Human milk is the best food for infants, not on account of any specific property it possesses, but merely because it is the most digestible. When however, it is so poor as to be no longer nutritious it ceases to rank as a food, and Mellin's Food should be used.

Summer Bargains June 1891.

We thank all of our customers for a very successful Spring Trade.

We will continue to keep the ball moving by offering

GOOD VALUES EVERY DAY.

Special Bargains.

Ladies' Shoulder Capes, the balance of our Spring Stock. Half price.

41 cents for a piece of 10 yds. Colored Velvet Ribbons, a job lot. Regular Prices 75c., $1.00 and $1.25.

Black Lace Flouncing and Drapery Lace marked down to 50c., 75c. and $1.00 a yard, former price from 75c. to $2.00.

50 CENTS EACH, Children's Muslin Caps, marked down from $1.00, $1.25, $1.75 and $2.00

White Embroidered Muslin Flouncings, 40 in. wide, 37½c., 50c. and 75c. a yard.

5 cents a yard. White Lace Edging, marked down to close. Slow sellers.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

CITY OF WOBURN.

Collector's Sale

— OF —

Real Estate for Non-Payment of Taxes.

WOBURN, MASS., June 16, 1891.

The owners and occupants of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified that the taxes thereon severally assessed for the year 1889, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said City of Woburn, by the Assessors of Taxes of said Woburn, remain unpaid, and that said parcels of real estate will be offered for sale by public auction, at the OFFICE OF THE COLLECTOR OF TAXES, Room No. 3, Municipal Building, Common street, in said Woburn, on SATURDAY, JULY, 25, A. D. 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the payment of said taxes and interest from October 15, 1889, together with costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged:

RESIDENTS.

CATHERINE LYNCH.—About ¾ of an acre of land with buildings thereon, situated on northerly side of Montvale Avenue, in Woburn, bounded as follows, viz:—Southerly by said Montvale Avenue, there measuring 60 feet; westerly partly by land formerly of Francis Maize, and partly by land formerly of one Moore, there measuring about 203 feet; northerly by land now or formerly of one Davis, there measuring 100 feet; easterly by land now or formerly of one Lewis.
Tax of 1889, $15 48

CHARLES UPTON HEIRS.—About 2,244 square feet of land, situated in Woburn, on the westerly side of Beacon street, bounded as follows, viz:—easterly by said Beacon street; southerly by land of Anna E. Smith; westerly by land of McLaughlin, and northerly by other land of Charles Upton heirs.
Tax of 1889, $10 15

MARY HANDLEY.—About 5-16 of an acre of land with buildings thereon, situated on the northerly side of Montvale Avenue bounded as follows, viz:—Northwesterly partly by the West Boarding House lot, so-called, shown on plan of the Woburn Agricultural and Manufacturing Company, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds; southwesterly also by said West Boarding House lot; northwesterly by lot No. 121 on said plan, about 130 feet; northeasterly by Utica street, about 80 feet; southeasterly Lot No. 123 on said plan, and the East Middle Boarding House lot as shown on said plan, about 285 feet, and southwesterly by said Montvale Avenue, 22 5-10 feet. Being the same premises conveyed to Murtagh Handley by deed of Thomas S. Chamberlain et als, dated November 22, 1881, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1584, Page 198.
Tax of 1889, $8 60

NON-RESIDENTS.

GEORGE B. JAMES.—About 10,000 square feet of land, being lots numbered 72, 73 and 74 on plan of land of France B. Hiller, situated in the northerly part of Woburn, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 39, Plan 50.
Tax of 1889, $ 43

FREDERICK MAHONEY.—About 20,000 sq. feet of land, being lots numbered 84, 85, 86, 87 and 88, on plan of land of France B. Hiller' situated in the northerly part of Woburn, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 39, Plan 50.
Tax of 1889, $ 86

JOHN G. MAGUIRE,
Collector of Taxes for the City of Woburn.

Important Notice.

CAUTION.

Office, Woburn Water Board, Woburn, June 16, 1891.

The attention of water takers is called to the necessity of reducing the consumption of water during the summer season, and are requested to avoid all unnecessary waste from running faucets, and the ILLEGAL use of hose (the City Ordinances limit the use of hose to ONE hour each day). Attention is also called to the regulation, "that any person using hose without giving notice, will be required to pay double rates."

By order of Water Commissioners,
A. P. BARRETT, Clerk.

PATTEN'S

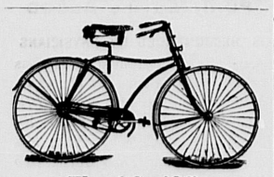
ICE CREAM.

We have opened a room in

MECHANICS' BUILDING, 10 Walnut St., Woburn,

 Where we will be pleased to serve friends and the public in the best of style.

S. H. PATTEN & SON.



The "Swift"

High grade equal to any, superior to many. Call and see it, and get terms at

BONELLI'S
22 Franklin Street, Woburn.
Agent for Woburn.

Go West!

Boots & Shoes preferred.

Persons wishing a Manufacturing Plant, Stone Factory, Power, Office, Sheds, &c., complete, correspond with VAN BRUNT & DAVIS CO.

Horicon, Wisconsin.

WANTED.

A good man used to farm work, good Milker, and good with the Sythe. A man with a family preferred.
Inquire at this Office.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated no Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St., cor Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

FOR SALE.

1 Goethe Market Wagon in good condition.
Apply to FREEMAN A. LORING,
Winchester, Mass.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, June 18, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mrs. Wm. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Clement, Mrs. Minnie Davis, Mrs. G. E. Flanders, Harry Kenny, Mr. Brooks Reed, Geo. P. Rodgers, C. E. Stephenson, 140 Main St., Emma Vay, Mrs. W. Warren, Academy Hill.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

The Woburn Gas Light Company

Desire to call special attention of the citizens of Woburn to the economics and cleanliness of

GAS STOVES AND GAS APPLIANCES:

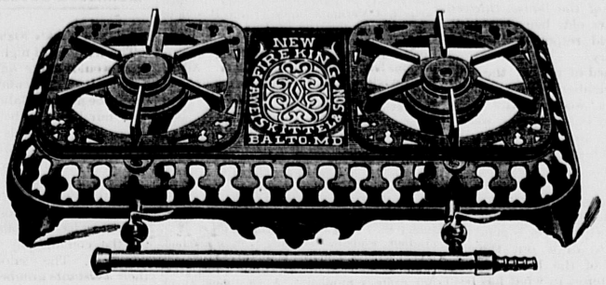
The price of Gas in Woburn is LOWER than the price in any other city of the Commonwealth when the amount of business is considered; while the use of Gas as fuel is very much larger in many other places.

Now is the time to secure a GAS STOVE avoiding unnecessary heat and ashes.

The Gas Company can refer to many citizens, and will be pleased to show and explain various forms of stoves and appliances which will be sold to our customers at the manufacturers prices to the trade.

R. J. MONKS, Agent.

GAS FOR COOKING



— AND — HEATING.

WOBURN, May 1, 1891.

We, the undersigned residents of Woburn, are using, for Cooking and other household purposes, Gas Stoves, purchased from the Woburn Gas Light Co., and cheerfully recommend them as being more economical and as satisfactory in results as the ordinary Cooking Range, without trouble from dust or ashes, always ready for use, and giving us a much cooler kitchen in summer.

Mrs. Frances W. Hill,
" Geo. A. Hobbs,
" Chas. D. Adams,
" H. B. Hayes,
" G. F. Jones,
" M. Hayward,
" C. H. Buss,
" Fred. R. Slater,
" A. B. Barrett,
" Wm. N. Titus,
" J. A. Day,
" H. L. Andrews,
" F. A. Winn,

Mrs. J. B. McDonald,
" M. A. Ham,
" E. F. Johnson,
" S. T. Brigham,
" F. W. Crosby,
" Mary C. Blanchard,
" Webster Woodman,
" Chas. A. Nichols,
" Fred. J. Ham,
Miss Hattie A. Kenney,
Mrs. Herbert B. Dow,
" Frank F. Dodge,

Mrs. Frank H. Elliott,
" G. F. Fosdick,
" E. A. Wood,
" J. W. Johnson,
" Benj. Hinckley,
" Julia A. Johnson,
" Winthrop Hammond,
" J. W. Hammond,
" C. A. Jones,
" Jacob Brown,
Miss L. A. Pratt,
Mrs. Alexander Ellis.

Wm. A. Mullett,

House, Sign & Fresco Painter.

Paper Hanging and Decorating

Done in the best and most workmanlike manner, at the lowest living price, and at short notice.

I have just opened a new Store on Walnut Street with a good selection of Wall Papers and Borders, also Window Shades, Mouldings, &c., and would solicit a share of your patronage, and guarantee to give satisfaction.

All goods sold at Boston Prices.

Store, No. 6 Walnut St., House 22 Church St., WOBURN, MASS.

Boys' and Children's Department.

1000 Suits, New Spring Styles, Fancy Cassimeres and Scotch Mixed Goods, only $3.50 and $5.00 a suit.

Great Bargains in Short Pants Suits at $1.50, $2.00 and $2 50.

200 pairs Boys' Blue Flannel Pants, only 50 cents.

1000 pairs Boys' Cassimere Short Pants, only 50 and 75 cents, were 75 cents and $1.00.

Boys' and Children's Spring Suits, at only $3.00 and $4.00.

250 Boys' Long Pants Suits, only $8.00 and $10.00, worth double the money.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, short pants, only $5.00.

Boys' Black Cheviot Suits, long pants, only $10.00.

"Commonwealth"

CLOTHING HOUSE,

Cor. Washington & Kneeland Sts., Boston.

Administrator's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Probate Court, within and for the County of Middlesex, dated June 9, 1891, the subscriber, Administrator of the estate of Annie J. Lafferty, late of Woburn, in said County of Middlesex, deceased, will sell at public auction on Wednesday, July 8th, 1891, the two parcels of land hereinafter described, the sale of each parcel to occur upon the respective premises, and at the hour specified below:

LOT 1. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises herein described, will be sold a certain parcel of land, with certain buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the westerly side of Main street, bounded as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southeasterly corner of the premises, on said Main street and at land of Salmon; thence the line runs northerly, by and with said Main street, nineteen (19) feet, to land of George H. Hutchings; thence westerly, on and by land last named, sixty-one (61) feet, to land of Alvah Buckman; thence southerly, on and by land of Buckman, twenty (20) feet, to land of said Salmon; thence easterly, on and by land last named, fifty-nine and one-half (59½) feet, to the point of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed to said Annie J. Lafferty by George H. Hutchings by deed dated April 26, 1889, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1905, Page 229.

LOT 2. At 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises hereinafter described, will be sold a certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated on Broad street in said Woburn, containing about seven thousand one hundred and fourteen square feet, bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the northeasterly corner of the premises, on the southerly side of Broad street; thence the line runs west of south by land of the City of Woburn, one hundred twenty-seven and four-tenths (127.4) feet, to a corner; thence north of west, by land now or formerly of one Ellis, and land now or formerly of John Winn and Charles Bennett, fifty-five feet and three inches, to a stake; thence east of north, by land now or formerly of Fiagg, one hundred and twenty-four (124) feet, to a stake at said Broad street; thence south of east, by and with said Broad street, fifty-seven feet and nine inches, to the point of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed to said Annie J. Lafferty by Jotham F. Hill and Agnes E. Hill, by deed dated August 28, 1886, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1765, Page 172.

$100.00 of purchase money on each lot will be required to be paid at time and place of sale; balance in ten day.

THOMAS SALMON, Administrator of the estate of Annie J. Lafferty.

J. G. MAGUIRE, Attorney, 396 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Woburn, June 15, 1891.

Executor's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Probate Court within and for the County of Middlesex, dated June 9th, 1891, the subscriber, Executor of the will of Michael Connell, late of Woburn in said County of Middlesex, deceased, will sell at public auction, on the premises hereafter described, on Monday, the twenty-ninth day of June, A. D., 1891, at two o'clock in the afternoon, a certain lot of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn on the easterly side of Washington street, containing about three-sixteenths of an acre, bounded as follows, viz: Westerly on and by said Washington street; northeasterly and easterly by the old Canal bed; and southerly by land of Heirs of Charles Porter, deceased. $100.00 of the purchase will be required at time of sale; balance in 10 days.

THOMAS CONNELL,
Executor of the will of Michael Connell.

For futher particulars inquire of J. G. Maguire, Attorney for Executor, 396 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Woburn, June 10, 1891.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs at-Law and others interested in the estate of Ann Doherty late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Hugh McCafferty Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for a license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of July next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; and said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the Estate of Lucy A. Barnard, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, Intestate:

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Frederic Huckley of Boston in the County of Suffolk, and to exempt him from giving surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of June instant at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the Estate under deed given by Oliver B. Coolidge to Ebenezer Lawrence, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased, given in trust for the benefit of Abijah Thompson and others,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, the Trustee under said deed, has presented his petition for license to sell certain real estate therein specified, held by him as such trustee;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Cambridge, in said County, on the second Tuesday of June next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

CLUB WINDOWS

Have comfortable chairs, but not so comfortable and charmingly, delightfully odd as the Portuguese Rush-Chairs which we have just imported. Only look at them in our window, and you will be sure to come in and buy them.

Keeler & Co.

91 Washington Street, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

July 4 Fireworks

Our Unrivalled Collection or Assorted Cases of High Grade Fireworks meet the wants of all consumers unfamiliar with a judicious selection of such materials.

Their absolute and pre-eminent excellence is well known; no other goods surpass our make in variety, design, or colors; in size, weight and safety.

They are the acknowledged Standard everywhere.

These cases contain from a toy display for One Dollar to a TOWN or CITY'S EXHIBIT for $200.00 and upwards.

A direct order to us saves the purchaser over fifty per cent on retail rates, and all freight and express charges to destination. We make free deliveries to any point, and guarantee satisfaction to every patron who complies with the terms as advertised in our catalogue in reference to remittance for these assortments.

Send for Catalogue for full particulars.

Ask your dealer for The American Cannon Cracker. They create no fires and they make five times more noise than the Chinese goods. Address

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

Masten & Wells,

Fireworks Manufacturers,

18 Hawley St., Boston, Mass.

No Strike

At Our Shop!

House, Sign and Ornamental Painting at short notice.

Also, firstclass Paper Hangers furnished. Leave your orders now before the busy season opens and they will receive prompt attention.

Office, 439 Main St., opp. Central House.
BLUE STORE.
C. E. SMITH.

Mowing Machine

FOR SALE.

In firstclass shape. Cheap.
Apply at
71 Wyman St.,
E. C. COLMAN.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING.

Fashionable Dress and Cloak Making is carried on by the subscriber at

No. 59 Warren St., Woburn.

☞ Prices Reasonable. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

M. D. STEVENS.

TO LET

MAY 1, 1891.

Tenement No. 34 Union street, containing seven rooms with bay window, city water and gas, within two minutes walk of the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at JOURNAL OFFICE.

WORKING MEN OF WOBURN.

If you pay for good stout Overalls	50 cents
you are unwise for I ask only	39 cents.
Or if you pay for Working Shirts	50 cents,
I will sell you the same quality for	39 cents.

And so of Outing Shirts. If you pay 29 or 25c. I will sell you the same for 23c. If you pay 50c. I will sell the same for 39c.

And so of Jumpers and all Underwear.

In fact any goods that laboring men buy in my line will be sold from 25% to 33% under the regular price.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Wall Paper and Window Shades.

Blue Store.

Blue Store.

Largest Stock in the city and lowest prices.

Fine Wall Papers,	5c.
Gilt " "	10c.

Extra fine Gilt and Plain Goods at wholesale prices. Picture Frames made to order. Painters and Paper Hangers furnished, big discount to real estate owners and builders. All orders left at store will receive prompt attention. Samples of Wall Papers if desired.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main St.,

Opposite Central House.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Summer Goods Just Receive

In Every Style, Texture and Price,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

COOL DRINKS

— FOR —

HOT WEATHER

Allen's Root Beer Extract 20 cents per bottle.
Hires' " " 20 cents per bottle.
One bottle of Extract makes five gallons of beer. These goods are made entirely from roots and herbs and are highly recommended as very healthful Summer drinks.
Ginger Ale, 10 cents per bottle; $1.00 per dozen. 12 cents a dozen allowed for bottles returned.
Lime Juice 20 cents per bottle.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

For Sale.

House, 8 rooms, 10,000 feet of land, frontage on Main street about 81 feet, first class neighborhood, about five minutes from the Centre. House in thorough repair, bay windows. Will sell this house at a bargain as the owner is going to move to New Hampshire. Come call if you intend to buy and see E. J. GREGORY, Real Estate Agent.

FOR SALE.

The Estate corner of Main and Richardson St., is the best piece of investment property in the city; will sell the whole or in part viz., House 9 rooms, barn, carriage and greenhouses and about 16,000 feet of land. Price $4000 on easy terms; also the other half of the property comprising about 21,000 feet, will make 6 good house lots 40x90. Call and see me and get the terms.

Also Estates for sale on Glenwood street, Mann's Court, Canal, Bedford, Main, Ash, High, Church, Grove streets, and also good first class building lots on Read street and others.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

BOSTON OFFICE: Globe Building, Room 6.

Special Office Hours: Woburn, 8 to 9 A. M., 3.30 to 5 P. M.

Boston Office Hours, 10 to 3 P. M.

FOR SALE.

House lot on Johnson street adjoining Unitarian Parsonage lot and Hammond Square, containing about four thousand feet. This lot is one of the most desirable in the city for building purposes.

Inquire of WM. KIMBALL, Wilton, N. H., or at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

HUDSON'S GARDEN
Hose Mender,
So simple a child can use it.
Write for descriptive circular.
One box containing 6 Tubes, 20 Bands, 1 pair Pliers, post paid, $1.00.
Extra parts sold separately. All dealers keep them.
Agents wanted.
CYRUS E. HUDSON,
Leominster, Mass.

CAPTIVITY OF JUDAH.

LESSON XII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 21.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings xxv, 1-12. Commit Verses, 4-6—Golden Text, Hos. vi, 1—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came, he and all his host, against Jerusalem, and pitched against it."

As we saw in the last lesson Josiah's turning to God and great revival reached but a few comparatively, while the nation as a whole continued in sin.

"According to the Word of the Lord."

2. "And the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of Zedekiah."

Jeremiah had at this time been a prophet forty years, for he began in the thirteenth year of Josiah, after which Josiah continued eighteen years, and the eleventh of Zedekiah was twenty-two years later (Jer. i, 2; II Kings xxii, 1; xxiii, 31, 36; xxiv, 8-18). The thirty-five years which elapsed between Josiah's great passover in the eighteenth year of his reign (II Chron. xxxv, 19) and the destruction of the city, is suggestive and perhaps typical of about the same period which elapsed between the greatest of all passovers, when Christ our passover was sacrificed for us (I Cor. v, 7) and the last destruction of Jerusalem by Titus.

3. "The famine prevailed in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land."

4. "And the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled by night; and the king went the way toward the plain."

And yet this was the city which God had chosen to put His name there—the city of the Great King, beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth.

5. "And the army of the Chaldees pursued after the king and overtook him in the plains of Jericho, and all his army were scattered from him."

This also was made known to the captives at Babylon by the prophet Ezekiel (Ezek. xii, 13, f. c.). Contrast the safety of Hezekiah when besieged by the great army of Sennacherib, and the wonderful deliverance God wrought for him in answer to the prayer of himself and Isaiah (II Chron. xxxii, 20-22; Isa. xxxvii, 36). See also the peace and safety of Elijah when besieged by the Syrians (II Kings vi, 16, 17), and consider what God did for Abijah and Asa because they relied on him (II Chron. xiii, 18; xiv, 11, 12).

6. "So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah; and they gave judgment upon him."

At the same place, just twenty-two years before, the king of Egypt had put bands upon his brother Jehoahaz and took him to Egypt, where he died (II Kings xxiii).

7. "And they slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of brass, and carried him to Babylon."

Jeremiah had said, "Thine eyes shall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he shall speak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babylon" (Jer. xxxiv, 3). The same spirit had said through Ezekiel, "I will bring him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans; yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there" (Ezek. xii, 13). See how these somewhat difficult, and in a measure seemingly contradictory, prophecies were literally fulfilled, and all made perfectly plain in the fulfillment. He saw the king of Babylon; they looked upon each other and spoke to each other. He also went to Babylon, but he never saw Babylon, for after seeing the king of Babylon at Riblah, and after being compelled to witness the death of his sons, his eyes were put out. How fearfully sad the consequences of unbelief! but what is all present physical suffering when compared with the endless torment of Rev. xiv, 9-11?

8. "Nebuzar-adan, captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon."

The literal meaning of the Hebrew phrase here translated "captain of the guard" is "chief of the slaughtermen or executioners" (see the margin of Gen. xxxvii, 36).

9. "And he burnt the house of the Lord, and the King's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and every great man's house burnt he with fire."

The people could now truly say, "O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance; thy holy temple have they defiled; they have laid Jerusalem on heaps" (Ps. lxxix, 1). "Our holy and our beautiful house, where our fathers praised Thee, is burned up with fire, and all our pleasant things are laid waste" (Isa. lxiv, 11). This magnificent building, costing hundreds of millions of dollars, and which stood less than thirty-four years in its original splendor (I Kings xiv, 25, 26), is now completely destroyed and all the city burned with fire; and sin did it all.

10. "And all the army of the Chaldees that were with the captain of the guard, brake down the walls of Jerusalem round about."

And thus they continued until the return of Nehemiah, many years after the return of the 50,000 under Zerubbabel (Neh. i, 3), and amid the greatest opposition and hatred, saw the wall rebuilt (Neh. iv, vi).

11. "Now the rest of the people that were left in the city did Nebuzar-adan, the captain of the guard, carry away."

Some were slain (vs. 18-21); at three different times 4,600 were carried captive (Jer. lii, 28-30), while some were left in the land. Some were carried captive for their good, that He might bring them again, and build them and plant them in their own land, and give them a heart to know Him; while others who were disobedient were taken to be consumed and destroyed because of their sins (read Jer. xxiv). The same event or series of events may happen to both the righteous and the wicked; to the one it means blessing, to the other cursing. The same glad tidings of salvation preached to a congregation may mean life to some and death to others (II Cor. ii, 15, 16).

12. "But the captain of the guard left of the poor of the land to be vine dressers and husbandmen."

To the poor of the people, who had nothing in the land, he gave vineyards and fields (Jer. xxxix, 10). Gedaliah was made governor over these, and Jeremiah chose to dwell with him among the people that were left in the land (Jer. xl, 4-6). Gedaliah was slain by Ishmael, and he in turn was defeated by Johanan, who ere long took all the remnant of the people, men, women and children and kings' daughters and Jeremiah and Baruch, and went down to Egypt, where probably Jeremiah died (Jer. xli, 2, 3, 11, 12; xliii, 4-7).

Thus was the land desolate "To fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah" (II Chron. xxxvi, 21). Mark the last four verses of the books of II Kings and the prophecy of Jeremiah, then read Jer. xxiii, 5-8, and believe that the God who raised up Jehoiachim out of prison after thirty-seven years, is just as able to raise up Israel 3,700 years after the promises to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and, dear reader, I entreat you to believe God and be subject to Him.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it know to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

The first colored man ever admitted to practice law in the courts of Savannah, Ga., was sworn in a few days ago. His name is J. H. Kinckle, and he is a native of Virginia, where he practiced law for five years.

THE OLD BOAT.

A wore out boat upon the shore,
The children's playground is it now,
The troubled deep it tempts no more,
It lies at rest like rusty plow.

And yet it basks in bright noontide,
It echoes gladly childish voices;
A sailor's wife leans here, and wide
Her outlook till her heart rejoices.

Here lovers meet when dusk draws near,
Their voyages have scarce begun;
Ah! may they keep vows true and dear,
Until their resting days are won.

For 'tis not every craft that lies
So calmly on a kindly shore;
And 'tis not every heart is wise
To cherish love when youth is o'er.

—Beatrix L. Tollemache in Academy.

The Ways of Women.

A richly but not overdressed woman a day or two ago entered a well filled Fourth avenue car, and without so much as a look dropped into a seat vacated for her by a man who on rising had politely raised his hat.

The woman's behavior was so markedly ungracious that the other occupants of the car smiled broadly at the victim of misplaced politeness, who did not fail to notice that he was being laughed at.

Turning to the lady and once more raising his hat, he said, "Pardon me, madam, but did I leave my gloves on the seat?"

The woman stood up to look for the missing handgear and the man slid himself edgewise into the seat. The laughter which followed was not participated in by the woman, and she left the car at the next block.

"Take my seat, madam," said a man to a woman on another occasion under similar circumstances.

"Thanks, no. I saw the car was more than full when I stopped it to get on and I expected to stand. I have no right to deprive you of your seat, and I won't do it."

This little speech was followed by a look of blank amazement on the part of the other passengers.—New York Times.

Mountains of Bacilli.

Prodigious as must have been the number of organisms whose remains form the great chalk deposits found all over the world, yet these are only as a single grain of sand on the seashore when compared with the vast accumulation of fossil infusoria. In spite of the extreme minuteness of these invisible forms, the stratified rocks, forming a large portion of the crust of the earth, are made up almost entirely from their shells and skeletons. They form great mountain ranges in different portions of the globe.

Even the silicious rocks, called tripoli, are shown by the microscope to be composed of the carapaces of tiny animalculæ, that secreted silica from its solution in water in the same way that the carbonate of lime was secreted by the organisms whose remains composed the strata of chalk. These silicious animals belonged principally to the family bacillaria, and their skeletons are so perfectly preserved that they can be identified and compared with the bacterium of the present day.—Macon Telegraph.

A Queer Court Decision.

A peculiar case disposed of at Caldwell court was that of a man who had been tried by the mayor of Lenoir for violation of a town ordinance and had pleaded guilty. The mayor fined him more than he wanted to pay, and he appealed, and in the superior court the jury acquitted him of the charge to which he had pleaded guilty in the mayor's court. This strikes us as something new under the sun in the way of criminal procedure.—Marion (N. C.) Free Lance.

The Number Five Is Convenient.

Five is a number but little employed in the Scriptures, but it is a number of great convenience and utility. Man was created with five natural senses, and with five fingers on each hand and five toes on each foot. The earth's surface is divided into five zones, and the rose has five leaves, or some multiple of five.—Chicago Herald.

Complaint was made in the house of commons that some publicans were in the habit of obliging their customers by selling postage stamps after the post-offices are closed. It was stated on behalf of the government that no one is entitled to sell stamps without first taking out a license.

The production of electrically welded steel chains will soon become an important industry in this country. The steel chain will be one-third lighter than the present chain, with as great a tensile strength, and can be produced at considerable less cost.

When Queen Victoria is traveling by rail in her special train she exercises no deadhead rights. She pays at the rate of $1.92 a mile, whatever the distance, in addition to first class fares for all the party, servants included. Her saloon carriage cost $30,000.

At one time in the world's history ice was considered a great luxury, and only the rich could enjoy what is now looked upon as an absolute necessity. In ancient days snow was used as a substitute.

A Rockport man has a cat which was brought from Iceland which has a perfectly white fur and deep blue eyes. The most interesting thing about it is that it is deaf and dumb.—Boston Herald.

Way back in Morse's Geography the rising generation is informed that a certain town contained "400 houses and 4,000 inhabitants, all standing with their gable ends to the street."

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and medicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambery & Murphy, of Battle Creek, Mich.; C B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly, or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at Charles H. Buss.

Twice as many crimes are committed in Paris by persons between fifteen and twenty years of age as by those from twenty to forty.

Do You Wish

To regain your health if you are all broken down and suffering from nervous prostration? I will tell you what cured me after suffering for months. I used two bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and now I am a well man. C. Stiles, Bookkeeper, Canton.

HOME LIBRARIES.

Established Practicability of a New Form of Charitable Work.

The charity organization societies of some of our large cities are gradually extending their work among the poor and passing beyond the lines of simple benevolence. The Baltimore society is co-operating with the industrial education association and cooking schools in efforts to teach the practical principles of social science and to apply them to every day life, and in Boston an excellent work has been done by the establishment of home libraries.

A glance at this plan will serve to show at once its simplicity and the amount of good which it can undoubtedly accomplish. A bookcase large enough to hold fifteen books and five bound periodicals is fastened to the wall in the living room of a poor family, a boy or girl of the house, thirteen or fourteen years old, being made librarian and held responsible for the care of the library.

A club is formed of ten of the children of the neighborhood, who meet together once a week at the house where the library is. At these weekly meetings a visitor from the Children's Aid society, which supplies the books, is always present. The children then return the books which were given out at the last meeting, and take out others to be read at home. When this has been done the visitor, who is generally a woman, tries to draw out the children's opinions of the books and to quicken their interest in what has been read.

She also plays games with them, and sometimes teaches sewing to any who may have a liking for it. The books include fairy tales, stories of travel and the lighter kind of history, and so when the children reach the age at which they are permitted to use the public library they have learned to read a better class of books than they would choose if they had not had the training of the home library.

The cost of a library complete, with forms for keeping the records, is only $25. This plan is undoubtedly an effective means of benefitting the poor. At an age when their character is forming, when their ordinary pursuits and amusements bring them into close contact with all that is worst in the byways of a great city, they begin to realize that there is something better and brighter beyond their own daily routine, and are given an opportunity of enjoying a legitimate and elevating pleasure.

The books which they take home to read are read by their parents and by their older brothers and sisters, and the little librarian in whose house the library is placed awakens to a sense of responsibility and orderliness. The improvement spreads to the rest of the family, and the home becomes brighter and more cheerful.

The first of these libraries was started in Boston four years ago and they now number forty-six. The society which has charge of them says that "good temper, good manners and cheerfulness—what we must look for in children—follow directly in the train of the work. Interest in reading the best books is developed, the children's pride is stimulated by a sense of organization and proprietorship, home amusement and occupation become realities, the family tie is strengthened and individual character developed."—Philadelphia Record.

Variation of a Popular Game.

There is a favorite game called "Who Wrote It?" in which the titles of books are given or bits of verse are quoted, and the company are expected to give the authors' names. But people have played this for some time and are beginning to find out who wrote them, and so the game has lost a little of the first zest. Why not make a change for once and take the names of the authors of the operas? "They're too well known," you say. Are they? Of course you who say so know all of these then. Who wrote Martha, Norma and Aida? Who wrote Lucia, The Crown Diamonds and The Magic Flute? Who wrote The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, Oberon, The Barber of Seville, Fra Diavolo, Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet, The Merry Wives of Windsor, The Prophet, The Black Domino, The Siren, The Huguenots, The Queen of Sheba, Zampa, Don Juan, Esclaramonde, The King of Ys, Carmen, The African, Othello, Traviata, Rigoletto, The Daughter of the Regiment, The Bohemian Girl, Fidelio?—New York Evening Sun.

Power of Expression.

Our language has a wonderful power of expression. On one occasion, we are told, a doctor of divinity rang the changes on "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." "He that is accessible to auricular vibration," said the doctor, "let him not close the gates of his tympana." Then again we have that old fashioned saying, "The more the merrier," delightfully translated in this way: "Multitudinous assemblages are the most provocative of cachinnatory hilarity."—London Tit-Bits.

A Sure Sign.

Young Man—Mr. Tapeline, can you put a new right sleeve in this coat? This one is getting badly worn.

Tailor—Certainly, Mr. Downey. Allow me to congratulate you on the engagement.—Judge.

In a Fair Way to Do It.

Friend (sympathetically)—It won't be so very bad after all; it will soon be over.

Criminal—Oh, I've do doubt of it. I shall get the hang of it.—Ram's Horn.

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1 00.

During the year 1889 the mines of Georgia produced gold to the amount of $107,605.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

I had been troubled since 1869 with Gravel and Catarrh of the Bladder. Tried several doctors, but got no relief. Finally, at the advice of E. D. W. Parsons, I was prevailed upon to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The result was marvelous. After using a few bottles, was entirely cured. S. N. Arnold, No. 563 Plymouth avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

There are more than 100 widows living on one street in Doylestown, Pa.

Literary Notices.

The numbers of Littell's Living Age for May 9th and 16th, contain The Story of Bianca Capello, and A Stone Book, Anglo-Saxon Unity, Ibsen's Brand, Lord Beaconsfield; after Ten Years, Civilization, and Politics in Fiction Statesmen of Europe, Social Bath in the Last Century, Grav and his Letters, and Towards Willandra Billabong, Life on a Sugar Plantation, Carrara, An Irish Mail car Driver, and A Curious Irish Will, A Chinese Wedding, Geographical Expeditions, Modern Goths, with instalments of Eight Days, A Strange Passenger, The Muqaddam of Spins, and poetry. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four pages each the subscription price ($8) is low. Littell & Co., Boston are the publishers.

Perhaps the most enjoyable thing in the June Wide Awake is that story with the Edward Rellamy touch, The Pursuit of Happiness, by Tudor Jenks—a quizzical look into the future for boys. A beautiful romance is contributed by Annie Bronson King, under the title, This Way went the Lady Mary to Paradise. A good old-time article, A Vermont Boy's Trip to Boston in 1825, is from the pen of John L. Heston, with pictures by Garrett. Amanda Jinkum's Burdens, by Oliver Howard, has its serious lesson for eldest daughters. All the girls might take some tender teaching from sweet, bright, true Polly Pepper in Margaret Sidney's Peppers serial which has never been more interesting than in the present number. Quite a different little girl from Pironsie Pepper, but a charming quaint child, makes her courtesy to Wide Awake readers in the new serial, Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn; in the third serial Marietta's Good Times, we get delightful glimpses of the free open-air life of Italian children. This serial is from the pen of an Italian woman, recalling her childhood. Good articles, poems and pictures crowd the number full. Wide Awake is 2.40 a year; 20 cents a number. A specimen (back number) will be sent on receipt of 5 cents. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

A cold of unusual severity developed into a difficulty decidedly catarrhal in all its characteristics, threatening a return of my old chronic malady, catarrh. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm completely eradicated every symptom of that painful and prevailing disorder.—E. W. Warner, Rochester, N. Y.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had headache since.—J. H. Sommers, Stephney, Conn.

The longest bridge in the world is to be built on the estate of Prince Zadziwill, in East Prussia. It will be of wood and four and three-fifths miles long.

The components of Laxador are daily prescribed by the ablest physicians of the land. It is nonpareil for loss of appetite and debility. Price 25 cents.

Perfect health can be assured to the baby by judiciously using Dr Bull's Baby Syrup. Sold everywhere for 25 cents a bottle.

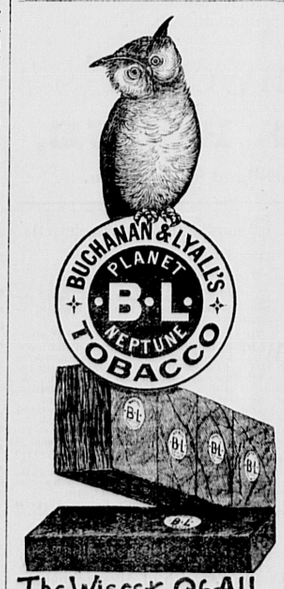
The emperor of Austria sent the German empress a diamond set which cost $15,000 as a gift in celebration of her infant's christening.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.



The Wisest Of All Nations Agree It Is THE GREATEST CHEW ON EARTH FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

Science In Shoes FOR WOMEN'S WEAR.

America's Latest THE "PERFECTION" ADJUSTABLE. Pat. July 15, 1890.

Unlike Other Adjustable Shoes as only Leather is seen.

Instantly Comfortable. A Narrower Size Worn GLOVE FITTING! NEVER SPREADS! Stronge t where Others are Weak

LADIES! This SHOE appeals to your reason, to your sense of sight, and to your good judgment. You should examine them before buying other kinds. They are

No More Tender Feet.

"PERFECTION" the World's Best. UNRIVALLED FOR STYLE, COMFORT AND DURABILITY. Popular in Price. Satisfaction Guaranteed. CONSOLIDATED SHOE CO., Mfrs., Lynn, Mass.

For sale in Woburn by MOSES BANCROFT.

DELICIOUS MINCE PIES EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NONE SUCH CONDENSED Mince Meat

HIGHEST AWARD received at all Pure Food Expositions for Superior Quality, Cleanliness, and convenience to housekeepers.

Each Package contains material for two large pies. Grocers often substitute cheap imitations, to make a better profit. Refuse such articles, and insist on having NONE SUCH brand—the best.

MERRELL & SOULE, SYRACUSE, N.Y.

New York's Night Workers.

The number of night workers in New York would make quite a formidable army. It is calculated that 60,000 people begin their labors after dark and their numbers are being constantly increased. The hotels and restaurants employ the greatest number, about 10,000 people being necessary to supply the city's night wants in that direction. The bakers come next on the list, and that the sleeping portion of the city may have its hot rolls and fresh bread for the coming day 7,000 people are laboring. The saloon keepers and their assistants number the same as the bakers. The butchers are 3,000 strong and the gardeners and marketmen are equally numerous.

The steamboatmen and sailors, the liverymen and hack drivers, and the milkmen are 7,000 in number. The surface cars need 2,000 men and the elevated roads 1,500. There are 2,000 engineers and firmen, 1,000 district messenger boys, 1,000 printers, and 1,000 men in the fire department. The different telegraph offices employ 700 men, and the journalists, postoffice clerks and custom house inspectors number each about 400. There are 1,700 men in the police department, and just one-half of these patrol the streets every night. Then there are private watchmen, laborers, fruit venders, etc., and the number is estimated at 10,000. Only for these night workers the life and wellbeing of the city would be sadly incomplete.—New York Cor. Richmond Times.

A New European Sporting Resort.

For the sportsmen in search of "new worlds to conquer" some interesting and trustworthy statistics are to hand from a country hitherto little visited, and yet not difficult of access—to wit, Bosnia. The name of this province has long been associated with the maze of political problems included in the eastern question, but from official reports published by the local authorities of Bosnia and Herzegovina, we gather that these territories have some special claims to the attention, not only of statesmen, but of those who love the pursuit of big game.

It appears that the abundance of bears in the highlands and of wolves in the lowlands of Bosnia is such that the government offers capitation grants for their destruction, and it is reported that in consequence of these offers during the ten years ending in 1889 884 bears and 8,490 wolves were destroyed. In the one year—1885—as many as 129 bears and 1,057 wolves were killed, and about the same number in 1887. The central highlands of Bosnia are said to be the principal haunt of the bears, especially to the south and west of Travnik and Serajevo, while northern Bosnia is overrun by wolves and harbors few bears. There must be many sportsmen to whom it would be worth while to try their luck in a country so well stocked with bears.—Land and Water.

How Tombstone Got Its Name.

"Mr. Warner, of Tombstone, I believe?"

"Right you are," said a man with a big mustache and a broad brimmed hat in the office of the Brunswick.

"Yes, I'll tell you how Tombstone got its name. In the early days, when the Apaches were pretty bad around our part of the country, a prospector came along by the name of Ed Schiffin. He had been prospecting for a good while without finding much of anything, and when he announced his intention of trying his luck around our camp (which was then totally without white population) he was warned that he would not get back, and his friends would have to go up and build a tombstone on his grave.

"He went, though, and the first day he found a rich piece of float which assayed $2,750. The man is now worth $2,000,000, and the place has had the name of Tombstone ever since. In appearance he is a common miner yet, wears a red flannel shirt, top boots and a broad hat, and doesn't care a fig for his personal appearance."—Rocky Mountain News.

A Bit Reckless.

A man in Cincinnati has made affidavit that he called up an acquaintance by telephone and had a five minutes' chat, and then learned that the man had been dead two hours when he helloed him up. It is hoped the dead man got satisfaction over the wire. That is more than any live one will ever get.—Detroit Free Press.

Cook in a Fix.

Mistress—Lina, why have you brought no fruit from the market?

Cook—Well, you see, ma'am, you don't like pears, I don't like plums, the young lady doesn't eat cherries, the young master doesn't care for apples, and your husband won't touch peaches. Then what sort of fruit was I to get?—Frauenzeitung.

Mental Phonographs.

He (after marriage)—What? You have no fortune! You said over and over again that you were afraid some one would marry you for your money.

She—Yes, and you said over and over again that you would be happy with me if I hadn't a cent. Well, I haven't a cent.—New York Weekly.

Hopeless.

Client—I want to sue a man who owes me fifty dollars.

Lawyer—What's your business?

Client—I am a parlor elocutionist and Shakespearean reciter.

Lawyer—No use. The jury'd give a verdict against you without leaving their seats.—Puck.

There is a great future for the nutmeg.

A physician at Judsonia, Ark., was severely burned a few days ago by his celluloid cuffs taking fire while he was stirring up the fire in his room.

Old Saul's Catarrh Cure has become "the top of admiration and wor h" for cure of catarrh and influenza. Beware of substitutes.

"Patience cures many complaints." Old Saul's Pile Ointment, with patience, will cure all complaints from piles. Sold every where. 25 cents.

Mrs. Garfield still wears mourning as deep as that which she put on when her husband, President Garfield, died nearly ten years ago.

After all the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's.

A youth of twenty-one, on trial for bigamy in Arkansas, is said to have eight wives.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-COODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS.

Why suffer with Headache? Why Rheumatism? Why are you troubled with that terrible Backache? Why Boils? Why have you that feeling of pain, with Rheumatism? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain, with Rheumatism? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your system has undergone. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap whiskey drink, to be taken by the excess you have caused

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1891. NO. 28.

MOXIE!!

Plain or with Soda. A fine drink for hot weather.
Fine line of Drugs and Medicines. Prescriptions carefully prepared.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.
DRUGGIST.

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

MAY 1, 1891.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.33, 9.35, 10.50, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 3.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.53, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL, at 6.36, 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.43, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.50, 11.00, A. M., 1.35, 4.35, 5.33, 6.45, 8.03, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.28 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 5.08, 5.57, 6.43, P. M. Return at 6.40, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, P. M.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.29, 8.29, 8.56, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 5.08, 6.48 P. M.
For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.34 P. M.
For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.17, A. M., 1.34, 4.30 P. M.
For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34 P. M.
For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 1.34, 4.30, 6.43 P. M.
For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 4.30, 6.43 P. M.
For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.43 P. M.
FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.17 A. M., 6.43 P. M.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.14, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.13, 2.47, 4.23, 5.10, 6.05, 6.25, 7.11, 9.15, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.21, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.09 A. M., 12.37, 1.25, 2.23, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.23, 6.34, 7.05, 8.02, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 1.08, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company. WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester, and Medford at w5.50, w6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, w9.15, 9.45, w10.15, 10.45, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, w1.15, 1.45, w2.15, 2.45, w3.15, 3.45, w4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.35, 6.45, w7.15, 7.45, w8.15, 8.45, w9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at w6.10, w6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, w9.40, 10.10, w10.40, 11.10, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, w1.40, 2.10, w2.40, 3.10, w3.40, 4.10, w4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.00, 7.10, w7.40, 8.10, w8.40, 9.10, w9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn 8, 9, 10, 11, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15, 10.30 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.50, 9.55, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.20, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.00, 6.10, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.55, 10.35, 10.50, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn, Winchester and Medford, 8.15, 9.15, 9.45, *10.00, 10.45, 11.15, 11.45, A. M., 12.15, 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, w9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester and Medford at 8.40, 9.40, 10.10, 11.10, 11.40, A. M., 12.10, 12.40, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Medford at 9.00, 10.00, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Medford for Winchester, Woburn and North Woburn at 9.30, 10.30, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 12.30, 1, 1.30, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4 ‡30, 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 10.00, 11.00, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 10.20, 11.20, 11.50, A. M., 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, P. M.

* Woburn.
‡ Workingmen's Trip to Beggs & Cobb only.
w Winchester.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway. IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a speciality.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMMER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
31	Cor. Grove Street Harrison Avenue.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
36	Cor. Elijah and Winn Street.
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER,  REPAIRER.
415 Main Street Woburn

The Spring Styles ARE OUT!
426 Main Street is the number where you get SUITED in Custom Tailoring. Call on
A. GRANT,
Merchant Tailor,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

The Metropolitan MARKET
Has constantly on hand
Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.
Prices Very Low.
Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.
J. DURWARD, Jr.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main steeet, Woburn.
☞ Terms reasonable.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Office No. 19 Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass.
Residence and Stables, Salem St. Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

G. McGREGOR
FLORIST,
Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.
Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.
Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 4-3 at Office: 4-2 at House.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.
Persons wanting Help or Situations, or Nurses, can be furnished with the best by calling on Mrs. M. JENNINGS, 408 Main street, Woburn, Mass.
Also, keeps on hand all kinds of fresh CONFECTIONERY, FRUITS, TOYS, STATIONERY, and other Spring goods. PRICES LOW.

BATS and BALLS.
The BEST stock of BASE BALLS in Woburn.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
L. G. WALDEN
MERCHANT TAILOR,
7 WALNUT STREET,
Just off Main, near the old Post Office, will do all manner of Practical Tailoring such as Cutting, Fitting, Making, Bushcling, &c., at as low figures as is consistant with good work.
PANTS ARE OUR SPECIALTY.
We will press the clothes that you wear in shape, repair and remove the gloss for a small sum.
Call and see our nice line of Samples, or if you have not time to call send postal and we will call on you with samples, or for garments to repair or press.

Munroe's Real Estate Agency.
J. I. MUNROE has a large amount of real estate for sale, much of it at prices that are real bargains: choice house lots in all parts of the city from Eustace Cummings's magnificent lawn to the N. W. lots: farms from 2 to 200 acres: located close in to the centre and 2 miles out: residences of all sizes and prices and from 2 to 20 minutes walk from the station. Purchasers will consult their interests by looking over Munro's lot before closing any trade. No. 415 Main street, morning and evening; 35 Congress street, Boston, Room 35, 10 to 3 o'clock.

LAWRENCE READE,
Superintendent Calvary Cemetery,
—ALSO,—
Undertaker & Funeral Director,
237 & 239 Main Street,
WOBURN, MASS.

ATTENTION
Ladies and Gentlemen.
Now that the Spring has returned it is time once again to have your Clothing cleaned, repaired, pressed, dyed and made to look as good as new at L. F. Hurd's old reliable stand, 24 Winn St. Kid Glove cleansing a specialty, also, Ribbons Laces, and Necktics. Clothing cut and made. Pants made to order. Second-hand Clothing bought and sold.
Give us a call and you will be satisfied.

E. PRIOR,
AUCTIONEER.
Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.
Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

The Woburn Journal

[Written fon the Woburn Journal].

WEATHER LEGENDS OF WOBURN.

BY PARKER L. CONVERSE.

"Never prophesy onless ye know."
—Biglow Papers.

There was a time of yore, before the ray
Of science came to light the darksome way;
When men groped aimlessly about,
Without the knowledge to remove the doubt.
Their untrained reason, in mount, cloud or tree
Saw signs, heard sounds, which solved the mystery;
By wisdom taught, expanded view they gained,
And higher rose, as effort higher aimed,
Till like Prometheus, in their daring flight
They sealed the Heavens, and snatched the wished for light.
So now, 'tis plain that nature works by laws
Immortal, sure, for each result a cause
Is found, why this, or that, of right should be,
Why all the factors work in harmony,
Why storms, winds, calms and sunshine alternate;
Why earthquake shocks, the mounts, and vales create;
Why air and ocean currents vary not
From age to age their steady march; in short,
Creation's plan, which seemed so blind at first,
Is solved by human godlike power at last.

And so, in the centuries gone by, when society was differently constructed than now, with no scientific knowledge among the people and but little, and that crude, known to the Savants, it was natural that they should, in the absence of any better explanation, see the work of spirits and of chance, in the regular occurrences of nature as in the case of the Greeks, Romans and our own Aborigines; and should, in their superstitious reasoning, take certain signs and omens as sure precursors of coming events, utterly failing to attribute them to the true causes; and so now, in the country, notwithstanding the vast increase of solid information of modern days, the old notions still linger in the realms of rain and snow, among those who do not "read up" on the subject; and in no branch of knowledge has there been, and even now is, so woeful a lack, and so much of the "Dark Ages," as in the matter of the weather, its causes, and signs. Slowly, step by step, after patient study and observation, is the truth established; but like the students in the caves of Caucasus, in the "Arabian Nights" instructed by the Genie who said to Habib, "The book I read is the Koran: alas I have explained it to them for these several centuries, and yet there are still an eighth part of my hearers who understand not even the first line;" the people generally take a long while to get to understand even portions of it; and notwithstanding the fact that the true causes have been reduced to certain knowledge, and every day the papers are proclaiming it the same as any other kind of common truisms, still some weather prophets (?) even now, pretend to foretell storms and atmospheric disturbances for weeks in advance, by the influence and conjunction of the planets and other kindred nonsense, in the same manner as did the astrologers of old; and it is the object of writing this article to collect and preserve these old saws, and signs, before they fade out in the sunlight of knowledge in coming days.

It used to be said that when the musquash built their winter dwellings in the fall thicker than usual (and by the way that seemed to happen every year) there was certainly going to be an uncommonly cold winter.

Another old saw, was, "that if the corn had thicker husks than common" (and it always did) it foretold the same thing.

So if the potatoes grew deeper in the earth and had thicker skins (so observed every fall), they were getting ready for a big freeze.

Again, if hen's eggs had thicker shells (sure every time), it was a certain sign that Old Boreas, or some other old Wise had told all the hens in advance, and so they took precautions by eating more pounded clamshells, or other material in order to meet the emergency.

And some of the old settlers believed the ancient English saying "that onions (and it makes the tears run to say it) foretold the coming winter weather." Read the authority:

"Onion skin
Very thin,
Mild winter coming in;
Onion skin
Thick and tough
Coming winter cold and rough."

Here is another that was sure pop:

"If buds the ash before the oak,
You'll surely have a summer's soak;
But if behind the oak the ash is,
You'll only have a few light splashes."

Now, signs are all very well if based on something tangible and reasonably explainable; but how the muskrats, old hens, corn, potatoes and onions got the news months in advance; how the old hens should cackle-ate eggs-actly right every time; how the intelligence got into the ears of the corn; what the potatoes underground saw with their eyes, and what weeping prophet told the onions, is, and always will remain, a mystery, as the corn could not tell, having no tongue; the potatoes' eyes had no expression: the onions had only tears to offer; and what the prophets said was worse than nothing, as it was the wisdom of ignorance, while all the others wisely kept silent.

But the old hen was a perfect treasure to the refined weather prognosticator, in another way. The "Modus Operandi" to get the information out of her by the new process was, first, kill her, and if on picking the feathers were found to be finer and thicker than usual (the old hen was not fool enough to have it otherwise in the fall), then the story was true beyond contradiction.

Now on going into the forest it was found that the blue jays and squirrels had got ahead of mankind in weather lore; for according to Shakespeare, who is good authority, there are "tongues in trees; books in the running brooks, and sermons in stones," and undoubtedly a good many other babblers were to be found there, that he did not know, or at least, did not tell us of, which the animals had recourse to; for Job says in Chap. II. (I like to give authorities when I can):

"Ask now the beasts and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air and they shall tell thee; or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee; and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee." And so they somehow found out without fail every fall, that there was an uncommonly hard winter ahead and very wisely laid up an unusual quantity of nuts, corn, acorns and other bon-bons to enable them to stand it, while the poor humans suffered for their lack of information.

But the science of the ignorant had even then travelled beyond these sure signs; and reduced the whole to a chart, and an index, which like an atlas, or a barometer, told the story at sight.

The first of these was the "Goose Weather Chart," which was a standard authority in most houses in the country. This Chart was all the more to be recommended because Nature herself made it, not man; so therefore, it was final proof, not being subject to change or improvement. It was discovered by some wise man or woman, and the wonder is that the discovery had not been made before, it was so plain and sure; that when a goose had been cooked in the fall, (spring cooked goose no good) and its breast bone thoroughly dried, it formed an infallible weather chart for the ensuing winter only, as it exhibited streaks and blotches of dark and white, exactly indicative of the coming season; and curiously enough it was observed that toward the neck it grew darker. Now it was declared to be weather gospel, that these bones, however much they might differ one from the other, controlled the next winter's weather, thereby ignoring the weather clerk and his authority; but the rule was that you must begin at the hind part and look forward: if much white first then an early winter: if dark, then winter would "linger in the lap of spring:" much dark indicated rain, much white, snow, many streaks, a changeable winter; sharply defined white and dark in spots, much wind and great drifts: (ice companies will take the hint and get one undoubtedly); but in order that the chart be accurate, it was essential that the bone should be quickly dried: and above all that it should be kept constantly hung tail up, head down; otherwise the bone would confuse the weather; or the weather the bone; in which cases the weather would not be according to the bone; or the bone according to the weather, which is all the same thing in the end.

But the Goose Weather Chart only foretold the weather generally for the ensuing winter, so that was not enough; for as there was then no Signal Service man to tell the changes immediately ahead, it became necessary to find some indicator which would be accurate to claw out the news; so after many failures, the celebrated "Turkey Leg Index" was invented, and on careful trial acknowledged by experts to be a perfect thing for the intended purpose. The secret of making and operating the "Index" was as follows: Take the legs of your Thanksgiving Turkey (none other need apply), let them soak three days in strong salt and water, to which add on the last day a little borax, to make them sensitive to the atmospheric currents; then procure a straight grained piece of white pineboard (any other might fail), place thereon the left leg claw up across the centre of it; then balance the right one on top claw down lengthwise the board; then place the board in a safe place with the upper claw pointing north; and when you found the claw drawn to the west it would be fair weather; but if to the east, fowl weather, without any equivocation or evasion whatsoever.

This was never known to fail (so said) if well prepared, but it took a nice eye to determine whether or not it turned at all; but if the blockheads were at fault, the experts could tell readily enough when it moved; but by an accident it was found out that if the leg of a cock turkey and one of a hen were used, the claws would always "join hands." Consequently the index would fail to operate.

The twelve days of Christmas were said to govern the weather of the twelve months succeeding, and it was common to keep a record for reference.

Candlemas day had an important part to play in making the weather for the rest of the winter, for it was declared and believed, that

"If Candlemas day be fair and bright,
Winter will have another flight.
But if the day be dark with rain,
Winter's gone, not to come again."

Here is a variant of the above.

"The sunbeams shed on Candlemas day,
Will mark the spot where snow will lay
'Ere winter's storms and winter's cold
Have melted into April's gold."

Another variant.

"As far as the sun shines in on Candlemas day,
So far, will the snow blow in before May."

Another old saw.

"If the wind's in the east on Candlemas day,
There it will stick, till the second of May."

One more.

Candlemas day,
Half your corn and half your hay.

The days of the week were all important when to plant, Friday being the worst.

Read the authority.

"Monday good,
Tuesday better;
Wednesday best
To sow or cover.
Thursday less,
On Friday stop;
Saturday fill
Your Sunday pot."

But Friday was anathematised still worse:

"Don't plant or sow your seed Friday,
For if you do, your crops won't pay;
But Wednesday put in all you can,
And fall will make you laugh, good man."

The months each had its ditty.

JANUARY.

"As the days begin to lengthen,
The cold begins to strengthen."

ANOTHER.

"If January's moods be summerly gay,
There'll be wintry weather to the end of May."

FEBRUARY.

"All the months of the year,
Curse a warm Februeer."

MARCH.

"If March like a lion comes roaring in,
'Twill bleat like a sheep ere April begin;
But if in its coming, 'tis mild and clear,
Then the lion's dread roar will April bear."

OR A SHORTER WAS.

"When March comes in like a lion, it will go out like a lamb."

APRIL.

"When April blows his horn
It's good for hay and corn."

MAY.

"Rain in May and heat in June,
Makes the harvest come right soon."

JUNE.

"Calm weather in June Sets the corn in tune."

ANOTHER.

June sunny
Harvest early."

JULY.

"If the first of July be rainy weather,
'Twill rain more or less for four weeks together."

AUGUST.

"Wet August and warm
Does the corn no harm."

SEPTEMBER.

"A ground that's dry, and sun that's hot,
Will ripe the crops, and fill the pot."

OCTOBER.

"October's Indian Summer days
Depart and leave November grays."

NOVEMBER.

"November comes with looks of woe,
And hoar locks fleckered o'er with snow."

DECEMBER.

"When Christmas is white,
The Churchyard is lean;
But fat is the Churchyard,
When Christmas is green."

A variant of above reads

"When Christmas is green, Churchyards grow fat,
But a snowy mantle cures all that."

The moon according to old tradition was responsible for much of the bad weather.

"Clear moon
Frost soon."

Another,

"Full moon fair,
Brings frost in air."

Still another:

"If the moon on Saturday be new or full,
It always did rain, and it always will."

There was a notion that, "when the moon lies on her back" a dry time might be expected because the rain then could not run over her horns.

Read the authority.

"When the moon's horns are up,
She holds wet like a cup;
But when she tips over,
Then down comes the shower."

A ring or halo around the moon portended foul weather and the old poet told the story quite cleverly.

"When Boreas with the moon doth wed,
The nuptial ring shows showers ahead.
So many stars in the ring you see,
So many days ere the rain there'll be."

Longfellow in his "Wreck of the Hesperus," sets forth the same idea.

"Then up and spake an old sailor,
Had sailed the Spanish main;
I pray thee put into yonder port,
For I fear a hurricane.

"Last night the new moon had a golden ring,
And tonight no moon we see.
The skipper he blew a whiff from his pipe,
And a scornful laugh laughed he."

A few other old sayings some people will probably remember as having heard.

"If the cock crows on going to bed,
He'll surely rise with a watery head."

"When the peacock loudly bawls,
Soon we'll have both rain and squalls."

"When the mist comes from the hill,
The weather clerk will water spill;
But when the mist comes from the sea,
Then good weather it will be."

"When the sun shines through the rain,
The Devil is thrashing his wife again."

"Rainbow in the morning
Is the sailor's warning;
Rainbow at night
Is the sailor's delight."

The above quotations might be supplemented by some poorer ones, but the above list it is believed, contains all worth preserving.

Some of these old signs have a solid base, but the most are worthless, for not until the winter is so far advanced that you can say with the poet,

"The queen of the spring, as she passed down the vale, Left her robe on the trees, and her breath on the gale."

Can you tell anything about it; but if you wish to try the old saws, use the "Goose weather chart" and the "Turkey Leg Index," as they are safe, but the old hen, is doubtful.

In order to show the difference between ancient guessing, and to-day's science, I give ten reliable rules: also ten good modern saws in antique dress:

TEN RULES.

1. Wherever a warm and cold air come together, there the storm forms; so that, when the wind blows from the north, a storm is forming to the southwest, where it meets the warm air; if from the south, it is forming where you are, or to the north.

2. A sudden change in the temperature indicates that a storm is forming near by; if colder, to the south; if warmer, to the north.

3. A north wind in cloudy weather indicates fair weather; a south one in fair weather, foul weather.

4. The wind never blows straight, but always in a circle, and always from right to left; and the heavier it is, the smaller the circle; so that, if a storm is upon you, it came from the right of the direction of the wind.

5. Stratus clouds stretching across the sky, always indicate the coming of a warmer wind from a long distance, and foretell a storm.

6. The white-capped clouds called "Cirrus" and "Mackerel sky," are the highest known, and usually mean fair weather, but if they come from the southward, increase and form "stratus," look out for wind and rain.

7. Cumulus or "cotton bale clouds" indicate local evaporation; and in quantity, a short violent storm, forming close to windward; if they decrease early in the afternoon, no storm will ensue.

8. Frost and dew, each, mean fair weather. Halos and sundogs, foul weather.

9. High clouds, foretell fair weather; low ones, foul weather.

10. A high daybreak, indicates cloudy weather, or wind; a low one fair weather.

TEN MODERN SAWS.

1. If winter's steady cold, little snow your boots'll hold,
But if it is warm, high boots'll do no harm.
2. The hotter the air, the more moisture's there,
But when it is cold, hardly any it'll hold.
3. When the clouds fly low, there'll be rain or snow,
But when they fly high, look out for blue sky.
4. When swallows low fly, wet weather is nigh.
If they skim the trees, no wet's in the breeze,
5. When bees all rush home, look west for the storm,
If they fly away quick, hay's safe for a week.
6. When hot air strikes cold, or cold air strikes hot,
Get out your umbrella, your rubbers and coat.
7. If shepherd "North Wind" drives sheep in the sky,
Leave at home your umbrella and rubbers to dry.
8. But if they both to the north disappear,
Look south and east for the wolves that are near.
9. If flowers shut up when morning appears,
The bright day will vanish, and end in tears.
10. But if it is cloudy, and flowers open bright,
No rain will follow from morning till night.

Woburn, June 20, 1891.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY
STRAW HATS!
We have a complete line for MEN, BOYS and CHILDREN.
Our WHITE MACKINAW at 25 cents is worth 50 cents.
Our WHITE MILAN at $1.50 is sold elsewhere for $2.00.
BLACK STRAWS from 25 cents to $1.50.
Come and see us first: we will save you money.

Munroe's Clothing House.
423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

BARRETT HAS THE LEAD.

In the race for the Republican nomination for Governor Editor Barrett of the Record is, to all appearances, several sled-lengths ahead of his competitors at the present time.

What changes are liable to take place during the summer none are so wise as to correctly foretell.

☞ Another change in the proprietorship and management of the Boston Evening Traveller has taken place within a few days. The old owners have retired and new hands are at the bellows. Just what the future course of the paper towards the two old parties is going to be is hard to say, but it is gleaned from the official announcement of the new concern that the Traveller hereafter will be strongly Native American, anti-Roman Catholic, a staunch supporter of the American School system and foe to Parochial Schools, a Prohibitionist, and several other things rather out of the line of Boston dailies. It will be ably edited; outside and local news departments are promised extra care; current questions will be handled with skill; and it is not easy to see why the Traveller's "new departure" may not be a profitable one to its proprietors and the public.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

M. Clark—Citation.
J. H. Cass—Pictures.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Thos. Wilson—To Let.
H. J. Smith & Co.—Music.
Pettengill & Co.—Wankenhose.
JOURNAL Office—Baby Carriage, Van Dusen N. Co.—"A Chance."

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— See Willard Smith's new ad.

— Read Mr. Wilson's "To Let" in this paper.

— The Tidd tannery has stopped putting in hides.

— Reporters' tables have been put into the Courtroom.

— Mr. E. C. Cottle is a member of the firm of M. C. Hight.

— Copeland & Bowser sell the Waukenhose, a new stocking.

— Duncan's leather manufactory on Munroe street is idle.

— Mr. E. F. Stevens is a guest of the Ocean House, Swampscott.

— There was no school on Monday afternoon on account of the rain.

— The Hibernians held a picnic at Pierce's Grove last Saturday.

— The fire early yesterday morning was at O'Rouke's on Lake Avenue.

— Mr. Parker L. Richardson is visiting relatives and friends in this city.

— The figures are all correct in City Auditor Preston's report for June.

— Mrs. Timothy Winn has gone to her summer home on Marblehead Neck.

— A public exhibition of drawings is in progress at the High School building.

— Mrs. C. P. Wyman is staying among friends at Peabody for a week or two.

— A revised Fire Alarm Directory is printed on another page of this paper.

— Mrs. Daniel H. Lane and Mrs. E. H. Wright are at home on Marblehead Neck.

— Mr. Bond, Clerk of the District Court, is visiting the home of his boyyood in Vermont.

— Miss Annie E. Cook is enjoying the finest kind of sea breezes at Rockport on Cape Ann.

— The Board of Trade discussed "Sidewalks" and enjoyed a fine supper last Monday evening.

— Mr. Charles F. Lyford and lady and Mrs. Granville Garland are summering at Marblehead.

— Dr. Frank W. Graves and J. Henry Parker have been viewing Southern battlefields of late.

— Mr. Lawrence Reade contemplates the erection of a business and residence block on Main street.

— The City Press wades into Rev. Hugh Montgomery sheeting width. Editor O'Neil is a "sassy" one!

— There was never before such charming June weather as we have had this week. Oh, such breezes!

— Land Agent Gregory sold the McGaffigan property on Main st. last week to John O'Connell for $1425.

— Charlie Brown, the popular news dealer, is about to settle on Scott street, a fashionable part of the city.

— John G. Maguire, Esq., is at the head of the Mutual Aid Society which is experiences a healthy boom just now.

— The members of Clinton Hose 6 have been furnished with a neat new uniform by J. W. Hammond & Son of this city.

— Miss Grace Mayland Cummings received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Wellesley at the Commencement last Tuesday.

— Court and City Messenger Edward Simonds banquetted at Young's last week with a lot more of Massachusetts Messengers.

— People who love green apple pies (who does not?) will find just what they want at Durward's popular provision and fruit market.

— A committee of citizens appeared before the Board of Aldermen last night to urge an appropriation for a 4th of July celebration.

— City Clerk Moreland laid the JOURNAL under obligations to him a few days ago for courtesies in the shape of official information needed.

— The schools are out. Commencement days are over. The long summer vacation has set in. Now, boys and girls, pitch in and have a good time.

— The length of days is on the downhill grade again. Today is one minute shorter than yesterday, and they will keep on doing so until next December.

— President Alex Grant announced at the last meeting of the Board of Trade that that association would soon bo duly incorporated. Good idea.

— Miss Jennie Gallagher has recently graduated at the State Normal School at Salem. She is a daughter of James Gallagher of Hudson st.

— To put out a small blaze on the roof of Mr Warren Fox's leather factory on Kilby street last Wednesday morning the firemen were summoned.

— Cummings school class '90 held their first reunion with a member, Daniel Dimick, 47 Fowle st., last Tuesday evening. It was an agreeable affair.

— Richardson Brothers, who have one of the biggest steam laundries in the country, propose to enlarge their plant at an early day. They are a prosperous firm.

— John McEleney says the leather business is full as dull at Olean, N. Y., where he has been at work, as it is here. Well, it is dull enough here, mercy knows.

— The lengthy and very interesting narative in this paper to which the signature of City Collector John G. Maguire is appended, would seem to mean business.

— Mrs. James C. Richardson's present address is New London, Conn., instead of Princeton, N. J., as heretofore. Her daughter Alice was in this city a few days since.

— An estimable lady on Church Ave. was delighted with a big bunch of roseeponies which Mr. Fred A. Flint sent her last Tuesday, and returned hearty thanks for the same.

— Mr. James R. Wood of Salem street, this city, was the detective in working up the case and the trial of Freeman for murdering his mother-in-law which come off in Vermont last week.

— A gang of men began to raze the old roundhouse here last Tuesday. It was reported that Waterman Brown, the gateman, dropped a tear on receipt of the news, but the story could not be verified.

— Cummings, Chute & Co. are enterprising and successful hay, grain and provender merchants in which, they enjoy a large and lucrative trade. They supply some of the largest consumers in this city.

— Mr. Henry L. Andrews, of the printing firm of Andrews, Cutler & Co., will probably spend his summer vacation at Lubec, Maine, near the "Jumping-off Place," and will go there about the first of August.

— We knew it was coming, for it was a wet moon. Not content with raining all last Thursday it set in again Saturday night; cleared away partially for Sunday; and just poured all Sunday night and the better part of Monday.

— Judge Edward Johnson will take his seat on the Bench of the Middlesex Fourth District Court, as successor to Judge P. L. Converse, who has filled the position with ability, impartiality and credit for several years, on next Wednesday morning.

— O'Neil's City Press went on and told all about what a fine building Mr. Lawrence Reade is thinking of building on his Main street property and winds up his narrative by informing the public that the cost of these important improvements will be $8!

— Mr. J. R. Nason of Central Square had the carriage he was riding in last Saturday quite badly used up by being run into near Webster's store by a fruit team driven by a couple of boys. Mr. Nason is a great sufferer from rheumatism, but fortunately escaped without injury.

— Coombs & Brown will have one of the best machine shops in the county when the one now being built for them on Park st. is completed. J. M. Ellis & Son drove the piles for the foundation and a more solid one for a building was never made. Coombs & Brown will have a fine place of business pretty soon.

— The graduating ceremonies of the St. John's Parochial School took place yesterday forenoon and were very interesting. The exercises were varied and were witnessed by a large concourse of people. Graduating honors will be conferred upon Miss Frances H. Mahoney, Miss Susie Brophy and Miss Delia A. Cook.

— The "Junior Clerks" is a team at Woburn Centre composed of the following expert baseballists: Daniel McSweeney, C. L Fish, L. E. Brown, B. Willoughby, E. Callahan, P. H. Greeney, J. G. Murdock, Robert Russell, Joseph Shea. Address all communications to Daniel McSweeney, Captain, 369 Main street, Woburn.

— Mr. John Henry Cass has opened a first class picture and picture frame store in Mann's Building, 502 Main street, where is to be found one of the finest stocks and largest varieties that was ever offered for sale in Woburn. He manufactures all kinds of frames, keeps all sorts of pictures, and his prices are lower than in Boston.

— Report says that Mr. Richard Carton, the old (in service) and popular B. & L. Railroad Conductor; A. T. Webber, Yard master; and other employees of the B. & M. So. Div. who would be compelled by the change of point for making up suburban trains to go to Wilmington to live, will resign their positions as soon as the change is made.

— Organist Clarke arranged a musical service for the First Congregational church last Sunday which everyone greatly enjoyed. It was composed of the old hymns, psalms, anthems, etc., that our forefathers and foremothers used to sing—a kind of redivivus of the old "Bridgewater Collection"—and nothing better in the way of church music could have been produced.

— A card was received at this office a day or two since which announced that the wedding of Frank H. Greene and Minnie Davison was duly solemnized at Geneseo, Illinois, on Tuesday, June, 16 inst. Both bride and groom were old neighbors and friends of the Editor's family, who wish them a long life and a happy one, "and many returns of the same."

— Mr. S. Franksford Trull has been elected President of the Mishawum Club, a position which he has filled in years past with credit to himself and honor to the organization. He is an old member of the Club and was among the very first to receive its suffrages. Mr. Trull is a typical club man—gentlemanly, urbane, generous hearted, and a favorite with everybody.

— A few days ago Gregory, the real estate dealer, exchanged 138 shares of the Johnston Electric Signal Co's stock of Woburn with Mr. Keeler, head of the great furniture house Keeler & Co., 91 Washington st., Boston, for three house lots on Vernon st. in this city, on which, it is thought, the purchaser will soon erect some nice residences. They are in a pleasant locality and every way desirable.

— The recently elected officers of Brewster Colony of Pilgrim Fathers are: Governor H. S. Dickinson; Lieut. Governor, Mary M. Beach of West Medford; Secretary, A. L. Perham; Treasurer, Parker L. Eaton; Collector, A. V. Haynes; Sergt-at-Arms, George Anderson; Deputy Sergt-at-Arms, Mrs. A. L. Perham; Chaplain, Miss Tibbetts; Inside Guard, Hiram Childs; Outside Guard, Jos. Stuart.

— A party of Woburn bicycle riders took a trip to Lowell and about there last Sunday. Ronco tested the bottom of his new "safety" and the top of it too, if all stories are true. Haggerty didn't say right out that Dave was on his "safety" about half the time and the safety on him the other half, but he might as well have said it as to have winked the way he did when the matter was under discussion. "Them ruts was mortal!"

— Our esteemed friend and respected fellow citizen, Mr. L. W. Cooper, returned from a very pleasant visit to Taunton on Monday last. He reports the alwive crop in that city as most abundant and of the best quality. Mr. Cooper will camp out 8 or 10 days near Biddeford, Me., this summer; also, make a flying trip to Canada; and of course his regular summer visit to Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket, and all along shore.

— Mr. James Skinner and his Transportation Committee of the Board of Trade are entitled to much praise for securing better train service for this city. That 10.30 p. m. train to Boston is a grand good change. Mr. Skinner, ever since the Board of Trade was established, has been untiring in his efforts so secure and bring about improvements for the benefit of Woburn, and a great deal of credit is due him for what he has accomplished on that line.

— Mr. A. E. Reynolds, Doctor of Dentistry, the first female college graduate in the profession, was a prominent figure at the banquet of the Boston Dental College Alumni at Young's, Boston, last week. The lady made an after dinner speech which showed that she is a woman of brains and knows how to put them to a good use. She has recently moved into a splendid office on the corner of Arlington street and Commonwealth Avenue. Our city is proud to claim Mrs. Dr. Reynolds as its own.

— Mr. William F. Cummings of this city, has gone, with his new wife, to Melrose to settle. We are sorry to lose him for he is a good man to have in a place. Last Saturday evening the J. Q. F. Club of this this city went down and paid Mr. and Mrs. Cummings a friendly visit. It was an agreeable time all round. They took along and presented to the newly wedded couple a handsome marble clock as a token of their love and esteem for them which was a great surprise to the recipients, but none the less agreeable on that account.

— Last week Mr. I. E. Williams of this city visited Des Moines, the Capital of Iowa, as a guest of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. of New York, the managers, directors, etc. of which visited that handsome and thrifty city for the purpose of laying the corner stone of their proposed big building there. The party was composed of a large number of Boston and New York gentlemen who enjoyed the trip and visit very much. Mr. Williams was delighted with Des Moines, as indeed were all the visitors, who were entertained in princely style by its citizens and officers.

— Last week Thursday Supt. Fish of the Woburn Electric Light Co. and his subordinates received notice that their resignations would be accepted with pleasure. It is understood that a determination to lessen expenses was the motive for this step on the part of the Co. Supt. Fish is regarded as one of the best men in the electrical business. He understands all the ins and outs of it and is a superior man in carrying on a plant. If he leaves, there are a plenty of electrical concerns that will be only too glad to secure his services. Mr. H W. True is to be Mr. Fish's successor.

